Work together to eliminate narcotic drugs from Myanma soil

A ceremony to destroy narcotic drugs and precursor chemicals seized in Kokang area, Special Region (1) of Shan State (North) took place in the compound of Kokang Region Drugs Elimination Museum on 31 October.

From time to time, the Central Committee for Drug Abuse Control held ceremonies to incinerate narcotic drugs seized across the nation in States and Divisions and Yangon.

Out of 46 different occasions held for destroying seized narcotic drugs at States and Divisions, five were actually in Laukkai, Kokang Region, during the years 1991, 1993, 1996, 1997 and 2002 and up to 2006, 20 occasions were held in Yangon.

The narcotic drugs, ATS tablets and related precursor chemicals destroyed were those seized within a short period after the significant incident that happened in Laukkai area in August. The total value of drugs, chemicals and related equipment destroyed is over 20 billion kyats (over US$ 20 million).

The government in its efforts to eliminate the illicit drugs as a national cause with its own resources had laid down the two strategies and three tactics. Now is the final year of the 2nd 5-year phase of the 15-year drug elimination plan and we can say the effort to eliminate narcotic drugs has gained momentum. While scaling up and prevention and elimination of drug production, the government is also taking speedy measures to ward off drug abuse.

The government is striving for prevention of the danger of narcotics and education and rehabilitation in accord with UNODC's theme "No individual, family or community is safe where illicit drugs take control". So the national people are to work together to eliminate narcotic drugs from Myanma soil.

Philippines repairs damage after deadly storm

MANILA, 1 Nov — Philippine authorities on Sunday scrambled to restore power and repair damage after Typhoon Mirinae smashed into the storm-weary nation, killing at least 12 people.

A day after Mirinae brought heavy rains and winds, crews were clearing roads of fallen trees and power lines in capital Manila and nearby areas.

Efforts were being made to repair four bridges that collapsed in urban areas south of Manila, while power was slowly being restored to most of the 22 towns that were blacked out at the height of the typhoon, the Red Cross said.

"We have been told that power in most areas has been restored and in terms of flooding, the waters receded within hours," national Red Cross secretary general Gwen Pang told AFP.

She said a pre-emptive evacuation that saw the transfer of about 115,000 people in the typhoon's direct path to safer ground days ahead of its landfall had meant fewer casualties compared with two recent deadly storms.

UK to shake up banking, 100s of branches for sale

LONDON, 1 Nov—The Royal Bank of Scotland, Northern Rock, and Lloyds Banking Group are to sell off as many as 700 branches in the next few years in exchange for the public aid they received during the economic meltdown, a government official told The Associated Press on Saturday.

The assets being put up for sale would be reserved for new entrants to the British banking market, effectively creating three new banks over the next five years or so, the official said.

The official said that the banks were in negotiations with Britain's treasury and European regulators over how many assets they would have to give up in return for the help they received from taxpayers.

"Essentially, they are expected to have to divest — each of them — some of their branches," he said.

As many as 700 branches could be sold off, the official said. That figure would include all of Northern Rock's 100 or so branches, as well as chunks from the Lloyds

Banking Group PLC's approximately 3,000 branches and just over 2,200 branches operated by the Royal Bank of Scotland Group PLC.

Established players such as Barclays PLC or the Spanish Banco Santander SA, which owns three UK banking businesses, would not be allowed to bid.

India government to import rice

NEW DELHI, 1 Nov—India's government plans to import 30,000 tonnes of rice to offset an expected production shortfall following the worst monsoon in nearly four decades, a report said on Saturday.

The move comes as the US Department of Agriculture has forecast India's rice output will fall between 15 million and 17 million tonnes in the crop year from October 2009 to September 2010 following two years of bumper harvests. India is the world's second-largest rice producer. The country of nearly 1.2 billion people produced a record 99.15 million tonnes of rice last year.

The government has asked three state-owned trading firms, MMTC, STC and PEC, to import 10,000 tonnes of rice each and sell it in the market, the Press Trust of India said.

"The tender to import rice is under the government instruction," Sanjiv Batra, chairman of MMTC, told the news agency. An official of another publicly owned trading company STC said the rice shipments were likely to arrive in the country in November and December.

As of now, the three state-run trading firms have been advised to import only 10,000 tonnes each, added the STC official, who was not identified.—Internet

BEIJING, 1 Nov—The Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) of China's manufacturing sector rose to 55.2 percent in October, up 0.9 percentage points from the previous month, the China Federation of Logistics and Purchasing (CFLP) said on Sunday.

WELLINGTON, 1 Nov— It is an offence for motorists to use a hand-held cellphone while driving in New Zealand from Sunday morning.

