For emergence of established jade and gems market

Myanmar's gems, being excellent in quality, have earned a global reputation and won the satisfaction of the customers from abroad.

Now, Myanmar's gem industry is booming and the precious stones are in high demand in the world market, thus benefiting the State and national gems entrepreneurs.

Oil, minerals and gems are, in reality, exhaustible natural resources. So, responsible persons are to supervise effectively the mining of gem stones for ensuring the long-term interest, averting possible damage to the environment.

And national entrepreneurs engaged in the gem mining should focus on fair share of the business with the State and avoid acts that can harm the national interests.

Officials concerned have to render technical assistance to gem entrepreneurs and help them have their products on the market so that they will be able to not only sell their products in raw but also make value-added items.

Therefore, all are to work together for the emergence of an established market for jade and gems at home in accordance with rules and regulations promulgated by the government in the interests of the State, while harmoniously combining gem mining and gem sales that bring benefits to the State and the entrepreneurs.

US House passes resolution opposing Bush's war plan

WASHINGTON, 16 Feb — The US House of Representatives on Friday passed a non-binding resolution that opposes US President George W Bush's decision to send more troops to Iraq.

The resolution was passed on a 246-182 vote, with more than a dozen Republicans joining the Democratic majority to endorse it.

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, a Democrat from California, said the vote signals "a change in direction in Iraq that will end the fighting and bring our troops home."

"The stakes in Iraq are too high to recycle proposals that have little prospect for success," she said.

The vote marks the first time that the House openly rejected Bush's war policy.

The resolution declares that "the Congress disapprove of the decision of President George W Bush announced on 10 January, 2007" to send 21,500 additional troops to Iraq.

But it also states that "the Congress and the American people will continue to support and protect the members of the United States armed forces who are serving or who have served bravely and honorably in Iraq." The resolution is nonbinding, but it will add pressure to the Bush administration and its Iraq policy.

The US Senate Democratic majority said they plan to hold a test vote in the Senate

Saturday on whether to start a debate on the House resolution.

It is not clear whether the Democrats will get the 60 votes needed for the Senate to proceed with the resolution.

Opinion polls indicate a solid majority of the US public opposes Bush's plan, and Democrats said the November election victories that put them in control of Congress show Americans want to wind down the nearly four-year-old war.

But Bush has said repeatedly that he won't bow to the growing pressure on the Iraq issue from the Democrat-controlled Congress. In a speech on Wednesday, the president shrugged off the non-binding resolution opposing his Iraq policy.

"They (US lawmakers) have every right to express their opinion," he said, adding that it is "only a non-binding resolution."

India ejects pilots for poor English

NEW DELHI, 16 Feb — India has sent home at least 20 foreign pilots flying for its airlines in the past year as their poor English posed safety concerns, the country's civil aviation regulator said on Thursday.

English is used by India's hard-pressed air traffic controllers, who are struggling to make sense of crowded skies following a surge in new airlines in the last few years. Rapid growth has led to carriers hiring hundreds of foreign pilots —including from Central Asia and Eastern Europe.

Director-General of Civil Aviation, told reporters.

"Over there they are the biggest consumers on the planet, that's not our fault."

Venezuela under Chavez has worked to reduce its reliance on the US energy market by cultivating ties to countries like Russia and China.

IAF needs to prepare for technology driven warfare

BHUJ (Gujarat), 16 Feb — With wars of the future set to be fought in space and deep sea with weapons like ballistic missiles, President A P J Abdul Kalam Thursday asked the Indian Air Force (IAF) to prepare itself for technology-driven warfare.

"National security consists of two important components. One is economic growth and prosperity and the second is the capability to defend the nation from all kinds of threats," he said during his address at an IAF base here after presenting the coveted President's Standard to a Bhuj-based MIG-21 squadron and a Chandigarh-based An-32 transport squadron.

"You should remember that national development and national security has to go together," Kalam said. The supreme commander of the Armed Forces said the IAF had a greater responsibility in guarding the country's frontiers and providing security to economic installations, including those in space. "Commerical activities in space are increasing," the scientist-President noted, explaining how India had launched several satellites, including those meant for remote sensing and meteorological uses.

"I am glad the aerospace command is taking shape," Kalam said, indicating how this formation was essential in protecting India's interests in outer space. "IAF should equip itself for technology-driven warfare," he observed. — MNA/PTI

Indonesia's dengue fever death climbs to over 300

JAKARTA, 16 Feb — The death toll of seasonal dengue fever in Indonesia since January has reached 307 out of more than 20,000 cases, a Health Ministry official said here Wednesday.

