State Counsellor inspects Yazagyo Dam project, meets local people in Kalay Tsp

We'll try to fulfill these requirements as soon as possible because when we care for the people, we want to give a care that is full and complete. Some-time we are unable to meet the requirements but we still want to do the best we can.

"It is for our people to live safely and securely. That is to be secure both physically and mentally. When I come to Chin State I feel very safe because of the warm 'metta' (loving kindness) of the ethnic Chin nationals. If we can provide such mental security to one another, our union will be a very pleasant place. The majority of the people consider the hornbill and Rhododendron (Taung Zalot) flower as the symbolic bird and flower of Chin State. The hornbill reflects loyalty. It is a symbol of loyalty.

"As for the Rhododendron flower, it reflects strength and courage by blooming beautifully in the harsh weather and harsh environment. It also represents beauty. A land with such courage and loyalty will succeed for sure. But difficulties and obstacles must be overcome. Our country still has much to develop. Especially in a harsh environment like Chin State we'll have to conduct special development programs and we are putting much emphasis toward this. For Chin State, we are working towards providing water, improving road and communications, electricity, education, and health care. We'll strive to provide practically every requirement of the people as quickly as possible. However, in some cases, we have the will but were unable to follow through. It is not because we are not bodily unable but we don't have enough money. However, we'll do as much as we can afford to monetarily. However, I believe that we'll succeed because we have a strong will for it.

"While I met with the people I would like to remind about the four keys to achieve success.

Even though we have to do many things for many people living in a town, we gave equal importance to the people in the little village.

They are to have a will, strong determination, correct attitude and knowledge. I'm saying this repeatedly because it must be remembered. Only when there is a will can we start doing something. We dearly want this country to be a peaceful, developed democratic federal union. We have a strong will for this. I think our people have an equally strong will on this. But having a will alone is not enough. The will needs to be implemented with efforts. The attitude also needs to be right because if the attitude is not right we'll be pushed onto a wrong path that would be dangerous for all. The knowledge of how to do things to achieve what we want is also important.

"When we say knowledge, it is basically to view a situation correctly and based on it to do what is necessary. The courage to do is not included in the four keys to achieve success. However, we can say it is within it. Courage is required in doing something new. It is not sufficient to have a will, make an effort, and have a correct attitude or knowledge only. Courage is very important in facing something we haven't faced before.

"Even though Haka Lay (little Haka) Village is a small village, for us it is equally important like a town. Even though we have to do many things for many people living in a town, we gave equal importance to the people in the little village. It is not true that we care less for villagers because they live in a little village.

"We came here to Haka Lay Village to show that for our government, a small village, however small it may be, is important for us. However, even though it is important, it is not practical to say that we'll do everything that is required. We'll try to do everything step by step. We want the people to participate in this and all our villagers to participate. You all have strengths. First, build up your mental strength.

"We are family members of a union. Each and every family member of the union is to put in their individual efforts. Everyone is valuable. There is no one that is not valuable. There is no one that didn't have any strength. Use whatever you are worth correctly and for sure, our country will develop.

The development needs to be quick too because we have lagged behind our neighboring countries. We have to put in more efforts because we lagged behind. Even though we lag behind, the ability of our people aren't low. If we nurture and strengthen these abilities, we'll reach our goal.

"I say this repeatedly. Government is for the people. People are not for the government. The government came to be because it was elected by the people from the people. Members of governments are also the citizens of the country like the people. So they are not better or above the people just because they are the government. Especially in a democratic system, a government is elected by the people and it will become a government only when the people elect them. It is not a democratic government if it is not governing according to the wish of the people. The main duty of a government that came to be according to the will of the people is to fulfill the requirements of the people.

"That is why we are always trying to find out what are the wills, wishes and requirements of the people. That is why I want to take this opportunity to urge the villagers to propose and ask whatever they want. I invite proposals and questions", said the State Counsellor.

