Watermelon sown acreage drops to 200 in Sagaing Region due to market obstacle

TRADE suspension in border between Myanmar and China led the dropping the sown acreage of watermelon to over 200 in ChaungU Township, Sagaing Region, ChaungU Township Agriculture Department stated.

Earlier, over 10,000 sown acreage of watermelon were yearly found in ChaungU Township.

“The trade closure in Myanmar-China border is a primary reason of the drop in acreage. More than 10,000 watermelon acres were seen in the previous growing season. This year, the sown acreage was reduced significantly to 200,” said Daw Khin Myat Myat Oo, head of ChaungU Township Agriculture Department.

If China gives green light to border market, we can grow them in the current growing season, said a grower from ChaungU Township.

“Those growers who have kept the seeds cultivate the watermelon this year. Those who could not afford to grow watermelon turned to other crops such as grain and chickpea. The watermelon cultivation needs large capital investment. The input costs about K5-6 million per acre. Market uncertainty might cause the growers to suffer loss. Other crops such as chickpeas will not make losses as they can be stockpiled in the warehouse,” said a grower from ChaungU Township.

Watermelon plants are under care in the field of crops in ChaungU Township, Sagaing Region.

The Agriculture Department is making awareness of the reduction of the chemical pesticide and fertilizer usage and encourage the farmers to utilize the natural fertilizer and pesticide, ChaungU Township Agriculture Department stated.

The price of watermelon dropped by a half compared to the corresponding period of last year as China shut down the border in the first week of July due to the COVID surged in Myanmar, said exporters from Muse.

Myanmar’s watermelon is primarily sent to China and the closure of Sino-Myanmar border posts resulted in the price drop amid excess supply.

As a result of this, the fruits such as watermelon and mango are relying on domestic market for now and the traders do not receive a good price. If China extends its closure for a long time, the growers will suffer mounting loss.

This being so, the cross-border fruit depots suggest that the growers harvest the watermelon depending on the market condition to avoid a mismatch between supply and demand. Myanmar yearly exports over 800,000 tonnes of watermelon and about 150,000 tonnes of muskmelons to China, the association stated.—Lu Lay, KK/GNLM

Raw materials import by CMP businesses stand at $179 mln as of 5 November

Female workers are busy in production of CMP products at garment factory.

THE imports of raw materials by CMP (cut-make-pack) businesses edged up to US$179.9 million as of 5 November in the current mini-budget period 2021-2022 (Oct-Mar), which reflects a slight increase of $24.5 million compared with the year-ago period, according to the Ministry of Commerce.

Myanmar’s manufacturing sector is largely concentrated on garment and textiles produced on the Cutting, Making, and Packaging basis, and it contributes to the country’s GDP to a certain extent.

The garment industry faced cancellation of order and slump in output, new orders, coupled with the market manipulation in the forex market. However, the industry is now getting back to normalcy after the COVID-19 vaccination programme. Myanmar mainly exports CMP garments to markets in Japan and Europe, along with the Republic of Korea, China, and the United States of America.

Exports of garments manufactured on the CMP basis touched a low of S$3.6 billion between 1 October and 30 September in the past financial year 2020-2021, according to the data from the Ministry of Commerce.—KK/GNLM

Myanmar rice export income exceeds $700 mln last FY 2020-2021

MYANMAR generated US$700.13 million income from exports of rice and broken rice in the past financial year 2020-2021 (Oct-Sept), according to Myanmar Customs Department.

Border trade disruption triggered by the COVID-19 consequences led to sluggish market and the export price dropped. The prices of white rice varieties range US$310-US$355 per MT depending on the different varieties and quality, according to the Myanmar Rice Federation (MRF).

The export price of Myanmar’s rice was relatively lower than the rates of Thailand and Viet Nam. Yet, the prices were higher than those market prices of India and Pakistan, MRF’s data showed. Myanmar shipped more than 216,375 metric tons of rice and broken rice in October of the current mini-budget period (Oct 2021-Mar 2022), according to Myanmar Customs Department.

