Work hard for the success of the agricultural sector

Prime Minister General Thein Sein on 21 August inspected the progress of agricultural work and availability of water for agricultural purpose in Yamethin, Meiktila, Myingyan and NyaungU Districts in Mandalay Division.

During his tour, the Prime Minister met with the farmers of Twinywa village-tract in Pyawbwe Township, inquired about the rainfall in the region, cultivation of paddy and seasonal crops, per-acre yield and availability of water and encouraged them to work hard.

The Prime Minister also met with local farmers of Apyauk village and urged them to work hard for improvement of their socio-economic status by systematically using education, health, transport and irrigation facilities provided by the government.

In his meeting with the farmers of Legyi village-tract in Mahlaing Township on 22 August, the Prime Minister took part in the discussion on modern integrated farming system and use of bio-gas for rural development.

The government has been rendering all the necessary assistance for irrigation of farmland and increasing per-acre yield of crops to fulfil the basic needs of people.

Abbas' calling for PNC convention hinders inter-Palestinian dialogue

GAZA/RAMALLAH, 24 Aug—Gaza-ruling Hamas movement on Sunday said Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas' decision to convene the Palestinian National Council (PNC) in the West Bank on 26 Aug adds "another obstacle to the success of inter-Palestinian dialogue." "This would make the Palestinian situation more complicated and adds more obstacles to the dialogue as well as Egypt's efforts to reach a reconciliation agreement in Cairo soon," Hamas said in a statement sent to reporters in Gaza.

Abbas earlier announced that the PNC, parliament of the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), would convene in the West Bank city of Ramallah to elect new members of the PLO executive committee, which represents the PLO factions and is considered the sole representative of all Palestinian people. Abbas said the new members will fulfill the seven vacant posts of the 18-member executive committee. In 1996, the PNC met in Gaza and removed the reference of destroying Israel from its charter. In 1998, the PNC convened in Gaza and reaffirmed these changes, with 660 members from the Palestinian territories and abroad attending the meeting. Since the last PNC convention in 1998, several members of the PLO executive committee had died, challenging the legality of the committee due to short of quorum.—Xinhua

WASHINGTON, 24 Aug— As public support for the war in Afghanistan erodes, President Barack Obama soon may face two equally unattractive choices: increase US troops levels to beat back a resilient enemy, or stick with the 68,000 already committed and risk the political fallout if that's not enough.

Army Gen Stanley McChrystal, the top US commander in Afghanistan, is completing an assessment of what he needs to win the fight there. That review, however, won't specifically address force levels, according to Adm Mike Mullen, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

But military officials privately believe McChrystal may ask for as many as 20,000 additional forces to get an increasingly difficult security situation in Afghanistan under control. And one leading Republican is already saying McChrystal will be pressured to ask for fewer troops than he requires.

"I think there are great pressures on General McChrystal to reduce those estimates," said Sen John McCain, R-Ariz, in an interview broadcast on Sunday. "I don't think it's necessarily from the president. I think it's from the people around him and others that I think don't want to see a significant increase in our troops' presence there."—Internet

US service member killed in southern Afghanistan

KABUL, 24 Aug — An American service member was killed in an insurgent attack in southern Afghanistan, the US military said on Monday.

The fatality on Sunday was the 37th death of a member of the US military in the Central Asian country since the beginning of August, a month that has seen a jump in attacks and violence as Afghanistan readied for its second-ever direct presidential election on Thursday.

A military statement said the service member died on Sunday, and provided no further details. US commanders had predicted a bloody summer after President Barack Obama ordered 21,000 additional US troops to Afghanistan in a bid to turn the tide against a resurgent Taliban and shift the focus on the global war against Islamic extremism from Iraq.—Internet

Analyst Bove sees 150-200 more US bank failures

NEW YORK, 24 Aug—A prominent banking analyst said on Sunday that 150 to 200 more US banks will fail in the current banking crisis, and the industry's payments to keep the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp afloat could eat up 25 percent of pretax income in 2010.

Richard Bove of Rochdale Securities said this will likely force the FDIC, which insures deposits, to turn increasingly to non-US banks and private equity funds to shore up the banking system. "The difficulty at the moment is finding enough healthy banks to buy the failing banks," Bove wrote.

