3,689 new cases of COVID-19 reported on

MYANMAR'S COVID-19 positive cases rose to 306,354 after 3,689 new cases were reported on 2 August 2021 according to the Ministry of Health. Among these confirmed cases, 217,142 have been discharged from hospitals. Death toll reached 10,061 after 330 died. —MNA

We need to carry out prevention measures with consciousness and mindfulness

THE COVID-19 disease prevention, control and treatment activities are undertaken from the central level as well as in the respective states and regions while the rate of infection is found to be four to eight times faster with two to three variants at present. He added the need to release daily information on the actual disease control and treatment activities to reduce the public concerns.

(Excerpt from the speech of Chairman of the State Administration Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing at the coordination meeting on the prevention, control and treatment of COVID-19 on 24-7-2021)

We need to vaccinate five million of population per month: Senior General the period from the start to the second week of July, the infection rate of the disease was still high. Now, the infection rate is declining to some 30 per cent. I have noted at the meeting that all should not be satisfied with the decline of the infection rate. We need to strive for more declining numbers of the infection rate. For the first point, it is necessary to control the travelling. And, the second will be the rapid injection of the vaccines. I have noted it. As we restrict the travelling, the infection rate was indicated with the remarkably declining numbers. It is based on public cooperation. I want to see the double-declining of the infection rate in August. We need to strive for declining the double infection rate in August. But, it is difficult to totally decline the rate. Medical professionals from the international community accepted the disease cannot be clearly faded out from the world. However, the double infection rate would decline in Myanmar through utmost efforts and cooperation.”

The Senior General continued to say that efforts are being made not only to import the vaccines but also to manufacture the vaccines in the country. Other countries conduct their traditional medicines on tests for use as the COVID-19 vaccines. So, Myanmar needs to research the vaccine with the use of medicinal plants. As such, it is necessary to cooperate with Myanmar traditional medicine practitioners for conducting systematic researches in the long run.

The Senior General said that it is necessary to control the rising of prices for basic foodstuffs although restricted transportation and job opportunities cause hiking of some commodity prices. The disease control measures are being broadcast on TV and radio. Raising health awareness for the disease should be performed in the wards and tion, control and treatment by ASEAN countries, friend countries, UN agencies and social organizations, import of prevention, control and treatment equipment through airlines, border regions, ports and border gates, inflow of oxygen from foreign countries to Yan and Mandalay regions, vaccinations at all prisons, running of aviation, waterway, rail transport and road transport as usual, production and dis-for ensuring the continuous availability of vaccines. If necessary, the State will arrange the loan for the purchase of vaccines and researching the production of the vaccines. Rapid action must be taken against those who spread the rumours which may be harmful to the health and basic needs of the people. If necessary, Tatmadaw vehicles can be used for the safe transport of foreign returnee Myanmar citizens to their native lands.

In his concluding remarks, the Senior General said: “Primarily, it is necessary to correctly and rapidly vaccinate the people. As we set an aim to vaccinate 50 per cent of the total population at the end of this year, we need to vaccinate five million of the population per month. Now, vaccines are enough for five million people per month. But, it is necessary to calculate the amounts of vaccines to be given to the people in the coming months. We have three sources to get the vaccines. We need to sign the contracts with a sure source. We have enough funds for such a project. So, the Union Minister for Health must carefully calculate the plan and coordinate with the Vice-Chairman. We need to seek the vaccines. But, we must pour out the efforts for the work process.”

The Senior General stressed the need to contact the countries which can continuously supply vaccines to Myanmar. Among ASEAN countries, Myanmar stands fifth in infection rate and third in death rate. It shows the weakness in the health sector of the country as well as lesser health awareness of the people. Myanmar’s life expectancy is 67.78 years, which is the lowest among the ASEAN countries. Hence, it is necessary to raise the health condition of the country with farsightedness. Officials need to manage the prices of foodstuffs across the nation while encouraging the farmers to grow crops on all sown acreage. Only when people consume nutritious foods, will they have high immunity to contribute to good health conditions.

As most of the deaths are based on damages to the lung triggered by COVID-19, those suffering from lung, heart and diabetes may face death. Hence, health awareness should be raised for people not to use cigarettes.

