Reconstruction tasks in full swing thanks to collaboration

Due to the cyclone that hit Myanmar severely in early May, some areas in Ayeyawady and Yangon divisions not only lost many lives of local people but also suffered destruction to their economic, education and health enterprises.

The government is now carrying out relief, rehabilitation and preparedness tasks in order of priority in the storm-affected areas. So far, it has spent funds heavily on the works.

Reconstruction tasks are being carried out with the donations of the government and well-wishers in the storm-hit areas to provide shelter, food, and health care and requirements are being fulfilled for the victims to be able to resume their businesses.

Measures are being taken with added momentum under the leadership of the government to reconstruct ravaged houses and buildings and to ensure normalcy of power supply and communication services. In building new roads for smooth transport, the roads are designed to be higher than normal in the affected areas stretching to the coastal regions. So, the programme will contribute towards long-term natural disaster preparedness works.

Hospitals and basic education schools are being upgraded, while reconstruction works are being carried out for the convenience of local people in the affected areas. So, the entire region will enjoy improvement in the education and health sectors.

Due to the strenuous efforts the government, the people and the Tatmadaw are making with heart and soul with the use of the cash and kind and services being contributed by well-wishers and donors to materialize reconstruction works, the tasks are now gaining momentum in the storm-hit areas.

VOA airs falsehood that tornado wipes out entire Kaingthoung village Villagers with us, in good health

NAY PYI TAW, 24 June—The VOA, one of the foreign broadcasting stations notoriously known for airing falsehood with negative attitude, made up a new story on 23 June.

The invented story said that a tornado carrying a great deal of sand and earth struck Kaingthoung village of Pyinsalu in Labutta Township, Ayeyawady Division, on 19 May, killing all the villagers with all the houses overwhelmed and covered by sand and earth.

The fact was that some 300 houses were damaged as a result of the storm Nargis in Kaingthoung village of Pyinsalu and there were no casualties in the storm. In the aftermath of the storm, the State carried out rehabilitation tasks and now all the houses have been rebuilt. A total of 3744 people are now in good health. There was no incident of tornado that struck Kaingthoung village as broadcast. As such there were no casualties and damages.

The VOA holding negative views always broadcast fabricated news. In this regard, the people feel that it is necessary to listen to the news of the VOA with common sense.—MNA

Israeli Forces kill 2 Palestinians in West Bank

NABLUS, 24 June— Israeli forces killed two Palestinians, including an Islamic Jihad commander, in the West Bank city of Nablus on Tuesday in the first fatal raid since a ceasefire took hold in the Gaza Strip last week.

Islamic Jihad threatened to launch attacks inside Israel to avenge the death of Tarek Juma Abu Ghali, whom the militant group described as one of its most senior commanders in the northern West Bank.

A second Palestinian, affiliated with the Islamit militant group Hamas, was also killed in the overnight raid, Palestinian security sources said.

The killings, which were confirmed by the Israeli army, could test the fragile ceasefire that took effect last Thursday between Israel and militants in the Hamas-controlled Gaza Strip.—Internet

Four Americans die in Iraq attack

BAGHDAD, 24 June— Two American soldiers, two US civilians and six Iraqis have been killed in a bomb attack at a local council office in eastern Baghdad.

One of the US civilians was an official with the state department and the other worked for the defence department, US embassy officials said.

Ten people were wounded including three members of the Sadr City council.

The US military has blamed the attack on what it calls “special groups”, or rogue members of Shia Muslim militias.

Iraqi police said the attack was carried out by a suicide bomber, but investigations by the US military suggested a bomb had been planted in the building.

A suspect who tested positive for contact with explosives had been caught trying to flee the scene, the US said.

Eyewitnesses said the bomb exploded inside the office of the deputy leader of the council, who was among the injured.

Bill Clinton ‘committed to’ Obama

WASHINGTON, 24 June—Former US President Bill Clinton has announced for the first time that he is backing fellow Democrat Barack Obama to win the US presidential election.

The Obama campaign welcomed Mr Clinton’s declaration of support, saying: “A unified Democratic Party is going to be a powerful force for change this year and we’re confident President Clinton will play a big role in that.”

Relations between Mr Clinton and Mr Obama have been “frosty” since Mrs Clinton suspended her campaign, and the two men have not spoken, a news report said.

During the primary battle between Mr Obama and Mrs Clinton, Mr Clinton made the headlines when he described Mr Obama’s record of opposition to the Iraq War as a “fairy-tale”, and when he accused Mr Obama of “playing the race card”.

Pandas evacuated from earthquake-hit area

BEIJING, 24 June — Pandas living in an earthquake-hit part of southwestern China have been evacuated to temporary shelters due to the continuing threat of landslides and other hazards, a forestry bureau report said Tuesday.

The May 12 Sichuan province quake caused severe damage in the Wolong Nature Reserve, and the report said pandas from it’s Hetaoping Research and Conservation Center will have to stay elsewhere until the center is rebuilt.

The area’s annual rainy season starts in June, and rivers routinely overflow their banks. Landslides are a particular concern because the quake caused steep hillsides to shear away and crash into valleys below.

Pirates take four European tourists hostage

MOGADISHU, 24 June —Pirates took four European tourists hostage after their yacht ran out of fuel off the coast of northern Somalia in the Red Sea’s Gulf of Aden, according to a Somaliland official.

