Locals expect Thanaka marketplace at Mahamuni pagoda

MYANMA Thanaka Association will submit a proposal to Mandalay regional government to create a Thanaka marketplace at Mandalay's famed Mahamuni pagoda.

The members of this association have expected to develop a designated area where the travellers to Mandalay can study the culture of Thanaka and buy Thanaka.

"Mandalay Mahamuni pagoda is famous in upper Myanmar, and the local and foreign travellers pay visits daily during the peak season. So, the government should create a place for the international travellers to know the Thanaka culture and to buy the Thanaka products," said U Kyaw Moe, chairman of the association.

The officials will cooperate with the thanaka traders to call for the government to designate a thanaka marketplace in the pagoda compound where thanaka is mainly used in a daily face-washing ceremony at Mahamuni Buddha image.

"There are about 20 thanaka sellers at the pagoda's stairway. The vendors have been selling there for 30 years. They are also members of our association. We want the government to create a place for the traders. But there is still no plan to designate a specific place. We sent a letter to the regional government before COVID-19 outbreak. We want them to designate a place in the pagoda compound," he said.

Thanaka is a main symbol of Mandalay and used in the face-washing ceremony of Mahamuni Buddha image since years ago. The thanaka traders will submit the proposal to the regional government for the second time to create a thanaka marketplace. The members of thanaka association will also discuss with the chair of the pagoda trustee.— Min Htet Aung (Mandalay Sub-Printing House)

We will also inform our programmes to the public about the reason for prioritizing the specific groups

In the meantime, the first thing we will do is to begin the vaccination programme next week for the frontline health workers and volunteers. At this stage, we will be able to identify difficulties and make better plans in the vaccination programme. The key government officials, civil services personnel and Hluttaw representatives will be included in the following step. We have targeted to conclude these steps in the next week or 10 days. Depending on available vaccines, we will expand the vaccination programme to control the disease in important places for the resumption of our government machinery. We will also inform our programmes to the public about the reason for prioritizing the specific groups.

MoC holds inter-ministerial meeting on Trade Policy Review preparations

THE Ministry of Commerce yesterday organized an inter-ministerial meeting to prepare for the upcoming final report meeting of Myanmar’s second Trade Policy Review.

During the meeting, Union Minister Dr Than Myint said that Myanmar took one-and-a-half years to prepare for the second round of the Trade Policy Review.

Along with the process, two reports — the report of the WTO Secretariat and the report of the Myanmar government — have been prepared, according to the Union Minister.

Usually, the final meeting on the process is held in Geneva, Switzerland, where the WTO is located. But it will be held only in virtual format because of the pandemic.

After the final meeting, the report and the results of the second Trade Policy Review must be shared with government departments and relevant organizations, said the Union Minister, who also called on relevant officials to cooperate with the media to publish articles for public outreach.

Deputy Minister U Aung Htoo said that the upcoming meeting is similar to the third-round meeting of the Myanmar Universal Periodic Review (UPR) held on 25 January this year. He called on the officials of the ministry to cooperate with the Permanent Mission of Myanmar in Geneva for the second round of the Trade Policy Review.

Permanent Secretary U Min Min discussed matters related to the successful holding of the second round, including matters on cooperation with the WTO Secretariat and necessary preparations.

Myanmar’s second round of the Trade Policy Review will be held on 15 and 17 February this year using the WTO’s Interprefy Platform.

Officials from relevant departments and organizations based in Nay Pyi Taw will participate together in the upcoming meeting from the Kempinski Hotel in Nay Pyi Taw. Other relevant officials will participate in the meeting via online.

The WTO’s Trade Policy Review Body (TPRB) Chairperson Iceland Ambassador Mr Harald Aspelund will serve as the chair of the final meeting of Myanmar’s second Trade Policy Review. Finnish ambassador Ms Kirsti Kauppi will serve as a discussant.

WTO member countries are required to conduct a Trade Policy Review, with the least developed member countries having to do so once every seven years. Myanmar’s first Trade Policy Review was conducted in 2014. Although the Myanmar delegation was previously scheduled to visit the WTO headquarters in Geneva in October last year, the planned visit was postponed because of the global COVID-19 pandemic. So, like other member countries, the final report meeting of Myanmar’s second Trade Policy Review will be held in the virtual format on 15 and 17 February.—MNA

Vaccination: victory against pandemic

SIX days after the arrival of 1.5 million vaccines donated by the Government of India, the Ministry of Health and Sports will launch its vaccination programme today.

