The beautiful Kanthaya Garden with colourful birds and flowers has brought honour and glory to Pathein, the capital city of Ayeyawady Division.

We, the news crew, arrived in Pathein to study the beautiful sceneries of Kanthaya Garden. The garden is set up to resemble the Kandawgyi with a combination of three lakes.

Pathein Development Affairs Committee has established the garden on the land that lies as an island between the three natural lakes. As soon as we entered Kanthaya Garden, we saw a beautiful circular fountain. Tulips, casuarinas and pines there are like a painting.

PERSPECTIVES

Boost crop production for agricultural development

The agriculture, forest and livestock breeding sectors are the important pillars for economic development of Myanmar. Therefore, the government has given priority to sustainable use of the nation's rich forest and agricultural resources.

In Myanmar, there are more than 44 million acres of arable land but the area of land that is actually farmed is over 33 million acres. Such agricultural produce as rice, beans and pulses, corn and sesame are the nation's food supplies as well as export earners.

Myanmar is in a position to produce good quality rice, beans and pulses and long-staple cotton that can penetrate the international market. Therefore, efforts are being made to increase the quantity as well as quality of crops by extending cultivated acreage and using quality strains.

The government has spent millions of kyats on construction of dams, river water-pumping stations and tube-wells to ensure sufficient water for agricultural purpose. As rice is the staple food of the nation, it is necessary to boost production in the 2009-2010 harvest season not only to meet domestic consumption but also to export the surplus.

As the agriculture sector plays an important role in our drive for development of national economy, we would like to call on the peasantry to work for development of the agriculture sector by trying to increase crop production.

UK pilot 'killed' in Malaysia testing new plane

KUALA LUMPUR, 17 Aug — A British pilot killed in a fiery crash in Malaysia was an aviation entrepreneur conducting a test flight of his Jetpod "flying taxi", reports said on Monday.

Michael Robert Dacre, 53, died on Sunday when the prototype aircraft crashed and burst into flames shortly after take-off from a landing strip in the northern town of Taiping, Malaysian police said. The Star daily said Dacre was an inventor and the managing director of British-based Avcen Ltd which planned to have the "Jetpod" eight-seater flying taxi in production by 2010.

It quoted witnesses as saying that the aircraft attempted to take off several times before soaring into the sky and then abruptly veering to the left and crashing to the ground.

The Jetpod was designed to have a cruising speed of 350 miles (550 kilometres) per hour, be quieter and quicker than a helicopter, and require just 125 meters to take off and 300 metres to land.

In interviews when plans for the dual jet engine aircraft were unveiled, Dacre had said he hoped the Jetpod would transform inner-city transport.—Internet

Israeli soldiers shoot Egyptian policeman

JERUSALEM, 17 Aug—The Israeli army says its soldiers mistakenly shot and wounded an Egyptian policeman along the border between the two countries.

The army says a routine patrol on Monday morning identified a suspicious, armed figure at the border.

It says that when the Israeli troops challenged the man, he cocked his weapon — prompting the soldiers to open fire. The army says the soldiers only realized it was an Egyptian policeman after the shooting. A joint Israeli-Egyptian team is investigating the shooting.—Internet

US soldier killed in Afghanistan

KABUL, 17 Aug—An insurgent gun attack killed a US soldier in Afghanistan, the military announced on Monday, adding to a climbing death toll of foreign troops helping to secure the country ahead of this week's elections.

The trooper was killed in the east of the country on Sunday, the same day three British soldiers were killed in an explosion in the volatile south. "An international security force member died after he encountered small arms fire from militants while on patrol in eastern Afghanistan on 16 August," the NATO-led force said in a statement. The soldier was from the United States, it said. Nearly 40 international troops have lost their lives in Afghanistan this month, according to independent icasualties.org which tracks the tolls from the conflict in Afghanistan and Iraq. July was the deadliest month for the international forces since the US-led invasion in late 2001 that removed the extremist Taliban regime for sheltering Al-Qaeda.—Internet

Three NATO soldiers killed in S Afghanistan

KABUL, 17 Aug— Three soldiers of the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) were killed in southern Afghanistan on Sunday, a press release of the alliance said on Monday.

"Three ISAF service members were killed yesterday, as a result of Improvised Explosive Device (IED) detonation that occurred in southern Afghanistan," the press release added.

"In fighting the militants and preventing them from harassing the population, these soldiers made the highest sacrifice to help give the Afghan people a chance to improve their quality of life. We will never forget them," the press release quoted Brigadier-General Eric Tremblay as saying.

However, it did not mention the exact place of the incident and nationality of victims by saying, "it is ISAF policy not to release the nationality of any casualty prior to the relevant national authority doing so."—Xinhua

Vietnam, Cambodia vow to reach two-way trade of $2 b in 2010

HANOI, 17 Aug—Vietnam and Cambodia expressed their strong will in reaching the bilateral trade of two billion US dollars in 2010, the local newspaper Vietnam Investment Times reported on Monday.