The FDIC is expected on 26 August to vote on relaxed guidelines for private equity firms to invest in failed banks, after critics said previously proposed rules were too harsh and would actually dissuade firms from making investments.

Bove said "perhaps another 150 to 200 banks will fail," on top of 81 so far in 2009, adding stress to the FDIC's deposit insurance fund.

Three large failures this year—BankUnited Financial Corp in May, and Colonial BancGroup Inc, Guaranty Financial Group Inc in August — collectively cost the fund roughly $10.7 billion.—Internet

Europe's top tourist venues hit by economic crisis

PARIS, 24 Aug—Empty terrace tables at Parisian cafes. Fewer sunbathers scattered along Italian and Spanish beaches. The global economic crisis has cast a dark cloud over Europe's top tourist destinations.

France, the world's tourism champion with 79.3 million visitors last year, has been hit hard by the drop in foreign travellers.

The number of international visitors in France has fallen by nearly one-third in the heat of summer — July and August — after sinking by 15.5 percent in the first five months of the year, government figures show.

Spain, which fell to third place among the world's favourite tourist destinations last year, has suffered a 10 percent drop in visits this summer following an 11.4 percent fall in the first half of the year.

China's Sinopec first-half net profit up more than fourfold

BEIJING, 24 Aug—China's Sinopec said on Sunday first-half net profit rose more than fourfold from a year earlier to 33.25 billion yuan (4.85 billion dollars), helped by higher refined oil prices in the domestic market.

Net profit in the first six months of 2009 increased by 332.8 percent from the year-earlier period, said Sinopec, the largest oil refiner in Asia, in statements to the Shanghai and Hong Kong stock exchanges.

"Since 2009, domestic oil product pricing mechanism reform has turned refining business from loss to profit," the company said in the statement. "The domestic pricing mechanism of oil products is being improved."

China raised retail fuel prices once in March and twice in June.

Last month, it cut petrol and diesel prices, but in net terms prices are higher than at the beginning of the year.

Brazil's banks more optimistic about economic growth than govt

RIO DE JANEIRO, 24 Aug — Brazilian private banks' economic forecasts are unexpectedly more optimistic than those made by the government.

Three top banks — Bradesco, Itau-Unibanco and Rio Bravo Inversions respectively forecast that the GDP would grow 2.1 percent, 1.8 percent and 1.7 to 2 percent in the second quarter.

However, Finance Minister Guido Mantega estimated that the GDP would grow 1.5 to 1.7 percent in the second quarter from a year earlier, while the National Economic and Social Development Bank (BNDES) believes the full-year growth would be just 0.7 percent.

Qantas blame LA and London routes for profit nosedive

MELBOURNE, 24 Aug—Australian flag-carrier Qantas on Sunday blamed flagging demand on its key London and Los Angeles routes for an 88 percent drop in annual net profit.

Chief executive Alan Joyce said the two routes, once the airline's main profit generators, were operating at a loss due to increased competition and the impact of the global financial crisis.

Joyce said that while the airline's domestic operations were still profitable, the LA and London routes had dragged its international business into the red.

"Basically, those routes are the biggest issue," he told public broadcaster ABC.

"Those two big routes are very dependent on premium traffic. Premium traffic dropped by between 20 and 30 percent for us." Qantas last week announced net profit fell to 117 million dollars (96.6 million US) in the 12 months to June, down from 969 million.

Developed countries eyeing green economy as route out of crisis

BEIJING, 24 Aug—Under the pressure of a double crisis, financial and climate, some developed countries are striving to add more green colour to their economies, as a way out of recession and to create more jobs.

Investment in green economy is a good way to combine economic stimulus with the urgent task of addressing climate change, said World Bank Chief Economist and Senior Vice President Justin Yifu Lin in an recent interview with Xinhua. "It will also yield great benefit in the long run," he added.

However, doubts and worries remain despite the promising future government officials described in advocating the green economy. Britain has taken the lead in promoting a green economy and has become the first country in the world to set itself legally binding "carbon budgets." The British government in July issued the Low Carbon Transition Plan that plots out how the country will meet its emissions targets by cutting 34 percent by 2020, from 1990 levels.—Xinhua

Netanyahu hopes Israeli-Palestinian peace talks to resume by late September

JERUSALEM, 24 Aug—Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said on Sunday that he expected direct peace negotiations between the Jewish state and the Palestinians to resume by late September.