Local pharmaceutical factories need to manufacture a sufficient volume of necessary household medicines so as to ease the frets of the people. Officials need to supervise the pharmaceutical factories not to face a shortage of raw materials for production. The State will assist with monetary affairs for the production of vaccines for the prevention, control and treatment of COVID-19. Necessary bank loans will be arranged for the recovery of businesses based on the outbreak of COVID-19.

As the use of oxygen is with the purpose of hospitals and factories, users need to abide by the instruction of health officials. Officials were urged to closely supervise the security of villages and wards, and submit necessary measures to the superior in time. —MNA villages in the evening and early morning for controlling the infection of the disease to some extent.

The Vice-Chairman of the State Administration Council Deputy Prime Minister and meeting participants discussed control of the infection rate from the third week of July with declining of the infection rate, vaccination for more than 100,000 people on 1 August alone, plans to vaccinate more than 50 per cent of the population at the end of this year, donations of COVID-19 aid for preventribution of oxygen from public hospitals, military hospitals, State-owned and private factories, declining of date rate based on COVID-19 and other diseases in regions and states, production of basic household medicines from State-owned, Tatmadaw and private companies, submission of the vaccinated lists to the central committee, daily acceptance of Myanmar citizens at land border posts and arrangements for them to return home.

Avoid encouragement to sabotage media

Nowadays, politics is not important but health, life and property of the people and social affairs are of importance. Hence, everybody needs to avoid spreading information harmful to the above-mentioned measures.

In today's situation, some persons emphasize taking political gain, followed by some persons with misunderstanding who share fake news and fabricated news. In fact, they commit unforgettable acts against society.

American author Mark Twain said, "a lie travel halfway around the world while the truth is still putting on its shoes". Like his speech, fake news, rumours and fabricated information faster spread across the world as well as the society before the emergence of true news. As such, the people misunderstand the realities. Sometimes, powerful countries, as well as organizations, unexpectedly consider their plans based on fake news and rumours. Lies faster spread than the reality. It proved the 1988 event and the incidents in the western gate of Rakhine State. Media, especially foreign-based media is responsible for these events. Now, local media also need to take responsibility for these events. They steadfastly follow the policies of sponsors without abiding by media ethics. As such, they became unlawful media due to breaching the existing laws. Although the media which broke the laws and ethics do not have the right to legally take information measures in the country, they form a far distance from the country are now committing destructive acts against the country. Local informers send information to these illegal media with foreign aid, and some of the informers with selfishness do not consider the interests of the State. Since the start of democratization, the news and media industries have been achieving progress. Within a decade, online and broadcast media, as well as print media, are favourites among the people. In this regard, some politicians take political gain over social media from online media. They spark fake news, rumours and fabricated news. The independent new media industry of Myanmar turn coated their concepts and acts during the political changes in 2020. As the foreign aided social media poisons the country, it is designed for lack of platform for reality. Nowadays, the media's unlawful behaviours at home are more strongly than the power of destructive weapons. As such, if the local-based media encourages the destructive media, they will be sabotage media.

Families reunited as travel rules eased in UK

FAMILIES wept as they were reunited at London's Heathrow Airport on Monday, with fully vaccinated passengers arriving in England from the US and EU no longer required to quarantine.

Tight controls on foreign travel have been in place in Britain for over a year, leaving families separated during the coronavirus pandemic.

But restrictions in England and Scotland eased on Monday, leading to emotional scenes at Heathrow, Britain's busiest hub.

"We're feeling very excited, almost overexcited," said Michael Blake, 71, as he waited with wife Sue to see their son Eliot and 8-year-old grandson for the first time in 18 months.

"It's been such a big chunk of (our grandson's) life that he hasn't seen any grandparents," Sue told AFP, as she waited for the 6:20 am (0520 GMT) flight from New York.

On sight of her son, Sue ducked under the barrier at arrivals and embraced her grandson, wiping tears from her eyes.

Her family were one of the first to take advantage of the new policy, which came into force in England and Scotland from 4:00 am.

