Perform meritorious deeds daily

It was the Fullmoon Day of Waso, 103 ME and the entire forest of Migadawon (deer park) in Isipatanar lush and pleasant. The Lord Buddha delivered the first sermon called Dhammacakka Discourse to the Five Disciples in the evening when the sun was about to set in the west and the moon was coming out in the east.

The Lord Buddha said the practices to the extreme could not lead to the emancipation from Samsara: the circle of births and deaths.

He said that it is only Majjima Patipada or the Middle Way that can widen the scope of knowledge and it is the correct way towards Nibbana. He also explained the Four Noble Truths and preached the Noble Eight-fold Path that all creatures had to follow. The Noble Eight-fold Path provides benefits for both present and the future of mankind. That was why He mainly delivered the Noble Eight-fold Path in the Dhammacakka Discourse.

Dhammacakka Discourse is the main factor of knowledge on religion and points out the way to Nibbana—the end of suffering. All Buddhist devotees must remember the blessings of the Lord Buddha and do meritorious deeds daily including donation, keeping the precepts and meditation in accord with the practices of the Noble Eight-fold Path.

Obama, McCain sharpen their dispute over Iraq war

WASHINGTON, 16 July—The two major Presidential rivals sharpened their long-standing dispute over the Iraq War on Tuesday, Democratic Sen. Barack Obama calling it a costly distraction that must end while Republican Sen. John McCain insisted it is a conflict the United States has to win.

“Iraq is not going to be a perfect place, and we don’t have unlimited resources to try and make it one,” Obama said in a speech in which he also said the United States must shift its focus to defeating the Taliban and al-Qaida in Afghanistan.

Rebutting swiftly, McCain said Obama “will tell you we can’t win in Afghanistan without losing in Iraq. In fact, he has it exactly backwards.”

While the two men agreed on the importance of prevailing in Afghanistan, the dispute veered in a new direction when it came to the tribal areas of next-door Pakistan, where terrorist Osama bin Laden and his men are thought to be hiding.

McCain accused Obama of “trying to sound tough” by speaking publicly of taking unilateral action against those blamed for the terror attacks of 11 Sept, 2001.

Undeterred, Obama said, “If Pakistan cannot or will not act, we will take out high-level terrorist targets like bin Laden if we have them in our sights.”

Despite his rhetoric, Obama refrained from saying the administration’s so-called surge in troop strength in Iraq had failed. Aides said his campaign Web site had been altered in recent days to remove references to that effect.

Bertha becomes longest lived July storm

HAMILTON (Bermuda), 16 July—Tropical Storm Bertha headed back out over open ocean and away from the US mainland Tuesday after it battered Bermuda, knocking out electricity to thousands on the Atlantic tourist island.

It is the longest-lived July tropical storm in history, according to the US National Hurricane Center. Bertha became the Atlantic season’s first hurricane, before weakening into a tropical storm. It is expected to strengthen over the next 24 hours, forecasters said.

The previous longest-lived storm, known as Storm No 2, occurred in 1960 and lasted just over 12 days, according to forecaster Daniel Brown. Bertha is entering its 13th day. The storm was centred 360 miles (580 kilometres) northeast of Bermuda Tuesday night, with sustained winds near 65 mph (100 kph), the center said. It was moving northeast at 6 mph (9 kph).

In Bermuda, the government dispatched cleanup crews and expected to restore power to 200 remaining customers by the end of the day. Bertha’s heavy rains flooded roads and its winds felled utility poles, leaving up to 7,500 without electricity on Monday. There were no reports of injuries.

Study shows when kids become teens, they get sluggish

CHICAGO, 16 July—One of the largest studies of its kind shows just how sluggish American children become once they hit the teen years: While 90 percent of 9-year-olds get a couple of hours of exercise most days, fewer than 3 percent of 15-year-olds do.

What’s more, the study suggests that fewer than a third of teens that age get even the minimum recommended by the government—an hour of moderate-to-vigorous exercise, like cycling, brisk walking, swimming or jogging.

The sharp drop raises concerns about inactivity continuing into adulthood, which could endanger kids’ health throughout their lives, the study authors said.