The target was made at a conference on opportunities for Vietnam to do business in Cambodia. The conference, which was recently-ended in Ho Chi Minh City of Vietnam, drew participation of relevant agencies of both Vietnam and Cambodia.

Cambodia will be a potential market for Vietnam as Cambodian people has turned their eyes on consuming Vietnam's goods and products instead of Thailand's ones, said Yeav Kim Hean, a commercial counselor of Vietnam-base Cambodian Embassy.

Cambodia is calling for foreign investment in its key sectors of hydropower, mining, cultivation of industrial plants, and telecommunication. This opens more opportunities for Vietnam's businesses to invest in Cambodia, said Huynh Tan Phong, vice director of Ho Chi Minh Trade Promotion Agency at the conference.

To reach the target,

Vietnam will conduct a wide range of trade promotion activities in Cambodia from now on. These activities include market surveys, conferences on trade cooperation and trade fairs, said Phong.

In 2008, the two-way trade between Vietnam and Cambodia was 1.7 billion US dollars, up 31 percent year-on-year. Of which, Vietnam's exports to Cambodia earned about 1.45 billion US dollars, according to Vietnam's Ministry of Industry and Trade.—Xinhua

China trade official goes to Washington on tires case

BEIJING, 17 Aug—China is sending a vice minister of trade to Washington to lobby US administration officials against imposing duties on Chinese-made tires, the Ministry of Commerce said on Monday.

The Obama administration has until September to decide whether to levy duties up to 55 percent, in the first of a growing list of trade issues with China.

Chinese vice commerce minister Zhong Shan will argue that slapping duties on Chinese exports would raise costs for US auto manufacturers and consumers. He will meet with US departments including State, Treasury, Commerce and the US Trade Representative.

The duties, recommended by the US International Trade Commission in late June, could reach up to 55 percent in the first year, 45 percent in the second year and 35 percent in the third year.

The petition to restrict tire imports came from the United Steelworkers union, which argues that the tire imports are destroying US industry. The Steelworkers represent 15,000 workers employed at 13 plants in nine US states that together account for nearly half of US tire production.—Internet

Israeli economy may be emerging from recession

JERUSALEM, 17 Aug—Israel's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) expanded by one percent in the second quarter of 2009, a sign that the country's economy might be emerging from recession, a report from the Central Bureau of Statistics (CBS) said on Sunday.

According to the report, the country's GDP has expanded after two consecutive quarters of contraction.

The one percent growth in the second quarter followed a 3.2 percent decrease in the first quarter and a 1.4 percent drop in the last quarter of 2008.

Exports, which account for about 45 percent of GDP, were 5.8 percent up in the second quarter, private consumption increased by 4.4 percent and public consumption rose by 19.8 percent, said CBS.

Rising energy demand pulls up S Korea's industrial power sales in July

SEOUL, 17 Aug—South Korea's industrial power sales inched up on year in July with an increase in demand from the oil refining and shipbuilding industries, the government said on Monday.

According to the Ministry of Knowledge, the nation's industrial power sales inched up 0.8 percent on year in July, with those to oil refineries and shipyards rising 5.5 percent and 6.7 percent, respectively.

Industrial power purchase of semiconductor and machinery manufacturers also expanded 3.5 percent and 1.3 percent year-on-year, the ministry said.

The ministry pointed out that a rise in demand by energy-concentrated industries pulled up power consumption in July.

Net profit of China's Datang Power surges 55.7% in H1

BEIJING, 17 Aug—The Datang International Power Generation Co (Datang Power) announced on Sunday its net profit surged 55.72 percent year on year to 652.37 million yuan (95.52 million US dollars) in the first half of this year.

The Beijing-based company attributed its profit increase to the electricity price increases during the second half last year.

China raised retail electricity prices by 0.025 yuan per kwh for industries in last July and lifted the on-grid price of coal-fired electricity by 0.01 yuan in last August to offset rising costs in power plants.

The company's business revenue reached 20.68 billion yuan in the first six months, an increase of 18.9 percent from a year earlier.

In the January-June period, Datang Power reaped 18.3 billion yuan on electricity sales, up 7.84 percent year on year.

However, power generation in the company and its subsidiaries was down 1.51 percent from a year earlier to 61.3 billion kwh.—Xinhua

Teheran dismisses gasoline sanction on Iran as "inefficient"

TEHERAN, 17 Aug—Iranian Oil Minister Gholam Hossein Nozari on Sunday dismissed sanctions on gasoline exports to Iran as "inefficient," the semi-official Fars news agency reported. "Iran possesses one of the greatest oil reserves in the world, therefore, no country can impose sanctions on Iran's gasoline," Nozari was quoted as saying.

In the meantime, "all the necessary measures for supplying the country's gasoline needs have been taken," he said.

Hojjatollah Ghani-mifard, an official of National Iranian Oil Company, said last week that Iran is by no means concerned about any sanction on Iran's fuel demand.