China is the main buyer of Myanmar rice, followed by Ivory Coast, the Philippines, Viet Nam and Guinea. Meanwhile, Myanmar exported broken rice primarily to China, followed by the Netherlands, Belgium, Spain and France.—KK/GNLM

Nurture children with children's literature for raising their reading habits

Parents and guardians are responsible for choosing the good literature appropriate for the children to have a wider knowledge and culture the good morale. Since their childhood, children must be nurtured to raise their reading habits. In addition, short stories on heroes and books illustrating satisfaction, happiness and activeness should be read for the children.

Illustrated stories are much attractive to the children for raising their reading habits. In Myanmar tradition, parents retell stories to their offspring in bed. These stories carry basic knowledge on the nature of living beings, animals and objects.

Actually, children see these items on a daily basis. So, these names and items are not strange for them.

When the stories carry the names friendly with them, children are happy and satisfied with their listening to the stories. Then, they are keen to listen to more and more stories and try hard to read the stories they had listened to. So, they would have felt the wonderful satisfaction of reading the literature. Gradually, children would prefer to read the child literature.

As such, adults need to create the environs for children, too. They are responsible to choose the best and appropriate children's literature for the children. Child literature will pave the way for reading to children for their lives.

The children aged between nine and 12 years have little skill of reading. Hence, parents and adults need to choose books on religion, culture, morale and history for the children. Sometimes, the adults should hold literary discussions with children to improve their critical thinking in conformity with their age.

While parents are choosing the best child literature for the offspring, authors need to take care of compiling the children's literature which must give the appropriate knowledge to children. The child literature must carry the stories related to the child level but the adult level. Some children's literature features high ideologies at the adult level. If so, reader children cannot understand the main theme of the books. If they face many books at a similar level, they may be disappointed at reading the literature.

Hence, parents need to carefully nurture their offspring with the nutrition of literature. At the same time, authors are responsible for the creation of genuine children's literature to improve the life of new generations.

Moreover, they brutally murdered the monks who preserve the Buddha Sasana. We, Buddhists always take three treasures – the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha.

Section 361 of the 2008 Constitution states the Union recognizes the special position of Buddhism as the faith professed by the great majority of the citizens of the Union. The country is also standing tall based on the way of life raised by the teachings of the monks and due to the missions of the monks, it is recognized as the most prosperous country in Theravada Buddhism among the Buddhist countries.

Although the country possesses such kinds of good reputation, such devilish PDFs and non-human elements launched arson attacks on pagodas and brutally killed the monk for no reason. Therefore, their doings diminish the dignity of the entire Myanmar people.

Buddha Sasana was first initiated by Suvarnabhumi (Thaton) and propagated thanks to the efforts of King Anawrahta, the first founder of the Bagan Empire. Will we all let devilish PDFs destroy Buddha Sasana professed and preserved by generations? It is a valuable legacy or a kind of heritage our ancestors have handed down to us. In the children's duties, the word successors of the merits do not mean only the properties but also Sasana. All the Myanmar people are responsible to protect the heritage of our ancestors.

In the history of Myanmar, the Sasana faded out due to the foreigners during the enslavement. After gaining independence, the armed revolution of the Burma Communist Party accelerated a civil war. At that time, the numbers of enemies were larger than Tatmadaw.

The BCP threatened the people and brutally killed the people who disagreed with them and informers for the government. They also killed each other under the title of "revolution". Moreover, they also executed arson attacks on the government schools and threatened the lives of teachers and drove the villagers away from the village. As extremists, fathers kill sons and offspring also kill one another. Finally, they planned to remove the gold plates of the Shwedagon Pagoda. Those facts were significant in history. Please read "Naut Sone Nay (The Last Day) written by Thakin Than Tun" and "Zin-Chit Naut Sone Nay." The activities of today's PDF are similar to the wrongdoings of the CPB. They commit the most violent acts. Tatmadaw and people together eliminated the BCP victoriously. There is one difference between BCP and PDF. The BCP has their firm political stance but the PDF doesn't. They dare to do all the things with the support of others. It means there is a bad gang behind them. The PDF use drugs to do the worst terrorist attacks. The terrorist acts of PDF are also similar to the actions of a barking dog to satisfy its masters.