“People don’t recognize this as the crisis that it is,” said lead author Dr Philip Nader, a pediatrician and professor emeritus at the University of California at San Diego.

Inactivity is linked with greater risks for many health problems, including heart disease, obesity, high blood pressure and diabetes.

The new findings come just a week after an influential pediatricians group recommended that more children have their cholesterol checked and that some as young as 8 should be given cholesterol-lowering drugs. That advice was partly out of concern over future levels of heart disease and other ailments linked to rising rates of childhood obesity.

Israel identifies dead soldiers

BEIRUT, 16 July—Lebanese militant group Hezbollah hands over the coffins they say contain the bodies of two Israeli soldiers

The Israeli army has confirmed that human remains handed over by Lebanon’s Hezbollah as part of a prisoner swap are those of two of its soldiers.

The two men, Eldad Regev and Ehud Goldwasser, were captured in 2006, but it was not certain they had died.

In return, Israel is handing over five Lebanese prisoners and the bodies of 200 Lebanese and Palestinian fighters.

Russia resumes warship patrols in Arctic

Moscow, 16 July— The Russian Navy has resumed warship patrols in the waters around the Arctic Ocean archipelago of Svalbard, the first time since the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991.

“The Russian Navy has resumed the presence of Northern Fleet warships in Arctic regions, including in the area of Spitz-

“We have been talking for a long time about widening our activity in the Arctic,” said navy spokesman Igor Dygalo. “There is nothing aggressive in the interests of security.”

According to the statement, the anti-submarine ship Severomorsk has arrived in the Arctic area and begun carrying out tasks. The cruiser Marshal Ustinov will also arrive after 17 July.

Under a 1920 treaty, Svalbard was placed under Norwegian sovereignty, which Russia does not recognize.

Last year, Russia resumed long range bomber flights and regular patrols of the Mediterranean Sea.

Iran rejects preconditions for nuclear talks

TEHERAN, 16 July — Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad said Teheran will not accept any preconditions for nuclear talks with EU foreign policy Chief Javier Solana, the English-language satellite channel Press TV reported Tuesday.

“Teheran welcomes negotiations but will not accept the precondition set by the West - the suspension of uranium enrichment,” Ahmadinejad was quoted as saying on Monday evening.

Iran is ready to remove all international concerns regarding its nuclear programme, he said, adding that Iran is prepared to hold talks with any country over its nuclear standoff, except for the Israeli regime.

Iran’s top nuclear negotiator Saeed Jalili and Solana were due to meet in the Swiss city of Geneva on Saturday in an attempt to break the deadlock in the nuclear issue. Solana and Jalili will share points in two packages of incentives, said Ahmadinejad.

Solana handed over an updated package of incentives proposed by world powers and a letter from foreign ministers of the six countries and himself to Iranian Foreign Minister Manouchehr Mottaki last month. Iran responded to the package in a letter to Solana early this month and also presented its own package of proposals to the world powers.

Gunmen kidnap two Turkish nationals in Afghanistan

HERAT (Afghanistan), 16 July — Unknown gunmen kidnapped two Turkish nationals working on a construction project in western Afghanistan on Monday, a senior police official said.

Kidnapping has become a lucrative business in Afghanistan, where dozens of locals and foreigners have been abducted by criminals or Taliban-linked militants.

“The Turkish engineers were working on a project in the town of Islam Qala, bordering Iran, where they were kidnapped from the vehicle yesterday afternoon,” regional Police Chief Abdul Rahoof Ahmadi said.

“We found the vehicle and their passports inside the car ... The kidnappers might have taken them on foot somewhere,” he said.

A Turkish Foreign Ministry official in Ankara said the two abducted engineers were Gokhan Gul and Erhan Gunduz who were both working for the Turkish construction company Gulsen Insaat.

Lula criticizes EU’s harsh treatment on Brazilians

RIO DE JANEIRO, 16 July— European nations must give Brazilians the same treatment as their citizens received in Brazil, Brazilian President Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva said Monday.

On his weekly radio programme, Breakfast with the President, Lula said that during a meeting of the Group of Eight (G-8) in Japan last week, he had discussed with European leaders the European Union’s current policies against immigrants.

