Building dams for posterity of the nation

The government has been building irrigation facilities nationwide for development of agriculture, the mainstay of the nation. Khinmon Dam, the 218th facility of the State, was inaugurated near Khinmon Village in Yesagy Township, Magway Division, the other day.

Dams and tube wells have been built where there is scarcity of water for convenience of local people. The newly opened dam is one of the 71 undertakings to ensure local food sufficiency and greening tasks in Pakokku District being implemented under the guidance of the Head of State.

As Magway Division is the major source of edible oil, the government has made efforts for exceeding the target of 400 per cent edible oil sufficiency. This year over 870,000 acres of monsoon paddy were grown for local sufficiency of rice and 160,000 acres of summer paddy are being cultivated.

The government implemented 71 projects including dams, lakes and small embankments for local sufficiency of rice and greening of the areas in Pakokku District. Twenty four small dams were built under the supervision of Magway Division Peace and Development Council. And 47 projects were undertaken by Irrigation Department. Altogether 63 dams including Khinmon Dam have been built benefiting 7,103 irrigated acres more.

Inauguration of Khinmon Dam is laying an economic foundation for posterity in the region. It is an earth dam built across the Deedok Creek near Khinmon Village in Yesagy Township. It is 1,700 feet long and 50 feet high. The water storage capacity of the dam is 2,200 acre feet.

It is the duty of local people and farmers to maintain the dams which have been built spending a large amount of money and it is their duty to boost production of agricultural produce.

Suicide car bomb kills five policemen in W Iraq

FALLUJAH, 25 Jan— A suicide car bomber struck a police checkpoint in a town in west of Baghdad on Saturday, killing at least five policemen and wounding 13 other people, a local police source said.

“A suicide bomber drove his explosive-laden car before midday into a police checkpoint in the town of Garma, 15 km northeast of Fallujah City,” the source told Xinhua on condition of anonymity.

The blast killed three police officers and two policemen and wounded 13 others, including six policemen, the source said.

Fallujah, some 50 km west of Baghdad is part of the Sunni province of Anbar which had been a major stronghold for al-Qaida militants in Iraq after the US-led invasion in 2003.

Security situation in the province began to go in favor of the US military after the Sunnis shifted side and turned their guns against al-Qaida members in 2006 because they opposed to the indiscriminate terror attacks on civilians.

US troops in Iraq kill couple, wound daughter in raid on home

BAGHDAD 25 Jan — US forces killed a couple and wounded their 9-year-old daughter during a raid on their home in northern Iraq early Saturday, US military and Iraqi officials said. The US military said the man was suspected of being part of the militant group Al Qaeda in Iraq, but local officials said he was a retired colonel with no links to militant groups.

The US military said it raided the home in the Hawija district near Kirkuk after arresting a suspected Al Qaeda in Iraq militant in a nearby house. Troops opened fire when the woman, despite repeated warnings, reached for something beneath her mattress, the military said. One of the bullets passed through the woman’s body and wounded the couple’s daughter in the leg.—Internet

Iran welcomes planned US pullout from Iraq

BAGHDAD, 25 Jan — Iran on Saturday welcomed moves by the new US President Barack Obama to pull American troops out of Iraq and insisted that Teheran would not meddle in elections here.

“We definitely welcome a US troop pullout from Iraq,” Iran’s ambassador in Baghdad Hasan Kazemi Qomi told AFP in an interview.

“This is what the Iraqi people and the government wants.”

Obama has upped the tempo of a planned drawdown from Iraq since his inauguration on Tuesday, instructing top US commanders to prepare a “responsible” exit strategy, although other officials have been more cautious.—Internet

US military deaths in Iraq war at 4,232

WASHINGTON, 25 Jan — As of Saturday, 24 Jan, 2009, at least 4,232 members of the US military had died in the Iraq war since it began in March 2003.

The figure includes eight military civilians killed in action. At least 3,406 military personnel died as a result of hostile action, according to the military’s numbers.

The British military has reported 178 deaths; Italy, 33; Ukraine, 18; Poland, 21; Bulgaria, 13; Spain, 11; Denmark, seven; El Salvador, five; Slovakia, four; Latvia and Georgia, three each; Estonia, Netherlands, Thailand and Romania, two each; and Australia, Hungary, Kazakhstan and South Korea, one death each.

Suicide bomber kills one, wounds 8 in Afghanistan

KABUL, 25 Jan — A suicide bomber blew himself up at a market in eastern Afghanistan, killing a civilian and wounding eight others, an official said on Sunday.

The bomber’s target in the Saturday attack was an intelligence officer in Samkanai district of Paktia Province, said Rohulla Samun, the spokesman for Paktia’s governor. He missed the target but killed one civilian and wounded eight others at Samkanai’s market, Samun said.