Earlier, Iran's OPEC Governor Mohammad Ali Khataibi said Iran is a very important market for foreign suppliers and that "global oil commodity producers can not lose the Iranian market easily," according to local satellite Press TV.

In a fresh attempt, the Obama administration is considering the option of cutting off the supplies of gasoline and other refined oil products to Teheran if it refuses to negotiate on its disputed nuclear programme.—Xinhua

Brazil, Venezuela to boost cooperation on fertilizer

CARACAS, 17 Aug—Brazil and Venezuela will seek a geostrategic alliance on fertilizer, Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez on Sunday told his weekly broadcast "Alo Presidente."

Venezuela's Bolivar state borders Brazil's Roraima state and the latter needs Venezuela's fertilizer to boost agriculture and downstream production such as livestock farming, Brazil's ambassador to Venezuela, Jao de Souza, said during the programme.

Venezuela produces crude oil and natural gas, both of which are key feed stocks for many industrial fertilizers.

Venezuela and Brazil share a borderline of some 1,700 km. Venezuela is Brazil's sixth largest trade partner.—Xinhua

New strategy launched to tackle climate change, protect Great Barrier Reef

CANBERRA, 17 Aug—A new strategy was launched on Monday to tackle climate change and protect Australia's 4.1 billion US dollar Great Barrier Reef tourism industry.

The plan was revealed at the Tourism Futures Conference on the Gold Coast.

It has been compiled by the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority, Queensland Tourism Industry Council and Association of Marine Park Tourism Operators.

Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority chairman Russell Reichelt said climate change is the single biggest threat facing the reef.

"One of the key features is that it was developed by industry, but with the marine park authority as a combined effort," he said.

The plan covered raising awareness among operators and tourists, reducing the carbon footprint of tourism operators and improving their energy efficiency.

The strategy also included monitoring and reporting changes, improving the resilience of the reef itself, and integrating climate change with business operations and planning.—Xinhua

Seven dead as accident shuts top Russia hydro station

MOSCOW, 17 Aug—Seven people were killed on Monday in an accident that halted production at Russia's largest hydroelectric power station, officials said.

Water flooded a hall at the Sayano-Shushenskaya power station in the Siberian region of Khakassia, emergency ministry spokeswoman Irina Butenko told Reuters.

"Seven people died and 11 were injured," she said. "There is no danger to the population."

She said authorities were not ruling out the possibility that an explosion caused the accident, but Russian news agencies reported a water surge was the most likely cause.

Power production has been halted at the plant which supplies several major aluminium plants, said a spokesman for RusHydro, which owns the station.

Electricity supplies have been cut to the Khakassky and Sayansk aluminium plants, said Dmitry Kudryavtsev, the chief spokesman for the emergencies ministry in Siberia.

Plants operated by Russia's largest aluminium producer RUSAL are working as normal, said spokeswoman Vera Kurochkina.—Internet

Britain publishes more UFO files, but few answers

LONDON, 17 Aug—The deputy commander of a US Air Force base in England was baffled by what he'd seen: bright, pulsing lights in the night sky.

Britain's defence ministry couldn't explain it either, but concluded that the unidentified flying object posed no threat.

The National Archives on Monday released the government's complete file on the "Rendlesham Forest Incident" of December 1980, one of Britain's most famous UFO sightings.

It was among more than 4,000 pages posted online on Monday documenting 800 alleged encounters during the 1980s and 1990s. Over the past three years the Ministry of Defence has been gradually releasing previously secret UFO papers after facing Freedom of Information demands.

The Rendlesham file contains US Air Force Lt Col Charles Halt's firsthand account of the event, which has been public knowledge for many years. The file includes the conclusions of a British government investigation and a letter from a former defence chief urging officials to take UFOs more seriously.

Halt reported that two servicemen had noticed "unusual lights" about 3 am in the woods outside the gates of RAF Woodbridge, a US base in eastern England. He wrote that patrolmen sent to investigate saw "a strange glowing object" in the forest.—Internet also doing maintenance tasks for visitors to Pathein to be able to come here." There are a playground, a mini golf club and rotors in the garden.

The 200-foot-long wooden bridge across the lake with turnings is attractive to everyone to walk over. At the other end of the bridge lies Pathein University. Pathein University alongside Kanthaya Garden has added to the glory of Pathein.

In the three lakes boat races are held and on the lawns of the garden weddings are usually held. By walking on the gravel road in the garden one can relax and freshen his mind. Trees and flowers in the garden have been rearranged in their natural style.

Moreover, a swimming pool has been built in the garden for children as well as adults to refresh their minds.

Kanthaya Garden is open daily and it is the best place for the dwellers of Pathein to relax.