The ban on making or receiving calls from a cellphone, texting and e-mailing is one of a raft of new road rules under the Land Transport (Road User) Amendment Rule 2009 which came into effect from Sunday, local media reported.

Motorists can make calls legally if they have a fully voice activated phone, or the device is secured in a fixed mounting. Genuine emergency calls are also allowed.

Police are also enforcing new drug-driving rules from Sunday, with compulsory tests on motorists suspected of being under the influence of drugs, according to Radio New Zealand.

Also present on the occasion were Chairman of the Leading Committee for organizing the competitions Commander of Nay Pyi Taw Command Maj-Gen Wai Lwin, Chairman of the Work Committee for organizing level judges, managers, members of national race traditional cultural troupe, and distinguished guests.

Upon arrival at Nay Pyi Taw City Hall at 5 pm, the Secretary-1 received a welcome from Commander Maj-Gen Wai Lwin, members of the Leading Committee, and Minister Maj-Gen Competitions.

Traditional cultural performing arts play an important role in the fields that reflect the culture of a nation or a people. The artifacts excavated across Myanmar every year bear witness that the nation has been a source of high-standard arts for tens of thousands of years.

Myanmar traditional cultural performing arts have been preserved through a combination of innovations and related techniques for their sustainable progress. Artistes devote their whole lives to the art fields concerned with the might of the art to serve the interest of the nation and the people. In the course of Myanmar history, artistes and maestros with a sense of national fervour have showed resilience to various forms of threats posed by alien culture to preserve the traditional cultural performing arts. Therefore, Myanmar traditional cultural performing arts remain flourishing till today.

As you know, the Union of Myanmar is home to over 100 national races that have been living through thick and thin since time immemorial. Myanmar traditional cultural performing arts represent the cultures of the national races.

Myanmar national artistes worked hard to maintain own culture and characters and shouldered bounden duties for national causes. In times of emergency in which national races were repulsing alien intrusion and they were trying to unify the nation into a consolidated one, artistes took part in the movements with their might of arts, and they have preserved that fine tradition till today.

I would like to urge you artistes to convince younger generations of the fact in relaying fine traditions to them that strong national concepts, national character, and cultural heritages of national races are behind respective arts.

Today, the government is working hard to shape the nation into a peaceful, modern and developed democratic one in accordance with the State's seven-step Road Map. In successive periods, national people have tried to achieve State stability, peace and development, and consolidated national unity lies at the core of the drive.

Here, a notable point is that in times of weakening of national unity, the nation fell to alien subjugation and lost sovereignty. And in times of consolidated national unity, the nation stood tall as an independent and sovereign one with strong national forces in the international community.

Therefore, I would say I believe that artistes and maestros who carry out duties with a sense of duty, and preserve and relay the traditional cultural performing arts to new generations will continue to work hard with the arts from the cultural point of view to further strengthen the cohesion of national brethren.

In conclusion, I would say that on such an auspicious occasion, let us wish professional artistes a success with physical and mental well-being in shouldering national duties on Myanmar traditional cultural performing arts.

Beijing's first snow of season 'artificially induced'

BEIJING, 1 Nov—Chinese meteorologists covered Beijing in snow on Sunday after seeding clouds to bring winter weather to the capital in an effort to combat a lingering drought, state media reported.

The unusually early snow blanketed the capital from Sunday morning and kept falling for half the day, helped by temperatures as low as minus 2 Celsius (29 Fahrenheit) and strong winds from the north, Xinhua news agency reported.

Besides falling in the northeastern provinces of Liaoning and Jilin and the northern province of Hebei, the eastern port city of Tianjin also got its first snow of the autumn, the report said.

"We won't miss any opportunity of artificial precipitation since Beijing is suffering from the lingering drought," the report quoted Zhang Qiang, head of the Beijing Weather Modification Office, as saying.

Chinese meteorologists have for years sought to make rain by injecting special chemicals into clouds.

Although the technique often gets results, a drought in the north of the country has continued for over a

Besides the snow, which the Beijing Evening News said was the earliest to hit the capital in 10 years, the cold weather and strong winds also delayed air travel from Beijing's Capital Airport, while interrupting passenger shipping services off the coast of Shandong province in the east, Xinhua said.

Up to six killed, 37 wounded in south Baghdad bike bombing

BAGHDAD, 1 Nov—The death toll from a bike bomb explosion at a marketplace in south Baghdad on Sunday rose to six and 37 people were injured, a local police source said.

"Our latest report said that six were killed and 37 injured by the bike bombing in the town of Mussayab," the source told Xinhua on condition of anonymity.

