Dams that contribute to greening of environment

Myanmar has vast tracts of vacant and virgin land that can be used for agriculture. The economy of the nation is based on agriculture. Adequate supply of water is a prerequisite for agriculture. Therefore, the government is taking measures for fulfilling all the requirements including water supply.

Dams, weirs and sluice gates are being built wherever possible. Underground water facilities, small dams and canals are being constructed in various regions. Due to the construction of dams, some areas in Sagaing, Magway and Mandalay Divisions have become green and pleasant.

Despite many acres of arable land, Magway Division had to rely on rain for agriculture and it was not certain whether harvest would be good or bad. Now crops can be grown with the use of dam water. Especially, cultivation of edible oil crops can be extended.

Than-U-Chauk dam was inaugurated in Kyaukhtu Township in Gangaw District on 23 January. It is built across Than-U-Chauk creek. It is the 46th dam in Magway Division and will be able to irrigate more than 200 acres of farmland.

As Magway Division has 46 dams so far, acreage of irrigated farmland has increased up to more than 200,000 acres. Paddy, cotton, sugar cane and various kinds of beans and pulses and other edible oil crops are thriving in Pakokku, Yesagyo, Pwintbyu and Myaing Townships as small dams have been built there.

Nowadays, in the entire upcountry, various ways and means have been used to supply water for agriculture. Therefore, farmers are now able to grow double and mixed crops by using irrigation water beneficially. Moreover, they will have to grow other plants and trees that will contribute to the environment and climate.

The manuscripts not to be chosen for the magazine will not be sent back to the writers.—MNA

US group seized in Haiti for child trafficking

PORT-AU-PRINCE, 2 Feb—Ten members of a US charity group have been detained by Haitian police for allegedly trying to traffick children from the earthquake-devastated country, Haitian authorities said.

The five men and five women with US passports were caught late Friday while they were about to cross border to enter the Dominican Republic with 33 children, aged between two months to 14 years.

Head of the charity group told police they had good intentions and came to help local children who had lost parents in the quake or were abandoned.

However, when questioned, most of the children said their parents are still alive and some could give contact information of their families.

The US embassy in Haiti confirmed the detention of its citizens for “alleged violations of Haitian laws related to immigration.”

The Haitian authorities on Sunday warned of a rise in child smuggling cases which was making use of the chaos in the aftermath of the quake on 12 Jan.

Iran produces first unmanned helicopter

TEHRAN, 2 Feb—Iranian researchers of Amir Kabir University of Technology successfully manufactured the first light unmanned helicopter in the country, the state-run IRNA news agency reported on Monday.

The helicopter weighs 10 kilogrammes and can fly for one hour with airplane fuel, according to the report. It is equipped with automatic system and can be used for transmitting information, taking photos and movies, and, in the inter-city journey, can be used as a traffic controller and firefighter, the report said.

On 3 September last year, Iran's Khaje Nasir Toosi University of Technology unveiled the first Iranian two-seat electric urban car, the semi-official Mehr news agency reported. Dubbed “Qasedak-e Nasir” (Dandelion of Nasir), the vehicle powered by rechargeable batteries was developed by a group of young university researchers.—MNA/Xinhua

NATO oil tanker attacked in Pakistan's Peshawar

ISLAMABAD, 2 Feb—A NATO oil tanker was attacked and burned down on Monday morning in the northwest Pakistani city of Peshawar, police said.

Police said a couple of unidentified militants opened fire at the tanker that was soon wrapped up in flames.

They said the fire was hugely intense but on time activity by the fire tenders saved the nearby locality.

Police undertook a search operation against the unidentified miscreants but nobody was arrested.

Locals said the militants ordered the driver and his assistant to get down and set the tanker on fire. Militants frequently attacked oil tankers and trucks bringing goods from Pakistan's port city of Karachi for forces battling Taliban in Afghanistan. It was reported that around 80 percent of the US-led NATO forces supplies are transported through the neighbouring country.

At least 15 killed in fighting in Somali capital

HARGEISA, 2 Feb—At least 15 civilians, including a 4-year-old child, were killed when militants and government soldiers pounded each other's positions with mortars in the Somali capital overnight, residents and a nurse said on Monday.