“We want Brazilians and all the world’s people to be treated with respect, in a manner that takes human rights into consideration, and not as if they were delinquents,” he said. Cases of mistreatment against Brazilian immigrants and tourists have increased in Europe, especially in Spain, even before the EU approved a new immigration law last month. Under the tough new immigration rules, illegal immigrants will face up to 18 months’ detention before deportation and will be banned from re-entry to EU countries for up to five years.—MNA/Xinhua

Singapore sees “reasonable chance” of WTO success

GENEVA, 16 July — Singapore, a bridge-builder in global trade talks, sees a “reasonable chance” that next week’s high-stakes push for consensus in the Doha Round will yield success, a senior government official said on Monday.

Ravi Menon of the Singaporean Trade and Industry Ministry said ministers gathering from 21 July in Geneva would not be able to settle every issue in the World Trade Organization (WTO) negotiations on cuts to export-impairing tariffs and subsidies.

But the second permanent secretary, in Geneva to lead Singapore’s delegation for a routine WTO policy review, said the meeting could result in the broad outlines of a deal in agriculture and manufactured goods, clearing the way for a comprehensive accord that would also span cross-border services.—MNA/Reuters

Obama tells blacks they must take responsibility

CINCINNATI, 16 July — Democratic White House hopeful Barack Obama on Monday urged Blacks to take more responsibility for improving their own lives, standing firm on a tough message that has been criticized by some African Americans.

Obama, who would be the first Black US president, was accused by civil rights leader Jesse Jackson last week of “talking down to Blacks”.

“Now, I know there’s some who’ve been saying I’ve been too tough, talking about responsibility,” Obama told the NAACP, the nation’s oldest civil rights organization. “I’m here to report, I’m not going to stop talking about it.”

Jackson and others have criticized Obama for discussing the problem of absent fathers in many Black families and urging Black men to become more involved in their children’s lives.

In urging more engagement by Black fathers, Obama often talks about his own experience being raised by a White Kansas-born single mother and his grandparents after his Black Kenyan father left the family when he was two years old. He often tells Black audiences they must spend more time doing homework with their children and avoid letting them watch too much television. —MNA/Reuters

Ukrainian protesters denounce NATO exercises

ODESSA(Ukraine), 16 July—About 150 leftist demonstrators staged a noisy protest on Monday denouncing Ukrainian Black Sea naval manoeuvres with NATO servicemen, but did not disrupt the proceedings.

The protest, two months after Ukraine was given an assurance that it would one day join NATO, was smaller than in previous years and leaders of leftist parties stayed away.

Two years ago, thousands of protesters in the Crimea Peninsula, further south, halted the exercises and prompted US officials overseeing them to leave.

Public opinion remains opposed to joining NATO after decades of Soviet propaganda depicting NATO as a warlike enemy. Surveys show no more than 30 per cent of respondents back membership and Russia objects to any notion of Ukrainian NATO membership on grounds that it would undermine its security interests.

Kuwait speaker says US provocative toward Iran

KUWAIT, 16 July—The United States and other Western countries are dealing in a provocative way with Iran over its nuclear programme and should respect its sovereignty, Kuwait’s Parliament Speaker said.

The United States has refused to rule out military action if Iran continues with attempts to enrich uranium, which Washington suspects is aimed at making an atomic bomb but the Islamic Republic says is peaceful.

Jassem al-Kharafi said the West was using double standards in the dispute by trying to stop Iran’s nuclear programme while saying nothing about Israel, which is widely believed to possess the Middle East’s only nuclear arsenal. The Jewish state neither confirms nor denies possessing nuclear weapons.

“I think what is happening with regard to the Iranian nuclear file involves a lot of exaggeration... and the method was provocative,” state news agency KUNA quoted Kharafi as saying late on Sunday. “The country has its status and strategy in the region and should not be threatened in the way which we saw,” he added.—MNA/Reuters

South Korea recalls envoy from Japan in island row

SEOUL, 16 July — South Korea said on Monday it would recall its ambassador from Tokyo in protest after Japan said it would write about a longstanding island dispute in school textbooks.

South Korea and Japan both lay claim to a group of desolate, rocky islets which Seoul calls Dokdo and Tokyo calls Takeshima. The area surrounding the islets has fertile fishing grounds.