Earlier the source put the toll at five killed and 20 injured when a booby-trapped bicycle left at a crowded market in the town detonated at about 9:00 am (0600 GMT). Iraqi security forces have sealed off the area to secure the scene, while ambulances and civilian cars transported the victims to the town's hospital and medical centers, the source said.

The blast damaged several nearby stalls and shops, he added.

Mussayab, some 60 km south of Baghdad, is part of the once restive area, dubbed Triangle of Death, which is a cluster of towns scattered north of Hilla City, the capital of Babel province, some 100 km south of Baghdad. Sporadic attacks continue in Iraq as part of recent deterioration in security which shaped a setback to the efforts of the Iraqi government to restore normalcy in the country after more than three months of US troops pullout of cities and towns.

Mobile revolution finally reaches Pacific

WELLINGTON, 1 Nov—The Pacific islands are the last frontier for mobile telecommunications but the arrival of Irish-owned Digicel Pacific in the past three years has brought about a revolution.

Residents of the islands and visitors all have horror stories about the poor service and sky-high charges of telecoms monopolies in the Pacific.

But the arrival of competition through Digicel means Pacific islanders are beginning to experience some of the benefits taken for granted elsewhere in the world.

Digicel opened its first Pacific operations in Samoa on 1 November, 2006 — exactly three years ago.

Now it has expanded to Papua New Guinea, Tonga, Vanuatu, Fiji and Nauru, a total market of 7.5 million people, and the company has invested more than 500 million US dollars and now employs 1,100 people.

Digicel shows no sign of slowing down, planning to expand to the Solomon Islands, East Timor and Tahiti over the next year, Digicel Pacific chief executive Vanessa Slowey said.

"It's most certainly improved the lives of millions of people in the region," Slowey said of the new competition.

Anti-oxidants may aid lungs with influenza

BIRMINGHAM, 1 Nov—The Achilles' heel for all strains of influenza may be plant-based anti-oxidants, a team of researchers from the University of Alabama at Birmingham said.

The study, scheduled to be published in the November issue of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology Journal, shows anti-oxidants — the same substances found in plant-based foods such as apples, grapes and strawberries — might hold the key in preventing the flu virus from wreaking havoc on the lungs.

“The recent outbreak of H1N1 influenza and the rapid spread of this strain across the world highlights the need to better understand how this virus damages the lungs and to find new treatments,” study co-author Sadis Matalon said in a statement. “Additionally, our research shows that anti-oxidants may prove beneficial in the treatment of flu.”

Matalon and colleagues showed the flu virus damages lungs through its M2 protein, which attacks the cells that line the inner surfaces of the lungs — epithelial cells. Specifically, the M2 protein disrupts lung epithelial cells' ability to remove liquid from inside the lungs, setting the stage for pneumonia and other lung problems.—Internet

In a study using mice, researchers at Chicago's Rush Medical Center found simvastatin halted the advance of biochemical, cellular and anatomical changes seen in Parkinson's, said Kalipada Pahan, a Rush professor of neurological studies.

In the brains of mice, simvastatin blocked the activity of a toxic protein called p21Ras and improved motor functions, Pahan said on Thursday in the Journal of Neurosciences.

“If we are able to replicate these results in Parkinson's patients in the clinical setting, it would be a remarkable advance in the treatment of this devastating neuro-degenerative disease,” Pahan said. Pahan's work was supported by grants from the National Institutes of Health and the Michael J Fox Foundation for Parkinson's Research. Parkinson's is a progressive disease that slows movement, stiffens limbs, unbalances the body and produces tremors. An estimated 1.2 million residents of North Americans suffer from the disease.

Evidence found on oxygen production in oceans long before GOE

LOS ANGELES, 1 Nov—US scientists have found evidence that oxygen production began in Earth's oceans at least 100 million years before the Great Oxidation Event (GOE) around 2.4 billion years ago. Evidence further demonstrates that even very low concentrations of oxygen can have profound effects on ocean chemistry. It is widely accepted by scientists that around 2.4 billion years ago, the Earth's atmosphere underwent a dramatic change when oxygen levels rose sharply. Called the “Great Oxidation Event,” the oxygen spike marks the transformation from an oxygen-poor atmosphere to an oxygen-rich one, thus paved the way for complex life to develop on the planet.

But scientists were unable to answer questions on when oxygen production via photosynthesis got started and when it began to alter the chemistry of Earth's ocean and atmosphere. The new findings were made by geoscientists at the University of California, Riverside. A team of researchers analyzed 2.5 billion-year-old black shales from Western Australia.—Xinhua

A/H1N1 flu death toll rises over 5,700, says WHO

GENEVA, 1 Nov— At least 5,712 people worldwide have been killed by the A/H1N1 influenza, an increase of more than 700 in a week, the World Health Organization (WHO) said in a latest update on Friday. Of all the deaths, 4,175 occurred in the Americas, 605 occurred in South-East Asia and 465 occurred in the West Pacific. The other three WHO regions — Europe, East Mediterranean and Africa — reported 281, 111 and 75 deaths respectively.