The number could still rise as the source of the disease, the aedes aegypti mosquito, would still have a favourable environment to proliferate until the end of the wet season in March, said Cicilia Windyaningsih, an official with the directorate of arbovirology in the ministry.

The disease has hit provinces in the vast archipelago country including Jakarta, West Java, Central Java, East Java and East Kalimantan, according to the ministry.

However, the death figure is still lower than in the same period last year, the official told Xinhua. The Health Ministry has taken measures to decrease the rate of fatalities from the disease that spreads during the rainy season through the mosquito.

Police officers suspected of misdeeds in US city

LOS ANGELES, 16 Feb — Police officers in California Maywood City were suspected of sexual misconduct, racism and brutality, it was reported Thursday.

This prompted the City Council to urge the state attorney general's office to investigate the claims, the Los Angeles Times said.

There have been complaints from residents that the mostly Latino city's 37-officer police force was involved in the misdeeds, said the report.

California Assembly Speaker Fabian Nunez also urged the City Council to take action to address a growing list of alleged misdeeds, the paper said.

Residents have claimed that officers beat up people, and several women said police stalked and sexually abused them, according to a document published by the paper. One mother claimed that her 14-year-old daughter was groped by an officer.

In the past, the department was criticized for large-scale afternoon sobriety checks that opponents said were designed to catch unlicensed illegal immigrants and generate money. Nearly 2,000 cars a year were impounded from immigrants, before the city banned the operations a few years ago.

Two officers have been suspended in connection with internal investigations and others are under investigation, said Maywood City police Chief Richard Lyons.

Iranian President urges Europe not to support US policies

TEHERAN, 17 Feb — Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad has called on European countries not to back Washington's "unilateralist hegemonic" policies in the Middle East, the state television reported on its website on Friday.

By doing so, Europeans would gain confidence of countries in the region, Ahmadinejad was quoted as telling new Belgian Ambassador to Iran Herve Goines on Thursday.

Iran and Belgium could play an effective role in bringing peace, tranquility and welfare to nations of the world, Ahmadinejad said. "Today's global problems would be resolved through exhibiting mutual respect, justice and prudence," he said, adding that Middle East states and Europe could collaborate on achieving progress in this respect.

For his part, Goines said that his country was willing to develop ties with Iran, especially in the realms of science, the economy and culture.

The United States has been seeking to impose tougher sanctions on Iran through the UN Security Council on the grounds that Teheran is developing nuclear weapon under the guise of a civilian-use programme.

Iran has insisted that its nuclear programme be only for peaceful purposes and voiced hope for talks on the nuclear standoff. But it rejected a prerequisite of suspending nuclear work for such talks.

UN says over 100 Somalis, Ethiopians drown off Yemen

GENEVA, 17 Feb — More than 100 Somali and Ethiopian migrants drowned when a smugglers' boat capsized off Yemen earlier this week and 130 more are missing after they were forced off a second ship, the United Nations said on Friday.

The United Nations refugee agency (UNHCR) said 107 bodies had already been buried from Monday's sinking, but that 133 people were still unaccounted for, although many of them may have reached land safely.

The missing were mostly from a second boat whose crew forced them to jump into the sea after the first craft went down, the UNHCR said. Two other vessels made it to shore with 235 people aboard.

It was the second mass drowning of African migrants this month in the Gulf of Aden. Fifteen people died after traffickers forced hundreds of passengers off two boats far from the Yemeni coast in early February. Smugglers, usually Somali, often drop migrants in deep waters because the Yemeni authorities have increased sea patrols closer to shore.

Some 27,000 people made the perilous journey from Somalia last year, fleeing battles in the volatile Horn of Africa nation between the Ethiopian Army and an Islamist movement.

Islamist forces ran most of south Somalia for six months until they were ousted in an offensive by the government and Ethiopia over the New Year. — MNA/Reuters

Vodka-fuelled fisherman wrestles with shark

CANBERRA, 17 Feb — A fisherman fuelled by vodka caught a 1.3-metre (four-foot) shark and wrestled it onto a jetty on Australia's south coast, suffering only small tear marks in his trousers, media reports said on Friday.

Phillip Kerkhof, 41, caught the bronze whaler shark by hand on Monday after he spotted it chasing squid lures near the jetty at the tiny seaside town of Louth Bay in the South Australia state.

"I just snuck up behind him and eventually I went for the big grab and I fluked it and got him," Kerkhof told Australian Broadcasting Corp.