The pirates then took their hostages — a man, woman, their child and their yacht’s pilot — into hills around the fishing town of Las Qoray, said Ahmed Yusuf Yasin, vice president of the Republic of Somaliland.

Somaliland soldiers and local residents were searching for the pirates in an effort to free the hostages, Yasin said. Yasin said he believed the hostages were either French or German.

Earlier this month the UN Security Council gave nations new powers to pursue pirates into the waters off Somalia in an effort to combat a new spate of hijackings off the Horn of Africa.

The Gulf of Aden in particular has become a treacherous stretch for shipping in recent months, with more than two dozen pirate attacks reported since the beginning of 2008, according to the International Maritime Bureau. Nine of those have been successful hijackings, the bureau said.—Internet

Australians among world’s worst greenhouse polluters

CANBERRA, 24 June— An Australian government data showed on Tuesday that Australians are among the world’s worst greenhouse-gas polluters by emitting 28 tons of greenhouse-gasses per person every year.

Australian Conservation Foundation climate change program manager

Tony Mohr said the figure was among one of the highest in the world, even higher than the United States, Japan and the Western European countries.

Mohr said the international community will look at Australia’s high per capita emissions, and expect serious cuts as part of a global effort to tackle climate change.

The government’s National Greenhouse Gas Inventory, 2006, said the “magnitude” of per capita emissions was caused by Australia’s reliance on coal-fired electricity, high historical levels of land clearing, and large resource and agricultural industries.

Iraq qualifies six more firms for oil contracts

BAGHDAD, 24 June — Up to 41 foreign oil firms are now qualified to participate in Iraq's coming licensing round for oil and gas contracts, the Iraqi Oil Ministry said on Sunday.

Six more state-owned oil companies are added to 35 companies qualified in mid April to won rights to bid tenders to develop oil and gas fields in Iraq, a source of the oil ministry media office told Xinhua on condition of anonymity.

"The new oil firms are from Algeria, Angola, Pakistan, Thailand, Turkey and Vietnam," the source added.

In April, Iraq qualified 35 companies out of 120 applicants around the world. The qualification was in accordance to criteria put by the Iraqi Oil Ministry.

deals with the qualified oil companies to bid for oil and gas service contracts in all Iraq's regions soon, the source said.

Early in January, Iraqi oil ministry asked international oil companies to register with the newly set-up Contracts and Licensing Office of the ministry and set 18 February the deadline for receiving registration documentation.

Central Africa Republic, rebels sign peace pact

LIBREVILLE, 24 June — Central African Republic's government has signed a peace accord with rebel groups that seeks to end several years of bush guerilla war in the poor former French colony that borders with Sudan and Chad.

The accord, signed in Gabon's capital Libreville on Saturday, consolidates individual ceasefires already made by President Francois Bozize's Government with three insurgent movements as part of a national peace process.

Bozize, who seized power in 2003 and won elections two years later, is promoting a political dialogue in Central African Republic to end rebellions in the northwest and northeast which have forced tens of thousands of civilians from their homes.

Six rebels killed, trains halted in Thai south

YALA (Thailand), 24 June — Security forces killed six suspected Muslim rebels in southern Thailand on Monday, where all rail services have been halted after a brutal weekend attack on a train, police said.

About 200 police and soldiers raided a jungle hideout used by Muslim separatist guerillas in Yala, one of the four southernmost provinces where more than 3,000 people have been killed in a four-year insurgency, police said.

"It's a major victory as we have eliminated some snipers," Police Colonel Sompien Ekpanya told Reuters at the scene of the fighting.

Police said they had found a rifle with telescopic sights and a dozen mobile phones used for detonating bombs.

After a relative five month lull, the insurgents — who have never identified themselves or their aims — have stepped up operations this month, most notably with Saturday's ambush of a moving train in which a policeman and three rail workers were killed.

Hamas says US involved in inter-Palestinian crisis

GAZA, 24 June—Islamic Hamas movement on Sunday accused the United States of being involved in internal Palestinian differences by supporting a party against another party.

“The US administration is not interested in any Palestinian agreement and it pushes the situation towards collision,” Hamas spokesman Sami Abu Zuhri said in a statement faxed to the media.

The statement was made in response to the US Consulate General in Jerusalem which praised the graduation of a group of Palestinian forces loyal to President Mahmoud Abbas of Fatah movement.

The Consulate General has reportedly said that the graduation of these forces aims at supporting the legitimate Palestinian National Authority (PNA) and fighting the terrorism in the region.

“This statement was an evidence of the US involvement,” Abu Zuhri said. He added that these statements “explain the backgrounds” of the fighting between Hamas and Fatah which ended in June last year with Hamas taking over Gaza and ousting Fatah.

Abu Zuhri continued that the statements also “emphasize the nature of the security forces work in West Bank; crushing the groups of resistances”.

When pro-Abbas forces lost Gaza, they received more support to strengthen their role in the West Bank in order to maintain the territory, he said.

Singapore prevents profiteering for hiring foreign workers

SINGAPORE, 24 June—Singapore’s Ministry of Manpower (MOM) announced Friday that it will introduce new rules to bar employers from receiving payment for employing foreign workers, and to prohibit employment agencies from offering payment to employers.

