Provide better health care to public

The government is opening more and more universities of medicine, and universities on health care throughout the nation with the aim of developing the medical science and bringing about development of human resources in the medical field.

As part of the drive for giving better health care to the public, the government is also establishing modern hospitals, general hospitals, specialist hospitals and teaching hospitals extensively, and providing modern equipment on diagnosis and health care, and hospital equipment.

It is also encouraging production of modern and traditional medicines in its bid to upgrade hospitals to modern ones. With establishment of modern pharmaceutical factories, the nation obtains more new manufacturing methods.

As a result of setting up modern pharmaceuticals factories, people can get medicines at reasonable prices, and it reduces import of medicines, and contributes to regional development.

Being produced through the pharmaceutical manufacturing methods, all the medicines produced in Myanmar are of high quality, thus standing highest in potency in Southeast Asia. Myanmar has seen Inyaung and PyinOoLwin pharmaceutical factories in addition to Pharmaceuticals Factory (Yangon), which are designed to improve public health care.

In response to the government's benevolent attitude, the people, on their part, should keep themselves fit and rely only on the medicines recognized by the government.

As food crisis looms, FAO steps up aid to Niger, Chad

ROME, 22 April—The UN food agency said Wednesday it was stepping up aid to herders and shepherds in Niger and Chad as the two African countries face a food crisis following poor rains last year.

Livestock pastures have dried out and agricultural production had plunged in both Saharan countries, the Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO) said in a statement.

"An estimated 9.8 million people are now vulnerable to severe hunger in the two countries, with thousands more under threat in the north of Burkina Faso and northeast Mali," the Rome-based agency said.

"The situation in the region is very worrying indeed," said Fatouma Seid, the FAO's coordinator for west Africa.

"Poor livestock herders are being forced to sell their only assets and an important source of nutrition, their animals, at discount prices in order to buy enough food for their families while farmers have no seeds to plant," she said.

The FAO said it would finance the purchase and distribution of livestock feed, fertilisers and crop seed worth 12.7 million dollars (9.5 million euros) in Niger and 4.5 million dollars in Chad.

Arab League seeks international peacekeepers in Somalia

CAIRO, 22 April—The Arab League (AL) on Wednesday called on the UN Security Council to send international peacekeeping forces to Somalia.

The league and the African Union (AU) are asking the UN Security Council to send peacekeepers to the war-torn country, said head of the AL Afro-Arab Cooperation Department Samir Hosni on the sidelines of a meeting here for the International Somalia Contact Group.

AL is still holding talks with the UN Security Council to reach an agreement over the issue, the senior Arab official added.

Asked about the UN Security Council's delay in making a decision in this regard, Hosni said until now there is no unanimity over the issue. It would take some time for many of the council's permanent members to make the decision.

"This is what we disagree upon (with these countries) because we see that there was the Djibouti Peace Agreement and the UN has to keep peace or at least to support the AU peacekeepers in Somalia," he added. The AU Mission in Somalia (AMISOM) was authorized by the United Nations in January 2007 with the goal of bringing an end to civil war in the impoverished country.

Automakers showcase new models at Beijing show

BEIJING, 22 April—Automakers plan to unveil dozens of new models at the Beijing auto show this weekend as foreign producers look to surging China to drive slack global sales and local brands try to raise their profile following Geely's purchase of Volvo.

The show has quickly become a premier global event as explosive sales growth propelled China, a country with almost no private cars 15 years ago, past the United States in 2009 to become the world's top auto market.

Major producers that used to reserve vehicle launches for US or European auto shows plan to debut 14 new models at Auto China 2010, according to organizers. Chinese manufacturers plan to show 75 new sedans, SUVs, experimental "green" cars and other vehicles. The event opens to auto writers Friday and to the public on Tuesday.

"Auto China has grown to be one of the biggest and most important auto shows of the year, joining Detroit, Tokyo and Paris," said Trevor Hale, a spokesman for Daimler AG.

The reason: China's buoyant auto market shrugged off the global crisis and sales soared by an eye-popping 45 percent last year to 13.6 million vehicles, well ahead of the 10.5 million units sold in the United States. The expansion accelerated this year, when sales jumped by 63 percent in the first quarter.

