Abide by traffic rules

The nation is enjoying cumulative development in all fields and roads have to cope with growing traffic. So, the government has been building highways and inter-district, inter-township and inter-village roads for smooth transport.

Due to increasing traffic, passengers and drivers have to honour traffic rules for road safety.

Traffic accidents happen very often due to failure to honour traffic rules, which claims lives. Data show that road accidents are largely due to reckless driving, drunk driving, aggressive driving, and pedestrians' reckless using of roads.

Drivers must avoid taking wrong traffic lanes and blocking traffic lanes. Drivers have to have their vehicles serviced regularly to avert technical problems while driving and to ensure that their vehicles meet all standards.

Now, talks, exhibitions and contests on traffic rules are being conducted for public knowledge with aim of reducing traffic accidents.

The people have to work every day for their basic needs. If they abide by traffic rules strictly, they will be free from road accidents.

8th Leprosy Elimination Day Commemoration Ceremony observed

Deputy Minister for Health Dr Paing Soe makes speech at ceremony to commemorate the 8th Leprosy Elimination Day.—MNA

NAY PYI TAW, 6 Feb—Ministry of Health organized a ceremony to commemorate the 8th Leprosy Elimination Day at the ministry here today.

The commemorative ceremony was opened by Deputy Minister for Health Dr Paing Soe who delivered an opening speech.

In his speech during the commemorative ceremony to mark the leprosy elimination in Myanmar, Deputy Health Minister Dr Paing Soe said Myanmar takes great pride in the country's achievement in the leprosy elimination goal since the end of January, 2003.

The country achieved the goal thanks to the efforts of the national leprosy program -me along with the international collaboration, including local authorities, health committees, NGOs in Myanmar, WHO, the Nippon Foundation,

Sasakawa Memorial Health Foundation, International Federation of Anti-leprosy Associations (ILEP), Novartis Foundation, the Leprosy Mission International (TLMI) and Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), National Centre for Global Health and Medicine (NCGM), under the directives of the Myanmar National Health Committee and supervision of the Ministry of Health, the deputy minister said.

The leprosy was eliminated in the country as a public health problem indicated that leprosy prevalence in Myanmar became less than one per 10,000 population, he said. The declaration for achievement of leprosy elimination status in Myanmar was announced at the Third World Leprosy Elimination Day held in Yangon from 6 to 8 February, 2003. The

In his speech, the deputy minister also urged leprosy patients and their families to take part in the rehabilitation, and called on the related ministries and NGOs to continue to collaborate with the Ministry of Health for the sustainable elimination of the disease in Myanmar.

After the ceremony, the deputy minister and party visited the booths of leprosy elimination activities. The slogan of the 8th Leprosy Elimination Day is "Reduce the Leprosy Burden : Sustain Leprosy Control Activities."—MNA

New START treaty enters into force as US, Russia exchange ratification papers

MUNICH, 6 Feb—A new nuclear arms treaty between the United States and Russia that limits the number of atomic warheads the two former Cold War enemies are permitted to possess took effect Saturday.

US Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton and Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov exchanged instruments of ratification on the sidelines of the 47th Munich Security Conference. The New START treaty was approved by the US Senate in December after President Barack Obama pressed strongly for its passage. Russia ratified the 10-year agreement, which can be extended by another five years, last month.

“We are aware that this treaty was born of our mutual understanding of the futility of a unilateral approach to security issues,” Lavrov said.

Lavrov said the principles of parity, equality and undivided security stipulated by the New START treaty, negotiated last year, set a solid foundation for Russian-American cooperation in different areas.

Five Romanian coal miners killed in explosion

BUCHAREST, 6 Feb—Officials in Romania say that five miners died Saturday in an explosion at a coal mine.

The mayor of the town of Uricani, Dan Buhaescu, told Agerpres news agency the victims ranged in age from 30 to 35.

A labour department inspector in the western county of Hunedoara said the five were servicing an electric transformer when the explosion occurred Saturday.

Earlier, rescue teams headed to the mine in the Jiu Valley mining region, about 350 kilometers (220 miles) west of Bucharest and later pulled out the remains of the miners. About 800 miners are employed at the mine, which is due to be shut down by 2018.—Internet

PERTH, 6 Feb—Wildfires threatened homes and new flooding forced evacuations in embattled Australia, as officials warned that last week's monster cyclone would compound economic woes.

Hot and gusty conditions whipped up by Cyclone Yasi, a top-level tropical storm that ripped into Australia's northeast coast Thursday, fanned an out-of-control blaze on the outskirts of Perth on Sunday, endangering about 20 homes.