The new rules “seek to better safeguard the well-being of foreign workers in Singapore. They also prevent labour market distortions”, said the ministry in a statement.

Starting from 14 July, employers cannot receive payment - whether monetary or in kind - as consideration for employing a Work Permit or S Pass holder.

Employers will also be prohibited from recovering employment-related expenses such as the levy and security bond from their Work Permit or S Pass holders.

A new licence condition will also be introduced to prohibit employment agencies from offering payment to employers, in exchange for hiring foreign workers through them.—Xinhua

Sarkozy criticizes Israel for settlements expansion

JERUSALEM, 24 June—Visiting French President Nicolas Sarkozy criticized on Sunday the expansion of Jewish settlements in the West Bank and the construction in east Jerusalem.

“You have made some bad decisions, like the expansion of settlements and east Jerusalem, where the construction is not good for Israel,” said Sarkozy during his visit to Israeli President Shimon Peres’ residence in Jerusalem.

Sarkozy and his wife, Carla Bruni, arrived in Israel late Sunday afternoon for a three-day trip as guests of Peres. “The best and only guarantee for the state of Israel is an independent, democratic Palestinian state at its side,” he added.

Peres responded that “there are no disagreements between us on the issue of the Palestinian state and the settlements. However, we evacuated many settlements in Gaza and the unfortunate result is Hamas firing at civilians, firing missiles at them”.

Saudi energy summit closed on Sunday

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia, 24 June—The energy summit staged in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, to curb rocketing oil prices, is closed on Sunday.

Leaders and ministers from the 36 nations agreed that “the transparency and regulation of financial markets should be improved through measures to capture more data on index fund activity and to examine cross-exchange interactions in the crude market”.

The increasing oil prices have hit almost 135 US dollars per barrel on Friday, which affects consumers and economies across the United States, Europe and much of the world. Many countries have experienced social unrest and economic turmoil.

As the world's top oil exporter, Saudi Arabia has been under intense pressure from the US and other oil consumers to increase its crude output to help rein in the oil price hike. Saudi King Abdullah said at the opening ceremony of the Jeddah oil meeting that his country has increased output to 9.7 million barrels a day and it is willing to increase oil output if necessary.

Feeling sad and glad simultaneously

Sitagu Sayadaw Dr Ashin Nanissara

A cyclone with the wind speed of about 200 kilometres per hour ravaged the lower part of Ayeyawady Division and some areas in Yangon Division on 2 and 3 May 2008, leaving millions of people homeless, and over 130,000, dead. It went down in the annals of the nation's history as the most destructive natural disaster.

I wish I would never hear of such an untold misery again in my life. Moreover, I wish I would never witness various forms of terrible loss of wealth, health, relatives, virtue and faith in the next existences. And I wish any of the world people would never suffer such forms of loss.

I did not face the violent catastrophe firsthand. However, when I learnt about and witnessed the sufferings of the victims, members of the Sangha and people, I happened to share a variety of hardships and adversities the victims were suffering. I did not know how heart-rending I felt. Therefore, I thought over which ways I should take to relieve their sufferings. I held a meeting with members of the Sitagu missionary association on 8 May night.

The meeting reached an agreement to lay down a policy of "Compassion in action" so as to build "Compassionate Common Platform" and to march forward along the path. We would have to translate Mano Kamma Karuna (compassion) into Kayakam Karuna (deeds). It was required of those capable in that regard to equip themselves with willingness of contributing towards the tasks. Lacking capability and skills, in spite of eagerness, volunteers would not be able to carry out the tasks effectively. So, I sent monk disciples and lay persons of Sitagu missionary association to the storm-affected areas.

Sitagu forward relief camp was opened at Sitagu Dhamma Vihara monastery in Kun-thi-chaung village, Bogale Township on 9 May. And details of our plan were made public internationally. We invited a member of the Sangha each from monasteries and the head of each ward and village in the storm-hit areas. With their help, we gave away over 100 kinds of supplies such as rice, clothes, blankets, mosquito nets and household utensils plus food supplies. We opened four hospitals and dispensaries with the doctors and nurses from Sitagu health care centre and Asia Taw Win clinic at Kadon, Amar, Setsan and Kunthigyau. The medicines and medical equipment I had received as donations were used to give health care to the victims. I visited three times the 10 monasteries in the urban areas in Bogale Township where relief camps were opened and donated cash and kind to the camps. We donated 100 corrugated iron sheets and K 100,000 to each of the ravaged monasteries. Some monasteries received cash assistance ranging from 500,000 to 1 million kyats. We renovated two government hospitals in Kadonkani and Amar villages, and donated all necessary medicines and medical equipment. Arrangements have been made to provide donations worth about 50,000 US dollars to the people's hospital in Bogale. The donations Sitagu missionary group had donated up to 9 June were K 134.4 million to 1344 monasteries in six townships, 146,600 CI sheets at the rate of 100 sheets to a monastery, more than 10,000 bags of rice to 1344 monasteries and over 900 villages, clothes, and 300 truck loads of aluminum pots and containers and food.