The area near Louth Bay, around the southern tip of South Australia's Eyre Peninsula, is well known for sharks, and live shark action for the 1975 movie "Jaws" was filmed nearby. Kerkhof, who said he had "a fair few vodkas" before he went fishing, said he only realized the danger of his actions the following day.

"It's not something I'd recommend to do," he said. "When I sobered up I thought about it and I said, 'I'm a bit of an idiot doing it'." — MNA/Reuters

Florida girl cannot stop hiccups

LOS ANGELES, 17 Feb — A Florida girl has hiccuped for more than three weeks and there has been no way to stop her hiccuping, the ABC News reported on Friday. Jennifer Mee can not stop hiccuping for more than three weeks now, said the report.

The 15-year-old girl in St Petersburg, Florida has hiccuped close to 50 times a minute despite the best efforts of doctors and home remedies, said the report.

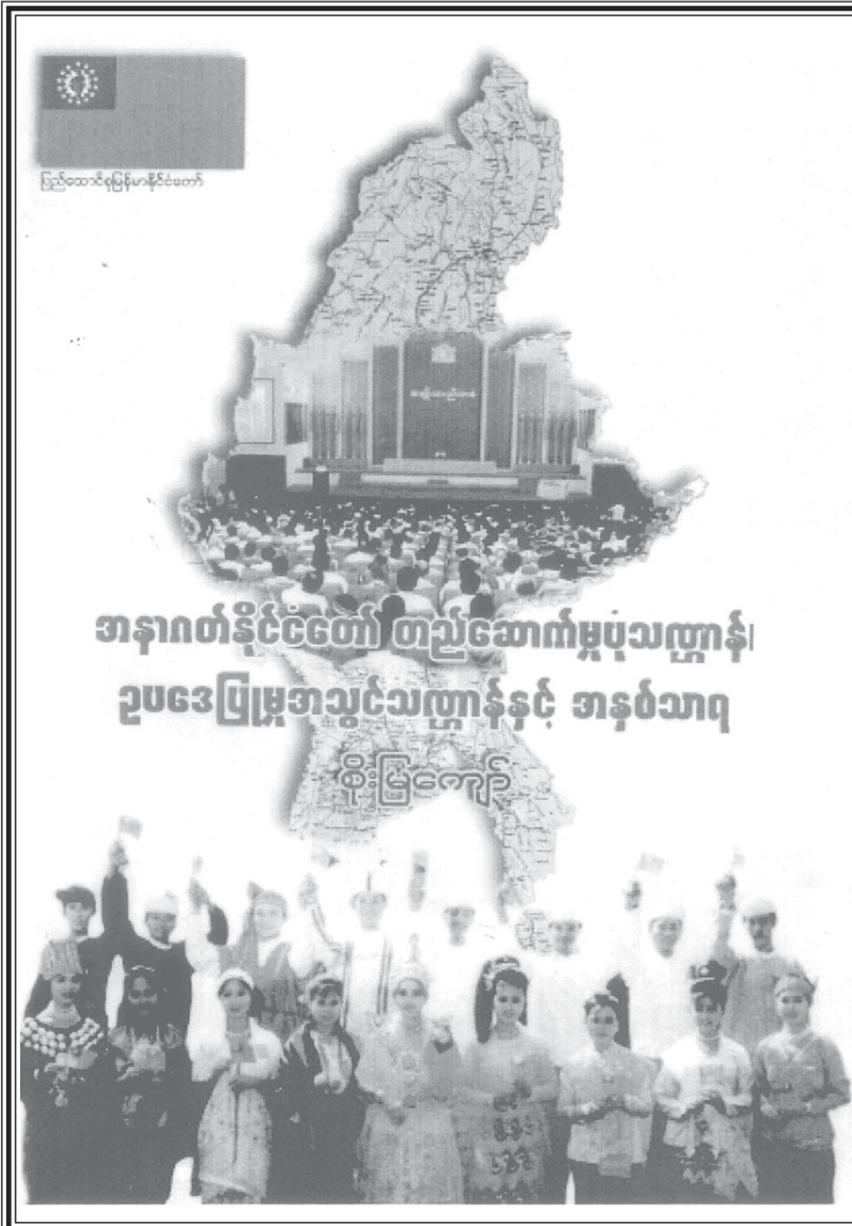

It is not clear what triggered Jennifer's hiccups, which started in school January 23.

No answer has been found to the cause of the hiccups despite blood tests, a CT scan and an MRI, according to the report.