Conclusion

Therefore, we, the public, together with the Government, must fight against the PDF that launches the acts of terrorism under the orders of NUG and CRPH. Neglecting the attacks encourages violence. Participation, prevention, identification and combatting lead to supporting the State stability, State-building and future of the nation. The killings of monks and teachers by the devilish PDFs are also the same as the hunter Sonuttara in the Elephant King Sattan of Myanmar Tale.

Therefore, NUG wants to grab the State Power by force, CRPH orders and devilish PDFs commit acts of terrorism. Thus, the entire people are called for to eliminate them!

Indian gov't says 1.29 bln COVID-19 vaccines distributed to states

THE Indian government has provided 1.29 billion doses of COVID-19 vaccines to states, of which over 216.5 million jabs remain unutilized, officials said on Saturday.

"More than 1.29 billion (1,299,013,890) vaccine doses have been provided to states so far through government of India (free of cost channel) and through direct state procurement category," a statement issued by the Health Ministry said. "More than 216.5 million (216,512,036) balance and unutilized COVID-19 vaccine doses are still available with the states to be administered."

The ministry said the federal government was committed to amplifying India's vaccine coverage and expanding its scope to the far ends of the country.

"In the new phase of the universalization of the COVID-19 vaccination drive, the union (federal) government will procure and supply (free of cost) 75 percent of the vaccines being produced by the vaccine manufacturers in the country to states," the ministry said.

The nationwide COVID-19 vaccination started on Jan. 16 for people above 18 years old.

Japan to decide on relaxation of COVID-19 restrictions on events, eateries

JAPAN will formally decide Friday to remove an existing spectator cap on attendance at large-scale events and relax rules on food establishments, mostly relating to any future COVID-19 state of emergency, local media reported.

According to the new plan approved by a government panel of experts in the morning, full attendance at venues will be allowed under certain conditions even during future emergency measures, requiring having a system in place to check whether visitors have been vaccinated or hold a negative test result for the virus.

"We will take every possible steps to protect the lives and health of people even under the next wave of infections so people can continue to lead safe and secure everyday lives," said economic revitalization minister Daishiro Yamagiwa, in charge of the government's coronavirus response, at the panel's meeting.

Currently, attendance at large-scale events such as professional sports games and concerts has been capped at 5,000 spectators or 50 percent of venue capacity, whichever is larger. However, such limits would be lifted if event organizers could both check vaccination and test results as well as submit to prefectural governments their own anti-virus plans. The new rules will possibly be implemented from late November. The move is made as Japan has seen a sharp decline in new COVID-19 infections and serious cases, and over 75 percent of the country's population have been fully vaccinated. — Xinhua ■

Canada to allow entry of travelers fully vaccinated with Sinopharm, Sinovac, COVAXIN

TRAVELERS who are fully vaccinated with the shots from Sinopharm, Sinovac and COVAXIN will be allowed to enter Canada starting 30 November, the Canadian government announced on Friday.

Currently, Canada only accepts travelers who have received the vaccines including Pfizer, Moderna, AstraZeneca and Johnson & Johnson.

Also starting 30 November, people leaving Canada by land or by air for less than 72 hours will no longer be required to provide proof of a negative molecular test to re-enter the country.

This change applies only to Canadians, permanent residents and individuals registered under the Indian Act, as well as accompanying children under 12, and individuals with medical contraindications to vaccination.

Additionally, starting 15 January, certain groups of travelers who are currently exempt from entry requirements will only be allowed to enter Canada if they are fully vaccinated.

Those groups include individuals travelling to reunite with family, international students, professional and amateur athletes, individuals with a valid work permit and other essential service workers including truck drivers. — Xinhua ■

Nearly seven million Iraqis have received at least one dose of coronavirus vaccine, amounting to 17.5 percent of the country's 40 million population, based on government figures.

Plagued by years of conflict, corruption and neglect, Iraq's health system has struggled to cope with the pandemic. — AFP ■

Australia: Thousands rally against Covid-19 vaccinations

THOUSANDS of protesters decrying Covid-19 vaccinations gathered in cities around Australia Saturday as smaller counter-rallies supporting health measures also marched.

Australia's vaccine program remains voluntary and highly successful, with nearly 85 percent of the population over 16 fully vaccinated and life returning to relative normality for those double-jabbed.

