

The NEW LIGHT OF MYANMAR

Entire national people to remain vigilant at all times against dangers posed by neo-colonialists

Pursuing national goal is, in fact, laying substantial foundations for a prosperous future of the nation

The following is a translation of the message sent on the occasion of the 62nd Anniversary Independence Day by Chairman of the State Peace and Development Council Senior General Than Shwe.

It is an honour for me to extend my warmest greetings to all national people of the Union on the 62nd Anniversary Independence Day of the Union of Myanmar, an auspicious day.

Myanmar, where various national races make their home in unity and amity, has stood tall as a sovereign nation with own monarchs in the international community since time immemorial.

In late 19th century, Myanmar fell under the yoke of colonial rule and lost sovereignty and independence. Inspired by a strong sense of patriotism, Union Spirit and the fervour of making sacrifices in the interest of the nation and the people, national brethren bravely fought back the colonialists. As a result, the Union of Myanmar regained independence and sovereignty. Today, Independence Day enters 62nd anniversary.

The people of various national races always uphold the bounden duty or historic lessons such as non-disintegration of the Union, non-disintegration of national solidarity, and perpetuation of sovereignty. Therefore, Myanmar again stands tall as a sovereign nation.

It is required of the entire national people to remain vigilant at all times against dangers posed by neo-colonialists, and to make sustained efforts, putting the national policy in the fore and exerting patriotism for ensuring perpetuity of the motherland. Now, many projects are ongoing simultaneously for ensuring equitable development of all parts of the Union, and improving the living conditions of the people. Pursuing the national goal of building a peaceful, modern and developed nation with might and main is, in fact, laying substantial foundations for a prosperous future of the nation. While nation-building tasks were in full swing, the nation was hit hard by Cyclone "Nargis". However, rescue, rehabilitation, reconstruction and regional development tasks could be launched promptly and effectively in the storm-hit areas. Now, the living standard of the survivors is far better than that previously, thus reflecting the consolidated unity and brilliant performances of the government, the people and the Tatmadaw.

The State's seven-step Road Map designed for emergence of a peaceful, modern and developed nation is the sole process for transition to democracy. The programme is in the process of being implemented step by step. Now, the new State constitution has been approved with massive support of the people. Plans are under way to hold elections in a systematic way this year. In that regard, the entire people have to make correct choices, then.

On the occasion of the Independence Day, I would like to exhort the entire people of various national races, with firm determination that the ultimate goal of the public—to build a peaceful, modern and developed nation—must come to fruition, to harmoniously see to the four objectives of the 62nd Anniversary Independence Day (2010):

- (1) All the national people to constantly join hands for ensuring the perpetuity of independence and sovereignty of the State,
- (2) All the national people to collectively strive for non-disintegration of the Union and non-disintegration of national solidarity,
- (3) All the national people to harmoniously make all-out efforts to build up a modern, developed discipline-flourishing democratic nation in accordance with the new State Constitution that has been approved by the votes of the great majority of the people,
- (4) All the national people to cooperate in realizing the State's seven-step Road Map with Union Spirit and patriotic spirit.

Eurozone faces 2010 debt crisis

FRANKFURT, 3 Jan—The eurozone's new year heralds a debt crisis that has alarm bells ringing and markets tracking government plans to tame the growing shortfall.

Officials have borrowed heavily to pull the 16-nation zone out of its first recession, and debt levels are set to smash a huge hole in the ceiling set by the European Union in its Stability and Growth Pact. Soaring budget deficits, low growth and banking sector support "are feeding into significantly higher public debt levels," the European Commission has warned.

Average eurozone "public debt could reach 84 percent of GDP (gross domestic product) by 2010, an increase of 18 percentage points from 2007," it said, far above the pact's limit of 60 percent. Government debt ratings have been downgraded in Greece by all three major international agencies, and by some of them in Ireland and Spain as well.

The Fitch agency has urged all governments with top ratings to tame debt, mentioning in particular Britain, which is not a eurozone member, along with France and Spain, which are.