The first ones in the line-up for vaccination are the health professionals, workers and volunteers who fought the pandemic at the frontlines.

Pyithu Hluttaw representatives will be inoculated against the virus on 29 January and Amyotha Hluttaw representatives and Tatmadaw representatives will receive the vaccination on 30 January.

The nationwide vaccination will launch on 5 February giving shots to the people including members of the Union-level, regional and state governments.

As the vaccination programme gains momentum, we are seeing the beginning of our victory against the pandemic that has infected over 138,000 people and taken over 3,000 lives.

The Union Government has bought 30 million doses of COVISHIELD/Astra Zeneca from India, of which about two million will arrive in the first week of February. Meanwhile, vaccines provided under the COVAX Facility will arrive in March and vaccines bought by the state budget will arrive in April.

The coming months can bring logistics, public relations and communications challenges for the government and health authorities. Another challenge is "infodemic" produced by social media with unfounded claims and false information which can spread all over the country in hours and days.

A monitoring system is in place to report adverse effects, but all concerns must be addressed fast. Effective challenges to anti-vaccination messages must come before hardening of attitudes occur.

Vaccinators including volunteers are urged to educate the recipients about how the vaccines work and their possible mild effects.

About 70 per cent of our population will be vaccinated against COVID-19 in 2021 and 2022.

We are confident that the experiences of the Ministry of Health and Sports and its health workers and experts in immunization programmes would make the coming national immunization programme against COVID-19 a success.

We have a long way to go until the majority of our citizens are vaccinated, but we should all be grateful to see the progress being made and keep the faith that a return to normalcy is on the horizon.

But, all must follow the basic rules and regulations — including staying masked and socially distanced until we are out of the woods.

THE PANDEMIC'S IMPACT ON PEACE AND SECURITY IS A "PRESSING CONCERN"

New COVID-19 strains 'poised to unleash' more severe infections - Security Council hears

Since September, the devastation wrought by the COVID-19 pandemic has deepened, infecting close to 100 million people, costing more than $3 trillion in lost wages and intensifying obstacles for peace and security around the world, the UN political chief told the Security Council on Monday.

AND while the pandemic has "hindered diplomatic action and complicated our peacemaking efforts", Rosemary DiCarlo, Under-Secretary-General for Political and Peacebuilding Affairs said via videoconference that it has "amplified the prevention challenge" and aggravated underlying dynamics of armed conflicts.

Moreover, "new strains of the virus are poised to unleash more severe waves of infection at a time when health systems and social safety networks are already on the brink", she told the meeting on the implementation of the UN Secretary-General's call for a global ceasefire.

The pandemic's impact on peace and security is a "pressing concern", Ms DiCarlo said.

By upending lives and economies, challenging community relations and undermining trust in the institutions meant to address its fallout, she maintained that "the pandemic has exacerbated inequality and corruption; bred misinformation, stigmatization, and hate speech; and created new flashpoints for tension and increased risks of instability".

The situation is especially precarious for women, youth and marginalized populations, who are particularly vulnerable to income loss and escalating gender-based and domestic violence. Global ceasefire call

A woman and her daughter walk past the remains of destroyed homes during the March 2019 attack on Ogossagou village by armed Dogon men in which over 150 civilians were killed. PHOTO: UNICEF/SEYBA KEITA

In pointing to the momentum generated by the global ceasefire so nations can focus instead on fighting COVID-19, Ms DiCarlo cited Libya as an example of how sustained political engagement, more unified support from the international community and commitment by the parties can lead to tangible progress.

She also spoke about the opportunity it has brought about for Afghan peace negotiations to "end decades of instability and conflict", disarmament efforts underway in Mozambique, and hope for peace in eastern Ukraine.

Notwithstanding these positive developments, some situations have witnessed dangerous escalation, such as clashes between Armenia and Azerbaijan in the South Caucasus. 'Political stress test'

"One thing is clear: The pandemic has served as a political stress test as much as a structural and public health one. It has laid bare where acute crisis is seen as an opportunity to gain advantage on the battlefield or as a pretext to perpetuate or entrench oppressive practices", said Ms DiCarlo.

But she added, "it has also confirmed that where there is real political will to make and sustain peace, almost no barrier is insurmountable, especially if there is support from the global community." 'Tip of the iceberg'

To date, close to 99 million people are confirmed to have contracted the coronavirus around the world, according to World Health Organization (WHO) figures. Almost a quarter of them live in countries facing humanitarian or refugee crises, Humanitarian Affairs chief Mark Lowcock, said in his update.