Eight bodies were removed from the rubble in northern Mogadishu, said resident Osman Guled. Four bodies were found in another part of the capital, said Sharifo Hussein, who lives in Yaqshid District. Three others died at Medina hospital, said nurse Yasmin Jim'ale.

Ahmed Daud Dahir, a commander with the presidential guard, said the militants lobbed more than six mortars at the presidential palace but no one there was wounded. President Sheik Sharif Sheik Ahmed was not in the palace during the attack because he is in neighbouring Ethiopia for an African Union leaders meeting.

Dahir said government soldiers retaliated, hitting exactly where militants had fired their mortars. Militants have attacked the presidential palace several times in the past three years, but there has been little damage and few injuries.

Four NATO troops, one from US, die in Afghan fighting

KABUL, 2 Feb—Four NATO service members — including one American — were killed in action on Monday, the deadliest day for the international force in more than two weeks.

Combat deaths are still running at higher levels than in recent years even through the traditional winter fighting lull and despite talk of peace overtures to the Taliban and their allies.

The American service member, who was not identified, died in a roadside bombing in southern Afghanistan, the NATO command announced. Two British soldiers also died in bomb blasts during a foot patrol in the south, the main theatre of the war. ## France seizes seven tons of cannabis PARIS, 2 Feb—France has seized seven tons of resinified cannabis and arrested seven suspects on Sunday near Paris, police said Monday.

French police found the cannabis stashed in a lorry full of oranges in Gonesse, on northeastern outskirts of Paris after months of coordinated investigation and scout with Moroccan and Spanish police.

The seven people accused of drug traffic included two French men, while others were still under interrogation, police said.

This is the biggest haul of cannabis in France since the beginning of 2009. Ten years ago, French policed had captured 23.5 tons of cannabis in north France, which is as of now the highest record.

New Zealand girl, 14, uses body-board to fend off shark

WELLINGTON, 2 Feb—Fourteen-year-old Lydia Ward said she was at a beach near the southern city of Invercargill when the shark struck.

The shark, about 1.5m (4.9ft) in length, is reported to have lunged at her and tried to bite her hip.

Standing in water that only reached up to her waist at Oreti Beach, she said she hit the “big, grey, slippery thing” repeatedly with her body-board.

“I showed Dad and he didn’t really believe me but then I showed him my wetsuit with all the blood coming out and he believed me,” Lydia told Radio New Zealand.

Although not seriously injured, Lydia required hospital treatment for two of the deeper wounds.

Her mother told a local newspaper that Lydia thought she had accidentally stood on the shark before it had attacked her.

She said neither Lydia nor her 15-year-old brother, also in the water at the time of the attack, planned to go back into the sea in the very near future.

Shark attacks are very rare. Researchers say that more people die from bee stings and lightning strikes than shark attacks.

Global chip sales down 9% in 2009

SAN FRANCISCO, 2 Feb—Worldwide semiconductor sales in 2009 fell 9 percent from 2008, a decline that is better than predicted, a leading US trade group said on Monday.

Global chips sales in 2009 totaled 226.3 billion US dollars, surpassing the previous forecast of 219.7 billion dollars, according to year-end numbers released by the Semiconductor Industry Association (SIA), which is based in San Jose, California.

“2009 turned out to be a better year for the global semiconductor industry than expected,” George Scalise, president of SIA, said in a statement.

“A strong focus on inventories throughout the supply chain mitigated the impact of the worldwide economic downturn and positioned the industry for growth as the global economy recovers,” he added.—Xinhua

Toyota to restart production in US next week

CHICAGO, 2 Feb—Toyota Motor Sales USA will resume production next week, Jim Lentz, president and chief operating officer at Toyota Motor Sales, said in a conference call on Monday in Washington.

Toyota Monday morning said its dealers should be receiving parts starting late on Tuesday to fix accelerator pedals on 2.3 million recalled vehicles in the United States.

Six North American plants are shut down this week in the recall of eight current and previous model year cars and trucks.

Dealers will get replacement parts by late Tuesday or early Wednesday, Lentz said.