The local people in attendance then raised questions relating to development matters and the State Counsellor provided explanations in return. She then provided rice and cooking oils for the local people in Haka Lay North and Haka Lay South villages and cordially greeted the meeting attendees.

Afterwards the State Counsellor and party went to Haka Lay South village by car from Haka Lay North village and inspected the village. While in Haka Lay South village, the State Counsellor was entertained and honored with traditional dances and songs.

From there, the State Counsellor left for Sagaing Region, Kalay town by Tatmadaw helicopter and attended a meeting with the local people in the town hall.

At the meeting State Counsellor Daw Aung San Suu Kyi said it is not wrong to say that Kalay is where the hills and plains meet. "Our country is wide and it is not the same geographically. The ethnic nationals, cultures, religions, languages are also not the same. However, everywhere it is beautiful in its own way. The people also have the responsibility to beautify their places. It is the responsibility of the government as well as the people. Wherever I go, I remind about this duty and responsibility. Because the worth or value of a person is dependent on how responsible and dutiful he/she is.

"I want everyone to be worthy. Whenever I have meeting, I invited children and youngsters because I want to instill in them the mindset that the country's affairs are their affairs. The future of the country especially depends on the youths. They'll have to live for long in it as the time for the old to live in it will become shorter as time goes by. Youngsters are more important than us for the future. There are many things that elders need to fulfill for the youngsters. Youngsters in return also need to fulfill things for the elders. It is very important to create understanding between youngsters and elders. Some youth think youths and seniors are different. It is unavoidable that youths will become elders one day. They'll have to go down the same path. Elders were also once youngsters. It is important not to forget this.

"Understanding can be created only when we are truly sympathetic towards one another. We want our ethnic nationals to be like this. Compared to Sagaing Region, the terrain of Chin State is very difficult. They have to lead a difficult life there. But Chin nationals live in a dignified manner just like the people from the plains.

"Everyone, where ever they may be, live well and healthily in a dignified manner. That is why when we greet with a wish for a healthy and wealthy life it is quite complete. But when I wish for someone, I want to say may you have peace of mind and body.

Without peace of mind and body there wouldn't be happiness. Both young and old have worries. Some say elders have more to worry but a youngster's worry about an examination is a valid and important worry for the youngster. We are striving towards an education system that is not only beneficial for our country but also beneficial and appropriate for our youngsters. An Education system that makes a person become fully developed in everything. We must establish such an education system.

"When I tour Chin State, I found water is scarce in some places. Water is the main requirement. Not having water or adequate water is an immense suffering. The second thing is road transport. Every village wants a clinic. Why, because the road transport is bad. If it is good, travel from one village to another is easy. If road transport is good, a clinic need not be in your village. The same applies to a school. Because road transport is not good, every village wanted a clinic and school.

"So road transport is very important. We must build roads so that we can contact one another. We also must instill in everyone so that they contact one another. Our country is a union. Although it isn't a true federal union that everyone wanted. We all have to work together towards this.

"This is not a purely political matter. It is also social and economic. Kalay is where the hills and plains meet. Here they know the situation of our ethnic nationals in the hills and people in the plains. The people here have an important role to play. I want Kalay to be bridge that connects. We want this place to be the birthplace of union spirit and where it is developed. To do this, we'll have to start with the children. We must instill in them to do things for the majority. We'll not be good for long if we are good alone while the surrounding is not good.

"I want the children sitting in the front to think about this. Think how you can be valuable for others. If you are valuable for yourself alone, this isn't much of a value. Only when you are valuable for others can you be a valuable or worthy person.

Through instilling such spirits they will become grownups who are beneficial for their country.

"The roles of the state/region governments are important for the states and regions. State/Region governments have more relations with the people compared to the union government. It is not wrong to say that state/region governments can do more effectively for the people than the union government. It is an important duty of the state/region government to develop the people with whom they are in close contact every day. The people are to consider the stage/region governments as their family members and request what is required. Don't request what is not required as it isn't good for anyone.

Another thing is to discuss openly. And discuss in a balanced and fair manner towards both sides", said the State Counsellor.