"As the tip of the iceberg, most cases are still not in the figures", he stated, noting that many poor countries are amidst a dangerous second wave and new and more infectious variants will make the situation worse.

Acknowledging that while vaccines "show the way out", he said that "no one is safe until everyone is safe, and the risk that the most fragile countries are at the end of a long, slow moving queue for the vaccine imperils us all". Lethal secondary consequences

In assessing the economic effects of the pandemic, Mr Lowcock highlighted a bleak picture for the most vulnerable, estimating that 235 million people will need humanitarian assistance and protection, "almost entirely down to COVID".

He painted a grim picture of the worst global economic contraction in 90 years; a decade of lost per capita income growth; looming sovereign debt defaults; extreme poverty rising for the first time in 20 years, triggering a steep upsurge in food insecurity and multiple famines; and disappearing public services.

"In more than 20 countries in which my office is present, disruption in routine immunization campaigns leaves millions of children vulnerable to killer diseases like measles and cholera". An appeal to the Council

While the humanitarian community has managed to scale up assistance, the effort has been outpaced by the growing scale of this crisis, according to Mr Lowcock.

He appealed to the UN Ambassadors for $35 billion to support the Global Humanitarian Overview, which aims to reach 160 million people; strengthen international financial institutions that provide for their most vulnerable; and action for equitable vaccine distribution.

"The next six months will be crucial. Today's decisions will determine our course for years to come", he concluded.

COVID repercussions

Jean-Pierre Lacroix, head of Peace Operations, told ambassadors that already complex political situations have continued to feel the strain of COVID-19 — delaying the peace process in South Sudan, limiting contacts between the two communities in Cyprus, exacerbating the political and economic situation in Lebanon and being used as a pretext to establish an unconstitutional presidential transition in the Central African Republic.

He noted that backlogs in peacekeeper rotations, due in large part to the pandemic, are now being loosened and described how UN peacekeeping has adapted to COVID, including during the drawdown in Sudan's Darfur operation, patrols in Mali as well as in supporting host States.

Testing collective resolve

COVID-19 has also "put a spotlight on the importance of women's leadership during crises", said the UN peacekeeping chief, reminding that they are on the frontlines, coping with the fallout and helping to mitigate the political risk associated with the pandemic.

THE WHO'S VACCINE ADVISORY GROUP

Moderna Covid-19 jabs can be spaced up to six weeks: WHO

WORLD Health Organization experts on Tuesday cautiously backed delaying second injections of the Moderna coronavirus vaccine in some situations, as they have already done for the Pfizer-BioNTech jabs.

The WHO's Strategic Advisory Group of Experts on Immunization (SAGE) also insisted that international travellers should not be prioritized for any Covid-19 jabs for the time being.

During a meeting last week, the experts had discussed the Moderna vaccine, which, like the Pfizer-BioNTech one, uses mRNA technology and is being rolled out in a number of countries.

Both vaccines require boosters after three to four weeks, but several countries facing limited vaccine supplies have said they will delay administering the second injection so that more people can get the first dose.

The WHO's vaccine advisory group said it was best to respect the tested intervals of 28 days between doses.

But earlier this month, it said that in "exceptional circumstances" it was possible to wait for up to 42 days to administer the second dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine, and on Tuesday, it said the same for the Moderna jabs.

It warned though that "the evidence for this is not strong", and stressed that "SAGE does not recommend halving the dose".

The UN health agency has so far only approved the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine for emergency use, but it is expected to soon issue approval for the Moderna jab as well.

SAGE also recommended Tuesday that the Moderna vaccine, like the Pfizer-BioNTech one, only be administered in settings that can deal with a potential anaphylactic reaction.

It said it could not recommend its use during pregnancy or breastfeeding without seeing further safety data. Amid a global shortage of various Covid-19 vaccines, the experts also advised against prioritizing vaccinating international travellers.

The WHO is calling for health care workers and the most vulnerable 20 per cent of people in every country to receive Covid-19 jabs before broadening immunization programmes to other populations.

"In the current period of very limited vaccine supply, preferential vaccination of international travellers would counter the principle of equity," SAGE said.

"Because of this and the lack of evidence that vaccination reduces the risk of transmission, SAGE currently does not recommend Covid-19 vaccination of travellers," it said.

It added though that of course people in high-risk groups planning to travel should be included in vaccination programmes.