"Israel, the United States and others are interested in resuming direct (peace) talks with the Palestinians. It's possible to hold in late September, but require reaching understandings with the Americans and the Palestinian Authority," Netanyahu was quoted by local daily The Jerusalem Post as telling the ministers during the weekly cabinet meeting.

The peace talks have been stalled since Israel launched a military offensive in the Gaza Strip in December. The Palestinian Authority has repeatedly said peace talks with Israel can not resume until Netanyahu halts settlement activities and accepts the two-state solution.

Over the past few months, the US administration has been leading the international community in urging Israel to totally freeze settlement activities in the West Bank and East Jerusalem to help revive the Israeli-Palestinian peace process.

Yet the Netanyahu government has so far refused to yield to that demand, raising worries about the relations between the two nations.

Thai economy contracts 4.9% in Q2

BANGKOK, 24 Aug—Thailand's gross domestic product (GDP) in the second quarter contracted by 4.9 percent year-on-year, which in turn makes country's economy register a 6 percent decline in first half of 2009, said a economic performance report on Monday. "However, seasonally adjusted real GDP in Q2 expanded by 2.3 percent after 5.9 percent and 1.8 percent contraction in Q4/2008 and Q1/2009, suggesting that the Thai economy has already bottomed out and the worst is behind Thailand," said the report "Thai Economic Performance in Q2 and Outlook for 2009", released by National Economic and Social Development Board (NESDB) on Monday.

According the report, the decline is attributed primarily to the impacts of the world economic recession, domestic political unrest, and the A/H1N1 flu 2009 epidemic, and these hampering factors have led exports, tourism, private consumption and investment to fall sharply.—Xinhua

Indonesia, China to develop trade cooperation despite dwindling trade in H1

JAKARTA, 24 Aug—Chinese ambassador to Indonesia Zhang Qiyue said here on Monday that trade value between Indonesia and China was down by 20 percent year-on-year to 11.7 billion US dollars in the first half this year.

She said that the trade value reduction in the first half this year was due to the impact of global economic crisis and was the first to occur since 2001.

Zhang, however, said that the trade value between the two countries apparently increased 37.2 percent in the second quarter this year, compared with the number in the first quarter. She regarded it as a sign of recovery. "The trade value between Indonesia and China is expected to reach 30 billion US dollars in 2010. China ready to pilot Cathay Pacific

HONG KONG, 24 Aug—With Air China last week boosting its stake in Cathay Pacific, the globally renowned Hong Kong airline has moved a step closer to becoming a mainland company, analysts say.

By increasing its holding to 29.99 percent, Air China bolstered its position to just a hair's breadth below the 30 percent threshold that would trigger a mandatory takeover offer, while also doubling its presence on the Cathay board to four members.

Yet the move was met with rumblings of disquiet in some corners, amid fears a Chinese takeover may tarnish a carrier regarded as a key emblem of Hong Kong's "One Country, Two Systems" autonomy from the mainland, and even pose an existential threat to the city.

"The sale raises the spectre of Cathay one day being a mainland-controlled firm," said Hong Kong's South China Morning Post, adding that "mainland airlines are not highly regarded here."

Small boys at greatest risk of dog bites

Children ages 5-9 — especially boys — are at greatest risk of dog bites, a US veterinarian says.

Dr Kate Stenske of the University of Kansas says small boys are probably at most risk due to their size and proximity to dogs, their loud noises, fast movements, unintentional provoking and lack of understanding of dogs' body language.

Usually, the boys' injuries are usually the most serious from pet bites, Stenske says.

"Wounds that are most likely to become infected are those on the face and hands or when people wait more than eight hours before seeking medical attention," Stenske says in a statement. "If you are bitten, first wash the wound thoroughly with soap and water, and then call your physician right away."

But in findings that had "no obvious reason", the researchers, led by Knut Hagen from NTNU's Faculty of Medicine, also reported that low caffeine consumption was associated with a greater likelihood of chronic headaches, defined as headaches for 14 or more days each month.

The great pumpkin is from Kentucky

A 1,145-pound pumpkin from the "Kentucky Pumpkin Mafia" came in first place at the Giant Pumpkin Contest at the Indiana State Fair, officials said.