After her speech, the local people presented requirements for regional development and the State Counsellor responded to their questions after which she greeted them cordially.

Later in the afternoon the State Counsellor met with the Sagaing Region Chief Minister and region government members in the Kalay Irrigation and Water Utilization Management Department guest house and discussed regional development matters. After the meeting the State Counsellor and party left Kalay by special flight and arrived back in Nay Pyi Taw in the evening. — MNA ■

Rakhine State Govt holds press conference on Investment Fair

By Nyunt Ko Ko

A PRESS conference was held at the Jasmine Palace Hotel in Yangon yesterday concerning the Rakhine State Investment Fair 2019, which will be held at the Jasmine Palace Resort Hotel on Ngapali Beach in Thandwe Tsp, Rakhine State from 21 to 23 February.

In his opening remarks, Rakhine State Chief Minister U Nyi Pu said, "The geography, allocation of land and water bodies, and the presence of natural resources make it a good foundation for developing the nation. Our proximity with the Bay of Bengal also makes it a strategic location. There are a lot of opportunities for us. We have abundant rivers, streams and flatland, and also forests and mountains. This is why we need to bring in more investors because there are so many prospects."

Rakhine State's location near the Bay of Bengal makes it an economic proxy between China, India and ASEAN countries.

The Chief Minister also said, "We already have a long-term socioeconomic development strategy ready. It was designed with the aid of international diplomats and experts. The State Counsellor has also given approval. There are six main sectors in the strategy: agriculture and livestock, fishery, eco tourism, capacity building, transport and communication, and small industrial enterprises and industrial development."

The Rakhine State Investment Fair 2019 is led by the State government with guidance from the Union government and major cooperation from JICA and JETRO, said state minister U Kyaw Aye Thein. He said, "Ethnic entrepreneurs are also involved. I think about a hundred companies are coming to the fair. We will also hold a second press conference. We will also cooperate with the Rakhine Federation of Chambers of Commerce and Industry, which is under the UM-FCCI".

When asked about the issue of stability in the State for investment, U Nyi Pu replied, "It's not the entire state that is undergoing instability. Places like Ngapali and southern Rakhine are very calm and stable and suitable for investing for development. The issues concerning Rakhine State are occurring only in Maungtaw District's Maungtaw, Buthidaung and Yathedaung townships. If you invest in developing the entire Rakhine State then those small areas will eventually become more stable and follow the trend to development. Don't see only the small area and miss the entire State. Use them."

In the current government administration, there are 17 foreign companies investing in Rakhine State. There are 12 in hotels and tourism, one in construction, three in livestock, and one in oil and natural gas. Foreign investment from 2000 to 2016 amounted to US$9 billion, with the most investment put into oil and natural gas.

U Kyaw Hlaing, Chair of MSR, replied to the motive behind organizing the first investment fair in the State. He said, "Our aim is to help investment pour into Rakhine State. The local people will have increased job opportunities and the local companies will gain capital, technology, and market access through the investors."

Rakhine State ranks the third least developed zone in the country. Licensed companies coming to invest in Rakhine State will be granted 7 years of tax exemption. The State government will also help companies signing MoUs at the fair to acquire the land needed for running their businesses within the legal time limit of one and a half month.

State minister U Kyaw Aye Thein said "There will also be three discussion programmes. One will involve people from the government sector, another will involve only Japanese business people, and another will involve the private sector discussing about the Kyaukpypu Special Economic Zone and the Kaladan River All-round Development Project. The important thing is for companies wishing to invest in Rakhine to sign MoUs. We have acquired preliminary agreements with three companies. If the discussions go well we will sign the MoUs with them and other companies willing to invest. And finally, on the third day, we will take everyone on a tour around the locations ripe for investment."

Make your surroundings lush, green and healthy

THE natural environment, including forests and water resources that we rely on for our needs, are not our own. We have a responsibility towards the Earth and the land we live on. If we do not conserve resources, they will get depleted. While we are alive, we, human beings, have to work to conserve the environment and natural resources.

