Iran discusses “serious” nuclear ideas with Russia

TEHRAN, 28 April—Iran discussed with Russia on Monday its proposals to defuse a nuclear row with the West, which accuses Tehran of seeking to build atomic bombs.

Iran said earlier this month it would unveil ideas to help end the dispute over its nuclear ambitions, which have prompted three rounds of UN sanctions since 2006 for its refusal to heed UN demands to halt sensitive uranium enrichment work.

But a senior Iranian official said Tehran would never negotiate over its right to nuclear technology, suggesting Iran is not willing to rein in its work in line with UN demands.

“Iran ... has serious proposals regarding the nuclear issue, about what to do to minimize the nuclear threat around the world,” Jalili said without giving specifics about the package. The proposals were discussed with Valentin Sobolev, acting secretary of Russia’s National Security Council, an Iranian official said. Further talks would be held on Tuesday, he added.

Jalili said the ideas addressed security and political issues and would underpin “talks among influential and major powers, and Iran as a major power in the region can play an important role.” A senior diplomat in Europe said Iran had earlier proposed turning its Natanz enrichment complex into a multilateral operation to counter foreign fears of diversions to bombmaking there, and that this might be among Iran’s proposals.

Clinton leads McCain by 9 points

WASHINGTON, 29 April—Hillary Rodham Clinton now leads John McCain by 9 points in a head-to-head presidential matchup, according to an Associated Press-Ipsos poll that bolsters her argument that she is more electable than Democratic rival Barack Obama. Obama and Republican McCain are running about even.

The survey released Monday gives the New York senator and former first lady a fresh talking point as she works to raise much-needed campaign cash and persuade pivotal undecided superdelegates to side with her in the drawn-out Democratic primary fight.

Helped by independents, young people and seniors, Clinton gained ground this month in a hypothetical match with Sen McCain, the GOP nominee-in-waiting. She now leads McCain, 50 percent to 41 percent, while Obama remains virtually tied with McCain, 46 percent to 44 percent.

Both Democrats were roughly even with McCain in the previous poll about three weeks ago.—Internet

Tornadoes hit Virginia, 200 injured

WASHINGTON, 29 April—Three tornadoes swept through central and southeastern Virginia on Monday, injuring about 200 people and damaging dozens of homes and businesses, officials said.

Obama, Clinton will know when to quit

GRAHAM (North Carolina), 29 April—Hillary Clinton or Barack Obama will know when to pull out of the US presidential race in order to unify the party for the general election, the chairman of the Democratic Party said on Monday.

In a round of network television appearances, Howard Dean warned that a prolonged battle between Clinton and Obama could hurt the party's chances in November's election against Republican John McCain.

"Either of these candidates, if it's time for them to go, they'll know it, and they will go," Dean said on ABC's "Good Morning America".

"They don't need pushing from people like me or anybody else, or the newspapers or anybody else," he said.

"You know when to get in, and you know when to get out. That's just part of the deal."

Clinton, a New York Senator, said she thought the tough race had been good for the Democratic Party because it fired up voters' interest.

"So we're going to go through these next contests. We're going to see where we end up.

And we will take stock of where we are after they finish," she told reporters during a stop at a fire station in Graham, North Carolina.

North Carolina Governor Mike Easley will endorse Clinton on Tuesday at an event in Raleigh, a source close to the Clinton campaign said. Obama picked up the endorsement of New Mexico Senator Jeff Bingaman.

"NY Times" says US asserts new interrogation rights

NEW YORK, 28 April — Recent letters from the Justice Department to Congress state that US intelligence agents working to prevent terror attacks can legally use interrogation techniques banned by international law, The New York Times reported on Sunday.

President George W Bush issued an executive order last summer in which he said the CIA would observe international regulations regarding detainee treatment.

The letters indicate the Bush Administration now contends these boundaries may be stretched in some interrogations.

A 5 March letter from the Justice Dept to Congress makes clear the Bush Administration has not defined which interrogation methods might violate the Geneva Convention's bans on "outrages upon personal dignity," the Times said.

The letters were provided by the staff of Senator Ron Wyden, an Oregon Democrat and member of the Senate Intelligence Committee.

Barrage of rockets fired at Baghdad's Green Zone

BAGHDAD, 29 April— A barrage of about a dozen rockets struck near Baghdad's fortified Green Zone diplomatic and government compound on Sunday evening in what appeared to be one of the biggest strikes in weeks.