“The bushfire is moving fast in a northwesterly direction. It is out of control and unpredictable,” the Fire and Emergency Services Authority in western Australia said in a statement.—Internet

Afghan skirmishes kill 16 militants, two NATO soldiers

KABUL, 6 Feb—Continued conflicts and Taliban-led militancy have claimed the lives of 16 militants and two NATO soldiers in Afghanistan since Friday.

The latest Taliban-linked activities left two soldiers with the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) dead on Saturday, the military alliance confirmed in a statement released here.

“Two International Security Assistance Force service members died following separate Improvised Explosive Device (IED) attacks in southern Afghanistan today,” the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) confirmed in the statement.

However, it did not reveal the nationalities of the victims, saying it is the ISAF policy to defer casualty identification procedures to the relevant national authorities. Troops mainly from the US, Britain, Canada and Australia have been stationed in the southern region within the framework of ISAF to fight Taliban militants.

Chinese vessel 'not hijacked': state media

BEIJING, 6 Feb—A Chinese-flagged commercial ship reportedly hijacked by Somali pirates was safe and being escorted by anti-piracy naval vessels, according to state press.

The ship had not been hijacked off the Yemeni coast, Xinhua news agency reported on Sunday, citing the China Maritime Search and Rescue Centre.

A Chinese naval fleet working as part of an international anti-piracy force in waters off Yemen was “safely” escorting the ship, it said.

Yemen's interior ministry said Saturday that Somali pirates had hijacked the “Tien Hai” off Yemen's western port of Al-Hudaydah.

China's military attache to Yemen, earlier quoted by Xinhua, had also confirmed the apparent hijacking.

Will Apophis hit Earth in 2036? NASA rejects Russian report

NEW YORK, 6 Feb—In 2004, NASA scientists announced that there was a chance that Apophis, an asteroid larger than two football fields, could smash into Earth in 2029. A few additional observations and some number-crunching later, astronomers noted that the chance of the planet-killer hitting Earth in 2029 was nearly zilch.

Now, reports out of Russia say that scientists there estimate Apophis will collide with Earth on 13 April, 2036. These reports conflict on the probability of such a doomsday event, but the question remains: How scared should we be?

"Technically, they're correct, there is a chance in 2036" said Donald Yeomans, head of NASA's Near-Earth Object Programme Office. However, that chance is just 1-in-250,000, Yeomans said. The Russian scientists are basing their predictions of a collision on the chance that the 900-foot-long (270 meters) Apophis will travel through what's called a gravitational keyhole as it passes by Earth in 2029. The gravitational keyhole they mention is a precise region in space, only slightly larger than the asteroid itself, in which the effect of Earth's gravity is such that it could tweak Apophis' path.

In virtual space, mock Mars mission 'arrives' at Red Planet

MOSCOW, 6 Feb—A 520-day attempt to simulate an entire mission to Mars has hit a major milestone, "arriving" in mock orbit around a mock Red Planet after months of virtual interplanetary flight.

The Mars500 mission "spacecraft" — actually a collection of sealed habitats in Moscow — entered a simulated orbit phase around the Red Planet on Tuesday (1 Feb), according to the European Space Agency. Three of the craft's six crewmembers, all of whom are volunteers, will "land" on Mars on 12 Feb to make three deployments onto simulated Martian terrain, ESA officials said.

Mars500 — a $15 million joint experiment by ESA, Russia and China — aims to study the complex psychological and technical challenges that must be solved for long spaceflights, officials have said. The project has been running for more than eight months in a mock spacecraft at the Institute of Biomedical Problems in Moscow.

Radioactivity affects bird brain size

MOSCOW, 6 Feb—Researchers say birds living near the site of the Chernobyl nuclear power plant, which exploded in 1986, have smaller brains than normal.

Researchers discovered that birds living in the exclusion zone near the abandoned power plant have brains 5 percent smaller than those living elsewhere in the region, the BBC reported. Researchers from Norway, France and the United States made the discovery and published the findings in the journal PLoS One.

They studied 550 birds from 48 species and linked the smaller brain size to background radiation near the failed reactor. Researchers also said the number of mammals within the exclusion zone is declining, as is insect diversity.

The researchers also discovered a method to predict which species are most severely damaged by radioactive

Take that, Google! Microsoft restores H.264 video support in chrome

WASHINGTON, 6 Feb—Weeks after Google dropped Chrome browser support for H.264 videos, Microsoft has restored the playback option for Windows users by releasing its own Chrome extension.

The Windows Media Player HTML5 Extension for Chrome lets Windows 7 users play H.264 videos in a Google Chrome browser. Microsoft already has similar extensions for Firefox and Internet Explorer users.