Myanmar is encountering the consequences of climate change, deterioration of the ecosystem, deforestation, endangered species, pollution of the air, oceans, rivers, lakes and land, and infectious diseases, like other countries in the world.

...we need to speed up afforestation – the planting of trees in barren lands to increase the area under forests – and fight illegal logging nationwide to combat the impact of climate change.

is. We will have to make changes for our development and for the generations yet to come. But, we must watch out for the benefit of everyone, not just people but also wildlife.

Illegal harvesting of timber and collection of firewood have led to Myanmar being ranked as the third-worst country for deforestation in the world.

Due to extensive deforestation, Myanmar experienced the worst weather in its history in 2015-2016, ranking 2nd among 187 countries on the global weather danger index.

Hence, we need to speed up afforestation – the planting of trees in barren lands to increase the area under forests – and fight illegal logging nationwide to combat the impact of climate change.

The participation of the people is playing a critical role in the country's reforestation drive. We are all obliged to preserve our forests for posterity and for future generations. If we intervene early before the trees are cut, we can eventually save an entire forest.

Let's make our surroundings lush, green, and healthy.

Offering high hopes of realizing full growth potential from upcoming Rakhine State Investment Fair

By Kyuntha Ngamann

RAKHINE State has naturally an inherent potential for growth. But it has lagged behind other Regions and States in terms of commerce and social development after Independence in 1948 which has been invested with several kinds of insurgency. Economic development plays an important role in overall developments in Rakhine State; it is an agriculture-based State. It is an initial state of small and medium businesses, far from doing heavy industries.

State Investment Fair

Massive investments are not found in economic sectors in Rakhine.

Successive governments have called for investments for overall developments of the State. After emergence of democratic government in 2010s, the Regional Government composed of elected representatives has created economic zones for the development of the State.

Investors took a wait-and-see position after disturbances in 2012, reducing a numbers of investors. The State government took an action for economic development of the State for the second time. It is learnt that the State Investment Fair was scheduled to be held at Ngapali Beach, Thandwe on February 21, 22 and 23, 2019 to attract domestic and foreign investors. Local and foreign investors will be cordially invited to attend the Fair. The Rakhine businessmen will have a chance to display their businesses and an opportunity to discuss with local and foreign investors, probably leading to signing of MoUs.

We must protect the natural environment so that it becomes a better place to live for people and other living things in the area.

It is impossible to avoid interacting with, changing, or leaving the natural environment as it is.

The Economy fundamentals

Successive governments have invited local investors since 2010 as well as those from abroad. It has also called for the establishment of industrial zones in the State with electricity as an essential part in the process. Now the Ponnagyun Electricity supply of 230 kilovolts was already built for the township industrial zone. In order to supply full electricity to the Rakhine State, the Oshitpin Electricity Branch was connected with Taungup(Bayaw) branch and 67-mile Man-Ann line was laid to connect with normal supply lines. At the same time, the establishment of Gas Engine was carried out in Kyaukphu Township by using natural gas and steam to produce more electricity.

For road transportation sector in the State, a road network was built between towns and villages. In order to connect with the East Yoma, three roads were constructed to cross over the Rakhine Yoma: Ann-Minbu mountain pass, Taungup-Pyay mountain pass and Gwa-Ngath-aingchaung pass. In addition, Gwa-kyaukchon-Shwethaungyan circular road along the coast was constructed. For international waterway, the Sittway Port was built and so was the Kyaukphu Port for swift border trade. Also, Kayinchaung Industrial Zone and Economic Zone in Maungdaw were under way for swift border trade with neighbor Bangladesh. At the same time, policies of Kyaukphu Special Economic and Industrial Zones and Deep-sea ports are being carried out. Multi-purpose planning in Kalandan River and trading Centres in Northern Rakhine to deal with India are also reliable. There is a possibility for an economic corridor between Ayeyawaddy Region and Circular Roads along the Coast.