Germany, long considered the cornerstone of eurozone fiscal discipline, forecasts public debt at around 78 percent of GDP this year, while in France, the second biggest eurozone economy, public debt jumped to a record 75.8 percent in the third quarter of 2009.

New Zealand crude oil production rises 17%

WELLINGTON, 3 Jan—New Zealand crude oil production increased 17 percent in the third quarter of 2009.

The increase, reported in the New Zealand Energy Quarterly, was largely due to the Maari field in the Taranaki Basin reaching full production, Energy and Resources Minister Gerry Brownlee said on Sunday.

"Increased production of crude oil is a step in the right direction, given the massive economic benefits of a buoyant petroleum industry. On the back of this, production exports of crude and condensate were up 17 percent on the previous quarter," he said in a statement.

It was "heartening" to see production levels lifting with an intensive summer drilling season beginning, he added.

"New Zealand's petroleum resources are largely untapped - increasing exploration activities here is the first step in realizing the government's goal of a thriving industry."

The quarterly also found wind power was at a new high, accounting for more than 3 percent of total generation in the quarter, which was largely due to windy spring conditions and Meridian Energy's Wellington wind farm.—Xinhua

China expected to grow 9.5% in 2010

BEIJING, 3 Jan—China is expected to grow by about 9.5 percent in 2010, state media has quoted a government think tank as saying, exceeding forecasts made by outside experts for the new year.

The world's third-largest economy will be boosted by double-digit growth in real estate investment and mild inflation, the State Council's Development Research Centre said on Friday in a report published in the China Economic Times.

"In 2010, the external environment will remain rather grim but it will not deteriorate further," Zhang Liqun, a macroeconomist at the centre, said in the report. Zhang added that exports — a key driver of economic growth — would start to grow again in the coming year.

The think tank's 2010 economic growth forecast is well above Beijing's oft-stated target of eight percent — seen as crucial for job creation and ensuring social stability — and is higher than estimates for 2009.

For 2010, the Asian Development Bank has put its economic growth forecast for China at 8.9 percent, while the International Monetary Fund predicted growth of nine percent.—Internet

French industry fears revised carbon tax

PARIS, 3 Jan—The French government's first job for 2010 is to revise its planned carbon emissions tax, raising fears among businesses they will be hurt by changes to the environmental measure. President Nicolas Sarkozy made the tax a pillar of his 2010 budget, aiming to reduce emissions by taxing them and redistributing the revenue to reward households that cut carbon fuel consumption. But while pursuing environmental reforms on the one hand, Sarkozy risks jeopardising another of his major priorities: making French businesses more competitive.

The tax, which the government has been forced to revise after a court ruling on Wednesday, "will be a new blow for our exports and jobs," said Yvon Jacob, president of the Group of Industry Federations.

The constitutional court struck down the proposed tax just days before it was to kick in, ruling that it created inequalities by placing the burden of cuts on a minority.

The plan offered too many exemptions and would have allowed major polluters to dodge the tax, it ruled. This raised concerns among business leaders that efforts to even out the tax will harm their competitiveness.

FAA watching American Airlines after 3 mishaps

FORT WORTH, 3 Jan—The Federal Aviation Administration is increasing oversight of American Airlines after three mishaps during landings last month.

Jetliners' wingtips touched the ground during two landings, one in Charlotte, NC, on 13 Dec, the other in Austin, Texas, on 24 Dec. And in Jamaica, a plane overshot the runway during heavy rain on 22 Dec.

FAA officials said in a statement on Friday they will conduct a review of the mishaps to see if there might be a larger issue.

Abbas to visit Cairo over peace talks resumption with Israel

RAMALLAH, 3 Jan—Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas will visit Cairo on Monday to talk with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak on the Middle East peace, the Palestinian official news agency Wafa reported on Saturday. The two leaders will focus on the Egyptian efforts to resume peace talks between Israel and the Palestinian National Authority (PNA), according to Wafa.