The WHO, which declared the H1N1 flu as a pandemic in June, said the total number of lab confirmed cases worldwide is now over 441,661, but this case count is significantly lower than the actual number of cases that have occurred because many countries have stopped testing and reporting individual cases.

Egypt reports fifth death of A/H1N1 flu

CAIRO, 1 Nov — Egypt reported on Saturday the fifth A/H1N1 flu death case, the health ministry said in a statement.

A nine-year-old child from Helwan governorate, to the south of the capital, died of A/H1N1 virus in an unnamed hospital in Cairo on Saturday morning, the statement said without elaborating.

Up till now, the ministry has reported more than 1,000 cases of the novel flu in the most populous Arab country.

Egypt reported its first A/H1N1 flu case on 2 June, a 12-year-old Egyptian-American girl coming from the United States via the Netherlands.

The latest statistics released by the CDC show that the death rate for US children under 18 years old has rose 20 percent in the past week, from 95 reported on 23 Oct by the federal health agency.—Internet

Mowbray satisfied as Celtic end home win drought

*Celtic ended a run of four matches without a win at Celtic Park as they coasted to a 3-0 win over Kilmarnock to increase their lead at the top of the Scottish Premier League. GLASGOW, 1 Nov—Tony Mowbray says he is happy with his side's progress as his Celtic side brought to an end a four match run without a win at Parkhead with a 3-0 victory over Kilmarnock.

The Celtic manager had been under pressure going into the game having led his side to just two wins out of nine games at Celtic Park this season, a run which had seen his side defeated in three European ties and knocked out of the League Cup by Hearts.

His misfiring players also came in for criticism after they had failed to find the back of the net in their previous three home appearances.—Internet defeat by Fulham here at Craven Cottage.

Saturday's setback was Liverpool's fifth reverse in just 11 Premier League fixtures and they trail leaders Chelsea by nine points, with champions Manchester United, Arsenal and Tottenham all ahead of them in the table.

Benitez also has Champions League qualification to secure and cannot afford another defeat on Wednesday away to French club Lyon, who earlier in the competition won 2-1 at Anfield.

Steven Gerrard and Fernando Torres, the undisputed top talents in his squad, are both struggling for fitness so Benitez is not short of problems.

Barcelona draw allows Madrid to close gap in Spain's Primera Liga

MADRID, 1 Nov—Spanish Primera Liga leaders Barcelona could only draw 1-1 away to Osasuna to allow Real Madrid to close the gap at the top of the league table on Saturday night.

Seydou Keita looked to have given Barcelona the three points with a goal in the 71st minute, but an own goal from Gerard Pique, in what was virtually the last action of the game, allowed Osasuna to take a share of the points. That result allowed Real Madrid to temporarily overcome the crisis at the club and move to within a point of the top of the table.

Goals from Gonzalo Higuain after 53 and 56 minutes gave under pressure coach Manuel Pellegrini some breathing space.—Internet

With eight minutes remaining, Leverkusen were cruising to a 2-0 win, but goals from Schalke forwards Kevin Kuranyi on 83 minutes and Vicente Sanchez on 88 sealed the draw, but Bayer are still a point clear of second-placed Bremen.

Ten-man Real Madrid beats Getafe to save coach's job

MADRID, 1 Nov—Real Madrid striker Gonzalo Higuain scored two goals to give 10-man Real Madrid a 2-0 home win against local rivals Getafe in the Spanish soccer league on Saturday.

Higuain struck twice in the second half to give his side a well-deserved win after playing for over an hour with a player less after the controversial sending off of defender Raul Albiol.

The win almost certainly saved the job of Real Madrid coach Manuel Pellegrini after a run of only one win in five games.—Xinhua

Palestinian killed in Gaza tunnel collapse

GAZA, 1 Nov—A Palestinian was suffocated to death on Sunday when a smuggling tunnel along the border between the Gaza Strip and Egypt collapsed, medical sources said.

Two other Palestinians were injured in the collapse which happened when the workers were bringing in fuel from Egypt, witnesses and the sources added.

The killed was identified as Mohammed Abdeen, 35, according to the sources who demanded anonymity.

The Palestinians depend on hundreds of tunnels beneath the border to get fuel and various other products since Gaza has been sealed off from all but vital humanitarian aid by Israel and Egypt after Hamas takeover in June 2007.

But due to frequent Israeli bombings, Egyptian crackdown and cave-ins, more than 130 Palestinians have been killed while working in the tunnels.