Investments

Rakhine State has attracted some investments mainly in deep-sea explorations of petroleum and natural gas, but few investments in inland areas of the State. In the State, there were 28 business investments worth US$ 10241.383 million during the Financial Year of 1988-89 to October, 2018. Local investments in 21 businesses from Financial Year of 1988-89 to 2018-19 were worth US$ 115.560 million, according to the Directorate of Investment and Companies Administration.

According to the statistics, a new business in mineral extraction materialized US$ 18.147 million, 26 energy businesses generated US$ 10213.983 million and other service business was worth US$ 9.253 million. Two industrial businesses owned by Myanmar nationals realized US$ one million and K. 3052.200 million, 11 businesses under Hotel and Tourism Sector realized US$ 19.520 million and K.72576.080 million.

One construction company

Agriculture and animal husbandry must be considered to be promising for local businesses, as well as for export purposes.

was worth US$ 9.330 million and K. 20701.650 million, 5 businesses under Livestock breeding and Fishery Sector generated US$ 6.380 million and K. 479.790 million and other two service businesses have realized US$ 79.330 and K.142539.202 million were allowed to operate in the country. These amounts were invested in Rakhine State during a period of 20 years. More money is found invested in service sectors rather than production ones. Local investments are found to be in livestock breeding and fishery sectors.

At the same time, statistics issued by the Department of Internal Revenues during the financial year of 2017-2018, outstanding payers on Tariffs and Income Tax were 50 out of 100 persons; very few are found to be engaged in trading and majority are engaged in contracting.

Energetic Forces

There are many energetic forces in Rakhine State to bring private businesses to success: Merchant and Industrial Association, Rakhine Youth Association, Cooperative Syndicate, Salt Production Association, Farmers Association, Prawn Breeding Association, Fishery and Animal Husbandry Associations, Rakhine Employers Association are not only located in Sittway but also in Yangon, Ayeyawaddy, Bago, Pyay and Mandalay, thus paving the way to the formation of Rakhine Employers Association(Central). Private employers have cooperated with these Associations for production purposes. Rakhine traditional weavings on self-help basis are located in Sittway and Thandwe. They produce and distribute high-quality traditional clothes. In addition, weaving industries for famous Rakhine longyis are built. There are two textile factories; Rakhine traditional clothes are distributed throughout Myanmar. Famous Rakhine longyis are even exported to neighboring Bangladesh.

The Coordinating Committee for Private Sector development of Rakhine State was composed of 21 members in September, 2018; the Committee is patronized by Chief Minister, Finance and Commerce Ministers of the State. The Committee is expected to coordinate requirements between the private businesses and the Government. The meetings will be regularly held between the Government and private businesses which have experienced problems and challenges.

Prioritizing the production

The most important task in Rakhine State is to create job opportunities by building productive works, mills and factories.

Agriculture and animal husbandry must be taken into consideration for local businesses as well as for export purposes. As the salt production is in decline, the sector is weak in competing for exports.

It is an encouraging sign for the State, given that the State owns a beautiful beach filled with rich saltiness of sea water. The Coastal and Freshwater Fisheries could be developed as well as cattle farming.

Furthermore, tourism industry can be carried out; Man-Aung Island offers a haven of peace and serenity. It is a virgin island which could attract a lot of investments.

Rakhine State Investment Fair was scheduled to be held at the Ngapali Beach, Thandwe in February, 2019; it would be an opportune moment for Rakhine businessmen to discuss with local and foreign investors. It would also create a golden opportunity for economic developments of the State. At the same time, efforts should be made to have a unity among the State government, economic enterprises and private businesses.

CLOSING ceremony of Children's Literature Festival, Children's Literature Exhibition and Book Sales jointly conducted by the Ministry of Information, the Ministry of Education and the Kachin State Government was held at Myitkyina University convocation hall yesterday afternoon.

At the event Children's Literature Festival Organizing Work Committee secretary Information and Public Relations Department Deputy Director General U Aye Kywe first explained about works conducted during the Children's Literature Festival.

ment performance", said the Chief Minister.