Militants regularly launch suicide attacks against Afghan and foreign troops in the country. The majority of the victims in such attacks are civilians.

Gaza children return to school after war

GAZA CITY, 25 Jan — Tens of thousands of children returned to schools across Gaza on Saturday after three weeks of war, playing games for some relief from the devastation and telling friends and teachers about the explosions they heard and relatives they lost.

In one classroom, signs with the names of three 14-year-old boys killed in the fighting were set on their desks — and their deskmates sat with stunned expressions next to the empty seats as the teacher encouraged the class to talk about their experiences.

“It’s very hard when one used to see 30 students in class, and after what happened, I see 27,” their teacher, Bassam Salha told the class at the UN’s Fakhoura Elementary school. “We lived three weeks in sadness. I want you students to help me to get out of the sad mood I am in now.”

Meanwhile, an Israeli foreign office official said President Barack Obama’s newly-appointed special envoy to the Middle East is expected in Israel on Wednesday for talks on reviving Mideast peace negotiations after the Gaza fighting and on ensuring an arms blockade on the territory’s Hamas rulers.

Saudi Prince says US-Saudi ties at risk if no peace

RIYADH, 25 Jan—Saudi Arabia's ex-ambassador to Washington said former President George W Bush left a "sickening legacy" in the Middle East and warned that US-Saudi relations would be at risk if the Obama administration doesn't change America's policy in the region.

Prince Turki al-Faisal's unusually tough words were the latest blunt assessment by the Saudi royal family that prospects for Arab-Israeli peace are growing dim unless dramatic policy changes are made.

Turki said he strongly promoted the Arab-Israeli peace process in his decades as a public servant. But after Israel's three-week assault in the Gaza Strip, the prince said, "these pleas for optimism and co-operation now seem a distant memory," he said in a Financial Times op-ed published on Friday.

The kingdom has resisted calls for a holy war against Israel, "but every day this restraint becomes more difficult to maintain," he added.

The comments followed a warning from King Abdullah on Monday that his 2002 Arab-Israeli peace initiative won't remain on the table forever.

"America is not innocent in this calamity," said Turki, who is the chairman of the King Faisal Centre for Research and Islamic Studies in Riyadh.—Internet

Car dealers try to survive as economy, sales drop

NEW ORLEANS, 25 Jan —At this year's version of the National Automobile Dealers Association convention, survival has passed maximizing profits as the focus of the annual event.

So as thousands of dealers from across the US gathered on Saturday in New Orleans, they were greeted by workshops entitled "Selling up in a down economy: Taking the bull by the horns" and "Tough times, tougher dealers: Saving your dealership's assets."

By almost all accounts, 2009 will be among the toughest years ever faced by the roughly 20,000 new car dealerships in the US, with sales of cars and lightweight trucks projected to shrink by as much as 6 million vehicles from the 16.1 million sold as recently as 2007. Sales last year were 13.2 million, down 18 percent from 2007, and December sales ran at an annual rate of around 10 million. Last year's sales were the worst in 26 years.

The workshops, said convention Chairman Jeff Carlson, are designed to help dealers cope with 2009 and make it to the day when the auto market bounces back.

Pork imported from Ireland contaminated with dioxin

NANJING, 25 Jan — More than 23 tonnes of frozen pork shipped from Ireland to Nanjing was found to contain toxic dioxin and ordered to be shipped back on Friday, a local inspection and quarantine authority said on Sunday. The 937 cases of pork, imported by a food company in Suzhou City, was found to contain the chemical dioxin, according to the Suzhou Municipal Entry-exit Inspection and Quarantine Bureau. Dioxin is carcinogen specifically linked to breast cancer. Inspectors sealed the pork and ordered the company to send it back.

The pork was imported through the Shanghai Customs on 30 Oct. China's entry-exit and quarantine inspectors detained about 312 tonnes of Irish pork products across the country, the General Administration of Quality Supervision, Inspection and Quarantine (AQSIQ) said in December.—Interent

Air Canada cuts 345 jobs

TORONTO, 25 Jan —Air Canada has announced plans to cut another 345 jobs as it copes with a decrease in demand. Air Canada spokesman Peter Fitzpatrick said Saturday that the cuts will mostly affect its 5,700 flight attendants, beginning 2 March.

The airline says it will have one less flight attendant in business-class cabins on trans-Atlantic flights as part of its downsizing efforts.

The latest job cuts are in addition to the 2,000 positions Air Canada said it was eliminating last June, when fuel prices were sky high.

Air Canada currently employs about 26,600 workers across the country.

Archaeologists unearth earliest man-made cave houses

XI'AN, 25 Jan — Archaeologists have unearthed the earliest man-made cave houses and privately-owned pottery workshops in China which date back 5,500 years.