The Indianapolis Star reported John Van Hook, 42, of Somerset Kentucky grew the winning pumpkin. Van Hook's brother, a fellow pumpkin grower, also attended the Indianapolis fair sporting a hat emblazoned with "Kentucky Pumpkin Mafia." It was the second year in a row Kentuckians won top awards at the Indiana fair.

Kentuckians have some advantage over the Indiana growers because their warm season starts earlier, admitted Dwight Slone of Prestonsburg, Ky Slone and his wife, Karen, entered a pumpkin weighing 1,126 pounds that took second place.

One Northern Indiana grower agreed. "They start their growing the first of April because they can, because it's warm down there, whereas up north I can't start mine until the end of April," said Roger Howard, 61, of Grovertown.

Upgrading Yangon for cleanliness and proper flow of water

Asian region set the layout plans of their towns like that of Yangon.

The Leading Committee for Beautifying and Upgrading Yangon and Yangon City Development Committee is keeping Yangon clean and pleasant with added momentum to possess characteristics of major cities of global countries.

Recently, I looked into upgrading of roads and bridges, maintenance of pavements and drains and proper flow of water being undertaken by Engineering Department (Road and Bridge) of the people to avoid the traffic jam area. I saw many pedestrians using the bridge across Sule Pagoda Road.

At Banyadala Road in front of Yuzana Plaza in Tamway Township, I witnessed workers and staff of YCDC upgrading the road section in the overflow drainage area and digging a 700 feet long, four feet wide and six feet deep drain.

In order to prevent flooding in the rainy season, they were upgrading the shoulders along 1200 feet long North Horse Race Course Road between Tamway and Yankin townships.

First, I viewed beautiful Tawwin Overpass on Sule Pagoda Road near the City Hall. Tawwin Overpass is located in the downtown traffic area. It is built with roofs, two 52 feet by six feet stairs and one 52 feet by 3.5 feet stair. The stairs were designed by Engineering Department (Road and Bridge) of YCDC.

Moreover, I viewed construction of a reinforced concrete new Moegaung Bridge across Khunnapi-lein Creek and renovation of the pavements at 8th mile junction.

I have learned that Engineering Department (Road and Bridge) of Yangon City Development Committee is upgrading the road sections and carrying out major maintenance tasks. As Yangon is located in the lower Myanmar region, tasks are being undertaken for ensuring proper flow of drains, creeks and rivers due to heavy rains.

Indeed, the upgrading of roads in the wards is important for development of a major city.

Therefore, a total of 167 roads stretching 293,474 feet long in various wards of respective townships in Yangon are being upgraded to the tarred roads from the earth works in the 2009-2010 financial years. Of them, 62 roads have so far been upgraded. Likewise, six out of 16 bridges have been completed.

On completion of Pyinnyaung Cement Plant being built in Thazi Township of Mandalay Division by Yangon City Development Committee, all the roads in Yangon will be upgraded with asphalt concrete. As such, the dwellers of Yangon have to take part as good citizens in the task to constantly keep the town clean and pleasant.

China to host world philosophy congress in September

BEIJING, 24 Aug—China will host the 24th World Congress of the International Association for Philosophy of Law and Social Philosophy (IVR) in September.

It will be the first time that China has hosted the IVR World Congress since it was established in 1909 in Germany.

The biennial congress with the theme “Global harmony and rule of law” will be held in Beijing from Sept. 15 to 20, according to the China Law Society (CLS), which is hosting the event.

“We hope the congress will not only give greater voice to traditions and contemporary thinking in eastern countries, but also suggest new dimensions of collaboration among eastern and western scholars,” said CLS director Han Zhubin on Monday.

Thousands of philosophers and legal experts from around the world are expected to gather in China to exchange ideas concerning relations among nations, and between cultures and legal systems, said Han.

The last congress was held in Poland in 2007.

Space shuttle launch visible from east coast

WASHINGTON, 24 Aug—People in the eastern United States will get a great opportunity, weather permitting, to see the space shuttle Discovery launched into orbit early Tuesday morning. And it might also be the final opportunity ever to see a nighttime shuttle launch.

This flight (STS-128) will be the 30th to rendezvous and dock with the International Space Station (ISS), and the glow of the shuttle's engines will be visible along much of the Eastern Seaboard. A SPACE.com map shows the area of visibility.