The first step of a long journey

Kyaw Ye Min

Senator Mr Jim Webb, Chairman of the East Asian and Pacific Affairs Subcommittee of the US Senate Foreign Relations Committee has just completed his visit to Myanmar. Mr Yettaw went along with Mr Jim Webb to be home. The Senator's tour of Myanmar was welcomed and recognized both locally and globally as a successful visit that helps deepen the relations between the US and Myanmar and reflects Myanmar's magnanimity and consideration.

During his visit to Myanmar, Mr Jim Webb met Head of State Senior General Than Shwe and also with the Prime Minister and the Foreign Affairs Minister and exchanged views. Moreover, he held meetings with the State Constitution Drafting Commission, social organizations, national race armed groups that have returned to the legal fold, and officially registered political parties. He also had talks with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi. The meetings indicated that the government cooperated in all seriousness with Mr Jim Webb in his mission.

International media praised Mr Jim Webb for the good job for his compatriot Mr Yettaw. At his call on the Head of State, Mr Jim Webb made two requests: to release Mr Yettaw who was punished for his violation of Myanmar law, and to let him meet Daw Aung San Suu Kyi.

Mr Jim Webb said that Mr Yettaw committed a serious crime according to the Myanmar law, so he did not want to ask a pardon; that however he requested that the government release Mr Yettaw from the social grounds; that the Myanmar government fulfilled his request with goodwill from the humanitarian grounds in the framework of the law; and that so Mr Yettaw had reunited with his family.

In my opinion, Mr Yettaw was found guilty, but the case was worthy of consideration due to his bad health conditions. According to the clarification the chief of the Myanmar Police Force made at the press conference recently, he was in serious condition owing to the fact that he did not have meals for months. The government provided health care to him, spending a lot of money. At the requests of Mr Jim Webb and the US Embassy in Myanmar, the government issued an order on humanitarian grounds to commute half of the US citizen Mr Yettaw's seven years' prison term and suspend the remaining prison term and to deport him for his health and future and as a gesture of considering relations between the US and Myanmar. Now, he has left Myanmar together with Mr Jim Webb.

After the order was read, Mr Yettaw and his 13 belongings and 17 kinds of medicine were handed over to the US consul. It was made known to Mr Yettaw that according to the order, he will have to serve the suspended term alongside a three years' term under the Immigration Law if he enters Myanmar illegally again. The order depicts that the nation has an upright judicial pillar based on humanitarianism and magnanimity.

Some foreign media expressed the government's permission to Mr Jim Webb to meet Daw Aung San Suu Kyi in his visit to Myanmar as a significant fulfilment. Their expression implicitly pointed out that the United Nations Secretary-General on his visit to Myanmar was not allowed to meet with her, because they do not notice the difference between the two situations. While the UNSG was on a visit, Daw Aung San Suu Kyi was still on trial at the court for her case and she was under the jurisdiction of the court. Now, the trial is over and she has been permitted to live in her residence under the suspended sentence. That means the government no longer needs to seek the approval of the court concerned to arrange a meeting between Mr Jim Webb and her. So, it is required of those foreign media to view the two different situations.

Being a member of the United Nations, Myanmar has been cooperating constantly with the international organization, and it will keep on cooperating actively with it. Myanmar recognizes and appreciates the good offices and efforts of the UN Secretary-General, but it did not attend to his request because of unusual situations and time. I wish those foreign media would realize that.

Furthermore, Myanmar is a member of the global family, and has positive attitude to cooperate with all other members in a friendly way. Myanmar deals friendly and equally with other countries in line with the Five Principles of Peaceful Coexistence. In viewing the international affairs, Myanmar does not have any discrimination against or in favour of any particular countries. On Mr Jim Webb's visit, Myanmar enthusiastically cooperated with him because of its stance to deepen the bilateral relations and relieve the disagreements between the two countries, not because of his mother country, a superpower. If any other country is in place of the US, Myanmar's stance will remain unchanged in that regard.

Mr Jim Webb issued a statement thanking the Myanmar government for its moves as a gesture of taking heed of relations between the two countries with correct vision. He said both the countries hoped to use the Myanmar government's new moves as ways of building bilateral confidence and amity. At a press conference before leaving Yangon Airport, Mr Jim Webb revealed that he thanked the top leaders of the government for allowing him to meet them. His visit would help promote mutual understanding between the US and Myanmar and hold working discussions. The 2010 election needed to be free and fair and it was hoped that it would be so. Mr Jim Webb added that he was able to discuss how to overcome existing obstacles so that Myanmar's political process achieving its goal. He hoped that the relations between the US and Myanmar would continue to improve. He had already believed that the barriers to building amity between the two countries would be overcome some time. With a view to mending the bilateral relations, he would hold discussions based on his visit to Myanmar with the US administration and Secretary of State Hilary Clinton.

In response to a reporter's question, Mr Jim Webb said he supposed that conventional economic sanctions against Myanmar would not yield any benefits. In reality, he was the one who opposed the economic sanctions against Myanmar. He pointed out that a negotiation through diplomatic channel was necessary in order to lift the sanctions against Myanmar gradually. But we had learnt before his visit that a spokesperson of a big opposition party said that they could not recognize Mr Jim Webb, who opposed the economic sanctions against Myanmar, as a politician who should be welcomed and that they were indifferent to his visit as it could not be democratically beneficial.