"We believe that Windows customers should be able to play mainstream HTML5 video," said Claudio Caldato, Principal Programme Manager, Interoperability Strategy Team, in a blog post.

"H.264 is an excellent and widely-used video format that serves the web very well today. As such, we will continue to ensure that developers and customers continue to have an optimal Web experience."

In mid-January, Google unexpectedly pulled Chrome browser support for H.264 videos, citing the need to focus on open codec technologies like WebM (VP8) and Theora, instead of closed standards. The format war heated up when Microsoft exec Tim Sneath wrote a satirical open letter to Google, likening the search giant to a language dictator.—Internet

Start-up Twitter Counter acquires Twitaholic

WASHINGTON, 6 Feb—Twitter Counter, a small start-up company in Amsterdam, today announced it had acquired a competing site Twitaholic for an undisclosed amount. Both sites allow Twitter users to see statistics related to their account, such as how many other Twitter account holders are following them.

Of the two, Twitter Counter has always been the more vigorous organization, offering more thorough statistics, such as customized graphs that show changes over time in the number of followers, number of tweets (or posts to the microblogging Web site), number of people being followed, and more. Twitter Counter turns a profit by selling access to certain levels of data in a tiered pricing scheme, starting at $15 per month. It has attracted big-name clients along the lines of Facebook and Paypal.

On the other hand, Twitaholic (formerly called Twitterholic until a trademark infringement caused it to change its name) offered little more than a list of the most popular people on Twitter based on how many followers they have. Still, Twitter Counter saw that the site garnered good traffic. "They seemed to have a loyal following but didn't innovate as fast as we did and didn't seem to have an obvious business model besides displaying some Google ads," said Twitter Counter co-founder Boris Veldhuijzen van Zanten about Twitaholic, writing for The Next Web Entrepreneur.—Internet

Leisure as important as cholesterol

BUFFALO, 6 Feb—All work and no play not only “makes Jack a dull boy,” it makes him an unhealthy one, US researchers suggest.

Leisure expert Dr E Christine Moll of Canisius College in Buffalo, NY, says play is as important to one’s health as keeping cholesterol levels in check and getting regular exercise.

“When was the last time you did something just for fun or just for the health of it?” Moll asked in a statement. “If your answer is ‘I read a book a year ago,’ then you need to do more.”

Moll defines leisure as anything that brings personal enjoyment and allows for recharging one’s batteries, but that does not include watching a child play sports.

“That is an aspect of parenting, not leisure,” Canisius researcher Summer M Reiner says in a statement. “Parents need to develop their own leisure interests.”

Reiner examined the role leisure plays through life and the findings show that people who nurture leisure activities throughout their lives have a much healthier outlook physically, mentally, emotionally, socially and in their sense of selves.

In addition, the findings published in Counseling Today, show children who actively participate in leisure activities tend to grow into confident, active and satisfied adults.

Leisure can include anything from a crossword puzzle to a pickup game of basketball, but the activity must be freely chosen; provide satisfaction and adventure; arouse interest; require a commitment; serve as a sense of separation or escape and, most important, be pleasurable, Moll says.

Child’s heart valve implanted via leg

PORTLAND, 6 Feb—A few US hospitals can implant a pulmonary heart valve in children without open-heart surgery, instead snaking it up a leg, doctors say.

Oregon Health & Science University Doernbecher Children’s Hospital in Portland is one of a handful of US health centers qualified to implant a pulmonary heart valve through the leg.

The device — called the Medtronic Melody Transcatheter Pulmonary Valve — has recently been approved by the US Food and Drug Administration for this use.

Health tip: Why diabetics can become hyperglycemic

It’s important for diabetics to keep their blood sugar (glucose) levels stable. That means taking all medication as prescribed, and following a healthy lifestyle.

When blood glucose levels become too high, the medical condition is called hyperglycemia. The American Diabetes Association offers this list of potential causes:

- If you’re a type 1 diabetic, getting insufficient insulin.
- If you’re a type 2 diabetic, the insulin your body produces may not be processed effectively.
- Overeating, or lack of exercise.
- Having an illness or infection.
- Being under emotional stress.—Internet

Sunbeam recalls 5,700 clothes irons

WASHINGTON, 6 Feb — Household appliance maker Sunbeam Products Inc of Boca Raton, Fla, is recalling 5,700 clothes irons due to a fire hazard, a federal watchdog agency said.

The convertible irons were imported from China and can overheat due to a wiring problem, the US Consumer Product Safety Commission said.