Natural rubber price plunges to K750 per pound on weak global trend

By Nyein Nyein

DOMESTIC natural rubber's price fell to K750 per pound as global price slid into a bear market, said U Khaing Myint, Secretary of Myanmar Rubber Planters and Producers Association (MRPPA).

The natural rubber hit up to K1,000 per pound at the end of 2020. At present, the rubber price drastically dropped to K750 per pound. Rubber price stood at US$2,600 per tonne in 2020-end in global market, whereas it fetches only $2,100 per pound at present.

"Myanmar's natural rubber price is tracking the global rates. The price slid to around K740-750 per pound at present", he said.

The pandemic hinders international producers. Consequently, natural rubber prices went into a bear market, he continued.

"Rubber price is directly related to the coronavirus situ-

ations. The lockdown in London and Europe with the heightened COVID-19 measures affected the rubber market," U Khaing Myint affirmed.

Rubber is primarily produced in Mon and Kayin states and Taninthayi, Bago, and Yangon regions in Myanmar. As per 2018-2019 rubber season's data, there are over 1.628 million acres of rubber plantations in Myanmar, with Mon State accounting for 497,153 acres, followed by Taninthayi Region with 348,344 acres and Kayin State with 270,760 acres. About 300,000 tonnes of rubber is produced annually across the country. Seventy per cent of rubber made in Myanmar goes to China. It is also shipped to Singapore, Indonesia, Malaysia, Viet Nam, the Republic of Korea, India, Japan, and other countries, according to the MRPPA.

Thailand is buying Myanmar's natural rubber at a reasonable price through the black market in Phayathonzu, Kawthoung and Myeik towns. As a result of this, the government needs to control illegal rubber exports strictly, MRPPA stated.

Myanmar yearly exports over 200,000 tonnes of natural rubber to foreign countries, generating over $200 million.

Myanmar mineral exports down by $500 mln as of 15 January

THE value of Myanmar's mineral exports has drastically fallen to US$352.6 million as of 15 January in the current financial year 2020-2021 since 1 October, reflecting a tremendous drop of $500.5 million compared to a year-ago period, the Ministry of Commerce's data indicated.

The mineral exports hit 853.13 million in the corresponding period of last FY.

The coronavirus impacts led to the slump in mineral exports this FY. The heightened COVID-19 measures also shut down the events like gem emporium and expo, a trader said.

So far, excavation of over 1,250 mining blocks has been permitted on a manageable, small, medium, and large scale, according to the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environmental Conservation.

Due to the limited extraction of natural resources, exports of forest products and minerals had dropped significantly in the previous years. Permits for mining blocks were suspended in 2016. However, after two years, Myanmar's mining sector has now been opened to local and foreign investors, according to the ministry.

Within two years of implementing the Myanmar Mines Law, the Mines Department has approved more than 140 out of 3,000 proposed mining blocks. Many more blocks are to be granted the permit.

At present, evaluation teams in Kachin, Kayah, Shan, and Kayin states and Sagaing, Taninthayi, and Magway regions are screening mining applications, based on the opinions of the respective departments and the state/regional governments.

The Myanmar Mines Law was enacted on 24 December 2015. However, the law came into force when the rules were issued on 13 February 2018.

The ministry undertakes the screening process of the proposals for medium and large-scale mining blocks. As per the regulatory changes in 2018, regional and state governments are given the power to process applications for artisanal and small-scale mining blocks.

Under the new regulations, foreign firms can invest in large blocks covering up to 500,000 acres (about 202,000 hectares). In contrast, local firms can invest in all kinds of blocks. Investors can seek a permit to mine for minerals such as gold, copper, lead and tin. The licences cover prospecting, exploration, and production.

Myanmar's mineral exports have shown a marked increase in the previous FY2019-2020, touching $1.87 billion, an increase of $405.48 million compared with the year-ago period, according to data from the Ministry of Commerce.

In the FY2018-2019, mineral exports were pegged at just $1.465 billion.

Myanmar's mineral products constitute 10 per cent of overall exports. About 80 per cent of mineral products are shipped to external markets through sea trade. At the same time, 20 of them are sent to neighbouring countries through border trade channels. — Ko Htet

Manwain border checkpoint suspended for 3 hours as 50 Chinese drivers block entrance

By Nyein Nyein

MANWAIN land border trade post, the entrance of China-Myanmar cargo trucks, was suspended for three hours on 26 January as 50 Chinese truck drivers blocked the entrance, not allowing the entry into and exit out of Myanmar truck drivers, said U Min Thein, the vice-chairman of Muse Rice Depot.