Even an influential US senator opposes the economic sanctions against our country but it is found that anti-government Myanmar groups are demanding further economic sanctions to get their own country into trouble. They are indeed quibbling. It was said that recently, the EU included more persons and organizations in the list of the economic sanctions against Myanmar. Those persons and organizations have been banned from entering the EU countries and their assets will be frozen. To make matters worse, Nwe Aung, a so-called activist of Myanmar affairs in Europe, made a shameful remark. He said they had demanded legal staff as well as insurance services and marine products should be banned. But they had not been in time to ban them. Even though the EU sanctions worked to a certain degree, they were not satisfied with that, he said. Actually, they did not do a single thing to serve the interests of their own country and people but have been sticking to destructive acts. Their attitude and acts are so mean. If they still regard themselves as Myanmar nationals, they should not be that disloyal to their own country and people. Even a senator from a foreign country shows goodwill towards the Myanmar people. If so, Myanmar people should show more goodwill and repay the gratitude of the State.

The US government has issued a statement welcoming the visit of Mr Jim Webb and his success. Internal and external media also remarked that Mr Jim Webb was the first person as a US top official who was allowed to meet the leader of Myanmar. His visit was more successful than expected due to the positive responses of the Myanmar government.

Looking from our side, the government has been able to show positive and friendly attitude in the area of international relations. It has also been able to show respect for humanitarianism and human rights. Moreover, it has respected the rule of law and could make a fair and right legal decision. And this must be recognized. All in all, I believe that the visit of Mr Jim Webb is a success for both sides as well as the first step to promotion of the relations between the two countries. Indeed, it is the first step towards marching to a 1000-mile destination.

Chinese vice premier stresses modern agriculture, calls for int'l cooperation

BEIJING, 17 Aug—China's agriculture has made remarkable progress, but also faces substantial difficulties and challenges and thus it is important to develop modern agriculture with Chinese characteristics and achieve sustainable development in agriculture, Chinese Vice Premier Hui Liangyu said on Monday.

Speaking at the opening ceremony of the 27th International Conference of Agricultural Economists, Hui said the conference should serve as a bridge and help global agricultural economists cooperate in studying opportunities and challenges in global agriculture.

Hui said China has successfully tackled the problem of feeding the country's population of 1.3 billion about 30 years after its reform and opening up, people are enjoying improved nutrition and health levels and the rural areas have changed in various aspects.

The achievements in Chinese agriculture and rural areas not only underpin China's economic and social growth, but also contribute to safeguarding global food security, promoting poverty fighting progress and boosting sustainable development, he said.

In the new situation, China will further strengthen rural system construction, develop modern agriculture, promote rural public causes and push forward new countryside construction, Hui said.

Indian pharmaceutical firm to apply for trials of A/H1N1 flu vaccine

NEW DELHI, 17 Aug—As the death toll due to A/H1N1 flu is rising in India, a vaccine to fight the virus could most probably be ready by November, said an Indian pharmaceutical company on Monday.

Ahmedabad-based Cadila Pharmaceuticals Limited in Gujara state, western India, said it will file an application for clinical trials of the vaccine in the next two days.

Cadila will file an application with the Drug Controller General of India, seeking permission for clinical trials of an A/H1N1 flu vaccine that the company is preparing in collaboration with Novavax Inc.

"Maybe tomorrow, we will file an application for clinical trials. God willing by January, we should be able to give the product to the market. Cadila should be the first company in India to have both clinical trials and vaccine for swine flu," Cadila Chairman Indravadan Modi told Xinhua on the phone. "As of today, we are in a position to provide about 2 million doses per month. Once we make a dedicated facility, the scope is endless. But for now, we can provide two million doses a month," Modi said.

Cadila's dedicated facility to manufacture the vaccine will come up at Dholka near Ahmedabad in the next 18 months.

Robots to play significant role in future tourism

CANBERRA, 17 Aug—Robots will play a significant role in the future for travellers, a tourism futurologist told the delegates at a conference held in Australia's Gold Coast on Monday.

Ian Yeoman, from New Zealand's University of Wellington, gave a preview of what the world could be like in 2050, shaped by global warming, an older population, food, water and jet fuel supply problems and technological advances. Yeoman said the future may see a more controlled society with are turn to mass tourism spawning a range of new indoor tourism products.

Indoor artificial ski centres, circuses, zoos, golf courses and recreated landscapes, as well as giant cruise ships, could be among the new attractions. As costs for basics such as electricity and food increased, tourism operators could turn to robots as cheap labour, Yeoman said.

Robot waiters at cocktail bars, remote-controlled camera-carrying guard dogs in hotel lobbies and self-cleaning hotel rooms were all likely, he said.