But protesters rallied Saturday across several of Australia's major cities against vaccine mandates, which are not universal and have only been applied to certain occupations by state authorities. — AFP ■

China 5G + Industrial Internet Conference kicks off in Wuhan

THE 2021 China 5G + Industrial Internet Conference, jointly hosted by the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology and the People's Government of Hubei Province, kicked off on Saturday in central China's Wuhan.

Academicians and experts, entrepreneurs and industry association representatives from across the country gathered at the national-level event to discuss the wider integration and innovation of 5G and the industrial internet.

A total of 21 thematic sessions have begun at the conference since Friday. Themes cover applications in industries such as mining, steel, transportation, manufacturing, electric power, integrated innovation in healthcare, education and smart cities, and key technologies such as industrial internet identification, security ecology, blockchain application and industrial intelligence.

There is also an exhibition of "5G + Industrial Internet" achievements. The exhibition area has increased from 5,900 square meters last year to 9,100 square meters this year, and four themed exhibition areas have been established: network and scene, platform, security and industry application. The conference has also set up an interactive area to provide visual, scenario-based, immersive and interactive experiences for non-professional audiences. — Xinhua ■

THE Karot Hydropower Project, a major pilot project under the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), successfully closed the gates of the diversion tunnels on Saturday, starting reservoir impoundment.

Invested by the China Three Gorges Corporation (CTG) with a total of about 1.74 billion US dollars, the Karot hydropower project in Pakistan's eastern Punjab province is the fourth level of the five cascade hydropower stations planned for the Jhelum River.

The beginning of the reservoir impoundment of the first CPEC hydropower investment project is a milestone and will pave the way for the wet testing of the generator units, Wang Yi, Karot hydropower project team leader at the site of the CTG told Xinhua. Since the ground-breaking of the project in April, 2015, the Chinese and Pakistani engineers and workers at the project have jointly overcome different challenges including COVID-19 pandemic, thus a series of achievements have been made such as the river closure and lifting of the first rotor, Wang said. — Xinhua ■

Sri Lanka ends farm chemical ban as organic drive fails

SRI Lanka abandoned its quest to become the world's first completely organic farming nation on Sunday, announcing it would immediately lift an import ban on pesticides and other agricultural inputs.

The island country has been in the grips of a severe economic crisis, with a lack of foreign exchange triggering shortages of food, crude oil and other essential goods.

Authorities had already walked back restrictions on fertiliser imports last month for tea, the country's main export earner.

But ahead of planned farmer protests in the capital, Sri Lanka's agricultural ministry said it would end a broader ban on all agrochemicals including herbicides and pesticides.

"We will now allow chemical inputs that are urgently needed," ministry secretary Udith Jayasinghe told the private News First TV network.

"Considering the need to ensure food security, we have taken this decision."

Vast tracts of farmland were abandoned after the import ban, first introduced in May.

Shortages have worsened in the past week, with prices for rice, vegetables and other market staples having doubled across Sri Lanka.

Supermarkets have also rationed rice sales, allowing only five kilograms (11 pounds) per customer. — AFP ■

Egypt makes Gaza comeback with post-war reconstruction

POSTERS of Egyptian President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi beam out over a site in the war-battered Gaza Strip where labourers and bulldozers are hard at work rebuilding.

After years of retreat, Egypt is making its presence felt again in the neighbouring Palestinian enclave, emerging as a key benefactor in the aftermath of the last bout of fighting between Hamas and Israel in May.

In the weeks following the deadly violence, a number of Egyptian workers crossed the border on a mission to lay down a coastal road in the Gaza's northern city of Beit Lahya.

"The president's instructions are to reconstruct the Gaza Strip. We are about 70 engineers, civil servants, lorry drivers, mechanics and workers," said a worker who preferred not to give his name.

He added that he was "happy to help Palestine".

During the 11-day conflict that erupted between Israel and armed Islamist factions in Gaza last May — the worst since 2014 — Egypt worked behind the scenes to mediate a ceasefire.

Cairo also pledged a $500 million package to reconstruct the enclave which borders Israel and Egypt.