And Sitagu missionary association had donated medical equipment such as a ultrasound machine, ECG monitoring system, ECG machine, anesthesia machine, diathermy, autoclave, surgical instrument set, defibrillator, electric generator, oxygen concentrator, medicine trolley, dressing trolley, instrument trolley, 16 patient beds, and 16 bedside lockers to Bogale Township People's Hospital; and operation bed, operation light, anesthesia machine, diathermy, ECG machine, autoclave, surgical instrument set, electronic generator, and patient beds and beside tables to Amar Township People's Hospital.

We had donated all necessary medical equipment to operation theatre, lab room, and X-ray room of Kadonkani hospital before the natural disaster. Sitagu missionary association again donated a 2000-household-capacity water purifier, ECG machine, cardiac table, medicine trolley, dressing trolley, instrument trolley, labour table, vacuum extractor, foot suction, O₂ flowmeter, flower's bed, and generator (60 KVA).

In donating supplies, Sitagu missionary group gave priority to the religious, education and health affairs. We have chosen primary monastic education schools and government basic education primary schools in remote areas that are in need or that need repair. We are working together as much as we can in the interests of members of the Sangha and people. I feel sad because our donations and performances do not fulfil our wishes fully. Now, relief and rehabilitation tasks are being carried out effectively thanks to loving-kindness and compassion of internal and external donors. The volume of the undertakings rests on the amount of the donations. Anyhow, I am glad to perform such great wholesome deeds in this very life. I think and appreciate the donors, those who have contributed their voluntary services, and responsible persons of government bodies at different levels.

May all human beings enjoy longevity with good health.

In his address, the Prime Minister said that the sown acreage of Ayeyawady Division damaged in the storm was insignificant if compared with those of the whole division, adding that the government is providing storm-hit regions with all the necessary assistance including power tillers and paddy seeds.

He stressed the need for officials to make field trips right down to respective regions and give a helping hand to local people so that they can put all acres under crops and boost production.

With the assistance of the government, the respective companies are building durable houses of wooden type for storm victims, he said and spoke of the need for officials to impart knowledge of agriculture to local people to grow vegetables in their houses' compounds so that they can consume fresh vegetables and save money as well.

Next, the Prime Minister by car inspected the conditions of Mawlamyinegyun that has returned to normal.

The Prime Minister and party left Mawlamyinegyun by helicopter for Kyondah village in Dedaye Township, and inspected conditions of Bogale and Pyapon, progress of ploughing fields and nurturing paddy saplings for cultivation of monsoon paddy along the route.

On arrival at Kyondah village, the Prime Minister had a cordial meeting with service personnel, members of USDA, Women's Affairs Organizations, Maternal and Child Welfare Associations, Red Cross and Fire Brigade and townsenders.

In meeting with the teachers and students, the Prime Minister asked about the pass rate of matriculation students, saying that teachers are required to study constantly so that they will master the subjects they teach; that it is also needed to nurture and guide the students to become brilliant citizens who abide by the disciplines and who cherish the nation and the people; and that students on their part are to try hard to be outstanding and reliable citizens.

Next, the Prime Minister inspected the construction of durable houses with the donations of Eden Groups Co Ltd to provide shelter for homeless victims of Kyondah village, and the contribution of social organization members to the programme.

Minister for Rail Transportation Maj-Gen Aung Min who is supervising reconstruction tasks in Dedaye Township reported on progress of reconstruction tasks and measures for regional development.

He also inspected the construction of 16'x20' housing units. Managing Director U Chit Khaing of Eden Groups Co Ltd reported on the programme to construct and donate 65 units to the victims.

The Prime Minister cordially greeted volunteers from social organizations and workers.

The Prime Minister and party left Kyondah village by helicopter. On the way, they looked into the conditions of Dedaye, Kungyangon and Dalla townships, ploughing fields for growing monsoon paddy, nurturing of paddy saplings, cultivation of paddy, and vessels plying along the Yangon port. They arrived back at Yangon in the afternoon.

Now, companies concerned are building 16' x 20' houses with post shoes, roofed with CI sheets, floored with timber and covered with timber and bamboo mats for homeless victims. ASEAN Roundtable on Post Nargis Joint Assessment for Response, Recovery and Reconstruction held YANGON, 23 June - ASEAN Roundtable on Post Nargis Joint Assessment for Response, Recovery and Reconstruction was held at Chatrium Hotel on Natmauk Road here this morning.

Present were Secretary-General of ASEAN Dr Surin Pitsuwan, Under Secretary-General of the United Nations and Executive Secretary of UN-ESCAP Ms Noeleen Heyzer, Chairman of the Tripartite Core Group (TCG) Deputy Minister for Foreign Affairs U Kyaw Thu, officials of TCG, Ambassadors of ASEAN nations to Myanmar and ASEAN dialogue partner countries, Korea, China and Japan, embassy staff, diplomats and delegates of Bangladesh, Germany, Italy, France, Britain, the US, Egypt, Switzerland, Czech, Saudi Arabia and Australia, UN Resident Coordinator and resident representatives of UN Agencies, international social organizations and officials.

Secretary-General of ASEAN Dr Surin Pitsuwan and Under Secretary-General of the United Nations and Executive Secretary of UN-ESCAP Ms Noeleen Heyzer delivered speeches.