Barakat al-Farra, the Palestinian ambassador in Cairo, said Abbas's visit is "important" since Egyptian Foreign Minister Ahmed Abul Gheit would visit Washington on 8 Jan to hand over proposals aimed to help revive the Israeli-Palestinian peace talks.

Mubarak will also brief Abbas about his talks with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu who visited Cairo on Tuesday.

British-flagged ship hijacked by Somali pirates

SOFIA, 3 Jan—A British-flagged cargo ship was hijacked off the coast of Somalia late Friday, the Bulgarian Foreign Ministry said on Saturday.

The Asian Glory, en route from Singapore to Saudi Arabia, was seized about 620 miles (about 1,000 kilometres) east of Somalia, said Dragovest Goranov, a foreign ministry spokesman.

"Eight men among the 25 crew members of the British-flagged car carrier Asian Glory are Bulgarians," Capt Prodan Radanov, head of the Bulgarian office of the London-based ship owner, Zodiac Maritime Agencies, told reporters.

The Asian Glory was hijacked at 1912 GMT on Friday, Radanov said, adding that the ship's captain was a Bulgarian, and there were Romanians, Ukrainians and Indians among the crew as well.

Radanov said one of the sailors managed to contact the ship owner, and said that everybody onboard was in good health. Bulgarian Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs Marin Raykov confirmed the news, saying that there has been no contact with the ship since the hijacking.

Goranov pointed out that the case was atypical, as the ship was hijacked far off the Somali coast.

Studies show boozing becoming too heavy a burden for Britain

LONDON, 3 Jan—Heavy drinking is causing Britain as many health problems as it is costing the country too much money that could have been spent on genuine health care, according to studies by medical expert groups.

One in six Britons drinks above sensible limits while one in 60 has a level of alcohol addiction and the so-called boozing culture costs Britain over 4 billion US dollars a year.

But these might be just the tip of an iceberg.

"With only one in 18 people dependent on alcohol receiving treatment ... we know that more needs to be done to help identify and treat patients," said Steve Barnett, chief executive of the National Health Service (NHS) Confederation which unveiled the figures in collaboration with the Royal College of Physicians.

This is because the bulk of the 4 billion spent on boozers goes to hospitals and ambulance services which are forced to deal with people who get into difficulties after drinking too much, said the report compiled by the confederation and the college.

Half of all assaults are related to alcohol, along with more than a fifth of accidental deaths and almost a third of all suicides.—Xinhua

PERSPECTIVES

Our country, our land, enjoying fruits of peace, stability and development

Myanmar is an independent, sovereign nation. It is a State with the characteristics of an independent nation. And Myanmar is a country which is standing tall among the global community.

Today (4 January, 2010) is the 62nd Anniversary of the Independence Day of the Union of Myanmar. The Myanmar people cherish their own country. They have had the innate duty to value their own race. They also have the fine tradition of preserving their literature, culture and customs. With the strong patriotic spirit, the Myanmar people cannot bear having their national integrity harmed.

Despite having fine traditions and good spirits, Myanmar lost her independence in the late 19th Century after being invaded by the imperialists. Without independence and freedom, the entire national people had bitter experiences under the colonial rule subject to various suppressions.

Myanmar regained independence and sovereignty when Myanmar patriots fought fierce battles with the colonialists and Fascists, risking their lives. In free and independent nationhood, the people have enjoyed the tastes of peace and stability and prosperity.

Now the country is striving for emergence of a peaceful, modern, developed democratic nation desired by the entire people. So it is shaping a democracy by adopting and implementing the seven-step Road Map.

With peace and stability prevailing nationwide, Myanmar is enjoying fruits of development. All the national people are to actively take part in nation-building tasks with full patriotic spirit.