Under the new rules, people fully jabbed with a vaccine approved by the US Food and Drug Administration or the European Medicines Agency can travel from any country on the British government's "amber" traffic light list without having to self-isolate at home for 10 days.

They still need to do a pre-departure test and take another test on day two after arriving.

'Disaster' warning

Separate rules will continue to apply for those arriving from France due to the government's concern over the "persistent presence" of the Beta variant, which is believed to be more resistant to vaccines.

Those who are not fully vaccinated will still have to quarantine on arrival.

the Delta variant, although case numbers appear to be stabilizing, while its vaccine drive has seen more than 70 per cent of adults fully jabbed.

While England and Scotland have loosened their quarantine requirements, the previous rules still apply in Wales and Northern Ireland.

Embattled airline bosses called the rule changes a positive step but said industry recovery efforts were being hampered by continued international restrictions.

Heathrow Airport chief executive John Holland-Kaye told BBC radio that the industry would not "get back to normal" until the US opens its borders to people travelling from Britain.

Industry leaders also warned the government against introducing another category to its traffic light list, designed to warn travellers of the possibility that countries with rising cases could be put onto the red list at short notice.

"It would be a disaster to bring in an amber watchlist on top of the amber list, the green list, the red list," Paul Charles, chief executive of travel consultancy The PC Agency, told ITV.

"At the moment the system in the UK is choking off recovery, and it's not helping the sector because there's no confidence to book because people are worried about places changing at short notice anyway," he added.

Regional trade tops $6 billion in seven months, reports MoC

Myanmar's exports surpassed imports in international trade, although trade value decreased compared to the same corresponding period of FY2019-2020.

MYANMAR'S import plunge in the past nine months (1 October-9 July) of the 2020-2021 financial year has resulted in a trade surplus of US$363.9 million, according to data provided by the Ministry of Commerce. Myanmar's exports surpassed imports in international trade, although trade value decreased compared to the same corresponding period of FY2019-2020.

Over the past nine months, the country's exports were estimated at $11.98 billion, and imports were valued at $11.6 billion this FY. The external trade drastically plunged to $23.6 billion from $29.2 billion recorded in the year-ago period.

Myanmar's trade gap was $1.47 billion in the year-ago period, according to data provided by the Ministry of Commerce.

Myanmar witnessed a slump in exports and imports triggered by the coronavirus impacts this year. Both sea trade and border trade dropped amid the coronavirus impacts and political changes. The neighbouring countries tightened the border security and restricted trading in certain border areas. For maritime trade, disruption in the logistic sector, spikes in container rates and banking restrictions dragged down the trade. Myanmar exports agricultural products, animal products, minerals, forest products, and finished industrial goods, while it imports capital goods, raw industrial materials, and consumer goods.

The country's export sector relies more on the agricultural and manufacturing sectors. The Ministry of Commerce is trying to reduce the trade deficit by screening luxury import items and boosting exports. The country mainly imports essential goods, construction materials, capital goods, hygienic material and supporting products for export promotion and import substitution.

Myanmar's trade deficit was pegged at $1.3 billion in the 2019-2020FY, $1.14 billion in the 2018-2019 FY, $1.3 billion in the previous mini-budget period (April-September, 2018), $3.9 billion in the 2017-2018FY, $5.3 billion in the 2016-2017FY, and $5.4 billion in the 2015-2016FY, according to statistics released by the Central Statistical Organization. — MM/GNLM

When the online registry was launched in August 2018, 1,816 new companies registered on MyCO. The figure stood at 2,218 in September 2018, 1,671 in October, 1,431 in November and 1,364 in December 2018.

In addition, all registered companies need to file annual returns (AR) on the MyCO registry system within two months of incorporation, and at least once every year (not later than one month after the anniversary of the incorporation), according to Section 97 of Myanmar Companies Law 2017.

According to Section 266 (A) of the Myanmar Companies Law 2017, public companies must submit annual returns and financial statements (G-5) simultaneously.

All overseas corporations must submit ARs in the prescribed format on MyCO within 28 days of the financial year ending, as per Section 53 (A-1) of the Myanmar Companies Law 2017.

As per DICA's report, more than 16,000 companies were suspended as of September-end for failing to submit AR forms within the due date.