Next, Chairman of (TCG) Deputy Minister U Kyaw Thu said the roundtable was held to exchange experiences and review the devastating effect of cyclone Nargis. The death toll is 84,537 with 53,836 people missing and 19,359 injured due to the storm.

Although the extent of damages caused by the cyclone was unprecedented, the government was able to react very fast and attended to the requirements of the people in the aftermath of the storm. The National Disaster Preparedness Central Committee chaired by the Prime Minister assumes the overall coordination of the Nargis response. The ministers and the deputy ministers are designated to be the focal point.

A total of K 27.6 billion was spent on emergency assistance so far. An important task of TCG is to conduct a credible assessment and to formulate a recovery plan. Therefore, TCG meetings are held regularly.

Two advance assessment teams were deployed to the storm-affected areas on 5-7 June. The ASEAN Emergency Rapid Assessment Teams comprise experts from Myanmar government and the UN. After the storm, the data collection phase of Post Nargis Joint Assessment has now been concluded.

The objective of today's roundtable is to provide the government with initial findings from the Post Nargis Joint Assessment and other recommendations from specific sectoral interventions. The roundtable will also present ASEAN and other countries' experiences. Considering these recommendations, the ASEAN Humanitarian Task Force will intensify the momentum and the roundtable will also provide the government with recommendations towards more effective relief and recovery efforts.

Next, the panel 1 of the roundtable of preliminary findings from the Post-Nargis Joint Assessment was presided over by Chairman of (TCG) Deputy Minister U Kyaw Thu. Dr Puji Pujiono, ASEAN member of TCD reported on post Nargis assessment, Mr Richard Blewitt and Mr Yves-Kim Creach on relief and early recovery and Mr Raja Rehan Arshed on damage and loss.

Those present at the roundtable took part in the discussions.

In the afternoon, the panel 2 of the roundtable of Countries' experiences in managing response and preparation for recovery was presided over by Mr Robert Chua Hian Kong, Ambassador of Singapore to Myanmar. Mr Heru Prasetyo and Mr Suprayoga Hadi of Indonesia, Mr Maltree Jangkrajug of Thailand, Mr K H Masud Shiddiqui of Bangladesh and Lt-Gen Nadeem Ahmed of Pakistan discussed the experiences.

The panel 3 of Panel Discussion on Post-Nargis Strategic Next Steps was held. The session was presided over by Secretary-General of ASEAN Dr Surin Pitsuwan.

UN Humanitarian Coordinator Mr Daniel Baker reported on continuing relief imperatives, UNDP/UN Resident Coordinator Mr Bishow Parajulla on early recovery aspects and ASEAN expert Mr Raja Rehan Arshad on possible strategies for recovery and reconstruction and UN Assistant Secretary-General (Retd) UTun Myat took part in the discussions.

Australia says uranium sales to India may happen

CANBERRA, 24 June — Australia said on Monday it would consider uranium sales to India if New Delhi was able to strike a landmark nuclear pact with the United States and satisfy international concerns about safeguards.

The new centre-left Labour government was closely watching so-called "123" negotiations, although it would not sell yellowcake to countries that had not signed the Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT), Foreign Minister Stephen Smith said after meeting his Indian counterpart Pranab Mukherjee in Canberra.

"If and when the 123 Agreement gets to either the International Atomic Energy Agency or the Nuclear Suppliers Group (NSG), Australia will then give consideration to what its attitude to that agreement is," Smith told reporters.

Australia has 40 per cent of the world's known reserves of uranium and exports to 36 countries. India has been lobbying Canberra for access to it, despite not having agreed to the NPT.

India is trying to convince the 45-member NSG, including Australia, to back a waiver on trade with non-NPT members to allow sale of nuclear material, as well as strike agreement with the IAEA on safeguards.

Iran, Russia to jointly produce passenger airplanes

TEHERAN, 24 June — Teheran and Moscow have reached preliminary consensus on joint production of 100 passenger airliners of Tu-204 and Tu-214 in Iran, Iran's English-language Press TV reported on Sunday.

"The manufacturing of Russia's updated Tu-204 and Tu-214 passenger aircraft in Iran was put on the agenda after Russian experts studied the technological capabilities and human resources of Iran's Aviation Industries Organization (IAIO)," IAIO Deputy Executive Director Ali Akbar Ghazi Moradi was quoted as saying.

Russia and Iran were holding talks on the project to build the medium-haul 210-seat liners in the next 10 years for Iran, he said, adding that the countries were also discussing the spare parts production, test flights, and the construction of a maintenance center in the country.

"The agreement between Iran and Russia will be signed in the near future," Ghazi Moradi said.

Niger Tuareg rebels seize four French uranium workers

NIAMEY, 24 June—Tuareg-led rebels in Niger seized four French employees of a French-run uranium mine on Sunday in an abduction they said showed the country's government could not guarantee the safety of foreign mining operations.

Niger's government said the four, who worked for the French nuclear group Areva at its Cominak mine at Arlit in the north of the West African country, were kidnapped by "armed bandits", the term it usually uses to refer to the rebels. The rebel Niger Justice Movement (MNJ) said it carried out the kidnapping as a warning to foreign mining companies. It said it was responding to a public pledge made by Niger's government earlier this month that it would provide military protection to growing foreign investments in uranium mining and oil.—MNA/Reuters

India, France to co-produce surface-to-air missiles

NEW DELHI, 24 June—India and France plan to co-produce surface-to-air missiles (SAM) Maitri, which will be offered to the Indian Army for replacing the near-obsolete Russian SAMs, the Hindu newspaper reported Monday.