To reach the space station, Discovery must be launched when Earth's rotation carries the launch pad into the plane of the station's orbit. For mission STS-128, that will happen at 1:36:05 a.m. ET on Tuesday, resulting (if all goes as planned) in NASA's second nighttime launch of a space shuttle in 2009 (the most recent was March 15).—Internet

Nokia to make laptop, jumping on wireless trend

NEW YORK, 24 Aug—Nokia Corp., the world's largest maker of cell phones, said on Monday that it will start making a small, light laptop, similar to ones PC manufacturers are already selling through wireless carriers around the world.

The Finnish company says the Nokia Booklet 3G will run Microsoft Corp.'s Windows software, have a 10-inch screen and weigh 2.8 pounds. That puts it squarely in the “netbook” category pioneered by Taiwanese manufacturers like AsusTek Computer Inc.

Nokia said it would reveal the price and launch date of the PC on Sept. 2. Most netbooks sell for less than $500.

Nokia said its PC would be “satisfying a need” among wireless carriers. AT&T Inc and Verizon Wireless have started selling netbooks in their stores, subsidizing the purchase for customers who sign up for wireless broadband plans. Sprint Nextel Corp. has started subsidizing netbooks sold at Best Buy. In Europe, many carriers started selling netbooks last year.—Internet

Chinese vice premier urges more efforts to fight flood, drought

BEIJING, 24 Aug—Chinese Vice Premier Hui Liangyu called for greater efforts to fight floods and droughts on Monday at a meeting held by the State Flood Control and Drought Relief Headquarters.

Hui said governments at all levels should place priority on ensuring people's safety and taking care of people in disaster-hit regions.

Local governments were urged to take measures to combat droughts and floods in major grain production bases and to step up monitoring of freak weather.

A severe drought has affected north China since late July as a result of insufficient rainfall and continued high temperatures, while heavy rains and typhoons have battered some other parts of the country.—Xinhua

Skulls, seals unearthed in Turkey date back thousands of years

ANKARA, 24 Aug—Archeologists have unearthed two skulls dating from 1,500 BC and two 8,500-year-old seals in one of the oldest residential areas of Anatolia, the semi-official Anatolia news agency reported Sunday.

The seals were rare in Anatolia and among important findings unearthed in Turkey so far, Caneva was quoted as saying.

Blood test detects boxer brain damage

GOTHENBURG, 24 Aug—Swedish and Turkish researchers, in a study of amateur boxers, found nerve cell deterioration may occur even after a two-month break from boxing.

Researchers at the Sahlgrenska Academy and the Erciyes University Medical School in Turkey said the findings constitute further evidence that repeated blows to the head may damage the brain. A blood test can now be used to detect brain damage in amateur boxers, the researchers said.

The study involved 44 Turkish amateur boxers, whose blood samples were collected in the beginning of a training camp after a two-month break from boxing. The results were compared to those found in a healthy control group.

Henrik Zetterberg of the Sahlgrenska Academy said the research team analyzed several proteins that can be used to identify brain damage, and found that the levels of one protein, called NSE, were higher among the boxers than in the control group.—Internet

Roubini warns of double-dip recession

NEW YORK, 24 Aug—Nouriel Roubini, one of the few economists who accurately predicted the magnitude of the world's recent financial troubles, sees a "big risk" of a double-dip recession, according to an opinion piece posted on the Financial Times' website on Sunday.

Roubini, a professor at New York University's Stern School of Business, said it appears the global economy will bottom out in the second half of this year, and that US and western European economies will likely experience "anemic" and "below trend" growth for at least a couple of years.

Yet he warned that policymakers face a "damned if they do and damned if they don't" conundrum in trying to unwind their massive fiscal and monetary stimuli to keep the global economy from toppling into a depression.

He said that if policymakers try to fight rising budget deficits by raising taxes and cutting spending, they could undermine any recovery.

Double threat in warming world

HAINES JUNCTION, 24 Aug—A veil of smoke settled over the forest in the shadow of the St Elias Mountains, in a wilderness whose spruce trees stood tall and gray, a deathly gray even in the greenest heart of a Yukon summer. "As far as the eye can see, it's all infested," forester Rob Legare said, looking out over the thick woods of the Alsek River valley.

Beetles and fire, twin plagues, are consuming northern forests in what scientists say is a preview of the future, in a century growing warmer, as the land grows drier, trees grow weaker and pests, abetted by milder winters, grow stronger.