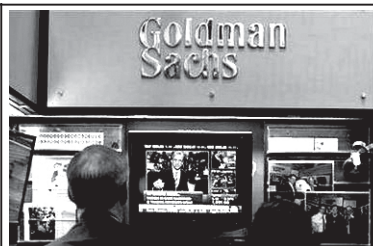

The company has received three reports of irons starting fires.

The irons were sold at Bed Bath & Beyond retail stores from June 2010 through November 2010 for about $60.

The irons involved in the recall are the Sunbeam Convertible Iron with model number GCSBRS – 103. It is hand held and converts from an iron to a clothes steamer.

Consumers were advised to stop using the irons and contact Sunbeam for a free replacement.

Canadian banks have until 2023 to strengthen capital cushion

TORONTO, 6 Feb—Canadian banks will have until 2023 to replace $77-billion of complex capital that will no longer count as an allowable buffer against a financial crisis, the country’s regulator said.

The Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions issued its guidelines Friday for how long Canadian banks have before certain forms of capital, such as hybrid notes, are no longer eligible under banking rules.

Such capital did not act as an effective buffer during the financial crisis in 2008, when banks in Europe and the United States were forced to seek government bailouts to stabilize their operations.

That prompted global banking regulations to be rewritten to ensure banks have a more effective capital cushion in the event of a future crisis.

From 2013 to 2023, the banks will have to reduce their non-common capital – essentially capital other than common equity – by at least 10 per cent a year, to comply with new global banking rules agreed upon last year. The banks will have to redeem the notes, or convert them to a form of capital, such as common equity, that complies with the regulations.

Singapore, China witness strong bilateral trade growth

SINGAPORE, 6 Feb—Bilateral economic relations between Singapore and China are strong, and as the world continues to recover from the global economic crisis, the bilateral trade has risen more than 25 percent to 95.3 billion Singapore dollars (about 74.5 billion US dollars) in 2010, Singapore Minister for Trade and Industry Lim Hng Kiang said here on Saturday.

China is currently Singapore's third largest trading partner, second largest source of tourist arrivals and top investment destination.

Delivering a speech at a Chinese New Year reception, Lim said: "looking ahead, we expect both the China-Singapore Free Trade Agreement and the ASEAN-China Free Trade Agreement to continue to spur even stronger economic cooperation in this region."

Despite the recent global economic downturn, China remains one of the world's fastest

18 killed in bus-truck accident in Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, 6 Feb— At least 18 people were killed and three others injured in a bus-truck collision in the southern Pakistani Province of Sindh on Saturday, local media reported.

According to the report, a passenger bus with some 22 people on board hit into a truck at the Gambat Bypass near Hyderabad area in Sindh.

The passenger bus has been completely destroyed in the accident whereas the truck was partially damaged.

Exact reason behind the road accident is not known for the moment, however, the report said that overspeeding might be the culprit.

Road accidents are very common in Pakistan where hundreds of people lose their life every year in road accidents.

A couple of weeks ago, 32 people were killed when a bus collided with an oil tanker in Sindh.

Traffic rules violation and lack of adequate road safety standards are the main reasons to be blamed for traffic accidents in Pakistan.

It is also recorded that about 87 percent of accidents in Pakistan are due to negligence of drivers indulged in overspeeding, overloading and wrong overtaking.—Xinhua

Bat-winged drone bomber in test flight

LOS ANGELES, 6 Feb—A robotic, bat-winged bomber designed to take off from a US aircraft carrier has passed its first test in a debut flight in California, the US Navy said.

The X-47B jet, which looks like a smaller version of the B-2 stealth bomber, stayed in the air for 29 minutes and climbed to 5,000 feet in a test flight on Friday at Edwards Air Force Base, according to the Navy and defence contractor Northrop Grumman.

Military leaders see the plane as part of a new generation of drones that would be able to evade radar and fly at much faster speeds than the current fleet of propeller-driven Predators and Reapers used in the war in Afghanistan.

"Today we got a glimpse towards the future as the Navy's first-ever tailless, jet-powered unmanned aircraft took to the skies," Captain Jaime Engdahl, a programme manager for the warplane, said in a statement.

Northrop is building the navy

rial, chemicals and other supporting items needed for onshore and offshore oilfields across the country are to be stored and supplied. He stressed the needs to pay serious attention to using State-own properties through formal procedure and to take thrifty measure, and laid down future plans.

The minister later inspected delivering of 12-inch pipes for connection of Pyawbwe-Pyinmana-Yeni-Taungphila gas pipeline.

He then inspected the annual checking of CNG vehicles and cordially chatted with car drivers in CNG vehicle department.