"We have been assured of support at the highest political level by French President Nicolas Sarkozy after he discussed the project with Prime Minister Manmohan Singh during the former's visit to New Delhi in January this year," said Antoine Bouvier, chief executive officer of Europe's MBDA, one of the world's largest missile manufacturers.

The MBDA had initiated discussions with India's missile manufacturer Bharat Dynamics Limited (BDL) and the Defence Research and Development Organization (DRDO) in November 2005 on a completely new missile version. The next step is joint development with the DRDO and production by the BDL some of which can also be earmarked for export, said Bouvier.

Hamas leader denies deployment of Arab forces

GAZA, 24 June—Hamas leader in Gaza Ismail Haneya on Sunday denied that the ceasefire deal with Israel comprises the entry of Arab forces to the Hamas-controlled Gaza Strip. "No one has officially spoken about Arab forces in Gaza Strip and there is no Arab state thinking of sending troops to Gaza," said Haneya, who has a government ruling Gaza despite being fired by the Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas.

Moreover, he added that Hamas "doesn't accept Arab forces" to prevent friction with Israel, but "welcomes Arab forces helping the Palestinian people in their liberation". Iraq official says British captives are alive

LONDON, 23 June—Five Britons who were kidnapped in Baghdad more than a year ago are still alive, Iraq's most senior security official told the BBC on Saturday.

Mowaffak al-Rubaie, Iraq's national security adviser, said authorities had "very good, strong intelligence telling us they are alive", the BBC said.

"And we roughly know the area where they are," Rubaie added. "But we don't want to be aggressive in our approach, not to risk their lives." The Britons—a computer instructor and his four bodyguards—were seized by a Shi'ite militant group from inside an Iraqi Finance Ministry building in a raid in Baghdad in May 2007.

There was no news of the men until a video featuring one of the hostages was released last December. It included a statement from his captors threatening to kill him unless Britain pulled its troops out of Iraq.

A second video was released in February, this time featuring a second hostage who appealed for the release of nine Iraqis in return for the Britons' freedom.—MNA/Reuters

6,000 troops urgently needed in Afghanistan

BERLIN, 24 June—Up to 6,000 additional troops are urgently needed in Afghanistan and a failure to deploy them will only prolong the presence of Western forces in the country, a German NATO general said on Sunday. Egon Ramms told public radio station Deutschlandfunk that alliance members would end up paying a price later if they did not boost troop numbers now.

"We are talking about a total of 5,000, 6,000 soldiers," Ramms said. "We need these soldiers now, very soon, because we need to hold specific areas, we need to win over Afghanistan's citizens and because at some point, in 2010, 2011 or 2012 we will want to hand over responsibility to Afghan forces.— MNA/Reuters

Norway, India to cooperate on higher education

STOCKHOLM, 24 June—Norway and India will enhance their cooperation in higher education, according to reports reaching here from Oslo Saturday.

The two countries signed an agreement on the cooperation this week in Oslo and the specific collaboration topics will be clarified in further follow-up between the countries, the Norwegian Ministry of Higher Education and Research said in a statement.

Cooperation in science and technology education will be given priority by Norway. It is important that collaboration in education is linked with that in the field of research, especially at the master and PhD levels, the Ministry added.

India is among the most important countries to collaborate with in the global knowledge society and the agreement could have important consequences for higher educational institutions and students in Norway, the Norwegian Minister of Higher Education and Research Tora Aasland said in the statement.

“Lap band” surgery improves health of obese teens

NEW YORK, 24 June — A type of minimally invasive weight-loss surgery called gastric banding not only helps morbidly obese teenagers lose a substantial amount of weight, but also leads to healthy changes in blood sugar and blood fats, a small study shows.

Teenagers who are extremely obese are at risk of type 2 diabetes and metabolic syndrome - a cluster of heart disease risk factors that includes high blood pressure, elevated blood sugar and abnormal cholesterol levels.

Previous studies have shown that gastric banding, or “lap band” surgery, performed using laparoscopic, or key-hole techniques, is a safe and effective way for morbidly obese teens to lose weight.

“Our goal with the lap band in this study was to try to reduce the morbid conditions that we see associated with obesity,” explained Dr Ilene Fennoy, professor of pediatrics at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons.

In lap band surgery, surgeons place a silicone band around the upper part of the stomach to create a small pouch that substantially limits the amount of food a person can eat at a time. The band is attached to a port placed just below the skin, which allows doctors to tighten or loosen the band by inflating or deflating a saline-filled balloon that lies inside the band.

French authorities remain vigilant on bird flu

PARIS, 24 June — The situation with regard to the avian influenza today “is neither better nor worse” compared to a decade ago and French authorities remain as much vigilant as ever before, Didier Houssin, France’s director general for public health, has said.

Houssin, who was speaking on Friday, was addressing reporters on what the government was doing to prepare to fight against a possible pandemic, according to the French Press.