He pointed out, at the present age youngsters were not in touch with literature and are getting distanced from reading. Books seem to be lagging behind new technologies. Due to the attraction of the internet, children and youngster are forgetting books and literatures as well as the taste of books and literatures. The festival held was seen to support the contact between youths, literatures and books."

"The matter of making children and youths read is an important matter for the country. A country's development is linked to the development of its literature.

When the countries of the world are studied it can be seen that much emphasis had been placed toward the development of literature culture. Our country's development is linked to the literature and cultural development. The mind will develop only through reading. Mental strength and thinking process will mature through reading." he said.

"Human resources that are developed both physically and mentally are required in building a nation. Literature prevents a person from the extremes. It also guides a person toward a correct thought process. Therefore supports must be given for children to read more and arrange for them to be in touch with books and literatures.

Children nowadays are spending more time on their school studies reducing physical activities and reading of other knowledge. Parents themselves are pushing the children toward school studies and forget to encourage their children on physical activities and reading of other knowledge.

"This is becoming a modern culture. The festival held is pointing to parents and their children on other requirements in addition to school studies."

"The programs, competitions and games in the Children Literature Festival support toward producing youngsters who are successful, outstanding and happy.

All are urged to use the experiences gained at the Children's Literature Festival to go through their lives", said the Chief Minister."

G-to-G agreement vital for Sino-Myanmar border trade: merchants

By Nyein Nyein

MYANMAR merchants have called for a government-to-government (G-to-G) agreement with China to improve bilateral border trade.

“While Myanmar claims its export channels are legitimate, China considers some trade illegal, resulting in confiscation of goods. Since mid-October, the volume of rice exported to China has dropped,” said Dr. Soe Tun, executive member of the Myanmar Rice Federation (MRF).

“We claim trade through the Muse gate is legal, but it is considered illegal by China. We need to negotiate with China. We need a bilateral agreement between the two countries. There are also issues with exporting goods legally to China as the tax levied by it is too high for traders to pay. China has set import duties of 35 to 100 per cent. On some goods, duties of up to 150 per cent are imposed. Therefore, we need to discuss tax relief with China as our country is listed as a LDC. And then, we have to work to get a G-to-G agreement. Only in this way will we be able to deal with tight confiscation by China in the border areas,” said Dr. Soe Tun.

Although we are exporting goods through the legal channel, the flow of income needs to be better managed, he said.

“We have reported this to the national economic coordination committee. Traders are using an informal remittance transfer channel like Hundi. Therefore, the government does not have a current account statement for income from trade. We need to figure out a better payment system,” he said. “At present, rice exports to China through the border channels have declined by half. Starting from 18 January, the European Union reinstated tax on Indica rice for three years. The government needs to tackle those difficulties in rice exports,” said U Nay Lin Zin, the secretary general of Myanmar Rice Millers’ Association.

“Myanmar’s rice exports are mainly driven by the private sector. However, trade with business-to-business agreements has certain limitations. Border trade has currently dropped by almost half. Additionally, the market for quality rice in the EU is likely to shrink. We find export performance through the G-to-G channel weak. As the scope of the private sector is limited, the public sector needs to lead the chain. It should be implemented at the soonest,” said U Nay Lin Zin.

This being the case, we will forward a report to the Ministry of Commerce, stated the MRF. “We encourage export promotion. We plan to meet the prescribed quality standards,” said

U Aung Soe, the Director General of the Trade Promotion Organization under the Ministry of Commerce.

Cool Tsitsipas flies into 'fairytale' first Slam semi-final

MELBOURNE (Australia) — Greek sensation Stefanos Tsitsipas showed resilience and maturity to power into a fairytale Australian Open semi-final on Tuesday after sweeping past Spain's Roberto Bautista Agut.

Roger Federer's conqueror had to contend with dropping his serve early in each of the first three sets to the 22nd seed before coming through 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, 7-6 (7/2) in 3hr 15min.