When the Union was about to collapse in 1988, the Tatmadaw had to take over the State duties. Up to 2008, there were no changes in honorary titles and medals and most were awarded in accord with the system practised in the period of Myanmar Socialist Programme Party. After the order No.33/2001 of the State Peace and Development Council was issued on 13 September 2001, 30 kinds of medals have been presented instead of 24 kinds in the past. Present honorary titles and medals are found to be the same as the ones conferred on those who practised and promoted socialism. So, with the aim of keeping abreast of the changing era and systems, the State has prescribed new honorary titles and medals.

The State is in democratic transition in line with the seven-step Road Map and multi-party general elections, the fifth step, will be held in 2010. After the elections, a democratic nation will come into shape. So, those who serve the best interest of the State and the people in changing into a democratic nation and building a future State will have to be awarded in accord with the democratic system.

To catch up with the era and systems in awarding and honouring people, measures were taken to continue using some of the prescribed medals, to cancel some, to prescribe some again and to improve some based on the original essence.

It is learnt that the provisions on honorary titles and medals that have been issued now are not new and they are the ones used in the parliamentary democracy period to be used in line with the present era. The following are the honorary titles and medals and classes issued today:

Massive clean-up as Philippine volcano calms down

MANILA, 3 Jan—Disaster relief officials in the Philippines launched a massive clean-up on Sunday as tens of thousands of villagers began returning home after the restive Mayon volcano showed signs of calming down.

Joey Salceda, governor of the province of Albay southeast of Manila where Mayon is located, said he expected all 29 public schools converted into temporary shelters would reopen for classes on Monday.

“What we are doing now is conducting damage assessment. We are on an early recovery stage,” Salceda told reporters. “We are cleaning up schools and classrooms so that classes can resume tomorrow.”

Beat the blues by going to bed early: study

NEW YORK, 3 Jan—It seems parents have long been right. Going to bed early is key to getting enough sleep and helping adolescents feel on top of the world, a new study reported. A lack of sleep among youngsters may trigger depression and suicidal thoughts, according to the study by the Columbia University Medical Centre.

“Our results are consistent with the theory that inadequate sleep is a risk factor for depression, working with other risk and protective factors through multiple possible causal pathways to the development of this mood disorder,” said lead author James Gangwisch.

“Adequate quality sleep could therefore be a preventative measure against depression and a treatment for depression,” he added in the study published in the Friday issue of Sleep magazine.

The study followed the nightly habits of some 15,659 college and high-school students, and found those who consistently went to bed after midnight had a 24 percent higher risk of depression than those who turned in before 10:00 pm.

Night owls also ran a 20 percent higher risk of battling suicidal thoughts, the study added.

North China oil spill threatens Yellow River

BEIJING, 3 Jan—A burst oil pipeline in north China has spewed thousands of gallons (litres) of diesel into a major tributary of the Yellow River, state media said on Sunday.

The spill occurred on Wednesday last week on the Chishui River in Shaanxi Province when a pipeline operated by the China National Petroleum Corporation (CNPC) ruptured, a statement on the Weinan city government website said.

Emergency measures have been taken to stop the leak, with 23 containment belts set up downstream from the spill and up to 700 people scrambling to clean up the mess, the statement said.

Local government officials refused to reveal how much diesel had spilled into the river or comment on the spill when contacted by AFP.

The official Xinhua news agency reported that up to 150,000 litres (40,000 US gallons) had leaked into the river about 70 kilometres (42 miles) from the Yellow River, one of China's longest watercourses.

Oil has already been detected 33 kilometres downstream from the spill, the report said.

“We must take thorough measures to handle the spill and the pollution and strictly prevent it from entering the Yellow River, while ensuring the safety of drinking water,” the Chongqing Evening News quoted Vice Premier Li Keqiang as saying.

Local environmental departments have warned residents not to use the river water as it may be polluted, the report said.

Mexico announces capture of alleged drug lord

MEXICO CITY, 3 Jan—Mexican police have captured alleged drug lord Carlos Beltran Leyva, just two weeks after his even more powerful brother was killed in a shootout with troops — back-to-back victories in President Felipe Calderon's drug war.