In his remarks, the public health general director, who is part of an inter-ministerial delegation on the fight against the avian influenza, was quoted as saying that “no scientific authority had ever said that the flu threat had disappeared”.

“The premise of a possible pandemic is still much present. We know that there is a possibility of a future return, which means that we should be prepared to handle such an eventuality,” he said, adding that his team was fine-tuning the plan to make it “more and more operational”.

Since 2003, which marked the beginning of the epidemic, 385 cases of avian influenza, including 243 deaths, have been tabulated in 15 countries.

In four grouped-or-clustered human cases, an inter-human transmission has been confirmed, which has notably led to fears of a “humanization of the avian virus”, said Francoise Weber.

Russia condemns rewriting of World War II history

BREST (Belarus), 24 June — Russian President Dmitry Medvedev condemned on Sunday what he described as attempts to rewrite wartime history — an attack the Kremlin said was aimed at Ukraine and the three Baltic states.

In a joint declaration marking the 1941 Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union, Medvedev and Belarussian President Alexander Lukashenko denounced a “politicized approach to history”.

Their countries “strongly condemn any attempt at rewriting history and revision of the results of World War II”, they said.

Ukraine and the Baltic states Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania have challenged Moscow’s view of history, saying their nationals suffered from Soviet as well as Nazi oppression, and a Kremlin spokesman said later the criticism was aimed at them. Meeting in the Belarussian town of Brest, where Nazi forces first crossed the Soviet border on 22 June, 1941, the two leaders said that “a selective, politicized approach to history should be set against honest, scientific debate”.

Oil summit to urge financial market transparency

ALGIERS, 24 June — A draft final communique for Sunday’s summit of energy powers calls for greater financial market transparency and more exchanges of information about oil fundamentals and the actions of investment funds, Algeria’s official APS news agency reported on Saturday.

The agency, whose country currently holds the rotating presidency of OPEC, said the document also underlined the need to “take the necessary measures to guarantee the stability and permanence of the energy system and raise refining capacities.”

APS said the draft had been prepared ahead of talks on Sunday in the Saudi city of Jeddah between top officials and policy-makers from the world’s biggest oil producers and consumers, plus the chief executives of leading oil companies.

Participants will include OPEC, the International Energy Agency (IEA), and the International Energy Forum (IEF).

Oil prices have more than doubled in a year to almost 140 US dollars a barrel, triggering protests from Brussels to Bangkok over record fuel costs that threaten the world’s economy.

US gas prices climb to record $4.10; could be peak

NEW YORK, 24 June — Gasoline is costing US drivers a record 4.10 US dollars per gallon on average, but pump prices may be at a peak and could start to come down, an industry analyst said on Sunday.

That optimism is linked to a pledge by Saudi Arabia to pump more oil in response to consumer countries’ requests, according to Trilby Lundberg, editor of the nationwide Lundberg survey of about 7,000 gas stations.

“I suspect that oil prices have peaked and will flip further because of this news and the physical addition of more oil on the market in July,” Lundberg said. “This gives a strong chance that pump prices are peaking now, or may already have done so.”

A barrel of oil has doubled in price over the past year, stoking inflation, triggering protests from Asia to Europe, and compounding the financial pain of US consumers already grappling with a sagging housing market, job uncertainty and soaring food costs. — MNA/Reuters

Italian Rosetti to referee Euro 2008 final

REGENSDORF (Switzerland), 24 June — Italian Roberto Rosetti will referee the Euro 2008 final in Vienna on Sunday, organizers UEFA said on Monday.

The 40-year-old hospital manager from Turin had mixed feelings when he watched Italy being knocked out of the tournament by Spain 4-2 on penalties after their quarterfinal finished goalless after extra time.

Sunday's result, however, meant he was eligible to handle the final as only referees whose teams are not taking part can officiate.

"First of all, I'm a supporter of the national team as I have been since I was a little boy. The penalty shootout was a very emotional moment and not very nice for the team," Rosetti told reporters. —MNA/Reuters

UAE squeeze into last round of World Cup qualifiers

AL AIN (United Arab Emirates), 24 June — Ismail Matar scored with 10 minutes remaining to send the United Arab Emirates into the final round of World Cup qualifiers after a tense 3-1 defeat by Syria on Sunday.

Matar's penalty proved decisive and ended the hopes of the unheralded Syrians, whose were considered one of the weakest teams in qualifying after advancing from the preliminaries for the first time.

Syria's win put them level with their opponents on points and goals scored but the heart-breaking penalty added one more to their goals conceded column and pushed UAE into the last 10.

Djokovic moves through after hiccup

LONDON, 24 June — Third seed Novak Djokovic moved safely through to the second round of Wimbledon on Monday, beating German journeyman Michael Berrer 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 6-0.

The Serb edged a tight first set, breaking the Berrer serve at 6-5 only to lose five games in a row in the second set as Berrer briefly threatened a first-day shock.

Australian Open winner Djokovic, seeded to play five-times champion Roger Federer in the semi-finals this year, quickly regained control with some classy tennis.