On 26 January, at around 8:30 am, about 50 Chinese truck drivers from China, Kyalgaung trucks and small vehicles association obstructed the Manwain checkpoint that did not allow the Myanmar truck drivers from Kyalgaung side to re-enter Myanmar side.

So, the Myanmar cargo trucks could not enter China through the Manwain checkpoint. The Myanmar cargo trucks from China could not return to the Myanmar side.

Therefore, the Manwain checkpoint was totally suspended that morning. The bilateral trade between China and Myanmar has also stopped for many hours.

For that reason, the Muse Rice Depot inducing the traders requested the two countries' authorities to resolve the Manwain checkpoint blockade as soon as possible.

With the authorities' coordination in both countries, the Chinese truck drivers were removed at 11:30 am (MST) on 26 January. The trucks are entering to return to both sides, as usual, he added.

Further, although Chinese cargo trucks are allowed to enter Myanmar side only with the permission letter from the border trade authorities, the Chinese cargo trucks are entering Myanmar side without having any official letter whatsoever, said U Min Thein.

UNPRECEDENTED MOVE

ANA to offer up to 2-year sabbatical leave

ALL Nippon Airways Co. will introduce in April a sabbatical leave that will allow its employees to pursue personal interests such as studying for up to two years, company officials said Tuesday, as travel demand plunges amid the coronavirus pandemic. The airline's move, unprecedented in Japan in terms of length of the leave, comes as ANA tries to curb labour costs, having furloughed many cabin crew members due to the virus spread. Around 15,000 ANA pilots, and cabin and ground staff will be eligible for the new sabbatical system to pursue goals that necessitate long-term planning such as studying abroad, obtaining qualifications and working temporarily at other companies, they said.

ON THE RISE

Hyundai Motor's Q4 net profit jumps

SOUTH Korean automaker Hyundai Motor defied the coronavirus pandemic to post a surprise 78 per cent surge in fourth-quarter profits Tuesday, as robust domestic sales offset weak overseas demand.

Net profit in the October-December period jumped to 1.38 trillion won ($1.24 billion) from 772 billion won a year earlier, Hyundai, which along with its affiliate Kia is among the world's top 10 automakers, said in a statement.

Domestic sales in the final three months rose five percent, driven by its luxury Genesis line, while foreign sales dropped by 6.6 per cent, the company said.

"Robust sales of SUV models and Genesis luxury models as well as declining incentives helped lift revenue in the fourth quarter despite an adverse economic environment," it said.

Full-year profits came to 2.12 trillion won, down 33.5 per cent from 2019, demonstrating the financial toll the pandemic has taken on global carmakers.

GM, Toyota and Fiat Chrysler all reported double-digit declines in US sales last year.

And total US auto sales for 2020 are projected to drop 15.3 per cent to 14.4 million, making it the worst year for the industry since at least 2012, according to a December forecast from Cox Automotive.

Going into 2021, Hyundai said it will focus on "future business strategies" by producing electric and hydrogen-powered vehicles and aim for an up to 15 per cent increase in revenue.

TURMOIL IN RULING COALITION

Italy PM quits and seeks new government as pandemic rages

PRIME Minister Giuseppe Conte resigned Tuesday in the hope of forming a new government after weeks of turmoil in his ruling coalition, leaving Italy rudderless as it battles the deadly coronavirus pandemic.

The uneasy coalition that has led Italy since September 2019 was fatally weakened earlier this month by the withdrawal of former premier Matteo Renzi's small but crucial Italia Viva party.

Ahead of a key vote in parliament this week that he looked set to lose, Conte's office announced he would step down Tuesday, in what supporters said was a move to form a new government.

He gathered his cabinet around 9.30 am, ahead of a visit to President Sergio Mattarella, the ultimate arbiter of Italian political crises, to seek a new mandate.

Mattarella will then open discussions with party leaders on a way forward, likely on Wednesday and Thursday - leaving a vacuum at the top of the eurozone's third-largest economy at a crucial time.

Italy was the first European country to face the full force of the COV-ID-19 pandemic and has since suffered badly, with the economy plunged into recession and deaths still rising by around 400 a day.

Parts of the country remain under partial lockdown, the vaccination programme has slowed and a deadline is looming to agree plans to spend billions of euros in European Union recovery funds.

FARM PROTESTS

Protesting farmers battle police after storming Indian capital

THOUSANDS of Indian farmers battled police across New Delhi Tuesday as they took protests against agriculture reform into the capital during a giant Republic Day military parade.