The rockets could be heard whistling past from the east of the Iraqi capital as they flew in the direction of the riverside compound and exploded, Reuters correspondents on the opposite river bank said.

The strikes took place during a heavy sandstorm. US forces normally use helicopters to retaliate against fighters who target the Green Zone, but sandstorms prevent the helicopters from flying, letting fighters strike with impunity. US and Iraqi forces say Shiite militiamen have fired more than 700 rockets and mortars over the past month, many aimed at the Green Zone and most fired from the capital's Sadr City slum, stronghold of the Mehdi Army militia of Shiite cleric Moqtada al-Sadr.

US forces have occupied the part of Sadr City closest to the centre in an effort to reduce the rocket attacks, but have not moved further into the slum. —MNA/Xinhua

Hamas downplays Israel's rejection of truce offers

GAZA, 28 April — The Islamic Resistance Movement ( Hamas) on Saturday played down Israel's rejection of the movement's ceasefire vision which was sent by Egyptian mediators to the Israeli Government.

Mahmoud Zahar, a Hamas leader who took part in the talks with the Egyptian mediators, said in Gaza that his movement "doesn't take the (Israeli) official response from the media and it is unconcerned with what is said because we don't hold a direct dialogue with Israel." On Friday, Israel dismissed the proposal by Hamas for a conditional six-month truce in the Gaza Strip, calling it a ruse aimed at allowing the Palestinian Islamist group to recover from recent fighting. "What we take is that comes from the Egyptian side because it mediates between us and the occupation," Zahar told reporters after he returned to Gaza from Egypt, adding that his movement "expects to get an answer after less than one week". —Xinhua

Chinese V-P urges further opening-up in central regions

WUHAN, 28 April— Chinese Vice-Premier Wang Qishan on Saturday called for further reform and opening-up in the central regions.

The central regions needs to boost awareness of reform, innovation, opening-up, market, and the rule of law, Wang said when he addressed the opening of the Third Central China Investment and Trade Expo in Wuhan, capital of central China's Hubei Province.

China unveiled the strategy of "The Rise of Central China" in 2004, following boosting policies on the West and Northeast, amid efforts to promote a coordinated regional development.

The central regions include provinces of Shanxi, Anhui, Henan, Jiangxi, Hunan and Hubei.

The vice premier ordered local authorities not to develop economy at the cost of environment and take on the old growth mode of high energy consumption and pollution.

The provinces should make good use of local advantages to speed up the construction of regional bases of raw materials, grain, culture and tourism, he said.

The regions should also speed up the construction of railways, roads and water transport infrastructures and build a services-oriented government to create a fair investment environment for both domestic and overseas investors, Wang added.

Myanmar's new constitution with essence

Tekkatho Myat Thu

It is said that the Earth has existed for 4550 million years. It has an area of 196,940,000 square miles—57,506,000 square miles of the land and 139,434,000 square miles of the water surface. The world's highest part (mountain) is 29035-foot-high Mt Everest and lowest part, the Dead Sea, is 1394 feet deep. The deepest site in the world is 35840 feet deep Mariana Trench in the Pacific Ocean.

The world population stood at over 6500 million in 2006. The number of world countries is 194 and 192 of which are UN members. The last two UN members are Swaziland (2002) and Montenegro (2006).

According to Almanac (2007) of Time Magazine, of the continents, Asia Continent is the largest land mass with an area of 17,212,000 square miles, Africa Continent, the second largest with over 11 million square miles and North America Continent, the third largest with over nine million square miles. Australia Continent is the smallest with over 3.1 million square miles, and Europe Continent, the second smallest with over 3.8 million square miles. In 50 centuries, the world saw about 25,000 wars, half of which took place in Europe. Both the First World War and Second World War started in Europe while the colonialist countries vied each other for colonies. The First World War claimed 10 million lives and the Second World War, 60 million.

The terms 'colonialist' and 'colonialism' are also known as imperialist and imperialism as well as emperor and emperialism.

Europe enjoyed industrial development following the colonizing of other countries by the emperors of Mongo, Moghul, Turkey, Ottoman, Russia and Persian empires. Then, France, Britain and Dutch began to colonize other countries for the improvement of capitalism.