The Japanese Government said it had informed Seoul that Tokyo would refer in a middle school teaching guide to the islands as Japanese territory.

“President Lee Myung-bak said he cannot help being deeply disappointed and feeling regret, considering the agreement between the two leaders to face past history and build a forward-looking Korea-Japan relationship,” South Korea’s presidential office said in a statement. “Japan should not repeat its behaviour of promising a forward-looking relationship with Korea but then stirring up a dispute such as the Dokdo issue once in a while when the government changes.”

Full Moon of Waso, Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day

Ba Sein ( Religious Affairs)

The Full Moon of Waso, the Dhammacakkapavattana Day falls on 17th July 2008. The full Moon Day of Waso associates with the four great noble and significant events related to the precious life of the Omniscient Gotama Buddha. On that holy day, the Buddha-to-be (the Gotama Buddha) took pregnancy in the womb of Queen Maya, wife of His Majesty King Suddhodana of Kapilavatthu Kingdom, and also on that holiday at the age of 29, the Buddha-to-be renounced the world, and after having full attainment of the Buddhahood, the Gotama Buddha preached His first great sermon, Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta to His five disciples, in which He explained the Four Noble Truths and the Noble Eightfold Path, on the Full Moon Day of Waso. All five disciples received ordination and formed the first nucleus of the holy brotherhood of disciples known as the Sangha.

And also, on the Full Moon Day of Waso, the Omniscient Buddha performed the great miracle called the Twin Miracle. The reason for this was to dispel the wrong views of heretics, and to prove that He possessed the attributes of a Buddha. It is the miracle of water and fire.

The Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day

Over 2550 years ago, the unrivalled Omniscient Buddha preached His first great Sermon, the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta to His five disciples (Kondañña and other four) in the Deer park, now known as Saranath, India, on the Full Moon Day of Waso. In commemoration of this significant and holy event associated with the precious life of the Buddha, the Buddhist peoples across the Buddhist world celebrate the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day on this Full Moon Day of Waso by observing precepts delivered by members of the Sangha and respectfully listening to the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta recited by members of the Sangha.

And also, the generous Buddhist peoples perform meritorious deeds such as offering Waso robes, alms and other offertories to the members of Sangha on the Full Moon Day of Waso, the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day.

RAINS RETREAT PREIOD, Vassavasa

Observing the rains retreat period; confining oneself to a specific monastic dwelling for the three-month rainy period.

During the three months of monsoon rains, Bhikkhus go into retreat at a monastery designated beforehand at the start of the rainy season. This practice was introduced during the life-time of the Buddha. Before the Buddha decreed the rains retreat period, Bhikkhus walked across fields under cultivation. People started to criticize them as some people believed that plants and even drops of water were living beings. Why is it that the disciples of the Buddha go on travels all the year round and trample young plants and insects into oblivion while even members of other sects do not go on journeys during the rains? Even birds and animals have the good sense to stay in their nests or dens during the rains, people complained. To put an end to this controversy the Buddha decreed that the rains-retreat period be observed. Rains-retreat period may be observed by taking up the designated residence during one of the two periods:-

- (1) Earlier rains-retreat period (purimavassavasa), commencing from the day after the fullmoon of Waso (roughly corresponding to July) and ending on the fullmoon day of Thadingyut (roughly corresponding to October);

Exercise may prevent brain shrinkage

WASHINGTON, 16 July—Mild Alzheimer's disease patients with higher physical fitness had larger brains compared to mild Alzheimer's patients with lower physical fitness, according to a study published in the July 15 issue of journal Neurology.

For the study, 121 people age 60 and older underwent fitness tests using a treadmill as well as brain scans to measure the white matter, gray matter and total volume of their brains. Of the group, 57 were in the early stages of Alzheimer's disease while the rest of the group did not have dementia.

"People with early Alzheimer's disease who were less physically fit had four times more brain shrinkage when compared to normal older adults than those who were more physically fit, suggesting less brain shrinkage related to the Alzheimer's disease process in those with higher fitness levels," said study author Jeffrey Burns of the University of Kansas.—MNA/Xinhua

US terrorist list hits one million names

WASHINGTON, 16 July—The US terrorist watch list now has one million names on it, partly due to the loose criteria for adding names to the list, a rights group said Monday.