After four years of excavation, a row of 17 cave houses were found on a cliff along the Jinghe River in northwest China's Shaanxi Province, Wang Weilin, deputy director of the Shaanxi Archaeology Institute and chief archaeologist of the excavation, told Xinhua.

They were built between 3,500 to 3,000 BC, near the Yangganzai village of Gaoling county, 20 km away from the provincial capital Xi'an.

Wang said the row of houses are within a 16,000-square-meter site which is being excavated.

The cave houses belonged to a late Neolithic culture named Yangshao. It originated in the middle reach of the Yellow River and was considered a main origin of Chinese civilization. Yangshao is best known for red pottery ware with painted patterns and animals.—Internet

Malaysian leaders urge people to unite to tackle challenges ahead

KUALA LUMPUR, 25 Jan — Malaysian leaders have urged Malaysians to unite to tackle the challenges emerging from the global financial turmoil.

All parties must fully cooperate to implement the measures being taken by the Government to stimulate and strengthen the economy, Prime Minister Abdullah Ahmad Badawi said in his Chinese New Year message carried by local newspapers on Sunday.

Malaysia had successfully get through various economic challenges in the past based on a strong spirit and firm cooperation, he said.

Badawi stressed that unity among all races in the country was very important as development and economic progress could not take place if the country was in a state of chaos. The political stability in the country would not exist without the effort and cooperation of all Malaysians, he said.

He urged Malaysians to work together to make the country continue to develop and bring prosperity to all.

Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Najib Tun Razak also urged Malaysians to be more diligent and work hard to cushion themselves against the impact of the global economic crisis.

As the Chinese were ushering the Year of the Ox, he said, everyone should practice those good qualities of the Ox, such as resilience and determination as well as diligence and hard work, Najib said on Saturday in Pekan, Pahang State. —Xinhua

Lebanese majority leader says unity among Arabs prevents Iran's intervention

BEIRUT, 25 Jan — Lebanese Sunni majority leader Saad Hariri said on Saturday unity among Arab ranks would prevent Iran from interfering in Arab affairs, local Elnashra website reported. Addressing a dinner in Beirut hosting representatives of partisans living overseas, Hariri said "Iran was behind the Arab splits and divisions." "There are several confrontations (in the region) and Lebanon is the first line of defence," Hariri said, adding that the forthcoming elections in Lebanon are also the "first line in defence of Lebanon."

He described the upcoming general parliamentary elections which is scheduled for June as "crucial."

The upcoming elections will decide on who will rule the country for the next four years, and the competition is increasing between the ruling coalition backed by the West and the opposition led by Shiite militant group Hezbollah. Hariri, however, assured his guests that Syria would never return to Lebanon, pointing to the Lebanese opposition who are allies with the Syrians.

"Whatever the Syrians do, and whatever happens, they will never be able to return to Lebanon," Hariri said. Following huge demonstrations after the assassination of Saad's father, former Prime Minister Rafik Hariri on 14 Feb, Syrian troops withdrew from Lebanon in 2005, ending 29 years of military and political domination of its small neighbour. —Xinhua

Bird flu confirmed in W Canada

OTTAWA, 25 Jan — An apparently low pathogenic strain of the bird flu has been detected on a turkey farm in western Canada, the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) said on Saturday.

The agency confirmed "the presence of H5 avian influenza (AI) virus" in the farm located in Fraser Valley of British Columbia Province, where avian flu has been discovered in recent years.

Further testing is underway to assess the precise strain of the virus, but preliminary tests indicated that it was low pathogenic, the agency said.

"Tests to date indicate that the strain of AI in this case is low pathogenic," said the CFIA.

To limit the virus from spreading, more than 50,000 birds "on the infected premises will be humanely euthanized and disposed of," the agency said. Twenty-three farms within a 3-km radius of the turkey farm are under quarantine as officials do further blood check from the turkeys for confirmation.

"Nobody has been infected by the virus," said Elizabeth Brodtkin, medical officer of the Fraser Health Authority.

According to the World Health Organization, 252 people have died from the H5N1 strain of the bird flu since 2003.

Following an outbreak of the H7N3 strain of the bird flu, 17 million birds were slaughtered in the Fraser Valley in February 2004. —Xinhua

Zardari protests against US missile strikes

ISLAMABAD, 25 Jan — Pakistani President Asif Ali Zardari on Saturday protested over US missile strikes on the tribal regions and said that such strikes were counterproductive, according to local Press reports.

The private NNI news agency quoted official sources as saying that Zardari told US Ambassador NW Patterson that the drone attacks could affect the war on terror.

Zardari made it clear to the US envoy that only Pakistani security forces had the right to act against the militants, according to the report. He hoped that the new US Administration would stop missile strikes on the tribal regions, adding that the Pakistani democratic government was under tremendous pressure due to the issue, it said.