Drugs have not worked. Neither have home remedies which included holding her breath, putting sugar under her tongue, sipping pickle juice, breathing into a paper bag, drinking out of the wrong side of a glass and even scaring, said the report.

The hiccups do stop when she is sleeping.

Hiccups are caused by involuntary contractions of the diaphragm, which causes vocal cords to briefly close, according to the National Institutes of Health. They can start for no reason or be triggered by anything from spicy foods to stress. — MNA/Xinhua

Historical site discovered near Rohtak

CHANDIGARH, 17 Feb — A new archaeological site dating back to the Harappan period had been discovered near Rohtak in northern state of Haryana.

Haryana Archives, Archaeology and Museums Minister Meena Mandal, who Thursday visited the site, said it was discovered on a link road from Julana to Kirsola Village, about 35 kilometres from Rohtak, adding it could provide information about the “disappearance of Harappan Culture and its merger with post Grey Ware Cultures”. The site was discovered by a team of the state Archaeological Department led by Deputy Director JS Khatri in December last year. Mandal said explorations were conducted by the department from January 2006 in the palio-channel of River Drishadvati, specifically in and around Meham in district Rohtak. The site was found after earlier discoveries of Harappan culture near village Farmana, known locally as Daksh-Khera, led the team to further explore areas towards Julana in the Northeast direction, she said. The team's efforts had also led to the discovery of three more sites — Bedwa, Farmana two and Kheri Meham — at regular intervals of five kilometres each. Giving details of the newly discovered site, Mandal said it was spread over 11 acres and rose to a height of about four metres from the ground.

Singapore PM urges people to maintain traditional duties of family

SINGAPORE, 17 Feb — In his Chinese New Year message on Friday, Singapore Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong called on Singaporeans to strengthen kinship ties, loyalty and commitment to families and look after the elderly. “Chinese New Year is a time of reunion and bonding for the family,” Lee said in his message, calling on his people to renew commitments to families not just during this festive period but throughout the year.

state pensions and medical care. As a result, family members often feel little responsibility to care for one another,” said Lee. He added that Singapore must avoid these pitfalls.

The Singapore Government just announced Thursday a generous Workfare to help lower-income workers and a four billion Singapore dollars (about 2.6 billion US $) goods and services tax (GST) Offset Package to help the people adjust to the GST increase.

He referred to how generous state welfare benefits for the employed and the elderly have led to the weakening of the family unit in many Western countries. “When somebody loses his job, he falls back on state unemployment insurance. When he grows old, he relies on

Lee said the government is doing its part by strengthening community networks to reach out to the elderly, but no institution or old folks’ home can replace the love and warmth of family members, nor can the government.

Mexico ready to prevent possible terror attacks

MEXICO CITY, 16 Feb — The Mexican Government is examining the origin and truthfulness of alleged threats from the terrorist network al-Qaeda, to nations that supply oil to the United States, the President's public relations coordinator said on Wednesday. An organization calling itself the Arabian Peninsula al-Qaeda Organization made the threat on a web page of the electronic newspaper Saut al Jihad (Voice of the Holy War). The message called on supporters to attack oil facilities in Mexico, Venezuela and Canada, because they supply oil to the United States. Mexico's Tourism Minister, Rodolfo Elizondo, said that the threat was no more worrying than many others, and he would wait for further information. Carlos Abascal, acting general secretary of the National Action Party, said that Mexico was ready to prevent possible terrorist attacks, and also that Mexico has no reason to break relations with any nation based on the al-Qaeda threats. — MNA/Xinhua

BEIJING, 16 Feb (Xinhuanet) — Scientists have discovered that the human brain can manufacture fresh brain cells which may lead to a better way to treat brain damage and disease like Alzheimer's, Parkinson's and stroke, according to media reports Friday.

Neuroscientists from Auckland University and Carlsson Institute for Neuroscience in Sweden found a cell pathway through which the adult brain may repair itself. The report will be published as the cover story next week in the journal "Science."

These cells are born in one part of the brain and then migrate to the olfactory bulb, where smells are processed. They mature into neurons on the way. Scientists have known that other animals, such as rats and mice, make new brain cells throughout their lives and there had been indirect evidence that humans beings could also.

Since humans have far more developed brains, searching for these cells has been harder than it was in rodents. The Auckland-Sweden collaboration was the first to trace the path of the human "neurogenesis motorway". "The excitement from this pathway is if we can try and develop an understanding of what makes these cells multiply and travel - if we could enhance this to help people who have brain cells die."