Common interests

Relations between Cairo and Hamas — an offshoot of Egypt's veteran Islamist opposition Muslim Brotherhood group — have been sour, particularly after the 2013 military ouster of late president Mohamed Morsi, also of the Brotherhood. The sight of Egyptian workers rebuilding Gaza as Egypt invests millions in the enclave was "unexpected, unimaginable", Palestinian economist Omar Shaban said.

Thai gov't to deepen collaboration with China's Huawei amid pandemic

THE Thai government intends to further deepen its digital cooperation with Chinese technology company Huawei, senior Thai officials said at a cloud event held in Bangkok this week.

During the Powering Digital Thailand 2022 on 17-19 November, Thai Deputy Prime Minister Prawit Wongsuwan said digital infrastructure, such as 5G, is crucial to Thailand's economic and social development, especially for the country's post-pandemic economic revival.

Badly hit by the COVID-19 pandemic, the tourism-reliant nation registered an economic contraction of 6.1 percent last year, the worst in more than 20 years. However, the pandemic has significantly accelerated the adoption of digital technologies in Thailand, where Chinese tech companies have competitive advantages.

During the pandemic, Huawei used its technology to help local hospitals implement systems for automated medical supply, AI-backed diagnosis and remote treatment, which greatly improved the efficiency of hospitals and made healthcare more accessible.

Fueled by Thailand's digital roadmap, Huawei has focused on helping the country build 20,000 5G stations in the past two years. Currently, Thailand has more than 4.2 million 5G subscribers, leading in 5G adoption among ASEAN (Association of Southeast Asian Nations) countries.

Another strength of Huawei has been its cloud capabilities. Deng Feng, general manager of Huawei Thailand, said Huawei Cloud is the only cloud service provider with local data centers in Thailand, considering that data localization is a key trend of global enterprises due to government regulations as well as security concerns. — Xinhua ■

Billionaire Sawiris wants 'level playing field' for Egypt business

NAGUIB Sawiris—one of Africa's richest men, with an estimated fortune of over $3 billion—has warned that the Egyptian government's involvement in the private sector makes for an unfair playing field.

"Companies that are government-owned or with the military don't pay taxes or customs," Sawiris told AFP from a luxury hotel in the Red Sea resort town of El-Gouna, which his family founded.

"We of course can't do that, so the competition from the beginning is unfair." "The state has to be a regulator, not an owner" of economic activity, said the outspoken 67-year-old, Egypt's second-richest man after his own brother, Nassef.

Since President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi took power in 2014, the former army general has embarked on massive national infrastructure projects, with a new capital in the desert as the centerpiece of his urban vision.

The military's economic reach has grown under his leadership, partnering up with firms such as the Sawiris family's Orascom. The army has played a key though opaque role in Egypt's economy for decades, producing everything from washing machines to pasta as well as building roads and operating gas stations.

These five companies are planning to promote the core projects based on their expertise. — ANI ■

Mexico fights 'plagiarism' with indigenous fashion fair

MEXICO is fighting back against what it calls the plagiarism of indigenous textiles, bringing together traditional artisans and international designers for dialogue aimed at creating a more equitable fashion industry.

Dozens of indigenous weavers and other artisans are gathering this weekend at the Los Pinos former presidential residence in Mexico City for the "Original" fair hosted by the culture ministry.

Alongside an open-air market selling clothes and accessories such as the huipil, a traditional white cotton blouse with finely embroidered patterns, there are fashion parades resembling indigenous pride marches.

The goal is to end what Mexico's leftist government denounces as cultural appropriation of the motifs, embroidery and colors of indigenous communities by foreign fashion houses.

"Plagiarism is not a tribute. Theft is not the fruit of inspiration," Culture Minister Alejandra Frausto said at the fair's inauguration.

She denounced the "modern-day pirates" who "take what they like and label it as any kind of merchandise." — AFP ■

Nearly 1,000 hate crimes against Europe's Christians recorded in 2020

HATE crimes against Christians in Europe rose sharply in 2020, according to newly published data from the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE).

The OSCE data documented 980 incidents against Christians, including arson attacks on Catholic churches, desecration and robbery of Eucharistic hosts, assaults on priests and anti-Catholic graffiti on Church property.