Next, he oversaw durability of CNG cylinders and quality-control tasks for the cylinders at CNG cylinder QC workshop.—MNA

National brethren United we stand

Mg Deh Doe: Bagyi Phyo, first hluttaw sessions are being held. I have heard of criticisms of hluttaws.

Bagyi Phyo: Yes, that is human nature. Different people have different natures and different views. What is important is that we should make a comment only if we know a lot about the subject. And we should show positive attitude in this regard. Otherwise, what we have commented can make others misunderstand the situations, or our comments may be malicious remarks.

Mg Deh Doe: Of course, Bagyi. So, I come here to ask you some questions. You have a lot of knowledge of politics.

Bagyi Phyo: Well, what do you want to know?

Mg Deh Doe: The first point I want to know about is: it has been a long time since a well-known man said. He is a lawyer. He says that the 2008 constitution says the constitution comes into force only when the first session of Pyidaungsu Hluttaw is held. And Pyidaungsu Hluttaw can be summoned only after sessions of Pyithu Hluttaw and Amyotha Hluttaw have been held. Sessions of Pyithu Hluttaw and Amyotha Hluttaw cannot be summoned if the constitution has not come into force. Therefore, according to the 2008 constitution, hluttaw sessions cannot be summoned at all.

Bagyi Phyo: It seems to me their criticism is like the quiz: what is the origin: hen or egg. That fact is stated in the 2008 constitution. Article 443 says that the preparatory work done by the State Peace and Development Council, before this constitution comes into operation, to bring the constitution into operation, shall be deemed to have been carried out in accordance with this constitution. So, we should consider that the first sessions of Pyithu Hluttaw and Amyotha Hluttaw the State Peace and Development Council summons and holds are in accordance with the constitution.

Mg Deh Doe: Then, he must have said so without observing all the principles of the constitution. Another point is: one day before first hluttaw sessions began, a foreign radio station aired a live broadcast programme. It is an interview with an ex-hluttaw representative. He says that according to the 2008 constitution, if occasion rises to submit a bill, only if 25 % of the hluttaw representatives submit the bill, the bill will be under discussion. The parties except military and USDP make up only about 17%. So, it is impossible for them for them to submit a bill. What is your opinion, Bagyi?

Bagyi Phyo: Seemingly, he said so without observing all the principles of the constitution. Article 138 (a) says that bills relating to other matters, except the matters prescribed in the constitution that the bill shall be submitted

They can demand some amendments to the bills if necessary. If they meet a quorum, they can impeach the President, Vice-Presidents and ministers. They can submit a case to amend the constitution. They can speak and hold discussions freely in the hluttaws in accordance with the constitution. Regarding the submitting, discussing and performing at hluttaws, no action can be taken against hluttaw representatives. These principles are prescribed in the 2008 constitution approved with the votes of the majority of the people. There may be no other constitutions that work as well as that does. In democracy, the minority has to comply with the stances of the majority, and the stances of the minority are to be taken into consideration. That is a noble process. Only now, is the process introduced in our country.

and passed exclusively by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw stated in the Union Legislative List, shall be initiated in the Pyithu Hluttaw or Amyotha Hluttaw in accordance with the law. And according to Bylaw 151 (b), the initiated bill shall be distributed among hluttaw representatives and submitted to hluttaw sessions to decide whether the hluttaw concerned should deal with the bill or not. If the hluttaw decides that the bill should be dealt with, the bill will be transferred to the Bill Committee for Scrutinization. I think that system is a copy of British system. If that is like American system, committees at various levels take long to scrutinize the bill before the bill is submitted to the Congress. Some bills are not submitted to the Congress because they are decided by the committees only.

Mg Deh Doe: Why did he mention "25%", then?
Bagyi Phyo: In my opinion, he takes that for Article 71 (b) that says if it be required to impeach the President or any Vice-President, a charge signed by not less than one-fourth of the total number of representatives. That is why I say often that little knowledge is dangerous.

Mg Deh Doe: Another man says that parties of national races won only 44 of 435 seats in Pyithu Hluttaw and only 28 of 168 seats in Amyotha Hluttaw, and so, what they can decide on is nothing.