Spacecraft provides new hints of past groundwater flows on Mars

WASHINGTON, 16 Feb — A spacecraft recently arrived at Mars has provided new evidence that fluids, likely including water, once flowed widely through underlying bedrock in a canyon that is part of the great Martian rift valley, according to a NASA research released on Thursday. The new colour images from the HiRISE camera aboard NASA's Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter show an equatorial landscape of hills composed of dozens of alternating layers of dark- and light-toned rocks, and crossed by dark sand dunes.

Within those layered deposits, the exquisitely detailed images show, there are a series of linear fractures, called joints, that are surrounded by "halos" of light-toned bedrock. In a paper to be published 16 February in the journal Science, researchers argue that the "halos" offer clear evidence of past fluid flow through the bedrock.

Minerals in the fluid acted like cement to strengthen and bleach the rock, they say. The cemented rock proved more resistant to wind erosion than other features on the canyon walls and floor. It now serves as an exposed record of hydrological activity and offers a promising site to search for evidence of habitable niches in the Martian past.

Chris H Okubo, the principal author of the paper said the new images strongly suggest that subsurface fluids — probably water, liquid carbon dioxide or a combination of the two — once flowed abundantly in the western Candor Chasma region of Mars. —MNA/Xinhua

Murphy's run for Oscar sparks applause, barbs

LOS ANGELES, 16 Feb — Eddie Murphy has been loved, hated and ignored but now he is back with Hollywood heavyweights rallying around him for his career-redefining turn in "Dreamgirls", a role that may win him an Oscar.

Murphy, 45, is one of the biggest wildcards in show business, making his best supporting actor Oscar run one of the most controversial Academy Awards stories this year.

After 25 years of mostly comic roles, Murphy took the leap into drama with "Dreamgirls" as a thwarted cocaine-sniffing soul singer James "Thunder" Early, earning him the Oscar nomination as well as Golden Globe and Screen Actor Guild wins.

Late goals give leaders Lyon 2-1 win at Lille

PARIS, 17 Feb— Leaders Olympique Lyon scored two late goals to grab a fortunate 2-1 victory at third-placed Lille in Ligue 1 on Friday.

France centre back Sebastien Squillaci got the winner in the 89th minute when he deflected a Jeremy Toulalan freekick into the net to steal the win.

The result gives Lyon a 14-point lead over RC Lens, who travel to Monaco on Sunday, and a confidence boost ahead of next week's Champions League clash against AS Roma.

"It might be the turning point of the season," Lyon coach Gerard Houllier told French TV channel Canal Plus. "It was tough against a Lille side who do not let you play your game."

Brazilian striker Fred had cancelled out Lille's opener — scored by Johan Audel seven minutes after the break following a poor clearance by Cris — with a freekick in the 83rd minute.

Lille, who stay on 39 points, are now 18 points adrift of Lyon, who travel to Roma in the Champions League first knockout round on Wednesday.

Lille coach Claude Puel, whose team host Premier League leaders Manchester United in the same competition on Tuesday, said: "We lost the game on details. They did not have an opportunity until they scored."—MNA/Reuters

Stuttgart go second with 4-0 rout of Frankfurt

BERLIN, 17 Feb— Classy VfB Stuttgart strengthened their claims to a Champions League place with a 4-0 win at Eintracht Frankfurt on Friday.

Roberto Hilbert swept in the opener in the second minute, Mario Gomez and Ricardo Osorio made it 3-0 by halftime and Thomas Hitzlsperger completed the rout when he scored on the rebound after his penalty had been saved 12 minutes from time. Victory took Stuttgart up to second place for at least a night.

With 22 games played, they have 44 points while Werder Bremen slip to third on 42. Werder can reclaim second spot by winning at home to Hamburg SV on Saturday.

Schalke 04, who lead the table on 48 points, travel to VfL Wolfsburg on Saturday. Champions Bayern Munich, struggling in fourth place on 37 points, visit Alemannia Aachen.

The top two in Germany go straight into the Champions League, with third place enough for a qualifying berth.

Stuttgart looked well worth one of those places as they took Frankfurt apart.

Cacau started the move for the opening goal after 100 seconds. He played the ball out wide to Gomez, who in turn set up Hilbert to score.

Gomez then netted his 13th league goal of the season, exchanging passes with Hitzlsperger before shooting low.—MNA/Reuters

Leaders Porto crush Naval 4-0

LISBON, 17 Feb— Porto crushed Naval 4-0 in the Portuguese Premier League on Friday as they warmed up for next week's Champions League clash with Chelsea.