The OSCE previously reported 595 incidents against Christians in 2019. There was a significant increase in the number of attacks against property last year, from 459 in 2019 to 871 in 2020, while the number of violent attacks against people decreased from 80 to 56 in 2020.

Poland had the most hate crimes reported against Christians with 241 incidents in 2020, the majority of which were acts of vandalism against Catholic property.

The OSCE also reported 172 incidents in Germany, 159 in France and 113 in Italy. The Holy See submitted data to the OSCE on more than 150 hate crimes against Christians in Europe.

The number of hate crimes against Christians is likely higher than what is reported in the data, as only 11 of the 57 OSCE states submitted data on hate crimes against Christians.

Madeleine Enzberger, head of the Observatory of Intolerance and Discrimination against Christians (OIDACE) in Vienna, Austria, said that in media and political spheres "hatred of Christians is hardly noticed as an increasingly obvious social problem".

"The OSCE report reflects only part of this trend, which we have been documenting for years, and yet it is a loud wake-up call against indifference and fashionable Christian-bashing," she commented.

China fines tech giants over anti-monopoly violations

CHINESE tech giants including Alibaba Group and Tencent Holdings were fined Saturday for failing to report corporate acquisitions, adding to an anti-monopoly crackdown by the ruling Communist Party.

The companies failed to report 43 acquisitions that occurred up to eight years ago under rules on "operating concentration," according to the State Administration for Market Regulation. Each violation carried a penalty of 500,000 yuan ($80,000), it said.

Beijing has launched anti-monopoly, data security and other crackdowns on tech companies since late 2020. The ruling party worries the companies have too much control over their industries and has warned them not to use their dominance to gouge consumers or block entry to new competitors. Other companies fined in the latest round of penalties include online retailers JD.com Inc. and Suning Ltd. and search engine operator Baidu Inc. The acquisitions dating back to 2013 included network technology, mapping and medical technology assets. The companies "failed to declare illegal implementation of operating concentration," the regulator said on its website. — Xinhua ■

Historic development: Afghanistan's disappearing box cameras

HAJI Mirzaman was just a teenager when he started taking photos using a homemade wooden box camera in his cousin's studio in downtown Kabul.

He took black-and-white portraits of people for passports, identity cards and other documents using his "magic box" on a sidewalk, producing prints in a couple of minutes.

Now in his 70s, he says the instant camera — or "kamra-e-faoree" as it is known in Dari — has survived wars, invasions and a Taliban ban on photography, but is now in danger of disappearing because of digital technology.

"These cameras are retired now," he told AFP at his small house in Kabul as he set up the box on its wooden tripod.

"I am just keeping this last remaining camera."

The box is both camera and darkroom, and to show how it works Mirzaman put photographic paper and developing liquid inside the device in preparation for a shot.

He then briefly removed the lens cover and instantly created a negative. The box is both camera and darkroom.

Reaching inside the box through a light-proof funnel, he processed the negative and then developed a print. — AFP ■

Sudan PM Hamdok to return to lead government after deal: mediators

SUDAN'S General Abdel Fattah al-Burhan and Prime Minister Abdalla Hamdok have reached a deal for his return and the release of civilian leaders detained since a military coup, mediators said Sunday.

Burhan on 25 October declared a state of emergency and ousted the government in a move that upended a two-year transition to civilian rule, drew international condemnation and punitive measures, and provoked large protests.

"A political agreement has been reached between General Burhan, Abdalla Hamdok, political forces and civil society organisations for Hamdok's return to his position, and the release of political detainees," senior Sudanese mediator Fadlallah Burma, acting head of the Umma party, told AFP. A group Sudanese mediators — including academics, journalists and politicians — who have been locked in talks to mediate a deal since the outbreak of the crisis, released a statement outlining the main points of the deal. It includes the restoration of Hamdok as prime minister, the release of all detainees, and what it said was the resumption of the constitutional, legal and political consensus governing the transitional period. — AFP ■

Fuel rationed, travel limited in flooded western Canada

OFFICIALS in flood-stricken western Canada announced travel and fuel restrictions Friday as the region grapples with supply difficulties, the latest on a list of struggles caused by torrential rains.