Bagyi Phyo: That is according to the election results. In Singapore, for instance, there is only one parliament. Of 94 seats for members of parliament, 10 seats are for appointed members. Ruling PAP Party wins 82 seats and there are only two seats for the opposition party. In that case, the two seats are set aside for the opposition party because the opposition is necessary for democracy system. Singaporean citizens voted for PAP in their favour. So, no one can complain about that. That is according to the democracy practice. However, that is going smooth in Singapore. In Malaysia, of the 222 seats in the House of Representatives, ruling UMNO wins 137 seats, and the opposition party wins 85 seats. There are many things parties that do not win the

Objectives of 64th Anniversary Union Day (2011)

1. For all national races to safeguard the national policy—Non-disintegration of the Union, Non-disintegration of national solidarity, and Perpetuation of sovereignty
2. For all national races to keep Union Spirit ever alive and dynamic among national people
3. For all national races to wipe out, through national solidarity, disruptions caused to peace, stability and development of the nation by internal and external subversives
4. For all national races to make efforts with might and main to build a modern, developed discipline-flourishing democratic nation in accordance with the State Constitution approved by the great majority of the people
5. For all national races to work in concert with national unity for perpetuation of the Union that has existed for thousands of years majority of the seats can do. They can join hluttaw committees. They can submit bills. They can participate in discussions and give advice for the bills that are initiated by the other hluttaw. They can demand some amendments to the bills if necessary. in accordance with the constitution. Regarding the submitting, discussing and performing at hluttaws, no action can be taken against hluttaw representatives. These principles are prescribed in the 2008 constitution approved with the votes of the majority of the people. There may be no other constitutions that work as well as that does.

Bagyi Phyo: I have presented what the minority can do at hluttaws. According to Article 89, Article 132 and Article 155, the proceedings and records of hluttaws shall be published for public information. However, the proceedings and records prohibited by any law shall not be published. That is practised in every country. Subjects talked about at closed-door meetings are not published for public knowledge. I notice that hluttaw sessions have the coverage of State media. I think when hluttaw sessions become settled, private media will have the rights to cover the sessions. I do not think it is wise to give all the media indiscriminate access to hluttaw sessions. As you know, it had to stop media men from doing indiscriminately at the recent wedding reception of the two celebrities. Hluttaws are to be taken most seriously in the nation, so if necessary, restrictions are to be prescribed for security and rule enforcement. At the US Congress, only media the speaker thinks trustful are allowed to cover news. In addition, there is a designated place for journalists. If a journalist is entering the hluttaw compound, he is thoroughly searched with mental-searching machine and X-ray machine. Anyone cannot take large bags, even soft drink tins and needle. I hope in our country, journalists will soon get used to the restrictions.

Mg Deh Doe: Well, I would say that if they keep making malicious remarks irresponsibly with the wrong concept that democracy means "anyone can do everything at will, as you have said that little knowledge is dangerous".

In addition, fertile farmlands have emerged in the Loikaw plain.

Stability and peace is a foundation for development. Tatmadaw government has extended a warm welcome to the armed groups to return to legal fold by surrendering the armed struggle line since its assumption of the state's duties in 1988. Now, the country has gained harmonious development due to the state's benevolent attitude and strenuous efforts.

Like other States and Regions, Kayah State is now enjoying the fruit of the peace and development. As a result, hydropower plants, communication facilities, schools, hospitals, universities, colleges, University of Computer Studies and Technological University have emerged one after another. Nowadays, Kayah State sees much more progress and development than that in 1988.

UK sailors missing off coast of Portugal

LISBON, 6 Feb — Two British yachtsmen are missing after their boat was hit by a large wave off the coast of Portugal. Their yacht WaterWave got into trouble in rough seas as they sailed towards a marina north of Porto. The Portuguese authorities have sent a helicopter to search for the missing men, aged 23 and 52.

A 24-year-old crew member managed to swim to safety at Povoa de Varzim. Foreign Office officials said they had offered consular assistance. The yacht had been sailing from the north-western Spanish port of Vigo when it hit a storm at around 0330 GMT on Saturday morning.— Internet

California firm recalls 3,000 lbs of beef

WASHINGTON, 6 Feb — About 3,170 pounds of fresh ground beef patties and other beef products distributed to Southern California restaurants is being recalled, federal officials say.

The US Agriculture Department said in a release Saturday the beef from American Food Service in Pico Rivera may be contaminated with E. coli O157:H7.

The USDA said the projects were produced 31 Jan and bear the establishment number "EST. 1913" inside the USDA mark of inspection.

The departments said there is a concern some product may be frozen and in restaurant freezers.

E. coli O157:H7 is a potentially deadly bacterium that can cause bloody diarrhea, dehydration and in the most severe cases, kidney failure.

Ground beef must be cooked to a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit to kill E. coli bacteria.

Police hunt missing six-year-old Swiss twins

GENEVA, 6 Feb — Police from three countries are hunting for a pair of six-year-old Swiss twins whose father killed himself after abducting them. Matthias Schepp had snatched Alessia and Livia from the Swiss home of his wife, from whom he was separated, on 30 January. He then travelled to France and then Italy, where he threw himself under a train on Friday. Helicopters, trackers dogs and scores of volunteers are helping the search.