Companies can restore their status only after shelling out a fine of K50,000 for AR fee, K100,000 for restoration of the company on the Register, and K100,000 for late filing of documents.

If a company fails to restore its status within six months of suspension, the registrar will strike its name off the register, according to the DICA notice. — NN/GNLM

They all were ordered by Saing Mon and the police arrested him together with Wai Phyo Maung in Hlaing township on 17 July.

According to the words of Saing Mon, they kept the explosives at the flat located in Than Thu Mar Street in Thingangyun Township and the police seized these materials for the safety of people.

The police also arrested Thurain Maung Maung Oo together with the explosive materials in Mayangone Township on 25 July and another two suspects –Tint Lwin and Phyo Wai Tun on 28 July in the same township.

The security forces arrested 28 suspects including Kyaw Zin Tun (aka) Thetta together with homemade bombs, detonators, magazines and other explosive materials.

According to Kyaw Zin Tun (aka) Thetta, he returned from the training with the help of Tun Aung Kyaw (chairman of UNRA) from Japan and he will provide cash assistance to conduct bomb attacks on departmental offices and police stations in Mandalay Region. Pyae Pyae Cho and Wine Tuu Khant arranged to do so and Pyo Wai Hlaing, Htet Aung Yin, Ye Lin Tun and Min Min also planned to plant mine at MEHL bus terminal in Insein, office of commerce and One-Stop Marts and to kill the ward administrator. They gathered the youths and created explosive materials in Yangon after their explosive training. When they gathered the groups, Saing Mon will take cash assistance from the ones living in foreign countries to provide the trainees and buy the homemade bombs to destroy the state stability.

They also organized Special Task Force (STF) with those who completed the explosive training and arranged to kill innocent people and commit bomb attacks at the public areas and government offices. Thurain Maung Maung Oo also exploded the homemade bomb at No (3) Ward of Mayangon Township on 5 May and at the motor vehicle office at Thamine Junction of Mayangone Township on 5 June.

Currently, the security forces accelerate the security measures as the terrorist groups CRPH and NUG urged the youths to make destructive elements and join the explosive training by communicating with Khin Kyaw (UNRA) and ethnic armed groups. Moreover, the people should cooperate with the officials to arrest the suspects to ensure stability and the detained suspects will face legal actions under the law. —MNA

Those who disturb persons serving COVID-19 prevention, control and treatment activities to be prosecuted under Counter-Terrorism Law, other laws

THE government made the necessary preparations before the outbreak of the third wave of COVID-19, and the dutiful health workers, social welfare organizations and Tatmadaw medics provided medical services to the positive and suspected patients during the outbreak.

Moreover, it also promoted the oxygen production rate of state-owned and private factories and imported the oxygen to meet the country's oxygen needs.

Although the terrorist groups and their supporters attempted to stop the COVID-19 prevention, control and treatment activities ignoring the efforts of the government, the government tried to ensure the vaccines, medicines and medical supplies for the health of the public despite the difficulties. Terrorist groups such as NUG and CRPH resorted to various forms of propaganda to mislead the public with false information and also committed acts of terrorism that threaten lives.

The bomb attack occurred at Nam-siaung COVID-19 inspection checkpoint between milepost 286 and 287 on Shwe-bo-Myitkyina road of Mohnyin Township in Kachin State on 27 July, attacks on the people who donated the masks at Myoma Zay of Myitnge in Amarapura Township of Mandalay Region on 14 July and another bomb attack at No (1) Ward Administrator Office of Mayangone Township of Yangon Region also occurred on 1 August.

One woman was killed and six men and a woman were injured in the violence. These attacks raised the concern of the public in vaccination and control activities.

It found that the terrorist groups NUG, CRPH and their supporters, extremists supported and committed these doings.

The security forces are investigating to arrest the terrorists as quickly as possible and the officials will take severe exemplary actions against the suspects.

Asian markets mostly up but China, Delta fears temper optimism

ASIAN markets mostly rose Monday but investor optimism over the global recovery was being kept in check by worries over the spread of the Delta Covid variant as well as China's regulatory crackdown.