In addition to the production halt, Toyota issued a “stop sell” order on the recalled models.

The order will be lifted on a “vehicle by vehicle” basis, Lentz said, as dealers repair individual vehicles. But Lentz said dealers’ priority should be on repairing customers’ vehicles — rather than fixing vehicles for sale on the lot.

The repair will take about 30 minutes at a dealership, and customers should go to their dealers once they receive a notification letter from Toyota starting later this week.

Oil trims gains after $75 hit, dollar stronger

SINGAPORE, 2 Feb—Oil pared gains on Tuesday as the dollar strengthened, with the market’s attention turning to forecasts for steady US crude inventories after prices topped $75 earlier on optimism about the economy.

The US dollar rose after Australia’s central bank surprised markets by leaving its interest rates unchanged, sending the Australian dollar down.

March US crude was up 32 cents at $74.75 at 0540 GMT (12:40 am EST), after touching $75.44 earlier, a rebound of over $3 from last week’s 2010 lows. London ICE Brent rose 22 cents to $73.33.

“The big gains were linked to expectations of recovery, but people are reassessing oil market fundamentals, looking to the next inventory report to derive some guidance,” said David Moore, a commodity strategist with the Commonwealth Bank of Australia.

“We have a situation where demand in the US still seems quite subdued. We have seen a fairly marginal movement in the dollar, that might be having a negative impact on the oil price,” More said.

US crude stockpiles probably slipped by 200,000 barrels in the week ended 29 January following disruptions at a Texas port, while inventories of distillates, including heating oil and diesel, may have declined by 900,000 barrels, a Reuters preliminary survey showed.

Kenya hopes to benefit from China's eight new Sino-African cooperation measures

ADDIS ABABA, 2 Feb— Kenya expects to gain full benefits from the Chinese government's eight new measures of promoting Sino-African cooperation, Kenyan Foreign Minister Moses Wetangula said during an exclusive interview with Xinhua on Monday.

Kenya wants to benefit from the measures in areas such as agriculture, Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs), infrastructure development, energy and environment, said Wetangula, who is here to attend the 14th African Union (AU) summit held in the Ethiopian capital.

The Chinese government announced eight new measures aimed at promoting pragmatic Sino-African cooperation at the fourth ministerial meeting of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation (FOCAC) in Sharm El-Sheikh, Egypt last November.

The measures included, among others, intensification of technical-scientific cooperation, reinforcement of African financial capacities and increased access of African products to the Chinese market.—Xinhua

Haiti re-opens schools after killer earthquake

PORT-AU-PRINCE, 2 Feb — Schools in Haiti's capital city re-opened on Monday after the 12 Jan killer earthquake as President Rene Preval said all elementary schools should re-open in March.

UNICEF communication officer Francis Vanni said that children would return to school activities as soon as their schools are ready to receive them in Port-au-Prince and the other towns affected by the earthquake.

Vanni also said that as efforts to rebuild all schools would take time, he urged the international community to continue assisting Haitian children.

On Monday, some children were seen walking with their parents to the few schools that were re-opened with limited curricular activities.

LA Times print edition shrinks due to economic recession

LOS ANGELES, 2 Feb— The Los Angeles Times, the largest newspaper on the West Coast, began to trim its print edition again on Monday due to the economic recession and changing readership habits.

The most-obvious change to readers are the reduction in width of the printed page. The double-page paper stock are trimmed from 48 inches to 44 inches, meaning a two-inch haircut for each printed page.

For the first time in decades, on Monday's Times are printed without a stand-alone business section. The newspaper's editors plan to sprinkle business news into the combined world/nation/ state/local section each Monday.

Deadlines for the main sections of the newspaper are advanced about three hours earlier, to accommodate a 6 pm Press run. Late-breaking news are highlighted in a new section to be called LATEXtra, which are inserted into the main sections late each evening.

The sports section continue to have its customary late deadlines each night, to enable coverage of games and scores, The Times said.