After taking the third set with a single break of serve he swept through the fourth in style against his flagging opponent to set up an eye-catching second round with former world number one Marat Safin. —MNA/Reuters

Tactical preview of Germany vs Turkey

BASEL, 24 June — A look at the likely formations, strengths and weaknesses of Germany and Turkey who meet in the semifinal of Euro 2008 at St. Jakob Park on Wednesday (1845 GMT). Germany coach Joachim Loew, back on the bench after his one match banishment to the stands by UEFA, will have to decide whether to stick with the 4-5-1 formation he used against Portugal, or revert to his favoured 4-4-2.

Playing five in midfield meant he could give a much freer role to Michael Ballack, who was devastating in attack. Loew must be tempted to stick with the same strategy.

Turkey coach Fatih Terim's hand will be forced by what players he has available, but is likely to also play 4-4-2 although who fills those positions is the subject of some conjecture because he has so many injuries and suspensions to deal with.

Germany clearly have strengths in every department, but their biggest attribute on Wednesday may well be in their heads.

The Germans grow up believing they will reach the later stages, if not the final, of every competition they enter, and are also bound to feel confident playing against a Turkish team severely depleted by absent personnel.

Nalbandian sent packing in first round at Wimbledon

LONDON, 24 June — Former finalist David Nalbandian became the highest men's seed to perish at Wimbledon on Monday, beaten 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 by Canada's Frank Dancevic.

The seventh-seeded Argentine, runner-up to Lleyton Hewitt in 2002, looked completely out of sorts, bamboozled time and again by winners flying off Dancevic's racket. The 95th-ranked Dancevic put Nalbandian out of misery with a booming ace, his 16th of the match.

The defeat condemned the Argentine to his earliest exit from the All England Club. Dancevic will next face American Bobby Reynolds as he bids to reach the third round of a grand slam for the first time. —MNA/Reuters

Cink holds on to triumph at River Highlands

NEW YORK, 24 June — American Stewart Cink held his nerve to win his first PGA Tour title in almost four years with a one-shot victory at the Travelers Championship in Cromwell, Connecticut, on Sunday.

Two ahead overnight, Cink surrendered the outright lead after seven holes at the rain-softened TPC River Highlands but birdied three of the last 10 for a closing three-under-par 67.

Cink, who had not won since the 2004 WGC-NEC Invitational, stayed ahead of the chasing pack with birdies on 13 and 15 and got up and down from behind the green to save par at the last for an 18-under total of 262. "I can't believe it was this long since (winning) the last one," a smiling Cink told reporters after clinching his fifth PGA Tour title and a winner's cheque for 1.08 million US dollars. —MNA/Reuters

Ageless Lehmann proves doubters wrong

TENERO (Switzerland), 24 June — Germans worried that Jens Lehmann was too old, too slow and too unreliable for Euro 2008 but the 38-year-old keeper has proved that reports of his decline were wildly overplayed.

Lehmann looked so distracted in Germany's final two matches ahead of the tournament that he became an obvious target.

"I'm going to stay standing up and give you all more surface area to aim at," he said to the assembled media when he walked in for his first news conference at the team's training base.

It is clear enough why the goalkeeper was the big worry for fans, reporters and even the coaches.

Lehmann lost his place in the Arsenal team last season, was without a club to go to and came into the tournament desperately short of the sharpness that only comes from playing regularly. —MNA/Reuters

Zidane tips Deschamps for France job

VIENNA, 24 June — Former France great Zinedine Zidane tipped his 1998 World Cup winning captain Didier Deschamps on Sunday to become coach of the national team.

His comments came amid media speculation Raymond Domenech could be sacked as coach by the French Football Federation when it meets on July 3 to assess the country's disappointing group stage exit from Euro 2008.

Zidane, who retired after the 2006 World Cup, was initially reluctant to discuss such a sensitive issue, pointing out Domenech's future was not his decision.

"It will be decided on the 3rd of July and we'll see whether or not there is going to be a new coach," he told a news conference.

But he later added: "It's true someone who could replace the current coach is clearly Didier Deschamps. —MNA/Reuters

Eight shot and burned in Guyana diamond mine

GEORGETOWN, 24 June — Unknown assailants shot up to eight people and burned the bodies at a remote diamond mining camp in Guyana, the Prime Minister said on Monday.

Guyana, an English-speaking South American country, has struggled to contain violence by criminal gangs that sometimes take refuge in the mineral-rich eastern jungles popular with informal miners seeking gold and diamonds.

"It's almost like a cremation," Prime Minister Samuel Hinds told Reuters, adding it was not yet clear when the victims were killed. Initial forensic checks of the skeletal remains indicate as many as eight people died in the camp, he said.

The government said it had learned of the destruction of the small diamond camp on Saturday and police were investigating the killings.

Pakistan finds new bird flu outbreak

ISLAMABAD, 24 June — Pakistan confirmed a new outbreak of avian flu in poultry farm in northwestern Pakistan, culling some 2,000 chickens, local media reported on Monday.

Local Livestock and

Dairy Development Department and the World Health Organization (WHO) officials said tests conducted in Islamabad laboratory proved the presence of deadly H5N1 strain of bird flu.

The virus was detected in Hamid poultry farm in Swabi district of North West Frontier Province (NWFP) after the owner of the farm informed that 4,000 chickens died in the past days, The News newspaper said.

The remaining 2,000 chickens were culled after the confirmation of bird flu outbreak. Another poultry farm was also sealed.