S Korea's rocket moved to launch pad

SEOUL (South Korea), 17 Aug—Korea's first space rocket was moved to its launch pad for its blastoff scheduled for 19 Aug, the state-run aerospace institute said on Monday. According to Korea Aerospace Research Institute (KARI), responsible for the launch, the rocket was safely moved despite a light drizzle near the Naro Space Center.

KARI also said that the Korea Space Launch Vehicle-1 (KSLV-1), South Korea's first satellite-carrying rocket, will be fired between 16:40 and 18:20 (0720 GMT and 0920 GMT) Wednesday as planned, if there are no last minute problems with the weather of the systems. South Korea has earlier notified both the International Civil Aviation Organization and the International Maritime Organization that the blastoff will take place between 19 Aug and 26 Aug. — Xinhua

Gene variation predicts response to hepatitis C treatments

WASHINGTON, 17 Aug— A genetic variation that may predict response to hepatitis C treatments has been identified, US researchers said on Sunday.

“This discovery enables us to give patients valuable information that will help them and their doctors decide what is best for them,” said David Goldstein, a geneticist at Duke University and senior author on the study.

Hepatitis C affects an estimated 170 million people worldwide and is the leading cause of cirrhosis in the North America. Treatment typically involves 48 weeks of interferon plus the antiviral drug ribavirin. Some patients develop such taxing side effects that they stop treatment.

Physicians have long observed that African-Americans are less likely to respond to treatments than Caucasians, while East Asian patients seem to respond the best. But no one has known why.

And now, according to Goldstein and his colleagues, a single letter change — a C instead of a T — in a tiny segment of DNA near the so-called IL28B gene is to blame.

The researchers found it by studying 1,671 people who participated in a clinical trial that compared the two most widely used therapies among patients with the most common form of the disease in the US and Europe.

Illinois scientists discover new DNA tool

CHAMPAIGN, 17 Aug— A discovery by scientists at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign may make it easier to manipulate DNA in the laboratory, their findings show.

Three scientists at the university discovered catalytic DNA known as deoxyribozymes that can cleave DNA strands to become catalysts for research.

The scientists, chemistry Professor Scott Silverman, postdoctoral research associate Madhavaiah Chandra and graduate student Amit Sachdeva were searching for artificial sequences of DNA to cleave proteins.

They now hope their discovery will cleave double-stranded DNA.

“Our work suggests that deoxyribozymes have significant potential as sequence-specific DNA cleavage reagents,” Silverman said.

Canada to spend $75 million to shrink hog production

WINNIPEG, 17 Aug— Canada will pay some farmers to stop raising hogs and offer loans to help others restructure, assistance that drew praise from Canadian hog farmers and concerns from a top US farmer group.

Agriculture Minister Gerry Ritz announced the assistance for the reeling industry on Saturday.

“We know Canadian hog producers can become profitable again, but we have to face tough realities to make our pork industry lean and competitive,” Ritz said at a university farm research centre.

The government will ask farmers to bid for funding totaling C$75 million ($68 million) to stop hog production for at least three years. Farmers have complained that they lose C$40 per hog they sell because of high feed costs and weak prices.

Banks will offer long-term loans at market rates backed by government credit to allow viable hog farms time to restructure.

Short-term credit will also be available for operating costs such as feed and payroll.

“We think it’s going to make a huge difference,” said Jurgen Preugschas, president of the Canadian Pork Council and a hog farmer in the western province of Alberta. The loans will give some farmers the liquidity they need to stay in business, while allowing other farmers to halt production, he said.

Record mass dive in Indonesia: Guinness

JAKARTA, 17 Aug— Almost 2,500 scuba divers set a new world record on Monday for the largest mass dive, Guinness World Records said.

A total of 2,486 divers were involved in the bid off the coast of North Sulawesi, Guinness adjudicator Lucia Sinigagliesi told AFP. “This event was amazing and well-organised and made possible because of the people who came and participated,” she said, after confirming that the group had broken the record for “Most People Scuba Diving Simultaneously.”

The previous record was set in the Maldives in 2006, when 958 divers took part in a mass dive, Sinigagliesi said. The challenge was part of the Sail Bunaken 2009 maritime event being held as part of Indonesia’s efforts to establish the Sulawesi town of Manado as a world-class tourist spot, Navy spokesman Iskandar Sitompul said.

To mark Indonesia’s 64th Independence Day, the participants unfurled the country’s flag underwater.

“We’ve shown the world that as the world’s largest archipelago, we can manage our waters well and there’s a lot of tourism potential here,” he added.

Malaria deaths, infections in Cambodia on rise

PHNOM PENH, 17 Aug— The reported number of fatal malaria cases almost doubled in the first half of 2009 compared with the same period last year, while the overall number of infections rose more than 58 percent, local media reported Monday, citing the figures from the Ministry of Health officials.