Insiders at The Times have griped that the earlier deadlines are to enable the paper to continue a lucrative printing job: producing West Coast editions of the Wall Street Journal and New York Post under contract from Press baron Rupert Murdoch's News Corporation.—Xinhua

Ransom paid for cargo ship captured by Somali pirates

MOGADISHU, 2 Feb—A ransom for the release of cargo ship MV Filitsa has been sent to Somali pirates, according to agencies' reports on Monday.

The reports said the agreed ransom was air-dropped by helicopters onto the cargo vessel held by the pirates, but the ship had not been freed immediately.

Armed Somali pirates hijacked the Greek-owned ship with crew members last November in the attacks along the world's most dangerous waters.

Andrew Mwangura, the coordinator of the East Africa Seafarers Assistance Programme (SAP), had said the Marshall Islands-registered MV Filitsa was captured about 513 miles off north of Seychelles with three Greeks and 19 Filipinos on board.

The Horn of Africa nation's coastline is considered one of the world's most dangerous stretches of water because of piracy.

Somalia is at the entrance to the Gulf of Aden, which leads to the Red Sea and the Suez Canal, one of the world's most important shipping channels. The country has been plagued by factional fighting between warlords and has not had a functioning central administration since the 1991 ouster of former ruler Mohammed Siad Barre.

Nigeria sabotage forces cut in Shell output

LAGOS, 2 Feb—Anglo-Dutch oil group Shell said on Monday it had shut in some production in southern Nigeria after a key supply pipeline was sabotaged hours after militants announced the end of a ceasefire.

Oil prices rose on the news on Monday, with New York's main futures contract, light sweet crude for delivery in March, gaining 88 cents to 73.77 dollars a barrel at about 1650 GMT.

London's Brent North Sea crude for March rose 86 cents to 72.32 dollars per barrel.

"We have shut in some output as a result of the vandalization of the Trans Ramos pipeline in our western operations at the weekend," a Shell spokesman told AFP.

He declined to say if the company believed it was a militant-related attack.

Another Shell spokesman said that a leak had been located on the pipeline on Saturday. "The leak was stopped and an investigation has confirmed the leak was due to a sabotage." "Three flow stations were shut down to allow for the investigations. Repairs will commence as soon as possible," she said.—Internet

Baltic countries to talk on solutions to save Baltic Sea

HELSINKI, 2 Feb—Representatives from the ten Baltic Sea states will gather here on 10 Feb for the Baltic Sea Action Summit to coordinate actions to save the Baltic Sea from serious pollution.

While gathering heads of state and government, the summit, initiated by Finnish President Tarja Halonen and Prime Minister Matti Vanhanen, will also bring together representatives of NGOs and the business sector who are willing to make concrete commitments to the revival of the Baltic Sea.

Surrounded almost totally by land, the Baltic Sea is extremely endangered by marine pollution, and it is considered one of the most polluted oceans in the world. According to the Finnish presidential office, high-level participants include Sweden's King Carl XVI Gustaf, Russian Prime Minister Vladimir Putin and Danish Prime Minister Lars Lokke Rasmussen.

Egypt tightens penalties for relics robbers, smugglers

Parliament amended Egypt's antiquities law on Monday to bring in stiffer punishments for the theft and smuggling of relics while granting patent rights to the country's antiquities council.

The amendment requires Egyptians who have antiquities to report their possessions to the Supreme Council of Antiquities, headed by Zahi Hawass, in six months. The sale of antiquities is still banned.

"Parliament agreed on article eight that forbids trade in antiquities but allows possession of antiquities with some individuals, on condition that they cannot use them to benefit others, or to damage and neglect them," Hawass said.

These relics, he said, can in future only be given as a gift with the council's authorization.

They may also be passed on as part of an inheritance.

The antiquities legal counsel, Ashraf el-Ishmawi, who helped in the drafting of the amendments, clarified that the law precluded antiques and heirlooms.

During a recent visit to Kengtung, we the news crew of Myanma Alin saw Kengtung in peace and stability gaining development momentum.

While in Kengtung, we went sightseeing of neat and tidy roads, roundabouts, housings and buildings. To gather facts about the efforts made for progress of the town, we had an interview with Executive Officer of Kengtung Township Development Affairs Committee Assistant Director U Aung Htay Kywe.