Police laid on one of their biggest security operations in years in a bid to keep protesters away from Prime Minister Narendra Modi as he oversaw a parade full of pomp.

Police manned barricades at intersections around the centre of the city, while soldiers with machine guns patrolled metro trains.

But after barging through barricades on the city's main arteries, convoys of farmers on tractors sped wildly around city roads, forcing police and bystanders to leap for safety.

At the 400-year-old Red Fort, protesters raised the emblem of their movement on flagpole where India's tricolour normally flies.

Hundreds also gathered outside the Delhi police headquarters and fought with officers.

Across the city, security forces fired tear gas and staged baton charges, but the protesters laid into police with their own weapons -- and hijacked buses that had been used to block their convoys.

Two months of protests against agricultural laws that deregulated produce markets have turned into the biggest challenge faced by Modi's Hindu nationalist government since it came to power six years ago.

The government had opposed the rally saying it would be a "national embarrassment" at a time when it should be celebrating Republic Day.

US Senate confirms Yellen as first female Treasury secretary

THE US Senate on Monday confirmed Janet Yellen as the first woman to lead the Treasury Department, giving her a key role in Congress negotiations over a huge Covid-19 economic relief package.

Yellen is not new to the role of trailblazer, as she also was the first woman to lead the Federal Reserve, from 2014 to 2018, and previously the White House Council of Economic Advisors. Her immediate job in the first weeks of the new administration will be to help win Congress approval for President Joe Biden's $1.9 trillion rescue package to secure US economic recovery from the Covid-19 crisis.

Measures to help implement 2019 Trademark Law

By Dr Moe Moe Thwe
TRANSLATED BY HTUT
HTUT (TWANTAY)

MYANMAR has been working with the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) since 1997 for ensuring the implementation of a new system of intellectual property right, which is capable of meeting international criteria. Myanmar became the 176th member country of WIPO in 2001. The Ministry of Science and Technology previously formed under the Ministry of Education is an organization that made the collaborative effort with the Office of Union Attorney-General to ensure provisions of intellectual property rights meeting international criteria are enacted. With regard to the amendment and the enactment of copyrights, patent rights, industrial design rights and trademark rights, local intellectual property right experts and legal compilers met to discuss legal subject matters for several times.

The intellectual property bills were submitted to the parliament in 2014 and trademark law and industrial design law could be amended following the discussions with the bill committee at Pyithu Hluttaw in 2015. The IP bills were re-submitted to the parliament in 2016 during which discussions were held with the bill committee at Amyotha Hluttaw and Pyithu Hluttaw. The suggestions of relevant ministries, legal experts and the people were taken into consideration when the bills were drafted. Pyidaungsu Hluttaw managed to enact the laws of copyrights, patent rights, industrial design rights and trademark rights in 2019.

In an attempt to implement the already-enacted IP laws, one law after another would be applied. In doing so, the difficulties would be able to be reduced and enough time could be acquired to fulfil the need of human resources and carry out the amendments, thereby overcoming the technical barrier that can face in electronic registration (E-registration).

Trademark Law

Of the four IP laws, the Trademark Law was aimed for the implementation first. Myanmar Trademark Law was signed into law by the president on 30 January in 2019 in accord with the Law No 3 of Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. The responsible ministry for the implementation of the Trademark Law is the Ministry of Commerce. The Central Committee of Intellectual Property Rights, the Intellectual Property Rights Agency and the Department of Intellectual Property Rights had to be formed under this Trademark Law. Under the Notification No 18/2020 issued by the Union Government on 6 March in 2020, the Central Committee of Intellectual Property Rights was formed with Chair (Vice-President-2), Vice-Chair (Union Minister for Commerce), and Secretary (Deputy Minister for Commerce) and four experts on intellectual property rights and members of relevant ministries totalling 31. The first meeting of the Central Committee of Intellectual Property Rights was held on 3 June in 2020 during which future tasks could be approved for ensuring the implementation of the IP laws. The Department of Intellectual Property Rights prepared for rules and regulations as well as duties necessary for the formation of the Intellectual Property Rights Agency.

The rules of the by-law, application form, registration fee and trademark inspection and guidance on applicants of intellectual property right are in preparation. The employees who inspect electronic registration through IT systems, website and trademark right applications must be given educative training. The information about intellectual property rights must be distributed to the public. Internal and external IP organizations must work together under the guidance of the Ministry of Commerce.