Porto are top with 43 points from 18 games, six clear of Sporting who visit Pacos Ferreira on Saturday. Benfica, who meet Nacional at Madeira Island on Sunday, are third on 36.

Clijsters, Mauresmo reach last 4 in Antwerp

ANTWERP, 17 Feb— Second seed Kim Clijsters cruised into the semifinals of the Diamond Games with a 6-2, 6-1 victory over Serbia's Ana Ivanovic on Friday.

The world number four was joined in the last four by top seed Amelie Mauresmo, who beat Russia's Dinara Safina 6-1, 6-3 to move closer to claiming a diamond-studded racket worth one million euros (1.31 million US dollars).

The prize is awarded for three title wins here in five years. The Frenchwoman scored back-to-back victories in 2005 and 2006.

Clijsters next plays France's Tatiana Golovin or Russia's Elena Likhovtseva. The tournament is the Belgian player's last on home soil as she plans to retire at the end of the season.

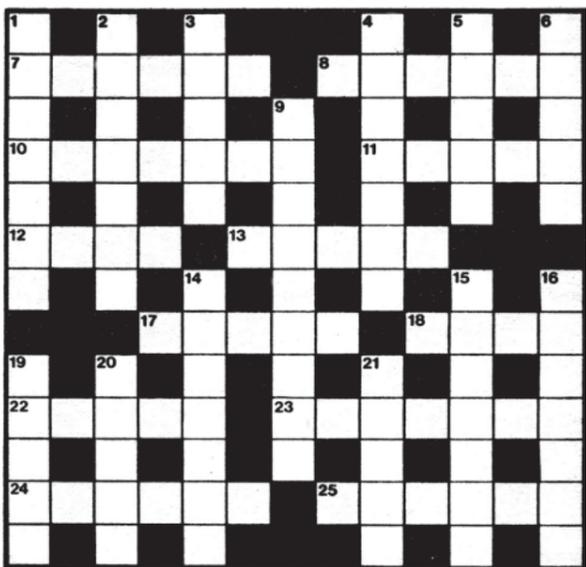

"I feel good and the crowd again were terrific. It's such a great feeling out there," Clijsters told reporters.

"But I am just focusing on each day and each game. Hopefully I can make it through to the final on Sunday."—MNA/Reuters

Becker eases past listless safin in San Jose

SAN JOSE, 17 Feb— A listless Marat Safin was upset by sixth seed Benjamin Becker in the quarterfinals of the San Jose Open on Friday, the Russian former world number one beaten 6-4, 6-3 by his German opponent.

The fourth seeded Safin played well short of his best and world number 49 Becker took full advantage to set up a semifinal against another giant-killer, Ivo Karlovic, who had earlier dispatched fifth seeded American Mary Fish 7-6, 6-4. Safin, the world number 24, won a five-set battle with Becker at the Australian Open last month, but made a stack of unforced errors in their latest meeting and could not even force a break point.

The German broke once to win the first set and again in the fourth game of the second, before serving out to love to reach his third ATP Tour semifinal and second this month.—MNA/Reuters

Dinosaur eggs fossil from China seized in US

LOS ANGELES, 17 Feb — A nearly perfectly preserved fossilized nest of dinosaur eggs that may have been illegally taken from China was seized at a Los Angeles-area auction house by agents who were tipped off by a newspaper article, US officials said on Thursday.

Bonhams & Butterfields sold the fossil specimen — which is believed to contain the eggs of a predatory raptor from the Cretaceous Period — at auction last December, but the sale was subsequently canceled, according to an affidavit signed by a US

Immigration and Customs Enforcement agent.

A wire service story printed in USA Today before the auction stated that the nest had been unearthed in China's Guangdong Province in the early 1980s, then bought by an American collector in 2003.

ICE officials said evidence gathered so far suggests the fossilized nest — which was seized last week — was brought to the United States illegally.

ICE agents also said the original shipping label on the nest understated its value, declaring it to be only 500 dollars. Experts now estimate the nest is worth as much as 350,000 dollars, according to ICE.

The winning bidder had agreed to pay 453,296 dollars according to the affidavit.

Officials said undervaluing goods is a common ploy used by smugglers to avoid detection.

Investigators are now trying to trace the fossil's origins. Officials say the specimen is so well preserved that remains of the dinosaur embryos are still visible inside the eggs.

"Fossil smuggling may seem like a plot twist in an Indiana Jones movie, but it is a serious crime," said Robert Schoch, special agent in charge of the ICE investigations office in Los Angeles.