“Our committee manages to undertake the construction of tarred roads in the town, supply of water, growing of flowery plants and shade trees along the roads and carrying out of sanitation tasks daily with the close supervision of the Chairman of Shan State Peace and Development Council and the assignments of the Ministry for Progress of Border Areas and National Races and Development Affairs.”

All local roads were tarmacked to enhance the image of the town. We saw maintenance of all the roads.

“We have maintained Mongyan Road and Loimwe Road in Kengtung. Moreover, we have laid concrete in the vacant space between the housings and the roads. So, you can see all the roads are neat and tidy,” the executive officer continued.

We visited downtown Kengtung and noticed the efforts of the Township DAC in keeping the local roads clean and pleasant. We saw the decorated works such as beautiful pavements, flowery plants, shade trees and landscaping along Mongla junction leading to Kengtung Airport.

New housings and various buildings can be seen along the local roads namely Mongyan Road, Airport Road, Loimwe Road, Tachilek Road and the Exit Road to Taunggyi. The town hall on Airport Road is a symbol of Kengtung.

Especially, the water surface of the lake is clean. We learned that during the Maha Thingyan water festival, Naungton Lake is always packed with water throwing pandals and those enjoying the festival.

We next visited the beautiful landscaping near the golf course at the entrance to the town, and growing of flowery plants from Mongla junction to the town. We noticed that the triangle shape traffic islands are decorated with landscaping. The Township DAC supervises sanitation tasks along Mongyan Road, Airport Road, Loimwe Road, Tachilek Road and Taunggyi Road with the use of five garbage vans for keeping the town clean and tidy.

During the visit to Kengtung, we witnessed the development of Kengtung in full swing as peace and stability have been restored. As a result, the Kengtung dwellers are enjoying fruits of progress in all aspects.

Naungton Lake is one of the most attractive places in Kengtung. We observed that the lake has an area of one square mile and it is located in Ward 5 of Kengtung. The lake is surrounded with a tarred road. The bund of the lake is filled with stones. Red brick posts are erected along the bund fenced with steel fixings. Flowery plants are in full bloom along the bund.

After giving necessary instructions, the Prime Minister viewed the construction site of the project.

The Prime Minister inspected progress in construction of bored piles in the site in Pakokku on the bank of Ayeyawady River.

At Letpanchepaw, the Prime Minister looked into construction of bored piles for the bridge and left necessary instructions.

Afterwards, the Prime Minister viewed progress of the construction for the bridge at Letpanchepaw on the bank of Ayeyawady River.

Minister Maj-Gen

Khin Maung Myint submitted the report on rising of water level at Ayeyawady River and efforts being made for timely completion of the project task. The Prime Minister gave instructions on completion of the bridge construction tasks on schedule and arrangements to be made for timely arrival of construction materials and attended to the needs.

The Prime Minister and party spent night in Bagan.

Ayeyawady Bridge (Pakokku) will have a 11,431 feet long main bridge and a 14,181 feet long motorway. The bridge will have a 28 feet wide two-way motorroad and a 14 feet wide area railroad. The pedestrian way will be 3 feet and 3 inches each. The facility is of reinforced concrete steel frame bridge that can withstand 60-ton loads. In Myanmar, Ayeyawady Bridge (Pakokku), 21,931 feet long, will be the longest among the bridges built by the Ministry of Construction.—MNA water to about 95,000 local people of 11 large wards in the township. In order to avert water shortage in the township, Mahasi water supply enterprise daily supplies 0.8 million gallons of underground water to Region (9), (15) and (16) in Aung Zeya Ward, and Aung Thukha Ward.

For the time being, 1.44 million gallons of water from Meiktila Lake are pumped with six waterworks to supply safe water to urban people and 0.08 million of gallons to Kyidawgon Ward daily. And several programmes are underway to supply water to Yan Myo Aung Ward and Mittabala Ward on self-reliant basis.

In compliance with the directives of the Ministry for Progress of Border Areas and National Races and Development Affairs, Meiktila Township Development Affairs Committee is implementing all-round tasks to upgrade Meiktila Township to an urbanized region. Simultaneously, the committee is taking measures for ensuring smooth and secure transport in the township. As part of the drive, it has constructed a good number of inter-village bridges and roads, and culverts.