Airlines lost over $1.7 bln over volcanic ash cloud

BERLIN, 22 April—The International Air Transport Association (IATA) said Wednesday that airlines have suffered a loss of more than 1.7 billion US dollars since the initial volcanic eruption in Iceland.

"Lost revenues now total more than 1.7 billion US dollars for airlines alone," said Giovanni Bisignani, IATA's director general and CEO, at a press conference in Berlin. "In the first three days, 400 million dollars were lost for each day."

"About 29 percent of global aviation was impacted by this crisis, which affected 1.2 million passengers a day. The scale of the crisis eclipsed on 11 September when US airspace was closed for three days," he said.

He also urged governments to compensate airlines for the lost revenues, as the industry has been sunk into its worst financial situation. "It is hitting hardest where the carriers are in the most difficult financial situation. Europe's carriers were already expected to lose 2.2 billion US dollars this year the largest in the industry," said Mr Bisignani.—Xinhua

Hynix turns 1st-quarter profit as DRAM prices rise

SEOUL, 22 April—Hynix Semiconductor returned to profit in the first quarter after a loss last year as sales more than doubled and prices for its mainstay computer memory chips increased.

Hynix, the world's second-largest manufacturer of memory chips, earned 822 billion won ($742 million) in the three months ended on 31 March, the company said Thursday in a release. It reported a net loss of 1.18 trillion won a year earlier.

Sales more than doubled to 2.82 trillion won from 1.31 trillion won the year before, Hynix said.

It was the company's third straight quarter in the black. Hynix recorded its first net profit in two years for the third quarter of last year as prices for memory chips rose amid a rapid recovery in the market.

Hynix Semiconductor Inc. manufactures DRAM chips, used mostly in personal computers. It also ranks No. 3 in the world in NAND flash memory chips, used in products such as digital cameras, music players and smartphones.

Japan's exports rise for 4th straight month

TOKYO, 22 April—Japan's exports rose for a fourth straight month in March as a recovering global economy drove demand for the nation's cars and gadgets.

Exports jumped 43.5 percent from a year earlier to 6 trillion yen ($63.5 billion), the government said Thursday.

The figures offer more evidence that robust growth, particularly in Asia, is feeding a turnaround in the world's second-biggest economy, offsetting weak demand and falling prices at home.

Shipments rose worldwide, with those to Asia up almost 53 percent.

Led by a booming China, the region's robust growth has been key in lifting Japanese corporate profits, factory output and business confidence. The International Monetary Fund forecast Wednesday that China's economy — which has overtaken the US to become the biggest market for Japanese exports — would surge 10 percent this year.

Exports to the US grew 30 percent, and those to the European Union rose 27 percent, the finance ministry said.

Technological University (Lashio): alma mater of technocrats

Article & Photo: Yamanya Thway Mon

Nowadays, the government is giving priority to construction of infrastructures for ensuring development of human resources which is essential for emergence of a modern and developed nation.

With the aim of contributing to human resources development, the educational infrastructures such as Technological Universities and Universities of Computer Studies have been opened in 24 development regions of the nation.

On 1 July 2007, the Ministry of Science and Technology inaugurated Technological University (Lashio) on a grand scale in Lashio of Shan State (North). The university was built on 55.36 acres of land near Hopeik Village, seven miles from the exit of Lashio to Hsenwi, near the Union Highway of Shan State (North).

The Technological University (Lashio) held the first convocation for the M.E degree and the sixth convocation for the B.E and B.Tech degrees on 14 March 2000. So far, the university has produced over one thousand engineering graduates. Thanks to the endeavours of the government, the local national youth have the opportunity to pursue higher engineering technology in their regions. As such, some of those national people are discharging State duties at the higher level.

At the convocation, a total of 58 male and female graduates were conferred the engineering degrees. Today's local youth will not face the difficulties of pursuing higher education in the major cities that was the case in the past, and they have easy access to learning education in their own regions. Indeed, Technological University (Lashio) in Shan State (North) is an educational infrastructure that is turning out the technological human resources on which the State can rely.

Gunmen abduct 6 from hotels in northern Mexico

MEXICO CITY, 22 April — Dozens of gunmen burst into a Holiday Inn and another hotel in the northern Mexican city of Monterrey on Wednesday, searching from room-to-room and abducting at least six people, prosecutors said.