Signs that US lawmakers were edging towards agreement on Joe Biden's $1 trillion infrastructure bill were unable to provide much of a boost, while eyes are on the release of US jobs data at the end of the week as firms struggle to fill positions despite unemployment remaining high.

In the latest sign that the global outlook is upbeat, figures last week showed the US economy had returned to its pre-pandemic level -- though at a slower pace than expected -- while the eurozone expanded at a much better rate than forecast.

However, observers said the rally that world markets have enjoyed for much of the past year was sputtering as investors grow increasingly concerned about spiking inflation that many have warned could force central banks to taper their ultra-loose monetary policies.

Added to that is the slow vaccination programmes in some countries and rapid spread of the Delta variant that has led to the reimposition of lockdowns and other containment measures.

In early trade, Tokyo, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Sydney, Seoul, Wellington, Taipei and Manila rose but Singapore and Jakarta fell.

"Shares remain at risk of a short-term correction or volatility as coronavirus cases rise globally, the inflation scare continues and as we come into seasonally weaker months, but surging company profits in the US and lower bond yields are providing support," said Shane Oliver at AMP Capital.

Nervous traders are keeping tabs on China after authorities last week embarked on a crackdown on the country's private tuition firms as well as the tech and property sectors. The moves raised concern that other industries could be next, despite officials and state media trying to calm markets in the face of a rout. — AFP ■

Toyota launches new Land Cruiser with beefed-up car security

TOYOTA Motor Corp. on Monday launched a new Land Cruiser sport utility vehicle, fully redesigning the popular vehicle for the first time in 14 years to achieve improved car security and a better driving experience under bad road conditions.

Toyota has installed a fingerprint identification system for the first time for any of its vehicles as part of its measures to prevent car theft, with earlier models of the Land Cruiser particularly targeted by thieves as it attracts high prices as a secondhand car.

The fingerprint authentication system for operating the car works when the driver steps on the brakes and touches a sensor near the steering wheel.

The engine does not start unless the driver's fingerprint matches one of those preregistered, according to the automaker.

The new Land Cruiser, with either a gasoline or diesel engine, carries a suggested retail price tag of 5.1 million yen ($46,500). With demand high already, the delivery time for purchases made now is expected to be at least a year, Toyota said. — Kyodo News ■

Death toll in central China floods rises to 302, dozens still missing

THE death toll from floods in central China last month is at least 302 with dozens of people still missing, officials said Monday, after record downpours dumped a year's worth of rain on a city in just three days.

Zhengzhou, the capital of Henan province and the epicentre of the record flooding, was hardest hit with 292 people dead and 47 missing, the local government said at a press briefing.

Residents were trapped in subway carriages, underground car parks, and tunnels.

Images of passengers inundated by shoulder-height water went viral on Chinese social media on Line 5 of the city subway where 14 people died, while dozens of cars in a tunnel were tossed aside by the deluge, many with passengers still inside.

Scores were killed in Zhengzhou due to floods and mudslides, mayor Hou Hong told reporters while updating the overall toll.

She added that 39 bodies were recovered from underground car parks and other below-ground spaces. The disaster marked China's deadliest floods in a decade.

Heavy downpours that began July 17 have affected over 14 million people, damaged thousands of homes, and caused economic losses in Zhengzhou estimated at 53 billion yuan ($8.2 billion). The total losses across the province were almost double that amount. — AFP ■

No 'eureka moment': the evolution of climate science

WHAT if Earth's atmosphere was infused with extra carbon dioxide, mused amateur scientist Eunice Foote in an 1856 research paper that concluded the gas was very good at absorbing heat. "An atmosphere of that gas would give to our earth a high temperature," she wrote in the study, published in the American Journal of Science and Arts and then swiftly forgotten.

The American scientist and women's rights activist, who only wrote one more paper, could not have known the full significance of her extraordinary statement, said Alice Bell, author of a recent book on the climate crisis -- "Our Biggest Experiment" -- that features Foote. This was the decade that the United States first began to drill for oil. It is also the baseline period of global temperatures we now use to chart the fossil fuel driven warming of the planet. Foote, whose work was rediscovered in recent years, is now seen as part of a multi-generational exploration, spanning some 200 years, unravelling the mysteries of how the climate works -- and more recently how human activities have tipped it out of balance. "There is no eureka moment with one great genius in climate change science," Bell told AFP.