Britain had a large number of factories, but it did not have enough raw materials such as cotton, silk, bronze, iron, zinc and fuel oil. The supply of the products far exceeded the domestic demand. Then, they began to colonize other countries in order to get raw materials and fuel such as coal, oil and gas at low expenses, deal with a growing number of customers, and make new investments.

Britain, France, Dutch, Belgium, Spain, Portugal and the US colonized 77 per cent of the world land or enslaved 75 per cent of world population. And they exploited natural resources of their colonies for more than 100 years. In consequence, the colonies went through tough times, while the colonialist countries became in the list of world's richest countries.

Japan, Germany and Italy that enjoyed industrial development late vied with the old colonialist countries for the share of colonies. When no shares of colonies were left, Hitler of Germany, Mussolini of Italy, and Tojo of Japan formed themselves into three Axis powers and fought the colonialist countries and their colonies.

The countries fell under alien subjugation due to gap of modern armed power although they had national defence forces and patriotic spirit. However, they fought back the colonialists through mental prowess (political means) and physical prowess (armed revolt) risking their life and limb.

When it drew near to the World War II, the independence struggles of the colonies were in full swing. They fought back the colonialists who were getting into crises, vying each other for colony share. Many colonies including Myanmar managed to regain their independence. In its birth in 1945, the UN was made up of 51 countries, and now, with 192 countries. Colonialism was annulled according to the UN Charter. The UN also strove for enabling the remaining colonies to regain independence.

At the peak of WWII, the US was intact due to its location—the Atlantic Ocean in the east and the Pacific Ocean in the west. When many of the factories were ravaged in Europe, the US whose factories were operated round the clock became rich in the time of war. While the Soviet Russia was playing the leading role in propagating Socialism, the US provided cash and kind to European industrial (colonialist) countries through Marshall Plan to survive capitalism. Just as the World War ended, the US formed NATO with northern European imperialist countries. The NATO in Europe served as the fortress of the US as well as its European headquarters to attack Socialist countries if necessary. NATO expanded its domination to Eastern Europe and former Soviet Russia countries, till it was within the reach of Moscow. NATO military bloc formed under the pretext of defending Europe made the remnant Yugoslavia split into six parts. And it invaded Serbia in March 1999. Then, it ousted the Communist government. NATO troops provided protection to Kosovo to secede from Serbia in order that the latter became weak. NATO has invaded Afghanistan and stationed its troops in the country since 2001, thereby implying that it was a military bloc.

The UN has abrogated old form of colonialism. Now, they are exercising neo-colonialism, under which they make various accusations against their targeted countries to destabilize the latter. In addition, they incite civil wars and regional wars and try to overthrow the ruling government. In the process, they install puppet governments and mastermind the plots, interfere in the internal affairs of the targeted countries. That is neo-colonialism.

Today, the world super power is not complacent about interfering in the affairs of international community for hegemony. It is invading other countries on the pretext of anti-terrorism and democracy. And it has formed puppet governments. It has failed to withdraw its troops from Iraq and Afghanistan for seven years.

More than 100 nations including Myanmar were colonized for over 100 years by European colonialist countries such as Britain, France, Dutch, Belgium and Demark. However, they claim themselves to be democracy advocates.

The female guest in Myanmar once said that today the world no longer saw old colonialism or neo-colonialism. Indeed, she committed perjury to protect the acts of the colonialists.

I would like to present some points stated in page 660 of Time Almanac (2007). The title is 'Are there still any countries that have colonies?' It says that there are 61 colonies that are under the rule of eight colonialists. They are six colonies under Australia, two each under Demark and the Netherlands, 16 under France, three each under New Zealand and Norway, 15 under Britain and 14 under the US.

Myanmar was under the yoke of the British for over 100 years. It regained independence on 4 January 1948. However, it suffered the multi-coloured insurgency, the evil legacy of the colonialists, for more than 40 years. Nevertheless, today, the nation has enjoyed peace and development in various sectors. Therefore, it completed the drafting of the constitution (2008) to exercise multi-party democracy system in discipline in February 2008. It is based on the principles adopted by 1080 National Convention delegates of various national races, different regions and social classes.