Dying, burning forests would then only add to the warming. It's here in the sub-Arctic and Arctic — in Alaska, across Siberia, in northernmost Europe, and in the Yukon and elsewhere in northern Canada — that Earth's climate is changing most rapidly.—Internet

Surfers get vaccines against hepatitis A

SAN DIEGO, 24 Aug—Some 75 surfers and bodyboarders who frequent Imperial Beach near San Diego signed up for free hepatitis A shots, a spokeswoman for a program co-sponsor said.

Imperial Beach has attracted avid surfers since before the pier was built in 1963, surfer Jim Knox, 61, said.

"I think (the vaccine) is an excellent idea for everyone because I know not everyone stays out of the water when they're supposed to," Knox told The San Diego Union-Tribune.

Paloma Aguirre, spokeswoman for Wildcoast, a not-for-profit environmental group, said her organization's goal is to educate the public to obey the signs that say to stay out of the water.

The danger of disease from the water off Imperial Beach was discovered three years ago by San Diego State University researchers who found hepatitis A in 80 percent of water samples taken off the Imperial Beach Pier.

Wildcoast, which co-sponsored the vaccinations with the health centre, found three out of five regular ocean uses in Imperial Beach suffered illnesses caused by water contamination.

The contamination, the university found, comes from northbound ocean currents funneling polluted water from the Tijuana River.

Low vitamin D raises diabetic heart risk

ST LOUIS, 24 Aug—Diabetics deficient in vitamin D can't process cholesterol so it builds in blood vessels, increasing heart attack and stroke risk, US researchers said.

Principal investigator Dr Carlos Bernal-Mizrachi, a Washington University endocrinologist at Barnes-Jewish Hospital in St Louis, said when people are deficient in vitamin D the macrophage cells — dispatched by the immune system in response to inflammation — eat more cholesterol, which they can't get rid of.

"Vitamin D inhibits the uptake of cholesterol by cells called macrophages," Bernal-Mizrachi said in a statement.

"The macrophages get clogged with cholesterol and become what scientists call foam cells, which are one of the earliest markers of atherosclerosis."

The researchers studied macrophage cells taken from people with and without diabetes, and with and without vitamin D deficiency. When vitamin D levels were low in the culture dish, macrophages from diabetic patients were much more likely to become foam cells.

The study, published in the journal Circulation, found vitamin D regulates signaling pathways linked both to uptake and to clearance of cholesterol in macrophages.

Andrea Jaeger, a former child tennis star, founded the Little Star Foundation, which owns a 6.5-acre property used for the camp. City officials approved her plan to sell the property to the Chabad Jewish Community Center for $13.5 million, while allowing the camp to continue there for a few weeks in the summer, The Denver Post reported.

Rabbi Mendel Mintz of the Chabad Centre called it a "deal made in heaven." But the Stillwater Homeowners Association, threatening a lawsuit, says the only allowable uses for the property are a residence or the camp, not a synagogue, daycare centre and community rooms.

There were other deaths also under investigation by the coroner, the ministry said.

More than 3,000 people have tested positive for influenza A/H1N1, but the number of those infected is much higher as most people do not require medical treatment.—Xinhua

Mangrove destruction threatens food supply

ANTANANARIVO, 24 Aug—Much of coastal Africa's food supply is being threatened by the destruction of swampy mangrove forests, NASA scientists warn.

The groves are being destroyed by pollution, real estate development, and deforestation necessary to sustain large-scale commercial shrimp farming, Lola Fatoyinbo, an environmental scientist with NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said on Friday in a release.

The groves are essential breeding grounds for fish and shellfish in tropical African countries such as Mozambique and Madagascar, she said.

Satellite studies conducted by Fatoyinbo and her team show more than half of coastal Africa's mangrove forests have disappeared in the last 50 years, with a third of them disappearing in the last 20 years alone.

Mangrove forests are important for rice farming, fishing, timber, firewood and aquaculture in coastal Africa, with some nations increasingly depending on them for eco-tourism, she said.—Internet completed a historic treble-winning campaign last season, secured their eighth Super Cup at 5-1 on aggregate following 2-1 win in the first leg a week ago.