The Public Safety Department said in a statement on Saturday night that Carlos Beltran Leyva was arrested in Culiacan, the capital of the Pacific coast state of Sinaloa, where he and several of his brothers were born and allegedly started their gang.

Two weeks ago, his brother Arturo, reputed chief of the Beltran Leyva cartel, was killed in a shootout with Mexican marines in the central city of Cuernavaca. He was the highest-ranking cartel suspect taken down since Calderon sent tens of thousands of soldiers and federal police across the country three years ago to fight brutal drug gangs.

Mexican officials in the past have described Carlos Beltran Leyva, 40, as a key member of the gang, but it was unclear if he took over as chief of the cartel after his brother.

Some 65 suffer monoxide intoxication near Paris

PARIS, 3 Jan — About 65 people suffered from carbon monoxide intoxication on New Year's Day in Seine-Saint-Denis department to the northeast of Paris, police said on Friday.

The city prefect of Pantin, the site of the incident, told local media that the intoxication occurred around 2:00 am. when over 200 people were enjoying New Year feast in a dining hall.

All victims, including two in grave situation, have been sent to nearby hospitals.

Preliminary investigation attributed the collective poisoning to the flawed extra heating appliance and the unventilated dining room, local official Philippe Bon said.

As winter fell, more carbon monoxide intoxication cases have been reported across France. More than 200 people reportedly suffered from intoxication. —Xinhua

Uruguay floods cause 600 homeless on New Year's eve

MONTEVIDEO, 3 Jan — At least 626 Uruguayans had to celebrate the arrival of the New Year in temporary shelters due to the long-lasting floods that, in the worst cases, had begun since last November.

The National Emergency System (NES) of Uruguay said on Friday that these people had to be evacuated from several regions where rivers overflowed their banks.

The NES said the overflow of the Negro River, in the Northwest of Uruguay, which is now 6.55 metres higher than its normal level, forced 293 residents in the nearby Mercedes City to abandon their homes on New Year's eve.—Xinhua

The five deaths, including three children, occurred in the same family. The injured have been hospitalized for monoxide poisoning, with three of them in grave condition.

Death toll from Pakistan suicide attack reaches 90

ISLAMABAD, 3 Jan — Death toll from a suicide attack in a remote village in Pakistan's northwest has reached 90, a police officer in the region said on Saturday.

A group of three suicide bombers rammed their explosive-laden car into the wall of the volleyball ground in Lakki Marwat District in North West Frontier Province, on Friday, District Police Officer Ayub Khan said.

Up to 400 people were present in the volleyball ground to watch a local match when the bombers carried out the attack in small village Shah Hassan Khel.

Officials said the bombers wanted to attack members of a local peace committee who were holding meeting in a nearby mosque.

The peace committee had helped the security forces to expel the militants from the village.

Head of peace committee, Mushtaq Marwat, said that members of the committee had received threats from several Taliban commanders in the nearby North Waziristan tribal region. He said that the Taliban militants had warned the people to end contacts with the government.

Ayub Khan said that more injured died of wounds in several hospitals. He said that several serious injured were shifted to Peshawar, the provincial capital.

Colombia troops bomb rebel camp, killing 18

BOGOTA, 3 Jan — At least 18 members of Colombia's biggest rebel army FARC were killed on Friday during a bombing of their camp, Colombian Ministry of Defence said.

The joint Colombian Air Forces and Army on Friday bombed a camp of the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia (FARC) in Llanos Orientales region (Central-East), Defence Minister Gabriel Silva said in a communique. Besides the 18 deaths, 13 rebels were captured alive and many others were injured during the action, according to Silva.

The attack target was a camp of the FARC's Front 43, located in the rural area of Vista Hermosa municipality, in the Meta department.

The bombing came after months of tracking of the rebels, and obviously caught the FARC front unprepared, in middle of their New Year celebration. Twenty-five rifles, explosives and other war materials and information were found in the camp, said the communique.