Record rainfall hit southwestern British Columbia Sunday and Monday resulting in landslides and flooding which destroyed roads and infrastructure and forced the temporary closure of the Trans Mountain pipeline. "We are asking people to limit their fuel consumption and vehicle travel at this time and are putting in place orders under the provincial state of emergency to support this," Mike Farnworth, the province's public safety minister, said at a press conference.

Individuals will no longer be able to buy more than 30 liters (eight gallons) of fuel when going to the pump.

"We are asking people not to travel through severely affected areas — for their own well-being, but also to make sure the fuel we do have goes toward the services people need in this time of crisis," Farnworth said. — AFP ■

China downgrades diplomatic ties with Lithuania over Chinese Taipei row

CHINA has officially downgraded diplomatic ties with Lithuania in protest, the foreign ministry in Beijing said Sunday, after Chinese Taipei established a de facto embassy in Vilnius.

Lithuania allowing Chinese Taipei to open an office using the name Taiwan was a significant diplomatic departure that defied a pressure campaign by Beijing.

“The Chinese government had to lower diplomatic relations between the two countries... to safeguard its sovereignty and the basic norms of international relations,” the ministry said in a statement announcing the downgrade to the charge d’affaires level.

“The Lithuanian government must bear all consequences that arise from this.”

It added that Lithuania had “abandoned the political commitment made upon the establishment of diplomatic relations” with China.

It was a reference to the “One China” policy, under which countries officially recognise Beijing over Taipei.

Lithuania’s foreign ministry on Sunday said it “regrets” China’s decision to downgrade ties.

Chinese Taipei announced in July that it would open the office, its first new diplomatic outpost in Europe in 18 years.

That prompted a fierce rebuke from China. It withdrew its ambassador from Lithuania and demanded Vilnius do the same, which it eventually did.—AFP ■

Bulgaria presidential poll seen testing anti-graft reform appetite

Bulgaria’s incumbent President Rumen Radev says he regrets not helping topple Boyko Borisov’s regime sooner. PHOTO: AFP

BULGARIANS vote on Sunday to elect their president, a largely ceremonial role that the current incumbent has transformed and put at the heart of the struggle against corruption in the EU’s poorest country.

Rumen Radev, the front-runner with 49 percent in the first round of voting last weekend, faces off against academic Anastas Gerdjikov after neither could secure an outright majority.

While Radev, a former fighter jet pilot, is the country’s most popular politician, Bulgaria itself is riven by fractious political parties that have failed to deliver a stable government needed to tackle deep-seated graft and the worsening coronavirus pandemic.

“This vote is a clash between two visions: the soft tolerance of endemic corruption and the firm opposition to a model of governance that uses public power for private purposes,” New Bulgarian University political science professor Antoniy Todorov wrote in a blog post this week.

A clear win for Radev, 58, may usher in a period of political stability after last weekend’s surprise victory in the third general election this year of a new anti-graft party.—AFP ■

‘Accidental’ gun discharge causes panic at busy US airport

A gun that accidentally discharged after being discovered at an X-Ray checkpoint in Atlanta’s busy international airport sent dozens of passengers scurrying for cover and briefly resulted in the facility’s closure Saturday just days before the Thanksgiving holiday.

The episode, which highlights the highly politicized topic of gun prevalence in American society, resulted in three non-life-threatening injuries, according to the Transportation Security Administration (TSA).

It said the incident occurred after a “prohibited item” was identified inside a passenger’s baggage by an X-Ray machine at a checkpoint.

As a Transportation Security Officer opened the compartment containing the gun, “the passenger lunged into the bag and grabbed a firearm, at which point it discharged.”

“The passenger then fled the area, running out of the airport exit,” the TSA said, adding that the officer had told the passenger not to touch the property.—AFP ■

Japan to delay launch of children’s agency to FY 2023 or later

JAPAN has decided to postpone the creation of an agency to oversee policies related to children to fiscal 2023 or later, government sources said Saturday.

The delay of the agency’s establishment originally envisioned for fiscal 2022 comes as difficulties have arisen in coordinating the transfer of departments among relevant government organizations.

On Saturday, Prime Minister Fumio Kishida told reporters in Matsuyama, western Japan, that the government “will continue its efforts to start the children’s agency” and reaffirmed his intention to submit related bills to the ordinary Diet session next year.