"Climate science is a story of people over centuries and different disciplines, different countries working together, incrementally learning more and more."

People have believed human activities like deforestation could alter the local climate since at least the ancient Greeks.

But in terms of the global climate, the story of our understanding of what we now call the greenhouse effect, arguably began in the 1820s with French scientist Joseph Fourier. — AFP ■

Millions under virus lockdown as China battles Delta outbreak

MILLIONS of people were confined to their homes in China Monday as the country tried to contain its largest coronavirus outbreak in months with mass testing and travel curbs.

China on Monday reported 55 new locally transmitted coronavirus cases, as an outbreak of the fast-spreading Delta variant reached over 20 cities and more than a dozen provinces.

Local governments in major cities including Beijing have now tested millions of residents, while cordoning off residential compounds and placing close contacts under quarantine.

The central city of Zhuzhou in Hunan province ordered over 1.2 million residents on Monday to stay home under strict lockdown for the next three days as it rolls out a city-wide testing and vaccination campaign, according to an official statement.

"The situation is still grim and complicated," the Zhuzhou government said.

Beijing has previously boasted of its success in bringing domestic cases down to virtually zero after the coronavirus first emerged in Wuhan in late 2019, allowing the economy to rebound. But the latest outbreak, linked to a cluster in Nanjing where nine cleaners at an international airport tested positive on 20 July, is threatening that success with more than 360 domestic cases reported in the past two weeks. In the tourist destination of Zhangjiajie, near Zhuzhou, an outbreak spread last month among theatre patrons who then brought the virus back to their homes around the country.

Zhangjiajie locked down all 1.5 million residents on Friday.

Officials are urgently seeking people who have recently travelled from Nanjing or Zhangjiajie, and have urged tourists not to travel to areas where cases have been found. — AFP ■

NEWS IN BRIEF

Cambodia begins Covid-19 vaccinations for teenagers

CAMBODIA began a roll out of Covid-19 vaccinations for teenagers in its capital Phnom Penh and three provinces Sunday, with Premier Hun Sen's grandchildren among the first to get the jab.

Several countries in Southeast Asia are currently experiencing a deadly Covid-19 resurgence largely driven by the highly contagious Delta variant, which has set back the region's successes last year in curbing pandemic tolls.

While Cambodia appeared to have escaped the brunt of the virus last year, an outbreak first detected in February has steadily driven up the caseload to nearly 78,000.

On Sunday, the kingdom began vaccinating children between the ages of 12 to 17, starting the campaign in its capital Phnom Penh, as well as in the three hardest-hit provinces of Kandal, Koh Kong and Preah Sihanouk. — AFP ■

5.9 magnitude quake strikes off Indonesia's Papua: USGS

A 5.9 magnitude quake struck off the coast of Indonesia's easternmost Papua region Monday, the United States Geological Survey said, but there was no tsunami warning or immediate reports of damage. The quake hit at a relatively shallow depth of 12 kilometres (7.5 miles), about 180 kilometres northeast of Tual city.

Shallow quakes tend to do more damage than deep tremors. Indonesia experiences frequent quakes due to its position on the Pacific "Ring of Fire", an arc of intense seismic activity where tectonic plates collide that stretches from Japan through Southeast Asia and across the Pacific basin.

In January, more than 100 people were killed and thousands left homeless by a 6.2-magnitude quake that struck Sulawesi island, reducing buildings to a tangled mass of twisted metal and chunks of concrete in the seaside city of Mamuju. — AFP ■

Japan expands COVID state of emergency to Osaka, 3 areas near Tokyo

JAPAN expanded Monday a COVID-19 state of emergency covering the capital and Okinawa to include Osaka and three prefectures near Tokyo due to a recent spike in coronavirus cases amid fears of a medical system collapse during the Olympics.

The government of Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga has added Chiba, Kanagawa, Saitama and Osaka prefectures to areas under the emergency through 31 August. The emergency period in Tokyo and Okinawa was also extended to the end of the month from the initially planned 22 Aug.