Engineered tobacco plants have more potential as biofuel, US study shows

LOS ANGELES, 3 Jan—Increasing the oil in tobacco plant leaves may be a step towards using the plants for biofuel, a new study suggests.

Researchers from the Biotechnology Foundation Laboratories (BFL) at Thomas Jefferson University said they have identified a way to increase the oil in tobacco plant leaves, thus paving the way for turning the plants into biofuel.

Their findings were published in the January issue of Plant Biotechnology Journal.

Tobacco can generate biofuel more efficiently than other agricultural crops. However, most of the oil is typically found in the seeds — tobacco seeds are composed of about 40 percent oil per dry weight.

Although the seed oil has been tested for use as fuel for diesel engines, tobacco plants yield a modest amount of seeds, at only about 600 kg of seeds per acre.

But researchers at BFL sought to find ways to engineer tobacco plants, so that their leaves expressed the oil.

Typical tobacco plant leaves contain 1.7 percent to 4 percent of oil per dry weight.—Xinhua

Convenience stores linked to child obesity

MONTREAL, 3 Jan—A Canadian researcher suggests fighting child obesity by making school zones convenience-store free.

Tracie Ann Barnett, at the Universite de Montreal and the Sainte Justine University Hospital Research Centre, and colleagues from six Quebec institutions are examining the cardiovascular and type 2 diabetes risk factors for 632 children recruited from various Montreal neighbourhoods with incomes ranging from $31,000 to $141,000.

The preliminary findings for the Quebec Adipose and Lifestyle Investigation in Youth study were presented at Canadian and French symposiums in Lyon, France.

"Access to convenience stores seems more relevant in obesity than access to fast food restaurants," Barnett says in a statement.—Internet

Vitamin E may not extend life

TEL AVIV, 3 Jan—Israeli researchers say giving everyone the anti-oxidant vitamin E may not be a good thing.

The researchers at the Tel Aviv University Sackler School of Medicine in Israel say their study finds average quality-adjusted longevity was 0.30 of a year shorter in treated people than in untreated people.

"This, of course, does not mean that everybody consuming vitamin E shortens their life by almost four months. But on average, the quality-adjusted longevity is lower for vitamin-treated people. This says something significant," study co-researcher Ilya Pinchuk said in a statement. "We've now concluded that going to the grocery or to a health food store to buy vitamin E supplements, for the most part, won't do you good. In some cases it can do harm."

Pinchuk and colleagues examined data for more than 300,000 subjects in the United States, Europe and Israel to determine quality-adjusted life years. For instance, a person healthy during the first 10 out of the 20 years of the study scored 10 for the first 10 years but after being struck by a stroke and becoming dependent on others scored 5 for the next 10 years for a total of quality-adjusted life years.—Internet

Drugs during pregnancy being studied

WASHINGTON, 3 Jan—A new public/private research programme will study the effects of prescription medications used during pregnancy, US researchers say.

The researchers from the US Food and Drug Administration, the HMO Research Network Centre for Education and Research in Therapeutics, Kaiser Permanente's multiple research centres and Vanderbilt University say very few clinical trials test the safety of medications in pregnancy although one study finds two-thirds of women delivering a baby have taken at least one prescription medication during pregnancy. The Medication Exposure in Pregnancy Risk Evaluation Programme will address that research gap, they say.

"This programme is a great example of FDA and the private sector working together to improve the health of pregnant women and their children," Dr Margaret Hamburg, commissioner of the Food & Drug Administration, said in a statement. "These data will guide regulatory policy and influence medical practice."

To overcome the challenges presented by the lack of clinical trial data about the use of medications during pregnancy, the research programme will link healthcare information for mothers and their babies from 11 participating research sites — a total of about 1 million births during the past seven years since 2001.

Stressed depressed workers less productive

BOSTON, 3 Jan—Psychological stress where people earn their paychecks can make it more difficult for depressed workers to be productive, US researchers found.