"America's new million record watch list is a perfect symbol for what's wrong with this administration's approach to security," Barry Steinhardt, a spokesman for American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), said in a statement.

"It's unfair, out-of-control, a waste of resources, treats the rights of the innocent as an afterthought, and is a very real impediment in the lives of million of travellers in this country," he added.

The Inspector General of the Justice Department reported last year that the Terrorist Screening Center had over 700,000 names as of April 2007 and that the list was growing by an average of 20,000 names per month.

The watch list has become long and "bloated" naming several individuals who are probably not terrorists, Steinhardt said.

Independent developers have created mobile applications that range from games to location-based social networking. More than 800 applications are available through the App Store. More than 200 are free and those for sale cost less than 10 dollars.

the iPod touch. The overburdened system prevented some phones from immediately being fully activated.

The glitch, though, did not appear to dampen iPhone fervour.

Thirteen trapped in north China coal mine flood

TAIYUAN, 16 July — Thirteen people were still trapped after a coal mine flooding in north China's Shanxi Province on Saturday night, the local work safety authority said Sunday. The accident happened at 11:40 pm Saturday at the Wang-zhuang Coal Mining Co, Ltd in Changzhi City, said an official with the provincial work safety bureau.

There were 82 miners working at the major air-return way at that time and 69 managed to escape as of 2:30 am Sunday.

Singapore not ruling out organ trading yet

SINGAPORE, 16 July — Singapore's Health Minister Khaw Boon Wan on Sunday said Singapore is not ruling out legalizing organ trading.

Monday's English daily The Straits Times quoted Khaw as saying organ shortages and a black market in the region made legalizing trading an option. "I think we should not write off or reject the idea of selling organs. But I think we need to study it carefully," he said. Singapore laws currently prohibit organ trade, and five people were taken to court this month in a kidneys-for-sale case. He said that legalizing organ trading may shrink the current donor pool. "By legalizing trading, you could actually lose the family members who currently donate.

Instead, you could get organs from outside the family, through payment, and the result would not be as good," he explain.

Siblings have a one in four chance of a successful organ transplant. However, the figure reduces to one in 2,000 when organs are obtained from outside the family.—MNA/Xinhua

Bombardier launches "C Series" jet

FARNBOROUGH (England), 16 July—Bombardier launched a new 110-130 seat passenger jet, the C Series, on Sunday in a Canadian bid to challenge industry giants Airbus and Boeing. Announcing the long-awaited launch on the eve of the Farnborough Air Show, the Canadian company said it had selected Mirabel near Montreal as the site to assemble the planes, which will enter service in 2013.

Mirabel had been competing with Kansas City, Missouri. German airline Lufthansa has provisionally ordered 30 planes with an option for 30 more, Bombardier said. It has not so far signed a firm contract.

The C Series will sell for 46.7 million dollars each. Bombardier had previously indicated it was waiting for at least 50-100 orders before launching the aircraft, but orders were scarcer this year as high oil prices weigh on demand. "We are engaged in active and very promising discussions with a number of airlines worldwide," Chief Executive Pierre Baudouin told a news conference.

Measles kills 18 children in Somalia

MOGADISHU, 16 July — At least 18 children under the age of five have died in southern Somalia from a measles outbreak that threatens hundreds of infants in the war-ravaged Horn of African country, residents said on Monday.

The children died in villages close to the town of Jowhar, 90 kilometres (50 miles) north of the capital Mogadishu, where an interim government is facing a near-daily Islamist insurgency. Local elders accused health officials of laxity, saying there were no health facilities close by and the disease was fast spreading to other areas.

Ronaldinho's future set to be decided

MADRID, 16 July — Manchester City are leading the race to sign Brazil forward Ronaldinho from Barcelona, the Primera Liga club's president Joan Laporta said on Monday.

However, Italian media later reported that AC Milan were back in the driving seat after a day of talks.

Reports said Milan chief executive Adriano Galliani had been celebrating in a Barcelona hotel swimming pool with Ronaldinho and his brother/agent Roberto de Assis having come to an agreement.