Myanmar doesn't currently have a special system for inspecting trademark registration. According to the term of 'first come first served', the system of 'First to Use' is operational in the market. The trademark owners can register their trademarks in accord with Registration of Deed Law at the Settlement and Land Records Department. The applications have to be submitted according to the procedures, but no trademark is inspected. The trademark owner has to announce the trademark caution in the daily newspaper, inviting any objection to the trademark along with the specific time frame. If there is no objection, the registered trademark can be officially used for a product or a service. To do so can be regarded as a proof that means the owner of the registered trademark. If there is a trademark dispute, it can be used as evidence.

The Trademark Law 2019 was drafted based on basic norms described in the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights TRIPS. This law offers a chance to the person who first applies, which means the First-to-File system. It is, therefore, necessary for the owner of the trademark to register the trademark at the earliest. Anyone can apply for the registration of a trademark at the Department of Intellectual Property Rights under the Ministry of Commerce if trademark rights are wanted, whatever trademark old or new is registered.

Trademark registration

The trademark owners will have to strive for the First-to-File system to be able to quickly apply for trademark registration on the first day when application forms start to accept. A number of trademarks applied for official registration at the Department of Settlement and Land Records are almost 200,000, more than half of them are expected to be re-applied for registration. The trademarks without registration that are being used in the market are many. Therefore, the trademarks without registration being used in the market should apply for an official registration so that they will be able to compete in the future market.

Many applications can be received on a date for acceptance of applications. Information technology is required in order to accept a large number of applications within a single day. IT systems such as Industrial Property Automation Software (IPAS) and WIPO File will be used. The WIPO will provide IPAS software and technical assistance. In addition to the assistance by the government, server, computer and related parts are being installed with the help of the USAID and the JICA.

IPAS software is a system providing members of WIPO, and it is operational in ASEAN member countries such as Cambodia, Laos, Viet Nam, Indonesia, the Philippines and Brunei. This system helps to carry out the submission of the application of trademark registration, inspection, feedback response and release of the registration document. IPAS software to be used for Myanmar's registration is based on trademark registration processes. The use of IPAS software helps the submission and inspection of intellectual property right registration, and it can also keep and release the information in a systematic manner.

Application for marks

Mark means any visible mark, which includes names, letters, numbers, illustrated parts, or combinations of colours, or one such mark combined with another, in order to distinguish a particular good or service from other goods or services. It includes trademark, service mark, collective mark and certification mark. The mark that can be seen on the product is the trademark, for example, Fame. Some marks can be seen in the services, and they are called a service mark, for example, KBZ bank. Some marks are collective ones, for example, UMFCCI. Some are certification marks, meaning that they show the quality and reputation of the goods or the service of the mark, for example, organic product.

Intellectual property right application can be made in person or by a representative. Trademark can be applied by filling up the application form. Trademark can also be applied being attached with the recommendation letter of the representative. The application can be stated either in Myanmar or in English. The information must be complete with fixing the filing date, and the data filled up the application form must be true. The date on which the Department has received a complete application is deemed as the date of submission of the application for registration. The Department of Intellectual Property will send the inform letter to the IPR applicants if incomplete application forms are found. In connection with the incomplete application forms, the applicants have to make amendments to the application within 30 days from the date on which the inform letter is received. If not so as per instruction, it will be regarded as disqualified application.

Article 16 and 17 contained in Chapter 8 of Trademark Law states any requirement to acquire the filing date and enjoy the rights of the registered mark.

The applicant for the registration of a mark may write the registration application in Myanmar or English, must translate the Myanmar language application into English or vice versa if the Registrar requests so, and must write a statement that the translation under subsection (b) is true and correct and sign it. The applicant for the registration of a mark shall include the following in the application: (1) an application for registration; (2) name and address of the person or legally formed organization applying for registration; (3) name, citizenship scrutiny card number, and address of the agent or representative if the applicant entrusts an agent or representative with this matter; (4) a clear and complete description of the mark.

It is very important to be a complete application form because the date on which the application form is submitted will be regarded as the filing date. If the registration of a mark is submitted to the Office of Registration of Deeds, the documents related to the registration will be required for submission. The right of priority is stated in Chapter 10 of the Trademark Law. If the right of priority is demanded, it is required to submit the registration of a mark attached with the strong documents.