Canadian-born Mr Schepp had sent his estranged wife a letter from Marseille in France, saying he was desperate and could not live without her, Italy's ANSA news agency reports. The agency quoted Swiss police as saying he had withdrawn large amounts of money from cashpoints in the city. — Internet

New approach brings US homeless in from the cold

WASHINGTON, 6 Feb — In the dead of winter last year, after 13 years of wandering the streets and homeless shelters of the US capital, Maureen Brosnahan was given a tiny apartment with no strings attached.

She would no longer have to endure icy nights lying on cardboard and wrapped in blankets and plastic, or huddle with others for protection against the thieves and psychotics who prey on the homeless after dark.

"You always think that something better is going to happen. And for me, this happened," she says of the 16-room dorm-style building run by Open Arms Housing, a local non-profit that houses homeless women.

"It doesn't hit you until you're in for a year or so, and then it's like, 'Bam! I'm inside' You don't have to go to a church to take a shower."

Belgian Stefaan Engels completes record 365th marathon

BRUSSELS, 6 Feb — A Belgian runner has set a new world record by completing 365 marathon races in a year. Stefaan Engels, dubbed "Marathon Man", began his challenge in Belgium a year ago and has since run a marathon every day across seven countries. He crossed the finish line in the Spanish city of Barcelona after running 15,000km (9,569 miles) in a year.

"I don't regard my marathon year as torture. It is more like a regular job," the 49-year-old said. He averaged about four hours to complete a marathon. He said his best time was 2 hours and 56 minutes. Engels suffered from asthma as a child and had been told by doctors to avoid sport. Before Engels, the record marathon man was Akinori Kusuda of Japan — who ran 52 races in a row at the age of 65 in 2009.— Internet

WiFi can be open door to Internet theft

WASHINGTON, 6 Feb — The use of open WiFi Internet services can give hackers an easy way to steal passwords and other private information, a British company says. The theft of such information is made easy through the use of a free programme called Fire-sheep, which has been downloaded more than a million times in the past year, USA Today reported.

"People who don't understand technology simply have faith," their accounts won't be hacked, said Chet Wisniewski, senior security adviser at Sophos, a network security firm based in Abingdon England, which has its North American headquarters in Burlington, Mass. "With Firesheep, almost anyone can effectively hack into your Facebook, Twitter and other accounts," said Randy Abrams, with the anti-virus firm ESET.

A Vermont man was rescued from a 6-foot snowdrift that buried all of him but his head, state police said. Jean Butler, 52, of Newfane was raking snow off his garage roof Friday afternoon when all the snow collapsed on him at once, a police report obtained by the Burlington Free Press said.

A neighbour heard Butler's calls for help, and Trooper Geneva Cushman began digging him out, joined by members of the Williamsville and New Brook fire departments.

He was rescued after 2 hours, and an ambulance team found no need to take him to a hospital. "Butler never lost consciousness, and although very cold, was in good spirits after being rescued," police said.

An alleged cross-dressing bank robber who was dubbed the "Tootsie Bandit" was in jail Saturday, authorities in San Diego said.

Robert Tyndall, 56, of San Diego, was picked up without incident at his home by the FBI and police officers from San Diego and neighbouring El Cajon.

Tyndall allegedly took a cue from the classic 1982 Dustin Hoffman comedy "Toot-sie" by donning a blond wig, scoop-neck blouse and what the Los Angeles Times described as "fashionable boots" while knocking over three banks since July.

A Sicilian couple thought they had the perfect weapon to get rid of her ex-husband — a slab of butter which would melt after they asphyxiated him, the Corriere della Sera newspaper reported Saturday.

But a post-mortem found remains of the butter in the airways of Calogero Lo Cocco and the pair were unmasked, the paper said.

On Wednesday Lo Cocco, 40, had gone back to the marital home he had not visited since his divorce, where his ex-wife lived with her new boyfriend at Campobello di Licata near Agrigento in southern Sicily.

They had set upon him and suffocated him with the butter, before claiming he had arrived drunk and attacked them, forcing them to tie him up, when he had suddenly collapsed and died.

Dead cow washes up on Seattle shore

Authorities in Seattle say bovine met the shoreline when beachfront residents found the body of a 400-pound cow washed up by the surf.

Seattle Animal Shelter enforcement supervisor Ann Graves says animal control officers received a report Thursday that the carcass of an adult cow had beached in West Seattle. The tide later moved it in front of a home.