"It all feels like a fairytale almost," said the 20-year-old after holding his head in his hands in disbelief and sinking to the floor on Rod Laver Arena.

"I'm just living the dream, living what I've been working hard for," Tsitsipas added.

"I feel a bit emotional but not too much — I know I really worked hard to get here, playing in semis of a Grand Slam.

"I was asked my goals this year and said semis Grand Slam. And when I was answering this question, I thought I was crazy.

But it is real. It just happened."

Tsitsipas, who broke through in 2018 with his first ATP Tour title and won the NextGen finals, will face either world number two Rafael Nadal or unseeded Frances Tiafoe for a place in the final.

For the 30-year-old Bautista Agut, who won the Doha warm-up event and was in his first quarter-final at this level, the wait for a maiden Grand Slam semi-final goes on. After encountering the gifted Greek at close quarters for the first time he still tipped either Nadal or Novak Djokovic to lift the famous Norman Brookes trophy.—AFP ■

Ashley Cole joins former teammate Lampard at Derby

LONDON (United Kingdom) — Defender Ashley Cole has joined former Chelsea teammate and current Derby boss Frank Lampard at the Championship club until the end of the season.

Cole, who won 107 England caps, was a free agent after his recent departure from LA Galaxy, and Lampard is confident the 38-year-old will boost Derby's promotion drive.

"I'm delighted that we've been able to secure Ashley's services for the rest of the season," said the Derby manager, whose side are currently in sixth place in the Championship, the final play-off spot.

"He's a fantastic player, a quality left-back, and he also brings great experience to the dressing room.

"I know him very well from our time together at Chelsea, and with England, and I also know what he can bring to the group and the influence he will have."

Cole, who won multiple trophies alongside Lampard at Chelsea including the Champions League, said he relished the challenge. "For me it was a no-brainer to come here and get involved in this great environment and hopefully push for promotion," he said.

"I'm coming out of my comfort zone," he added. "I could have stayed in the MLS and relaxed but no, I wanted to come here and again fight for something, fight for a good cause and try to make promotion."—AFP ■

Host UAE beat Kyrgyzstan in extra-time to reach Asian Cup quarterfinal

ABU DHABI — The United Arab Emirates advanced to the 2019 Asian Cup quarterfinals after edging Kyrgyzstan 3-2 in extra time on a dramatic on Monday evening in Abu Dhabi.

The UAE, who are seeking to become the seventh team to both host the Asian Cup and win the tournament, now face defending champions Australia.

The hosts made the breakthrough after 14 minutes when Khamis Esmaeel scored a close-range header from a corner, but Mirlan Murzaev pulled Kyrgyzstan level in the 26th minute, receiving a superb pass from Akhmidin Israilov and rounding the goalkeeper to make it 1-1.

The UAE started the stronger after the break, with Ali Ahmed Mabkhout's header inside the box narrowly missing the target. Moments later it was Kyrgyzstan's turn to threaten, but captain Valeri Kichin's curling shot crashed onto the bar eight minutes into the second half.

Kyrgyzstan, who were making their debut appearance at the Asian Cup, almost took the lead in the 54th minute when Bekzhan Sagynbaev's free header from inside the box bounced just over the bar. The UAE restored their lead 10 minutes later, when Mabkhout slotted home following a beautifully weighted pass from Amer Abdulrahman.

Kyrgyzstan had a golden chance to equalize when Kairat Zhyrgalbek slid a cross into the six-yard box, only for Tamirlan Kozubaev to shoot wide.

Pushing forward in search of a goal, Kyrgyzstan dramatically equalised from a corner kick in stoppage time when substitute Tursunali Rustamov rose highest to slam his header into the net and send the match into extra-time. Mabkhout wasted two clear chances when he could have done better five minutes into extra-time, but he made up for it a few minutes later by earning a penalty which was converted by substitute Ahmed Khalil.

Kyrgyzstan came close to yet another equalizer in the second period of extra-time, as Bakhtiyar Duyshobekov's header beat the goalkeeper but bounced off the outside of the post.—Xinhua ■