Nuevo Leon state attorney general Alejandro Garza y Garza said that between 20 and 30 gunmen abducted four guests and a receptionist from the 17-story

Holiday Inn in Mexico's industrial hub, which has seen a surge in violence recently.

The gunmen had with them a handcuffed man who led them to the fifth floor, Garza y Garza said. The assailants stormed room 517 where an Asian guest was staying, realized he wasn't who they were looking for and left, he said.

The group then searched at least seven more rooms on the fifth floor, apparently looking for specific targets, before going across the street to the Hotel Mision where they abducted a receptionist, the attorney general said.

Those abducted included three male guests who registered at the Holiday Inn as businessmen from Mexico City and a woman registered as from the border city of Reynosa, across from McAllen, Texas.

Singapore firms scramble to clear cargo backlog

SINGAPORE, 22 April—Singapore companies Thursday scrambled to clear a backlog of cargo including orchids and ornamental fish as Europe opened its airspace after the threat of ash clouds from a volcano eased.

One Singapore firm urgently needs a cargo of ship spare parts to arrive from Europe to avoid vessels sitting idle in the city-state, a major trans-shipment port.

Steven Lee, chairman of the Singapore Aircargo Agents' Association estimated it would take at least three to four weeks to clear the backlog.

"The crisis is not totally over because most of the flights have resumed but the damage has been done," Lee told AFP.

"Cargos are just as important as passengers...The cargo (standstill) impacted trade overall."

As cargo services gradually resume, priority would be given to medical and health supplies and perishable items, Lee said.

Too Peng San, president of the Singapore Flower Exporters' Association, said shipments of orchids have been halted since last week, when Europe shut down large areas of its airspace due to ash clouds billowing from an erupting volcano in Iceland. European governments reopened their airspace on Wednesday, and Singapore Airlines immediately resumed full operations to the continent.—Internet

EU urges member states to pay for increased European airport security

STRASBOURG, 22 April—At the European Parliament plenary session this week in Strasbourg, European Parliament Members (MEPs) on the Transport Committee said that member states should pay for aviation security measures that go beyond the European Union's requirements.

Increased security methods such as body scanners will be expensive to implement, and currently member states may apply their own rules on how airport security charges are shared, MEPs pointed out during the meeting.

Now, most airport authorities across the EU pass on the costs to airlines, which then pass them on to passengers. Luxembourg and a handful of others are the exception, with governments shouldering the costs. A majority of MEPs urged national governments to bear the cost of any security measures that are "more stringent" than basic EU standards, a source close to the European Council told Xinhua.

Member states would remain free to decide how to share the costs of the basic measures already covered by existing EU rules (metal detectors, sniffer dogs, body searches) but would be required to pay if they chose to introduce body scanners, which are not yet listed as a common EU aviation security method.—Xinhua

Latin American renewable energy gets a cash boost

WASHINGTON, 22 April—Renewable energy development in Latin America and other Western Hemisphere countries will receive a major cash boost over the coming years to reduce dependence on fossil fuels, the Inter-American Development Bank said.

The new incentive for renewable energy comes at the same time as governments in Latin America — Brazil, Ecuador, Mexico and Venezuela — have laid out plans for increased spending to develop hydrocarbon resources.

The latest plans for crude oil exploration and development were announced by Venezuela as IDB unveiled its programme for cash to boost renewable energy. IDB said it will increase its financing for renewable energy and climate-related projects to $3 billion a year by 2012.

IDB President Luis Alberto Moreno made the announcement as he addressed energy ministers of several countries at the bank's headquarters in Washington. Representatives from 32 Western Hemisphere countries attended the event, including US Energy Secretary Steven Chu and Secretary of State Hillary R. Clinton.

The IDB support will supplement efforts under way and funded by the United Nations and other aid agencies.

Moreno cited demands faced by IDB for support to developing renewable energy resources and in combating the effects of climate change.

Russia holds second joint rehearsal for Victory Day parade

MOSCOW, 22 April—Russian troops on Tuesday held their second joint rehearsal for the 9 May Victory Day Parade at the Alabino shooting range outside Moscow.

Mimicking the actual parade slated for 9 May, Red Square, two officers, who played the roles of the defense minister and the Moscow military district commander respectively, inspected and saluted the troops with festival greetings.