Lead author Debra Lerner, director of the Programme on Health, Work and Productivity at Tufts Medical Centre's Institute for Clinical Research and Health Policy Studies, said the researchers screened 14,268 adults employed at doctor's offices. They compared 286 depressed workers with 193 who were not depressed.

The study, to be published in the January/February issue of the American Journal of Health Promotion, found that in many cases, the depressed employees had problems at work — often having difficulty handling the pacing of work, managing a routine, performing physical job tasks and managing their usual workload.—Internet

Eye doctors: Quit smoking, save sight

LOS ANGELES, 3 Jan—US eye doctors say they have found another reason to decide to quit smoking for the New Year — saving vision.

The ophthalmologists at the University of California-Los Angeles find even in women age 80 and older, smoking continues to increase the risk of age-related macular degeneration — a disease damaging the centre of the retina that can prevent reading, driving and recognizing faces, and the leading cause of blindness in the elderly.

The researchers found smokers had 11 percent higher rates of the disease than other women their same age. Smokers over age 80 were 5.5 times more likely to develop the disease than women their age who did not smoke.

"The take-home message is that it's never too late to quit smoking," Dr Anne Coleman, the study's lead author, said in a statement. "We found that even older people's eyes will benefit from kicking the habit."

Coleman and colleagues followed a group of 1,958 women who underwent retinal photographs at five-year intervals. Seventy-five of the women — 4 percent — smoked and the researchers compared retinal images at ages 78 and 83 to evaluate whether smoking affected the women's likelihood of developing the disease compared with non-smokers.

The findings are to be published in the January issue of the American Journal of Ophthalmology.

Steven Gerrard's goal rescues Liverpool in FA Cup

LONDON, 3 Jan—Steven Gerrard scored in the 36th minute, rallying Liverpool to a 1-1 draw with second-tier Reading on Saturday to keep its FA Cup hopes alive.

Simon Church opened the scoring for Reading with a goal from close range in the 24th minute. But Gerrard tied it with a long shot as teammate Dirk Kuyt let the ball go past him in front of goal, watching it sail inside the far post. The result means that the two teams will meet again at Anfield in a replay.

Portsmouth was held to a 1-1 draw at home by second-tier Coventry. Birmingham managed only a scoreless draw with Coventry while Aston Villa and Wigan outplayed Premier League rivals to reach the fourth round. There were comfortable victories for Tottenham, Bolton, Everton, Sunderland, Stoke and Burnley against opponents from lower divisions.—Internet

MADRID, 3 Jan—FC Barcelona could only draw 1-1 at home to Villarreal in the biggest game played this Saturday in Spain's Primera Liga.

The pre-match ceremonies saw the Barca players receive the applause of the supporters in the Camp Nou stadium for the six trophies the team had won in 2009. Everything looked to be going to plan when Pedro Rodriguez opened the scoring after seven minutes. The winger collected a rebound after Thierry Henry's shot had hit the crossbar.

Villarreal responded with some flowing football and David Fuster was unfortunate to see his header bounce over the crossbar. It was the first Primera Liga game Barcelona has failed to win in its stadium this season.

Ethiopian teenager wins Xiamen Int'l Marathon in record time

XIAMEN, 3 Jan—The 19-year-old Feyisa Lilesa of Ethiopia set an event record to clinch the second marathon title of his career at the Xiamen International Marathon here on Saturday.

Lilesa, who won the 2009 Dublin Marathon in October on his debut in the 42.195-kilometre run, notched a personal best of two hours, eight minutes and 47 seconds, curtailing four seconds off the previous mark set by defending champion Mugo Samuel Muturi of Kenya.

Negari Getachew Terfa, also from Ethiopia, had to settle for second place for the second consecutive year in 2:09:40. Muturi was third in 2:10:11. In the women's race, Baysa Atsede of Ethiopia surged to an undisputable lead at 25 km before crossing home in 2:28:53, six minutes adrift of the course record set by Zhang Yingying of China in 2008.