Tol Bunkea, chief epidemiologist at the Ministry of Health, was quoted by the Cambodia Daily as saying that the number of malaria deaths this year stood at 130 out of a total of 32,638 registered malaria cases. Dr Bunkea said that in the first half of 2008 there were 67 fatalities out of 20,563 reported cases of malaria. Duong Soheat, director of National Center of Parasitology, Entomology, and Malaria Control, said the increase of infections was due to the early rains and the fact that the government had distributed mosquito nets too late this year.—Xinhua -

Jankovic downs Safina to capture WTA Cincinnati title

CINCINNATI, 17 Aug—Serbia's Jelena Jankovic boosted her US Open hopes with a brisk 6-4, 6-2 victory over world number one Dinara Safina in the final of the two million-dollar WTA Cincinnati Open.

"My smile is back and I'm having fun playing the matches," said Jankovic, who started the year atop the world rankings but has seen her status slip with a series of lackluster results. "This is what I missed. I missed this for maybe seven months this year."

Jankovic bounced back from a tough semi-final victory on Saturday night to claim her second title of 2009, after a victory in a claycourt tournament in Marbella in April. "When I woke up this morning I felt really sore, especially after going to sleep at 2 am," said Jankovic, who needed almost three hours to overcome Elena Dementieva in the semis - a match in which Jankovic trailed 6-2 in the third-set tiebreaker.—Internet

Schalke down Bochum to maintain perfect start

BERLIN, 17 Aug—Schalke 04 beat neighbours Bochum 3-0 on Sunday to join defending champions Wolfsburg at the top of the Bundesliga as the only sides with 100 percent records after two games.

Germany defender Heiko Westermann scored in first-half injury time at Schalke's Veltins Arena to leave the hosts 2-0 up at the break after Christoph Moritz had put the home side ahead. Schalke's Peru striker Jefferson Farfan added the third as the Royal Blues added a second victory to last weekend's success at Nuremberg which leaves them top alongside Wolfsburg.

"I would never have thought we'd have won this game as clearly as 3-0," said Schalke coach Felix Magath. "Especially as things didn't go very smoothly in training last week. I am very pleased we have won our first two games, but there is a long way to go this season."—Internet shot put at the 12th World Athletic Championships in Berlin on Sunday. Vili boasted 20.44m to crown the event, host thrower Nadine Kleinert took the silver with personal best of 20.20m while China's Gong Lijiao pocketed the bronze with personal best of 19.89m.

"I'm satisfied I could defend my title. Tonight the German girl pushed me a lot but I wasn't worried, we spent proper time preparing to get the right things done," said Vili. For the 25-year-old, 20.44m is still shy her world-leading 20.69m in May, but was enough to book the gold, also the first gold medal for her country at the 9-day tournament.

Benitez challenges Liverpool stars to bounce back

LONDON, 17 Aug—Rafael Benitez has challenged his Liverpool stars to prove their 2-1 defeat at Tottenham was only a blip by getting their title challenge back on track against Stoke on Wednesday.

Benitez's side slumped to an opening weekend loss on Sunday that left the Liverpool manager raging over referee Phil Dowd's decision to deny the Reds two late penalties.

Dowd ruled that Tottenham defender Benoit Assou-Ekotto had done nothing wrong when he barged into Andriy Voronin and then appeared to handle Fernando Torres's cross. Benitez's anger was

Sir Alex urges Rooney to focus on 20-plus vision

MANCHESTER, 17 Aug—Sir Alex Ferguson has challenged Wayne Rooney to beat last season's scoring tally of 20 goals after the United striker's finish was enough to earn Manchester United a 1-0 win over Birmingham City at Old Trafford.

Rooney's 34th-minute finish was the difference as United shrugged of the absence of usual centre-backs Rio Ferdinand with a thigh complaint and Nemanja Vidic to a calf injury, to record an opening day win.

Ferguson said: "He took his goal well. The header was a good one and his following up for the rebound was quick and he reacted the right way.

"Hopefully that gets him on the road, after his goal last week, to a very significant total for us this season because it's good if you can get two or three strikers that get you more than 20 goals. "He's capable of that and we're not asking the impossible of the boy."—Internet

S Korean Yang takes first PGA Tour win

WASHINGTON, 17 Aug—South Korean Yang Yong-eun took the first Asian victory in men's golf majors Sunday as he pushed aside 14-time major winner Tiger Woods in the US PGA Championship. Yang, ranked 110th in the world, fired a two-under-par 70 in the last round to finish first at the Hazeltine National Golf Club in Chaska, Minnesota with an eight-under 280. Yang came from behind to snatch the lead for the first time in the par-four 14th before he upset the overwhelming favorite Woods who had to settle for the second with a total of 283.