With the aim of translating into reality the guidance of the Head of State, and the directive of the ministry is now working hard for ensuring sufficient rural water supply. In 2009-2010 financial year, the committee sank tube-wells and built brick tanks in 11 villages in the township.

Now, rural folks in Meiktila Township are happy because they have easy access to adequate potable water supply. Now, the projects Meiktila Township Development Affairs Committee has on the go for development and keeping the township clean is in full swing. The number of the fine roads constructed and upgraded in rural areas in the township on the increase. As a result, there has been a better trade of agricultural produce including rice, beans and pulses, sesame, corn, cotton, and many other crops between rural and urban areas in the township. And the life quality of the rural residents is improving satisfactorily.

Russia, US resume arms treaty negotiations

GENEVA, 2 Feb—Officials from Russia and the United States resumed arms treaty negotiations on Monday in Geneva.

The talks aim to update a bilateral agreement called the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START), which expired in December. Gareth Evans, co-chair of the International Commission on Nuclear Non-Proliferation and Disarmament, told reporters in Geneva on Monday that a new version of the treaty is "on the verge of happening," and described the remaining issues as insubstantial.

Evans, who on Monday released a report on nuclear disarmament called Eliminating Nuclear Threats, said that the "most crucial of all years is this year." In addition to the START negotiations, several international conferences will take place this spring, such as US President Barack Obama's Nuclear Security Summit in April and the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty Review Conference in May.

Evans also called on the United Nations Conference on Disarmament (CD) to bring ratification of the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty (CTBT) to the General Assembly.—Xinhua

Exercise affects insulin sensitivity

ANN ARBOR, 2 Feb—A US researcher says what is eaten after exercise produces differences in the way the body metabolizes.

Senior author Jeffrey Horowitz of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor also says many of the health benefits of aerobic exercise are due to the most recent exercise session rather than weeks or longer of exercise training.

"Many of the improvements in metabolic health associated with exercise stem largely from the most recent session of exercise, rather than from an increase in 'fitness' per se," Horowitz says in a statement. The study, published in the Journal of Applied Physiology, finds exercise enhanced insulin sensitivity, particularly of carbohydrates eaten after the exercise session. Enhanced insulin sensitivity means sugar is taken from the blood stream into tissues like muscles to be stored or used as fuel. Impaired insulin sensitivity—known as insulin resistance.

Fire engulfs 60 hectares of forest in SW China

BEIJING, 2 Feb—More than 900 fire fighters are still trying to put out a forest fire in the Liangshan Yi autonomous prefecture of southwestern China's Sichuan Province, the State Forest Fire Prevention Headquarters said on Monday.

The fire started in Liangshan prefecture's Muli County on 29 Jan, and had engulfed more than 60 hectares of forest as of 5 pm on Monday, the headquarter said.

More than 900 fire fighters are currently trying to put out the fire but had so far failed to bring it under control, it said, adding that artificial precipitation in the region was unavailable.

Sophisticated brain scans help detect precursors to Alzheimer's disease

LOS ANGELES, 2 Feb—Sophisticated brain scans can help detect the precursors to Alzheimer's disease before any symptoms begin, according to a new study.

The University of California in Los Angeles (UCLA) announced at the weekend that its researchers tracked 169 people over three years who had been diagnosed with mild cognitive impairment or MCI, a condition that causes memory problems greater than those expected for an individual's age—but not the personality or cognitive changes that define Alzheimer's.

They discovered that after three years, those who went on to be diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease showed a 10 to 30 percent greater atrophy in two specific locations within the brain's hippocampus, a part of the brain known to be critical for long-term memory.

In another study, researchers looked at 10 cognitively normal elderly people and compared their brain scans with those of seven other elderly people who were later diagnosed with MCI and then Alzheimer's disease.

Chinese VP urges sum-up of study on scientific theory

BEIJING, 2 Feb—Chinese Vice President Xi Jinping on Monday urged all localities and departments to earnestly summarize experiences of the study and implementation of the Scientific Outlook on Development and make full use of its positive outcomes.