The Pakistani parliament has adopted a unanimous resolution which clearly says that any US and NATO attacks would be considered as attack on the country's sovereignty.

Two suspected militants killed near Indian capital

NEW DELHI, 25 Jan — Indian police killed two suspected Pakistani militants after a car chase on the outskirts of Delhi, police said on Sunday.

Police shot dead the two men in Noida, a city a few miles from New Delhi, around 2 am (3:30 pm ET), and said they could have been Pakistanis.

“We recovered AK-47 rifles and grenades and some documents, including a Pakistani passport,” Navin Arora, a senior police officer in Noida, told reporters.

Brij Lal, a senior police officer, said the recovery of a passport indicated that the suspects were from Pakistan.

One policeman was injured in the gun battle. The incident came as India prepares to celebrate its Republic Day on Monday and when the country is on high alert after the Mumbai attacks last year.

In late November, militants killed 179 people in coordinated attacks in India’s financial capital. The attacks have raised tensions between India and Pakistan, who have fought three wars since independence from Britain in 1947.—Internet

Japanese to learn English from Obama speeches

An English-learning textbook “The Speeches of Barack Obama” has sold more than 400,000 copies in two months in Japan, media reported.

US President-elect Barack Obama’s speeches are proving a best-seller, a big hit in Japan where few hit novels sell more than a million copies a year.

The 95-page paperback features Obama’s speeches in English from the 2004 Democratic National Convention and during the Democratic Party primaries, in which he defeated Hillary Clinton. They are accompanied by Japanese translations.

The 1,050 yen (11.6 US dollars) book, which includes a CD of the speeches, tops the bestseller list on bookseller Amazon’s Japanese Website.

“Speeches by presidents and presidential candidates are excellent as listening tools to learn English,” said Yuzo Yamamoto of Asahi Press, which produced the best-selling text book.

“Obama’s is especially so. His speeches are so moving, and he also uses words such as ‘yes, we can,’ ‘change’ and ‘hope’ that even Japanese people can memorize,” he said.

Danube delta holds answers to 'Noah's Flood' debate

BUCHAREST, 25 Jan — Did a catastrophic flood of biblical proportions drown the shores of the Black Sea 9,500 years ago, wiping out early Neolithic settlements around its perimeter? A geologist with the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution (WHOI) and two Romanian colleagues report in the January issue of Quaternary Science Reviews that, if the flood occurred at all, it was much smaller than previously proposed by other researchers.

Using sediment cores from the delta of the Danube River, which empties into the Black Sea, the researchers determined sea level was approximately 30 meters below present levels—rather than the 80 meters others hypothesized.—Internet

Dams, hydropower plants under construction on Mone Creek for ensuring socio-economic development

In accord with the guidance of the Head of State, the government has built Ayeyawady Bridge (Magway) linking Magway and Minbu regions to ensure development of western region of Magway Division. Moreover, thanks to implementation of dam projects, water can be supplied to grow paddy and other crops as double cropping in Magway Division.

As the western region of Magway Division is a dry area, Mone Creek Dam was built on Mone Creek for greening the region and increasing per-acre yield of crops. At present, water is being supplied to 108,000 acres of land. Furthermore, the local people from the western part of Magway Division are enjoying the fruits of electricity generated 380 million kilowatt hours yearly through irrigation facility of Mone Creek Dam.

Mone Creek originates from the mountain ranges of Chin State and flows into Ayeyawady River at Kyaungdawya of Lekaing in Pwintbyu Township. Water from Mone Creek is being irrigated to the farmlands through Mezali Diversion Weir. Electricity generated from Mone Creek Power Plant is being supplied to the surrounding areas through Lawpita national grid.

Mone Creek Dam is located on Mone Creek between Aukpon and Thayankaing villages of Sedoktara Township, Magway Division. It was opened in December 2004. Thanks to construction of Mone Creek Dam, the local people are enjoying the fruits of irrigation facility and electricity.

I had one more opportunity to visit construction sites of Buywa Dam Project and Upper Buywa Dam project being implemented on Mone Creek. Staff Officers U Kyaw Naing Oo and U Soe explained facts about Buywa Dam Project. The project site is located near Bu Village, 15 miles from Sedoktara Township (13 miles from Mone Creek Dam).

Upon completion of Buywa Dam, Kyeoohn-kyeewa Dam Project will generate about 120 million kilowatt hours yearly in addition to the regular hydropower generating capacity.

Upper Buywa Dam Project is being implemented upstream of Buywa Dam project site along Mone Creek. The former facility is located 25 miles from Mone Creek Dam and 12 miles upstream of Buywa Dam Project site. The dam is under construction near Thagaungkyin Village, 27 miles north of Sedoktara Township.