With music from military orchestra, servicemen in high spirits passed by the inspection stand carrying various kinds of armaments. However, choppers and fixed-wing aircraft did not participate in the rehearsal due to unsatisfactory weather conditions.

Russian Defence Minister Anatoly Serdyukov said earlier that more than 10,000 personnel, 159 military armaments, 127 fixed-wing aircraft and helicopters will participate in the Red Square parade.

Preparation for the Victory Day parade started in last October. Before the formal review, four rehearsals would be held at the Red Square, three of which during the day and one at night. The first joint rehearsal has already been staged at the Alabino shooting range on 13 April. Russia is set to host its first national parade celebrating the 65th anniversary of the defeat of Nazi Germany with the involvement of nearly 100,000 people.

Animals still*suffer from*Exxon Valdez oil

BURNABY, 22 April — Canadian scientists say lingering oil from the 1989 Exxon Valdez spill is still inflicting suffering on wildlife more than 20 years after the disaster. Simon Fraser University researchers in British Columbia said they used biomarkers to reveal long-term exposure to oil in wildlife. They said their findings demonstrate how the consequences of oil spills are measured in decades, rather than years.

The Exxon Valdez tanker ran aground on the Prince William Sound in Alaska on 24 March, 1989, spilling 10.8 million gallons of crude oil into the sea, covering 1,300 square miles. It is still regarded as one of the most devastating human-caused contamination events in history.

The international team of scientists, led by researcher Daniel Esler of the university's Centre for Wildlife Ecology, used the biomarker CYP1A, which is induced upon exposure to crude oil, to measure prolonged exposure to oil in local wildlife populations.—Internet

NASA's Solar Dynamics Observatory returns first images

HOUSTON, 22 April — NASA's Solar Dynamics Observatory has provided an astonishing new vista on our turbulent star. The first public release of images from the satellite record huge explosions and great looping prominences of gas. The observatory's super-fine resolution is expected to help scientists get a better understanding of what drives solar activity.

Launched in February on an Atlas rocket from Cape Canaveral, SDO is expected to operate for at least five years. Researchers hope in this time to go a long way towards their eventual goal of being able to forecast the effects of the Sun's behaviour on Earth. Solar activity has a profound influence on our planet. Huge eruptions of charged particles and the emission of intense radiation can disrupt satellite, communication and power systems, and pose a serious health risk to astronauts.

Scientists working on SDO say they are thrilled with the quality of the data received so far. "When we see these fantastic images, even hard-core solar physicists like myself are struck with awe, literally," said Lika Guhathakurta, the SDO programme scientist at NASA Headquarters. SDO is equipped with three instruments to investigate the physics at work inside, on the surface and in the atmosphere of the Sun.

Tailored arthritis treatment on the way with new test

LONDON, 22 April — A simple blood test could lead to a "new era" of tailored therapy for rheumatoid arthritis (RA), it was claimed on yesterday. Research has shown patients with certain immune system antibodies can respond to an advanced form of treatment. Eight out of 10 patients suffering from RA are believed to have one of the two antibodies.

Trial results presented yesterday show they have a good chance of being helped by the drug rituximab, also known as MabThera. However, it may not be worth giving the drug to the 20pc of patients who test negative.

Professor John Isaacs, from Newcastle University, who led the research, said: "This is an important breakthrough in the treatment of this chronic and debilitating condition, heralding the beginning of an exciting new era for patients, physicians and the entire RA community."—Internet

Varicose veins often misunderstood

ATHERTON, 22 April—A US interventional radiologist says those with varicose vein disease are often misdiagnosed. Dr Douglas Lewis, a board certified vascular and interventional radiologist in Atherton, Calif, says mistreating or ignoring of varicose veins can result in needless suffering and complications because patients aren't treated until the disease reaches a more debilitating — and more difficult to treat — stage.

Lewis advises the sooner the disease is diagnosed, the simpler the treatments and the better the outcomes. "It is crucial to better educate physicians and to inform the community about how to detect early stage vein disease and when to seek treatment," Lewis says in a statement.

Lewis says varicose vein misconceptions include:

UAE investor confidence boosted by Dubai World proposal

ABU DHABI, 22 April—Investor sentiment towards Dubai and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) in general has been boosted significantly as a result of state-owned conglomerate Dubai World's restructuring proposal, a local business journal reported on Tuesday, citing the latest data released by investment bank Shuaa Capital.