To present short and to the point,

- (1) Myanmar is an independent country.
- (2) Independent Myanmar (people of the Union) has the right to create self-determination.
- (3) Myanmar people took time to draw the draft of the State constitution (2008) without any defects. The constitution will guarantee genuine discipline democracy. So, it will be approved definitely. In the referendum to be held on 10 May, the people of the Union of Myanmar will approve it by casting 'Yes' vote.
- (4) Nonetheless, certain elements are criticizing the draft constitution that is the best and the most appropriate one of its kind with full essence.

The new constitution formulated by Myanmar (independent people) is designed to serve the interests of and to help introduce democracy to the people. Moreover, it is going to be approved by Myanmar people. So, it has earned a good reputation. At the same time, the voices of objection to the constitution by the imperialist countries and axe-handles are producing the stink of colony.

TIJUANA (Mexico), 28 April— Seventeen Mexican drug gang members were killed near the US border on Saturday, their bodies scattered along a road after one of the deadliest shootouts in Mexico's three-year narco-war. ## California wildfire rages, 1,000 people evacuated

LOS ANGELES, 28 April — A wildfire that began along a popular hiking trail forced 1,000 people to evacuate their homes in the hills northeast of Los Angeles on Sunday, officials said.

The cause of the nearly 400-acre (162-hectare) fire, which started on Saturday afternoon as Southern California logged near-record temperatures, was still under investigation, said Elisa Weaver, a spokeswoman for the city of Sierra Madre, California.

Fifty people celebrating a wedding at a mountain campground were lifted from the area by helicopter after the fire cut off their exit trail. No one in the group was harmed.

Temperatures are expected to climb to 97 degrees Fahrenheit (36 degrees Celsius) on Sunday.

Low winds and humidity, however, were expected to help the firefighting effort. "A lot of that area hasn't burned in 40 years, but the weather has been on our side," Weaver said.

Between 400 and 500 homes were under a mandatory evacuation order, Weaver said, though only one building — a small storage shed — had been burned.

The blaze was expected to take up to four or five days to contain fully.

B'desh faces 60% rise of trade deficit in current fiscal

DHAKA, 28 April — The International Monetary Fund (IMF) projects that high prices of food and oil will push up Bangladesh's trade deficit for the current fiscal year (July 2007- June 2008) to around six billion US dollars. The high trade imbalance will also push the current account balance into deficit, which had around one billion US dollars surplus in the last fiscal year, an IMF report was quoted by leading English newspaper The Daily Star as saying on Sunday.

"The pressure on the balance of payments has intensified significantly and our current account balance is now negative for the first time in several years," Finance Adviser Mirza Azizul Islam said in a letter to the IMF recently.

Torch arrives in Vietnam to warm welcome

HO CHI MINH CITY, 29 April — The Olympic torch arrived in Vietnam on Monday night under tight security as activists said they planned demonstrations over Hanoi and Beijing's competing claims for South China Sea islands.

Scores of Chinese and Vietnamese with national flags and Beijing 2008 Olympics flags greeted the torch at Ho Chi Minh City Airport as it came from Communist ally North Korea, which unlike China and Vietnam remains an isolated country.

The torch was to be paraded in the city, still called Saigon by many, on Tuesday evening. Vietnam has good overall relations with China and the reception was expected to be warm, but not fervent as it was in Pyongyang.

Scholes seals final spot United run out 1-0 victors over Barcelona

London, 29 April — Manchester United made sure it will be an all-English UEFA Champions League final with a 1-0 victory over Barcelona.

In a pulsating encounter at Old Trafford, Paul Scholes' unstoppable first-half strike was enough to secure an aggregate success for Sir Alex Ferguson's side following the goalless draw at Camp Nou.

Barcelona kept battling until the final whistle but United were heroic in defence and limited the Spanish side to few, if any, clear-cut openings.

Real Betis have stadium ban for bottle incident reduced

MADRID, 29 April — Real Betis had an initial two-match stadium ban for a bottle-throwing incident reduced to one game by Spain's Sporting Discipline Committee (CEDD) on Monday after an appeal.

Betis received the punishment after Athletic Bilbao goalkeeper Armando was cut on the face when a fan threw a bottle of water at him during a league match at their Manuel Ruiz de Lopera stadium in March.

"According to the resolution, the action of people in helping to detain the person who committed the illegal act was taken into consideration," the Primera Liga club said in a statement on their website (www.realbetisbalompie.es).

Fans behind the goal helped identify the aggressor to stadium security after the incident and he was later arrested by the police.