Staff U Kyaw Naing Oo and Staff Officer U Soe explained matters related to Buywa Dam Project to me.

Indeed, Buywa and Upper Buywa Dam Projects are being implemented on the hilly regions. On completion, Upper Buywa Dam Project can generate 534 million kilowatt hours yearly. In addition, Mone Creek Dam will supply electricity to Kyeoohn-kyeewa Dam project through Upper Buywa Dam and provide water to the irrigated area of Mezali Diversion Weir in the rainy season and summer.

During the tour, I observed progress of implementing the dam projects along Mone Creek. Together with Staff Officer U Than Tun, I visited Kyeoohn-kyeewa Dam Project. We left Monbu along Pathein-Monywa Road, and we arrived at the dam construction site, eight miles west of mile post No. 133 on Pathein-Monywa Road.

Kyeoohn-kyeewa Multi-purpose Dam Project will be installed with two 37-megawatt generators and it can generate 370 million kilowatt hours yearly and irrigate 96,777 acres of land. We saw the huge embankment of the dam with mountain ranges in the background.

Out of dam projects on Mone Creek, Mone Creek Dam had been opened, and remaining dams namely Buywa, Upper Buywa and Kyeoohn-kyeewa Dam projects are under construction with might and main.

For agricultural purpose, Upper Buywa Dam can store 1,459,400 acre feet of water, Buywa Dam 403,300 acre feet of water, Mone Creek Dam 674,400 acre feet of water and Kyeoohn-kyeewa Dam 463,000 acre feet of water, totaling 3,000,100.

As such, the local people of western region of Magway Division will enjoy the fruits of irrigation and hydropower facilities being built on Mone Creek coming years.

Four children die when sports hall collapses in Barcelona

MADRID, 25 Jan— Four children tragically died on Saturday when a sports hall collapsed due to high winds on the outskirts of Barcelona.

The children, who were between 9 and 16 years old, were members of a baseball club from the locality of Sant Boi de Llobregat, which is the home town of Spanish basketball stars Pau and Marc Gasol. As well as the four deaths, another 16 youngsters had to be taken to hospital, one of them in a critical state.

The youngsters had been practicing on Saturday morning, when the strong winds, which have affected all of the Iberian peninsular this weekend, forced them to seek shelter inside. Tragically as they were sheltering, the wind, which was gusting at speeds of up to 110 km per hour, lifted the metal roof off the facility and caused the roof to fall in, crushing those inside.

Local neighbours called the emergency services and helped with the rescue, but could do nothing for the youngsters who had already died.

Salmonella death in US rises to seven

WASHINGTON, 24 Jan—One Minnesota woman in her 80s has died from salmonella poisoning, bringing the total number of deaths related to the outbreak of salmonella in the US to seven, officials from the Minnesota Department of Health said on Saturday.

According to the officials, it was not clear whether the woman had eaten any contaminated peanut butter. In all, there have been three deaths in Minnesota, two in Virginia and one each in North Carolina and Idaho.

On Wednesday, the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said the sole source of the US salmonella outbreak involving contaminated peanut butter appears to be the Peanut Corp of America's Blakely, Georgia, processing facility.

The company produces peanut butter for use in nursing homes and cafeterias, as well as a concentrated product used in many commercially produced products, including cakes, cookies, crackers, candies, cereal and ice cream.

More than 200 peanut butter and peanut paste products from at least 38 companies have been recalled

Japan to provide $9.5 mln food aid to Philippines

MANILA, 25 Jan—Japan will provide an emergency food aid amounting to 9.5 million US dollars to the thousands of war-displaced persons in the southern Philippine region of Mindanao, its embassy in Manila said on Sunday.

The assistance will cover the distribution of 7,500 metric tons of rice to affected civilians through the United Nations World Food Programme (WFP). "Japan sincerely hopes that this emergency food aid through the WFP would help mitigating the current humanitarian crisis in Mindanao and strongly expects a cease-fire and the immediate resumption of peace talks between the government of the Philippines and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF)," the embassy said in a statement.

The 12,000-strong MILF, which used to be a part of a larger separatist group that signed a peace deal with the government in 1996, had been battling for self-rule in Mindanao since 1978.

After the aborted signing of an expanded Muslim homeland deal with the Philippine government in August 2008, MILF rebels forcibly occupied some Mindanao towns, killed civilians and looted and burned their homes. More than half a million of people have been affected by the conflict since government troops launched a military offensive against the rebels afterwards.