The Dubai-based finance firm's Investor Sentiment Report of the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) had its second-biggest gain on record, driven almost entirely by a positive change in attitudes towards the UAE, Arabian Business said on its website.

Shuaa's UAE Investor Confidence Index recorded a jump of 36 points, according to the report. It said all GCC countries — Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and the UAE — are now above the 100-point thresholds, which represents positive sentiment. "The increase in investor confidence towards the UAE clearly indicates that the cloud of uncertainty hanging over the investment community has now been removed," Shuaa CEO Sameer Al Ansari was quoted as saying.

"The outcome of Dubai World's restructuring proposal has had a very positive impact on the investment community, both regionally and internationally," he added. Last November, Dubai World sent shockwaves across financial markets when it said it would not be able to repay its debts on time and asked for a six-month freeze on debt payments.

Somali pirates hijack three Thai fishing ships with 77 crew members

NAIROBI, 22 April—Somali pirates are holding three Thai fishing ships and 77 crew members on board off the Somali coast after hijacking the vessels on Sunday, a regional maritime official and EU Naval Force confirmed on Tuesday.

Andrew Mwangura, East Africa Coordinator of Seafarers Assistance Programme (SAP) said the pirates hijacked MV Prantalay 11, 12, and 14 with 77 crew members onboard in one of the farthest-off-shore attacks to date.

"The three fishing vessels were hijacked on Sunday and all have 77 Thai crew onboard," Mwangura told Xinhua by telephone from Mombasa.

EU Naval Force Commander John Harbour also confirmed the seizure, saying the three Thai vessels were attacked almost 600 miles (960 km) outside the normal operation area for the EU Naval Force. "These latest hijackings are the furthest east of any pirate attacks in the area since the start of EU NAVFOR's Operation Atalanta in December 2008, almost 600 miles outside the normal EU NAVFOR operating area," Harbour said.

He said the attack so far out at sea was a clear indication that the EU, NATO and CMF were having a marked effect on pirate activity in the area.

Harbour said the MV Prantalay 11 has 26 Thai crew members, MV Prantalay 12 has 25 and MV Prantalay 14 has 26 on board. He also said the hijacked vessels belong to a Thai based company PT Interfishery Ltd. He confirmed that all 77 Thai crew members were safe and well and that the vessels were heading towards the Somali coast.

Harbour said pirates have expanded their range south and east in response to an increase in patrols by European and US warships off the Somali shore.

Piracy has become rampant off the coast of Africa, especially in the waters near Somalia, which has been without an effective government since 1991.

Don't expect England to win WC, says John Barnes

Former England football star John Barnes

LONDON, 22 April — Former England football star John Barnes insists it is unrealistic to expect England to win the 2010

World Cup. The ex-Liverpool left winger said Spain and Brazil are the undisputed favourites to lift the trophy in South Africa this July—and England have no divine right to be considered likely champions. Barnes, who played in England's run to the 1990 World Cup semi-finals—their best performance since their 1966 triumph—also urged fans not to heap pressure on the team's youngsters, and reckons David Beckham's absence could actually boost England's chances.—Internet

Pompey debt hits £120m mark

LONDON, 22 April — Debts at Premier League crisis club Portsmouth were revealed to be around 120 million pounds (185 million dollars) in total on Wednesday — some 40 million pounds more than previously estimated. Portsmouth, bottom of the table and already relegated after being deducted nine points last month for entering administration, sent a 70-page document to all their known creditors on Wednesday detailing their debts which include the 38.2 million owed to former owners in unsecured loans. The club have passed through four owners this season in a series of moves that have done precious little for Portsmouth's off-the-field stability.

Hong Kong-based businessman Balram Chainrai, the club's most recent owner, is owed 14 million pounds, while Portsmouth's total unpaid bill to British tax authorities amounts to 17.1 million pounds. Portsmouth, whose Fratton Park ground now holds some 20,000 fans, have also been hard hit by transfer fees a club of their size could not afford without the support of an indulgent benefactor.