Barcelona and Milan have yet to confirm a deal but Italian media said the Spanish club would take a couple of days to finalize the issue, with Ronaldinho's wish to go to Milan rather than Manchester likely to be the deciding factor.

Spanish media have reported an offer of 32 million euros ($50.27 million), plus variables, is on the table from the English Premier League club City, more than Milan have offered. —MNA/Reuters

Zheng Zhi to lead Chinese team in Beijing

BEIJING, 16 July — Charlton Athletic midfielder Zheng Zhi will lead China's under-23 squad at next month's Beijing Olympic soccer tournament, local media reported on Monday.

Zheng, who turns 28 next month, together with defender Li Weifeng, 29, and striker Han Peng, 24, have been selected as the three over-age players by China's Serbian coach Ratomir Dujkovic, the Beijing Daily said.

"It is my dream to march into the Olympic final in the Bird's Nest, as the coach has said," Zheng told the paper after scoring a penalty in a 4-0 warm-up victory over Malaysia in Jilin Province at the weekend.

Arsenal chief says players cannot ignore credit crunch

LONDON, 16 July— Soccer players and clubs in Europe need to wake up to the realities of the global credit crunch by reining in their wage and transfer fee expectations, the head of one of England's leading teams said on Tuesday.

As Premier League wages burst the one billion pounds (2 billion US dollars) mark for the first time, Peter Hill-Wood, chairman of Arsenal, said the days of easy money had come "to a pretty sudden end."

The warning came despite rising revenues from television coverage of English and European soccer games and an influx of overseas billionaires.

"There is an awful lot of talk about big transfers and major demands of players but you will find throughout the UK and Europe that money is not quite as easy to obtain as it used to be," Hill-Wood said in an interview published on the Arsenal website (www.arsenal.com).

He also warned against reading too much into reports about player transfers that were sourced to players' agents.

Tamil Tiger sea base 'captured'

COLOMBO, 16 July—The Sri Lankan military says it has captured a key coastal town in the north-west from Tamil Tiger rebels. The military says

Vidattaltivu, about 20km (12 miles) from the town of Mannar, was used by the rebels' naval wing to smuggle in supplies. The Tigers, who retain control of other bases further up the north-west coast, have not commented on the claims.

The defence ministry said Vidattaltivu had been captured by advancing soldiers on Wednesday morning. It is the first time since Indian peace keeping forces left Sri Lanka in 1990 that troops have been in control of the town, a statement said. Military spokesman Brigadier Udaya Nana-yakkara said some fighting was continuing and troops were carefully searching the town for remaining rebels. Fighting has intensified in Sri Lanka as soldiers continue a slow advance, aiming to crush the Tigers' de facto mini state in the north.—Internet

NZ teenage hacker charges dropped

HAMILTON (New Zealand), 16 July—A New Zealand teenager who admitted to taking part in an international cyber-crime network has been discharged without a conviction.

Police said the group hijacked more than one million computers and used them to take at least $20.4m (£10.3m) from private bank accounts.

Owen Thor Walker, 18, was ordered to pay $10,000 (£5,000) in damages and hand over his computer-related assets.

Police said they were interested in using his skills to fight cyber-crime.

Investigators called Mr Walker's programme one of the "most advanced" they had seen, prosecutors said.

He did not take money from people's accounts, but he was paid nearly $31,000 (£15,500) for software he designed that gave the cyber-ring access usernames, passwords and credit card details.—Internet

Media says Toyota to cut 2008 global sales goal 3.6 pct

Tokyo, 16 July—Toyota Motor Corp (7203.T) will cut its global sales target for calendar 2008 by 3.6 percent to around 9.5 million vehicles to reflect a sharp slowdown in the United States, Japanese public broadcaster NHK said on Wednesday. The world's biggest automaker had said it would announce revised sales figures for the tough US market some time this month. A source with knowledge of the situation said Toyota would lower its worldwide sales target along with that. Shares of Toyota, Japan's biggest issue with a market value of about $150 billion, closed the morning session in Tokyo down 1.3 percent at 4,620 yen, the lowest in nearly three years. That underperformed a 0.9 percent decline in Japan's transport equipment subindex (ITEQPT). By early afternoon Toyota was down 0.4 percent while the subindex was down 0.1 percent.—Internet