"Earlier in 2006, Japan had provided food aid amounting to 280 million yen or approximately 2.8 million US dollars for the displaced in the conflict-affected areas in Mindanao also through the WFP. This time, the aid will be substantially larger in its scale," the embassy said. Recently, the Philippine government has announced it is ready to resume talks with the Muslim rebels, but the displaced are still afraid to go back home for fear of the unstable situation in the south.—Internet

Three killed in Scotland avalanche

LONDON, 25 Jan — Three people died on Saturday and a fourth was injured by an avalanche in the Scottish Highlands, a police spokeswoman said.

Those who died were among several groups climbing the Buchaille Etive Mor in the Glencoe region. The avalanche happened about noon Saturday (5 am ET), according to the Northern Constabulary police. In all, nine people in two parties were caught up in the avalanche, but five people escaped injury, police said.

Rescuers from the Royal Air Force were sent to assist the climbers, but blizzards hampered their efforts, and rescue teams with search dogs had to be dropped on the mountain to continue on foot.

The injured person was being treated for a shoulder injury from the avalanche, police said.

Nine dead in Congo rebel drive

GOMA, 25 Jan — The Congolese military says nine Hutu rebels have been killed in eastern DR Congo, as a joint drive with Rwandan soldiers against rebels is stepped up. A Congolese army commander reported fighting with Rwandan Hutu rebels in five villages in the Lubero area, over 200km (125 miles) north of Goma.

Meanwhile there is no word on the possible extradition to DR Congo of Tutsi rebel chief Laurent Nkunda. He was arrested in Rwanda on Thursday night.

Congolese soldiers are fighting alongside at least 3,500 Rwandan soldiers to disarm the Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda (FDLR).

Members of this ethnic Hutu militia fled Rwanda after the 1994 genocide against Tutsis and moderate Hutus. Some FDLR leaders are accused of involvement in the genocide.

In hard times, mobile homes look better

ST LOUIS, 25 Jan — The economic slump and the puncturing of the housing bubble in the United States could be good for at least one industry, the manufacture of mobile homes.

There was a slight uptick in the business last year, The St Louis Post-Dispatch reported. The number of mobile home loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration rose almost 14 percent to 1,569.

There is anecdotal evidence that people who want to own a home but can't get a mortgage or find a conventional house, and those losing houses to foreclosure, are considering mobile homes, also known as trailers or, in the industry's favored term, manufactured homes.

"We're experiencing more people that are coming in that are basically coming from situations where foreclosure situations, they can't afford a traditional house, they just don't have the credit," said Mac McCoy, a salesman at Bropfs Mobile Home Sales near St Louis. "We've seen an extra 10 (percent) to 15 percent in that category. We expect that to increase. I don't see how it could not go up."—Internet

Google maps misplaces NYC neighbourhood

NEW YORK, 25 Jan — A Google glitch is giving drivers trying to reach a neighbourhood in the New York City borough of Staten Island directions to the upstate city of Schenectady.

Google has placed the 10308 zip code, the one for the Great Kills section, in Schenectady, which lies a few miles west of Albany about three hours up the Hudson River, the New York Daily News reports.

So anyone trying to get to Great Kills and seeking driving directions from Google is being sent north.

"It ought to be fixed, because if somebody does do that they're in for a heck of a ride," said Councilman Vince Ignizio, a Republican representing Staten Island. "I don't think it's a personal attack on my community."

I just pray to God nobody actually took that trip.

Andrew Plaitis, owner of Andrew's Diner in Great Kills, is grateful for Staten Island's insularity.

"This is a neighborhood place, everybody knows who we are," he said.

Scientists see California quake pattern

LOS ANGELES, 25 Jan — Southern California could be overdue for a major earthquake along the San Andreas Fault, researchers say.

A study by scientists at the University of California at Irvine found there were five major temblors along a southern section of the San Andreas Fault in the past 700 years, the Los Angeles Times reported Saturday.

The first one is estimated to have occurred in 1310, followed 83 years later by one in 1393, 192 years after that in 1585, the next 85 years later in 1640 and the last one 217 years later.

It's now been 152 years since the last major quake along the Carrizo Plain section of the San Andreas — the Fort Tejon temblor of 1857, which was an estimated magnitude of 7.9.

Lisa Grant Ludwig, a principal investigator for the University of California-Irvine study, said scientists can't be sure that the pattern will hold.

"But we know it increases the probability of an earthquake," she said. "There's not any way I can look at the data and be comforted by it." On Saturday morning, there was a 3.1 magnitude quake in central California, about 15 miles from Trona, Calif, the US Geological Survey said.—Internet

Discovery could block blood clots

LONDON, 25 Jan — Scientists have found a potential way to prevent blood clots which can cause heart attacks. They believe the discovery could aid the development of better heart attack prevention and treatment.