A Seattle Police Department Harbour Patrol vessel towed the cow to a boat ramp Saturday, where it was loaded onto a rendering truck. Graves say it had no ear tag or other identification. It's not clear how it got in the water. Graves say it could have been dumped by owners after it died naturally.

The beached bovine was first reported by West Seattle Blog.

Writers Guild honours "Social Network," "Inception"

LOS ANGELES, 6 Feb— Facebook film "The Social Network" and thriller "Inception" won top honours from the Writers Guild of America on Saturday in one of the last major Hollywood award shows before the Oscars later this month.

"Social Network" writer Aaron Sorkin took the award for best adapted screenplay from the group that represents US film and television writers and "Inception" creator Christopher Nolan was named best writer of an original script.

Awards from Hollywood's professional guilds often provide hints about which films and filmmakers will compete for Oscars, the world's top film awards, given out by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences on 27 February, because many members of the guilds also belong to the academy.

While that is certainly true in the category for best adapted screenplay, where Sorkin and "Social Network" are tipped to win, the other Oscar front-runner, royals drama "The King's Speech," was not nominated for the Writers Guild award for best original screenplay.

Lohan's attorney denies actress stole necklace

LOS ANGELES, 6 Feb—Lindsay Lohan's attorney said Saturday that her client did not steal a $2,500 necklace and would fight any charges if they are filed.

The statement from attorney Shawn Chapman Holley was the first official word from the actress' camp since police revealed they were investigating the troubled starlet for grand theft. "We vehemently deny these allegations and, if charges are filed, we will fight them in court, not in the press," Holley said. Kamofie & Co, a Venice custom jewelry store, reported the necklace stolen on 22 Jan, roughly three weeks after the actress was released from three months of court-ordered rehab at the Betty Ford Centre.

Police obtained a search warrant Tuesday to try to retrieve the necklace from Lohan's house, but the item was turned in to detectives before the warrant could be executed.

Mickelson in contention in Phoenix Open

SCOTTSDALE, 6 Feb — Phil Mickelson thrilled the huge crowd on the par-3 16th with a 30-foot birdie putt Saturday and closed within four strokes of leader Tommy Gainey halfway through the frost-delayed Phoenix Open.

Mickelson holed the long putt on the 20,000-seat amphitheater hole seconds after a fan screamed "Tiger would make it!"

"It's Saturday of the Phoenix Open. It's always fun," Mickelson said.

"There's a lot of people out here. I don't think there's a shot I wanted to make more, other than a major championship, than that putt on 16. I wanted to make that so bad.

Sharapova slumps on Fed Cup return

PARIS, 6 Feb — Maria Sharapova's first Fed Cup appearance in three years ended in tame defeat on Saturday as four-time champions Russia went 2-0 down to France in their World Group quarter-final clash in Moscow.

Sharapova, desperately trying to rebuild her career after a long struggle with shoulder trouble, lost 6-3, 6-4 to Virginie Razzano, the world number 83. Alize Cornet had earlier given the injury-hit visitors a 1-0 lead, producing a surprise win of her own, a 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Svetlana Kuznetsova.

"I was giving her far too many free points, I wasn't serving well, and I wasn't really being aggressive on the court and I was giving her the opportunity to hit the first ball, and I

Juve's Matri returns to haunt Cagliari

ROME, 6 Feb—Alessandro Matri returned to haunt his former club Cagliari on Saturday when he scored twice in Juventus's 3-1 win. The victory ended a run of three straight defeats and eased the pressure on Juve coach Luigi Delneri. Matri's goals sandwiched a strike from Cagliari's Robert Acquafresca before Luca Toni scored a late clincher. It was a vital win for Juve as well with champions Inter Milan the visitors to Turin next week.

"It can be more difficult to play against Cagliari than against Inter," said Delneri. —Internet

Messi gives Barcelona record win in Spanish League

MADRID, 6 Feb—Lionel Messi hit a hat-trick as Barcelona made history by winning a record 16th successive Spanish League match to beat the previous best of Alfredo Di Stefano's 1960-1961 Real Madrid. Messi scored all the goals in the 3-0 win over Atletico Madrid at Camp Nou as the defending champions opened up a 10-point lead over Real Madrid who face Real Sociedad on Sunday. Argentine magician Messi waltzed through the Atletico defence to give Barcelona the lead in the 17th minute and, after wasting a further chance, he pounced again in the 28th minute.

Atletico came out of their shell at the start of the second half but it was Barcelona who had the cutting edge with Messi scoring again from close range 11 minutes from time. "We wouldn't be were we are if it wasn't for Leo in our team," said Barcelona coach Pep Guardiola of his Argentine superstar. —Internet