Home final dream fires up Hamburg for Fulham clash

HAMBURG, 22 April — The prospect of playing the Europa League final on May 12 on home soil will inspire Hamburg against English giant-killers Fulham in Thursday's first-leg semi-final, insists striker Mladen Petric. Both the Hamburg-Fulham semi-final and Liverpool's game at Atletico Madrid will go ahead despite fears the games may be cancelled due to the cloud of volcanic ash from Iceland that has grounded flights across Europe.

With their chances of winning the Bundesliga title effectively ended by a shock 1-0 defeat at home to Mainz last weekend, Bruno Labbadia-coached Hamburg are determined to win a place in the final in their home stadium next month.

Only Roy Hodgson's Fulham, the tournament's surprise package, stand between Hamburg and their dream final. Fulham pulled off one of the most stunning fight backs in European football history when they turned a 3-1 deficit from the first leg into a 4-1 win at home to go through 5-4 on aggregate in the last 16 against Juventus.—Internet

Roma to meet Inter in Cup final after Udinese draw

ROME, 22 April — AS Roma and Inter Milan will contest the Italian Cup final for the fifth time in six years after Roma reached the trophy match despite a 1-0 defeat at Udinese in Wednesday's semi-final, second leg. Roma triumphed 2-1 on aggregate due to their 2-0 win at home in the first leg back in February. Alexis Sanchez scored the only goal of the game nine minutes from time but that wasn't enough to take the relegation threatened club past the Serie A leaders.

Robben strike gives Bayern slim advantage over Lyon in Champions League

MUNICH, 22 April — Dutch winger Arjen Robben's strike sealed Bayern Munich's 1-0 victory over Lyon on Wednesday to give the German giants an advantage for the second-leg of the Champions League semi-final. The first-half dismissal of Bayern's Franck Ribery for a dangerous challenge was cancelled out by Lyon's France defender Jeremy Toulalan also getting sent off just after the break for a second yellow card before Robben's winning goal.

Since joining Bayern from Real Madrid in August 2009, Robben has

now scored 20 goals in all competitions, but none so important as his 69th-minute strike which bounced off the back of team-mate Thomas Mueller and into the net. "It was tremendously important that we kept our composure, even with ten men," said Bayern captain Philipp Lahm with Mark van Bommel suspended.

Green overcomes loss of leg to play golf

SAVANNAH, 22 April — The first big step in Ken Green's improbable return to golf came with a severe limp, just like every step since a horrific auto accident that took the lives of his girlfriend and brother and cost Green his right leg. This was only a pro-am Wednesday on the Champions Tour, yet it carried so much uncertainty.

"All right, guys," he said quietly to his amateurs as he stood over his opening tee shot. "I don't know. This might be interesting." Even more beautiful than the flight of his tee shot were the ropes lining both sides of the fairway at the Savannah Harbour Golf Resort, indisputable evidence that Green was back on the stage where some thought he might never return.

Villa move up EPL table as Hull suffer

LONDON, 22 April — Aston Villa climbed into sixth place in the English Premier League and in sight of a spot amongst Europe's elite next season as they edged Hull nearer relegation with a 2-0 away win on Wednesday.

Gabriel Agbonlahor's first-half goal and James Milner's penalty 14 minutes from time saw Villa to a win that left the Midlands club just three points behind Tottenham Hotspur, who currently occupy fourth place and the last spot on offer to English clubs for next season's Champions League, with three games to play.

Victory saw Villa leapfrog Liverpool and continued their revival after losing 7-1 to Premier League leaders Chelsea, who also knocked them out of the FA Cup, last month "We're in the mix," Villa manager Martin O'Neill told Sky Sports.

No Venus for US against Russia in Fed Cup

BIRMINGHAM, 22 April — Venus Williams will not compete for the United States in this weekend's Fed Cup semi-final tie against Russia because of nagging leg injuries similar to those of sister Serena. "I waited until this moment in hopes that I would have an opportunity to play, but I am being advised by my medical support team that I will need more time to recover," Williams said in a statement on Wednesday. The elder Williams sister wore wrappings on both legs in a finals loss to Kim Clijsters earlier this month at a hardcourt event in Miami.

"She has been trying to get better," Fernandez said. "Obviously I knew it was going to be tough for her because she hurt herself at the end of the Miami tournament and couldn't hit balls until the last week or so. "I did everything I could do to give her as much time as possible to see if she got better. She's not quite.