With regard to the right of priority of registration of a mark in accord with the article 19 (a) and 20, if the number of applicants who submit the registration of similar marks is more than one person, only the first applicant who has submitted an application that meets stipulations to register his mark must be prioritized. If more applicants request the registration of identical or similar marks on the same date, or if the right of priority dates is the same, this matter will be negotiated among the applicants. Only the approved applicant will get the right of registering a mark. If the applicants do not reach the agreement, they must follow the decision of the registrar using the prescribed method.

Italy govt legislates to avoid Olympic Games ban

ROME — Italy's government on Tuesday pushed through a decree guaranteeing the independence of the national Olympic Committee (CONI) to offset the threat of a ban from the Olympic Games.

The International Olympic Committee's (IOC) Executive Committee meets in Lausanne on Wednesday with Italy facing sanctions for not respecting national sporting body CONI's independence.

"The Council of Ministers has approved the decree which guarantees the autonomy of CONI," sports minister Vincenzo Spadafora announced.

"Now the last word is up to the Parliament to make it law."

The emergency decree was approved shortly before the resignation of Prime Minister Giuseppe Conte.

Global governing body the IOC, which warned Rome in the summer of 2019 of the risks of government interference in the management of CONI, puts great emphasis on the independence of national Olympic committees, a key element of its Olympic Charter.

The origin of the dispute dates back to the end of 2018 when the agency managing the employees and resources, in particular financial, of CONI was put under the direct control of the national government.

It had previously been managed directly by the IOC.—AFP ■

Nadal takes veiled swipe at Djokovic over quarantine complaints

MELBOURNE — Rafael Nadal has taken an apparent swipe at Novak Djokovic over his requests for quarantined players preparing for the Australian Open, saying not everyone felt the need to "advertise" how they were trying to help.

The Serbian world number one issued a list of suggestions to Tennis Australia last week on behalf of 72 players unable to leave their Melbourne hotel rooms after Covid-19 cases were detected on their planes to Australia.

They reportedly included moving players into private homes with tennis courts and getting them better meals.

But his requests fell on deaf ears, while Australian media portrayed players as petulant and selfish and fellow star Nick Kyrgios called Djokovic a "tool".

Djokovic later issued an open letter to say his "good intentions for my fellow competitors in Melbourne have been misconstrued".

"We all try to help each other," Spanish great Nadal told ESPN Tuesday from Adelaide, where he and Djokovic are quarantining ahead of the year's opening Grand Slam in Melbourne on February 8.

While most players are undergoing a mandatory 14 days of quarantine in Melbourne, Nadal, Djokovic and other superstars of the game including Serena Williams and Naomi Osaka jetted into Adelaide, where they are due to play an exhibition on Friday.—AFP ■

Tokyo seeks 10,000 medical staff for Olympics despite virus surge

TOKYO — Japan's government said Tuesday it still planned to recruit 10,000 medical personnel for the virus-delayed Olympics, despite the heavy strain on the healthcare system caused by a third wave of infections.

Opposition politicians grilled the government over the plans in parliament, as medical associations raised the alarm about dwindling capacity.

Japan's government and Olympic officials have insisted the Games will open as scheduled this July, despite rising infections at home and abroad, and sinking domestic support.

And in parliament on Tuesday, Olympic Minister Seiko Hashimoto said the government was still committed to a plan to secure thousands of medical staff for the Games.

"We are trying to secure necessary medical staff of around 10,000, on the premise of asking doctors and nurses that each of them work about five days during the Games period," she said.

Games organizers are still discussing the exact medical provisions needed and how to "deal with Covid-19 infections" at the delayed event, she told parliament.

Just six months before the huge international event is due to begin, Tokyo and other areas are under a state of emergency to tackle a record spike in Covid-19 cases.

Japan has been hit less hard than many other countries, with about 5,000 virus deaths overall, but doctors have warned medical facilities are at risk of collapse — especially if the Olympics triggers fresh outbreaks.—AFP ■

Bale gets a boost with rare praise from Mourinho

LONDON — Gareth Bale's goalscoring performance was labelled as "good" by Tottenham Hotspur manager Jose Mourinho after the Premier League club came from behind to beat Championship side Wycombe 3-1 in their FA Cup fourth round tie.

Mourinho's assessment will boost the spirits of the 31-year-old Wales star, who has had an underwhelming second spell at Spurs since coming on a season long loan from Real Madrid.

He has been hampered by fitness issues, and mostly been confined to Europa League games, playing just 45 minutes of Premier League football since early November.

Mourinho, though played him for the full 90 minutes of the Wycombe game, and Bale showed his rustiness in front of goal by spurning several chances after he had drawn the sides