The agency is a new organization that will unify policies across multiple government ministries and entities to better deal with increasingly complex issues such as abuse.

Former Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga had expressed his desire to establish it as a symbol of “breaking down vertical divisions.”

The government had initially aimed to establish the new command center for child-related policies in fiscal 2022 based on its experience with the Digital Agency, which it managed to set up within a year.

While Kishida said at a press conference early this month that the government would work on setting up the new agency, its priority has fallen within his administration and discussions within the ruling coalition have stalled.—Kyodo ■

Houthi claim launching 14 bomb-laden drones against Saudi airports, Aramco refineries

YEMEN’S Houthi militia on Saturday said they launched 14 bomb-laden drones to attack several airports and oil facilities in Saudi Arabia in response to what it said “Saudi-led coalition escalation in Yemen.”

“We targeted the King Khalid Air Base in Riyadh city with four drones, hitting military targets at the King Abdullah International Airport and Aramco oil refineries in Jeddah city with four drones, striking a military target in Abha International Airport in Abha city with a drone, targeting other military sites in the cities of Jazan, Najran and Abha with five drones,” Houthi military spokesman Yehya Sarea said in a statement aired by the militia’s al-Masirah TV.

Meanwhile, Saudi-owned Al-Arabiya TV reported that the coalition intercepted an explosive-laden drone launched by the Houthis from Sanaa International Airport in Yemen toward Saudi Arabia, and “it is dealing with other Houthi threats.”

The Iran-backed Houthi militia has recently intensified cross-border missile and drone attacks. In February, the Yemeni rebel group began a major offensive against the Saudi-backed government army to capture the oil-rich province of Marib in central Yemen.—Xinhua ■

MANCHESTER United ended Ole Gunnar Solksjaer's three-year reign as manager at Old Trafford on Sunday following a run of one win in seven Premier League games.

Saturday's 4-1 embarrassment at the hands of struggling Watford was the final straw for the United board, who had stuck by Solksjaer in recent weeks despite humiliating home defeats to Liverpool and Manchester City.

"Manchester United announces that Ole Gunnar Solksjaer has left his role as Manager," the club said in a statement. "Ole will always be a legend at Manchester United and it is with regret that we have reached this difficult decision. While the past few weeks have been disappointing, they should not obscure all the work he has done over the past three years to rebuild the foundations for long-term success." — AFP ■

Zverev beats Djokovic to set up Medvedev final in Turin

ALEXANDER Zverev downed Novak Djokovic in a thrilling last-four clash to end the world number one's bid for a record-equalling sixth ATP Finals title on Saturday and set up a final against Daniil Medvedev. The German edged to a 7-6 (7/4), 4-6, 6-3 success in Turin and will face reigning champion Medvedev for the trophy on Sunday.

"It was a fantastic match,

I think we've played five times this year and every single time it was a great battle and we played for a very long time," said Zverev.

It was a disappointing end to a remarkable season for Djokovic, who fell one match short of becoming the first man to win a calendar Grand Slam since Rod Laver in 1969 when he lost the US Open final to Medvedev.— AFP ■

Unbeaten Crawford stops Porter to retain WBO welterweight title

UNBEATEN Terence Crawford made a successful defence of his WBO welterweight title on Saturday, stopping Shawn Porter by knocking the challenger down twice in the 10th round in Las Vegas.

Porter's father and trainer, Ken, surprised the crowd at the Mandalay Bay casino by stopping the fight after the second knockdown to hand the 34-year-old Crawford his ninth-straight victory inside the distance.

"I was just the better man today," said Crawford, who improved to 38-0, with 29 wins by knockouts. "I figured him out in round one. I figured I had the reach and that he had to take chances to get in. "He was trying to maul and push me back but I used my angles to push him back as well."

Crawford initially felled Porter with a left uppercut on the button that buckled his knees early in the 10th.

It was all over at 1:21 of the round, when Crawford's overhand right to the side of the head sent Porter to the canvas for a second time, prompting his father to climb the steps and ask referee Celestino Ruiz to halt the contest.

Porter got up from the second knockdown and appeared to be ready to continue, but his father felt he had enough, saying later his son was fighting "blindfolded."— AFP ■