The Camp Nou was desperate for Zlatan Ibrahimovic — Barca's most expensive ever signing — to score his first goal in the famous blue and white shirt. He almost did so on the half hour with a spectacular volley.

Messi made it 1-0 four minutes into the second half. In the 68th minute, Messi scored his second goal from the penalty spot after a Bilbao defender was harshly adjudged to have pulled down Daniel Alves. Four minutes later, Bojan Krkic made it 3-0 after intercepting a naive backpass from Ander Iturraspe.

Ronaldo shows intention of staying with Corinthians next year

RIO DE JANEIRO, 24 Aug—Despite the uncertainty of Ronaldo's permanence with Corinthians in 2010, he hinted on Sunday that he would like to stay on board. Citing Corinthians' already guaranteed participation in the 2010 Libertadores Cup plus the team's historic centennial anniversary, the star striker said that it would be an exciting year.

"Next year is going to be historic, independent of any titles won. It will be the team's centennial year, marking an important date for the club. Also, it would be fantastic to play in the Libertadores Cup and possibly win it. Also, staying in Brazil will keep me closer to Dunga and the national team. Playing for a big team like Corinthians will keep me in the spotlight and increase my chances of returning to the national team," said Ronaldo.—Xinhua

Champions Inter held by newboys Bari as Juve win

ROME, 24 Aug—Defending champions Inter Milan were held to a surprise 1-1 draw at home to promoted Bari at the San Siro on Sunday in their first match of the new Serie A season.

But rivals Juventus got off to a winning start as Vincenzo Iaquinta scored the only goal in a 1-0 home success against Chievo. Cameroon forward Samuel Eto'o scored his first goal for Inter since joining from Barcelona in a swap deal that saw Zlatan Ibrahimovic head to Spain, but Vitaly Kutuzov's equaliser earned the plucky Serie A newboys a deserved share of the spoils. Inter coach Jose Mourinho picked new signings Eto'o and Diego Milito up front together but they could not fire the champions to victory. "We have the quality to do well, we played a great game but we didn't have the luck needed to score a second goal and make the game safe," moaned the Portuguese boss.—Internet

Redknapp's Tottenham eye top-four finish

LONDON, 24 Aug—Tottenham manager Harry Redknapp believes his side are ready to nail down a place in the Premier League's top four after making their best start to a season for 49 years.

Aaron Lennon's late strike at West Ham on Sunday sealed a 2-1 victory that extended Tottenham's winning run to three matches and put them top of the table. It is the fastest opening to a league campaign from a Spurs team since the 1960-61 side that won the league and FA Cup double.

Redknapp refused to compare his current crop to Bill Nicholson's celebrated team, but he feels his side have a chance of creating their own history and pushing for a place in the Champions League. "Nine points is a great start for us," Redknapp said. "But I wouldn't even compare ourselves to the '61 or '62 team. That was an amazing football team."—Internet

Ancelotti expects great things from Drogha and Anelka

LONDON, 24 Aug—Carlo Ancelotti believes Didier Drogha and Nicolas Anelka's revitalised partnership will strike fear into the hearts of Chelsea's Premier League title rivals. The Italian manager saw his new charges extend their perfect start to the season with a 2-0 victory at Fulham on Sunday, sealed by a goal in each half from Drogha and Anelka.

The pair have not always gelled successfully during their time together at Stamford Bridge. But former AC Milan coach Ancelotti has tinkered with Chelsea's system, converting his midfield into a diamond formation and challenging Drogha and Anelka to dovetail neatly up front. The results have been spectacular.

China to hold biggest maritime rescue drill for World Expo

HANGZHOU, 24 Aug—China's maritime rescue services will stage their biggest ever rescue drill in the East China Sea next month, an official with Zhejiang Provincial Maritime Bureau said on Monday.

The drill, jointly held by the Ministry of Transport and east China's Zhejiang Province, will involve 35 ships, three aircraft and more than 1,000 personnel.

No exact timetable was given.

The drill would test maritime rescue capabilities and security for the Shanghai World Expo in 2010, said He Yipei, deputy director of the Zhejiang provincial maritime bureau.

The 90-minute exercise would simulate a collision between a passenger ship and a cargo vessel loaded with chemicals, and a fire on the passenger ship and a benzene leak, He told a press briefing.

Rescuers would search for people in the water, put out the fire and evacuate 16,000 people living along the coast.—Xinhua