The key is to remove a particular protein — PKC alpha — from specialist blood cells called platelets which play a key role in the formation of clots. The University of Bristol study, carried out in mice, appears in the Journal of Clinical Investigation. Blood clots perform an essential function, limiting blood loss from a wound.

However, when they form in diseased arteries feeding the heart they can be life-threatening, causing a heart attack in 146,000 people in the UK every year. Current anti-clotting medicines, such as aspirin, reduce the risk of heart attack — but in some people can also cause excessive and dangerous bleeding.

Platelets are small cells in the blood that sense when a blood vessel has been damaged. They rapidly become very sticky, and form a protective plaster over the site of damage. In a patient with heart disease, fatty plaques build up in the walls of the arteries feeding the heart.

Calif hospitals cutting pediatrics units

LOS ANGELES, 25 Jan — California hospitals have been steadily cutting pediatric care during the past decade, the Los Angeles Times reported Saturday.

While the number of California children has grown to 10 million, more than 65 hospitals have either closed children's units or gone under, the newspaper said.

At least two dozen have cut the number of beds for children and few counties north of Sacramento provide beds dedicated to pediatric care.

More than 800 in-patient pediatrics beds were eliminated between 1998 and 2007, a cut of 19 percent.

More than half of those were in Los Angeles County, where dozens more pediatric beds have been lost since 2007, the Times reported after analyzing data from the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development and the US Census.

Policy analysts and pediatric care professionals are concerned the changes, which appear to be largely a result of financial considerations, are resulting in too few hospitals caring for concentrated numbers of children, with more pediatric care being delivered on an outpatient basis.

Paul Wise, a children's healthcare policy researcher at Stanford University, told the newspaper "things are a mess" in California.

"There seems to be a lack of any coherent monitoring or oversight," he said.

Diana Dooley, chief executive of the Children's Hospital Association of California, said some children "will be denied the level of care that they need."

"They'll have to get no care or they'll have to get care that isn't delivered by ... pediatricians trained in the special needs of children," she said.—Internet

Manchester United counting cost of five-trophy assault

MANCHESTER, 25 Jan—Manchester United boss Sir Alex Ferguson saw his dreams of landing five trophies kept alive, but admitted that the 2-1 FA Cup fourth round win over Tottenham came at a cost.

Manchester United's Argentinian forward Carlos Tévez.

Dimitar Berbatov's first-half strike against his former club settled the tie in United's favour at Old Trafford after a Tom Huddlestone own goal had cancelled out Roman Pavlyuchenko's early opener.

But Ferguson's team didn't emerge unscathed. "Cristiano Ronaldo had a stomach bug and it showed because he was nowhere near the player we know he can be," said the United manager. "Fabio da Silva picked up a calf injury and Danny Welbeck has injured his knee. The full-back positions are causing us a bit of concern at the moment."—Internet

Federer fights back as Jankovic crashes out of Australian Open

MELBOURNE, 25 Jan—The Australian Open was blown wide open when top seed Jelena Jankovic crashed out while Roger Federer was forced to mount a memorable comeback to beat Tomas Berdych.

The Serb's crushing 6-1, 6-4 defeat to French 16th seed Marion Bartoli put her alongside Ana Ivanovic and Venus Williams as high-profile early round casualties, raising further questions about her world number one status.

Federer looked like he could join Jankovic after losing the first two sets to Czech Berdych, battling back to win 4-6, 6-7 (4/7), 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 and stay on course for a record-equaling 14th Grand Slam title.—Internet

Ballack bolsters case for Chelsea extension

LONDON, 25 Jan—Michael Ballack has been given a clear hint he will be offered a new deal to stay at Chelsea next season.

The German midfielder is out of contract at the end of this campaign but his two-goal display in the FA Cup fourth round victory over Ipswich Town was a timely reminder of his value to the Stamford Bridge club.

Ballack has struggled to make an impact this year and his strikes were only his second and third goals of the campaign - and he is still to get off the mark in the Premier League.

But Chelsea number two Ray Wilkins insisted manager Luiz Felipe Scolari is happy with the former Bayern Munich man's contribution and expects Ballack to stay put.

"I would have thought he will be in the manager's plans for next year," Wilkins said. "He's a top quality player and that is what the club has been bringing in, top quality.

"His contribution has been excellent. He probably covers more acreage than anybody else in our side. With the work he puts in for the team, he's untouchable, he's extremely good.—Internet

Roddick in ominous form as he downs Robredo at Australian Open

MELBOURNE, 25 Jan—Seventh seeded American Andy Roddick was in ominous form as he downed Spaniard Tommy Robredo 7-5, 6-1, 6-3 to reach the Australian Open quarter-finals.

After battling out a tight first set, Roddick steamrolled his Spanish opponent in the second and third to send out a warning to his rivals. The American has been in great form at this year's tournament, dropping only one set on his way to the last eight, against Belgium's Xavier Malisse in the second round.