Establishments serving alcohol or offering karaoke in the six prefectures under the emergency are asked to close during the period, with the government providing money for compliance. Those not serving alcohol are requested to close at 8 pm.

The government is expected to outline how it will ease restrictions as inoculation of the population progresses, but the end of the epidemic is not in sight yet in the country.

The surge in infections comes amid the spread of the virus's highly contagious Delta variant, first detected in India.

On Sunday, the nationwide tally of new infections topped 10,000 for the fourth straight day, with 28.3 per cent of Japan's population of 126 million fully vaccinated against COVID-19 as of Friday. Outside the six prefectures, a quasi-state of emergency, which carries fewer restrictions on business activity than the state of emergency, was imposed Monday on parts of five prefectures — Hokkaido, Ishikawa, Kyoto, Hyogo and Fukuoka — through the end of August. — Kyodo News ■

Olympics: Japan women advance past Nigeria to basketball quarterfinals

Japan's women's basketball team led for all but the first five minutes to beat Group B opponent Nigeria 102-83 in their final pool play game, advancing to the playoffs for the second straight Olympics.

Three players – Saki Hayashi, Yuki Miyazawa and Nako Motohashi – had multiple threes for the world 10th-ranked Japanese, who rained down 19 triples at Saitama Super Arena to finish the group stage with a 2-1 record.

Hayashi led her team in scoring with 23 points, while Miyazawa chipped in 19 and Maki Takada 15. Japan guard Rui Machida matched an Olympic women's single-game assists record with 15 in 20 minutes played.

Machida equaled the record held by the United States' Teresa Edwards, who achieved the feat at the 1996 Atlanta Games, according to FIBA, the sport's governing body.

With starters Hayashi,

Takada, Machida, Moeko Nagaoka and Himawari Akaho taking their positions for the tip-off, Japan made seven of 10 three-point attempts to take an eight-point lead after the first quarter. Japan shot 64 per cent from beyond the arc in the first half. Hayashi scored seven of 11 from the three-point range. Japan built a 27-point advantage heading into the fourth quarter and never looked back. Last week, Japan won its opener against France in a tight 74-70 battle and lost its second game of pool play against the U.S., 86-69.

The quarterfinals are on Wednesday and the semifinals on Friday. The gold medal will be up for grabs on Sunday. — Kyodo News ■

China beat Germany to win Olympic gold in women's team sprint

CHINA edged out Germany to win the first track cycling gold of the Tokyo Olympics in the women's team sprint on Monday after earlier breaking the world record.

China set a new world best of 31.804 sec in the heats and were then too quick for Germany in the final, their 31.895 just ahead of the Germans' 31.980.

The Russian Olympic Committee beat the Netherlands to take bronze. It means China retain their Olympic title after also winning the women's team sprint in Rio, having claimed bronze in London four years earlier.

This is the first time that China have won a third medal in the same track cycling event, with Bao Shanju taking over from Gong Jinjie to partner Zhong Tianshi and clinch the country's 28th gold of the Games.

They had earlier broken their own world record of 31.928, which was set in Rio, with their time in the final against Germany also below that mark in 2016. — AFP ■

Germany break world record to lay down early marker in Olympic cycling

Germany smashed the women's team pursuit world record in the Olympics qualifying competition on Monday, crossing the line in a time of 4min 07.307sec. The German quartet of Franziska Brausse, Lisa Brennauer, Lisa Klein, Mieke Kroeger beat the previous mark of 4:10.236 set by the British women's team at the 2016 Rio Games by nearly three seconds. Britain, led by Laura Kenny, also broke their Rio record with a time of 4:09.022 on what appears to be a lightning fast track at the Izu Velodrome southwest of Tokyo.

But Germany are the early frontrunners in the women's team pursuit, for which their reward will be a duel on Tuesday with Italy. Britain will face the United States, with the two winners of the heats racing for the gold medal. "We knew the world record was going to be broken and we expected it to be the Australians or the Americans, so it was weirdly comforting that it happened when we weren't looking," said Britain's Elinor Barker.

"We're really, really happy. It's unfortunate that Germany were so much faster than the world record, but I think we can be happy with that." — AFP ■