American Woods, 33, failed to seize his 15th major title after he missed four birdie putts from 12 feet or less to card an erratic 75 featuring five bogeys and two birdies. Britons Lee Westwood and Rory McIlroy signed off with matching 70s to share third place at three-under 285.—Xinhua

Barcelona beat Athletic Bilbao 2-1 in Supercup first leg

BILBAO, 17 Aug—European champions Barcelona beat Athletic Bilbao 2-1 in the first leg of the Spanish Supercup on Sunday with second-half goals by Xavi and reserve forward Pedro Rodriguez. Athletic striker Oscar de Marcos opened the scoring in the 44th minute as he evaded both Gerard Pique and Daniel Alves before seeing his shot clip off Carles Puyol and fly over Barcelona keeper Victor Valdes into the corner of the net.

Barcelona leveled in the 58th minute as Eric Abidal sent a cross to the far post where Rodriguez rolled it back for Xavi who slotted it into the corner from close range at Bilbao's San Mames stadium. Rodriguez scored the winner nine minutes later when he stepped past Athletic Bilbao midfielder Markel Susaeta and hammered a shot inside the near post from 25 yards.

Barcelona, who have won the Spanish Supercup seven times, will host the return leg on 23 August. The tournament is contested each year between the league champions and the winners of the King's Cup but as Barcelona won both competitions they are facing beaten Cup finalists Athletic.—Internet

Murray defeats Del Potro to win Rogers Cup

MONTREAL, 17 Aug—Andy Murray took the court to face Juan Martin Del Potro knowing no matter what the result of the Rogers Cup final, he would be soon be ranked No. 2 in the world. Not satisfied having reached that goal, Murray withstood his toughest test of the tournament and defeated Juan Martin Del Potro 6-7 (4), 7-6 (3), 6-1 Sunday.

"I love winning tournaments, it's great, and every player will tell you the same thing," Murray said. "But it's tough because I've never been to No. 2 in the world before, so that's new to me. I've won a couple of Masters Series (events) now, and it still feels great. But getting to No. 2, maybe because it's something different it means a little bit more."

China, Brazil agree to further cooperation between land forces

BEIJING, 17 Aug—China and Brazil agreed here on Monday to further military ties, especially cooperation between the two land forces.

Since China and Brazil began diplomatic ties 35 years ago, their relations have developed rapidly, and bilateral military ties have developed in the same way too, said Chen Bingde, Chief of the General Staff of the People's Liberation Army.

Chen made his comments in a meeting here with Raymundo Cerqueira, commander of Land Operation of Brazilian Armed Forces.

Chen hoped both countries could make efforts to advance the relations between the two land forces, in a bid to promote the long-term development of military ties and deepen the Sino-Brazilian strategic partnership.

Cerqueira said Brazil attached great importance to ties with China, and viewed military ties as being of the same importance as economic and diplomatic ties.

He said Brazil was willing to work with China to further enhance military ties, especially between the two land forces.

Killer Spices Can "Season" Pests to Death

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC, 17 Aug—Herbs and spices used to flavor food are also green alternatives to synthetic pesticides, scientists say.

Oils from thyme, rosemary, mint, and other herbs and "killer spices" are gaining favor among farmers as alternatives to synthetic pesticides, according to Murray Isman, an entomologist at the University of British Columbia in Canada.

Sprayed onto crops like any garden-variety pesticide, the plant oils repel insects, similar to how chili peppers can repel elephants. Other oils kill pests outright, the study says.

Originally intended for the perfume and food-flavoring industries, the killer-spice oils are already available wholesale and may be headed to retail shelves if the new use catches on, the researchers say.

The all-natural pesticides should be inexpensive too, Isman reasons, since they're already in widespread use as wholesale perfume ingredients and flavorings for food. Companies are already working to bring the spice oils to retail shelves for farmers, he said. Research suggests the oils interfere with the insect nervous system, making the muscles so hyperactive that bugs essentially spasm to death. The oils also can disrupt an insect's cellular membranes, causing fatal leakages of essential fluids. The plant oils are most effective against small, soft-bodied bugs that suck on plant juices, such as aphids, whiteflies, and spider mites.

"Small, soft-bodied insects are more vulnerable to having their membranes melted or smothered by the oils," Isman said.

Number of A (H1 N1) patients reaches 22
One patient discharged from hospital

NAY PYI TAW, 17 Aug—The airport health department transferred a 33-year-old woman who had returned from Indonesia to Webargi Specialist Hospital on 16 August. After giving her a medical check-up, the National Health Laboratory confirmed that she was found to have been infected with A (H1N1) virus. She arrived back Myanmar by flight No MI-520 on the same day and was the twenty second patient.

A total of 129 passengers who were aboard the plane together with the patient and 131 airport staff are being kept under surveillance in their respective places.

Today, a 40-year-old man has been discharged from the hospital since he has fully recovered from illness. Surveillance measures against those who had come into contact with the patient have been halted.

Up to now, the number of persons infected with the virus has reached 22 in Myanmar. Seventeen out of whom have been discharged from the hospital as they have fully recovered from the illness.

The remaining five patients are being given special medical attention by specialists.

Until now, the National Health Laboratory conducted lab tests on 173 flu-suspected persons and confirmed that only 22 were tested positive for the virus.