Roddick blasted 13 aces against Robredo and won 84 percent of his first serves to have the Spanish player on the back foot throughout the match. He broke Robredo five times and wasn't broken once — the Spaniard only had one break point over the three sets. Roddick's quarter-final appearance equals his best Grand Slam performance of what was for him a disappointing 2008. He now plays either defending champion Novak Djokovic or 2006 runner-up and crowd favourite Marcos Baghdatis for a place in the semi-finals.—Internet

Adams downcast as Portsmouth crash out

PORTSMOUTH, 25 Jan—Tony Adams admitted Portsmouth got exactly what they deserved as the FA Cup holders crashed out in the fourth round after being out-played and out-fought by Championship team Swansea.

Adams was horrified by his team's lack of desire and their failure to impose themselves during a dismal display at Fratton Park on Saturday. Last season, Portsmouth were parading the cup around Wembley after Harry Redknapp's men defeated Cardiff in the final.

But a lot has changed at the Premier League club in the last seven months and Adams has presided over a shocking run since Redknapp quit to take over at Tottenham.—Internet

Juande Ramos invites Saviola to abandon Real Madrid

MADRID, 25 Jan—Real Madrid coach Juande Ramos has opened the door for striker Javier Saviola to abandon the club during the current winter transfer window. Saviola used an interview in sports daily Marca to complain about his lack of chances at Real Madrid this season. Despite the season-long injury to Ruud van Nistelrooy, Saviola has made only seven first team appearances this campaign in the Primera Liga, scoring one goal in 187 minutes of football.

The arrival of Jan-Klaas Huntelaar from Ajax is only going to reduce his first team options for the rest of the season. However, if Saviola, a former Argentina international, was expecting any sympathy from the former Tottenham and Sevilla coach, he was mistaken.

Bryant leads season-opening Champions Tour event

KAUPULEHE-KONA, 25 Jan—With a slim lead on a defenseless course, Brad Bryant won't dare look in the rearview mirror in the Champions Tour's season-opening Mitsubishi Electric Championship.

"You just keep the pedal to the metal and hope the transmission don't blow," said Bryant, who shot a 7-under 65 on Saturday to take a one-shot lead over Bernhard Langer after two rounds in the winners-only event.

Bryant, who birdied nine holes in the opening round, set the pace early by birdieing six of his first 10 holes and capped his round with a 10-foot birdie putt on 18 for a 15-under 129 total. The big-hitting Texan is seeking his first victory since the 2007 US Senior Open, where he made up five strokes in the final round and overtook Tom Watson in the second-largest comeback in Open history. Bryant will be the hunted on Sunday.

Langer, the player and rookie of the year, made his move on the back nine, again, birdieing four of the final six holes for a 66. He shaved the hole on several putts before they eventually started falling, just as he did Friday in a back-nine 29.—Internet

China raises rice prices to boost grain output

BEIJING, 25 Jan—China's top economic planner said on Saturday it would raise the minimum state purchasing prices for rice in major rice-producing areas by as much as 16.9 percent this year.

The move was aimed at protecting farmers' interests, keeping grain prices stable and boosting grain output as grain growers had experienced higher costs since last year, according to the National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC).

The state purchasing prices for japonica rice will rise 15.9 percent to 1900 yuan (280 US dollars) per ton this year, according to the NDRC.

In addition, prices for early and late indica rice will be 16.9 percent and 16.5 percent higher respectively to 1800 yuan and 1840 yuan per ton.

It was the biggest increase in grain purchasing prices since 2004, said Ding Jie, an official with the NDRC's price department.

In 2004, China started the practice of buying grains from farmers at a state-set minimum price when market prices drop below the protective price level in order to encourage grain production.

Saturday's announcement came before Chinese farmers kick off the spring planting season, as the government tried to prevent the grain growers' enthusiasm from being eroded by higher costs of fertilizers and other production materials.—Internet

Sources of climate-and-health-afflicting soot pollution identified

STOCKHOLM, 25 Jan — A gigantic brownish haze from various burning and combustion processes is blanketing India and surrounding land and oceans during the winter season.

This soot-laden Brown Cloud is affecting South Asian climate as much or more than carbon dioxide and cause premature deaths of 100,000s annually, yet its sources have been poorly understood.

In the journal Science Örjan Gustafsson and colleagues at Stockholm University and in India use a novel carbon-14 method to determine that two-thirds of the soot particles are from biomass combustion such as in household cooking and in slash-and-burn agriculture.

Brown Clouds, covering large parts of South and East Asia, originate from burning of wood, dung and crop residue as well as from industrial processes and traffic. Previous studies had left it unclear as to the relative source contributions of biomass versus fossil fuel combustion.