Xi, also a Standing Committee member of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China (CPC) Central Committee, made the remarks when he chaired a seminar held on Monday in Beijing on the sum-up of the study and implementation of the theory, which emphasized the well-being of people and comprehensive, coordinated and sustainable development.

He called for efforts to continue the study and research on the scientific outlook on development and well implement the theory, so as to accumulate new experiences.

The CPC launched the campaign to study and implement the theory in September 2008, embracing a wide participation of more than 75 million CPC members. The campaign was scheduled to end at the end of this month, but Xi said, the implementation of the theory was a long-term mission and must be continued.—Xinhua

Sony Pictures Entertainment cuts 450 jobs

LOS ANGELES, 2 Feb—Sony Pictures Entertainment is to trim 450 jobs from its workforce, the studio said, with executives citing online piracy and changing viewer habits as reasons for the cuts.

A company statement said a further 100 open positions will be closed, while the lay-offs — roughly 6.5 percent of the company's 6,800 workforce — would be completed by early March.

"The decision to take this step was difficult," studio chiefs Amy Pascal and Michael Lynton told employees in a memo released to media. "But it's being done in the context of a strategy designed to help us safeguard our competitiveness and chart our own course through these troubled waters."

The memo cited the changing media landscape as being part of the reason for the cuts, which would impact the company's home entertainment and IT divisions.—Internet

Bordeaux wine industry rallies to survive in US

BORDEAUX, 2 Feb—Bordeaux vintners and merchants are rallying to survive in a thirsty but tumultuous US market after their biggest customer there defected.

US importer Chateau & Estate Wines (DC&E), a subsidiary of UK drinks giant Diageo, last year ended a 35-year relationship with Bordeaux fine wine and began aggressively liquidating tens of millions of dollars' worth of stock at 40 to 60 percent discounts.

DC&E was for years the largest US buyer of Bordeaux and had amassed a huge cellar, which is now being sold off.

Diageo, which remains in the Bordeaux business outside the United States, left the US market for Bordeaux fine wine in the face of enormous unsold stocks, shrinking profit margins and a trend among US consumers toward less expensive wine.

"DC&E still has a huge inventory — thousands of cases, it's still on the (US) market, hanging over our necks like the sword of Damocles," Guillaume Touton, owner of US importer-distributor Monsieur Touton Selections, told AFP.—Xinhua

Russia's Lukoil to invest 30b dollars in Iraqi oil field

MOSCOW, 2 Feb—Russian state energy monopoly Lukoil will invest 30 billion US dollars with its foreign partners in the development of the West Qurna-2 oil field in Iraq, said the company's CEO on Monday.

First phase of investment to the oil field, whose annual output is estimated at 95 million metric tons, will reach 4.5 billion dollars, said Vagit Alekperov when meeting with Prime Minister Vladimir Putin.

Russia has cancelled more than 10 billion dollars, or 90 percent of the debt owed to it by Iraq, said Putin, adding that the Iraqi government has welcomed Lukoil's move.

It was also "a pleasure" for Lukoil and Norwegian Norsk Statoil to win the tender for the West Qurna-2 in last December, he said.—Xinhua

Exxon quarterly profit tops Street, stock up three percent

HOUSTON, 2 Feb—Exxon Mobil Corp (XOM.N) reported a fourth-quarter profit on Monday that topped Wall Street expectations as natural gas projects boosted results at the largest US oil company's exploration arm.

Still, Exxon's net income fell 23 percent as weak demand for fuel in the global economic slowdown caused a loss in its refining business.

Exxon's shares rose 3 percent, outperforming a 2.2 percent gain in the Chicago Board Options Exchange index of oil companies (OIX). Oil and gas production increased nearly 2 percent in the quarter to 4.18 million barrels of oil equivalent (BOE) per day — better than some analysts had expected — helped by production from Exxon's massive liquefied natural gas (LNG) projects in Qatar.

"Natural gas production in Asia Pacific and the Middle East was up 31 percent," Pavel Molchanov, analyst at Raymond James, said. "That's where a lot of the growth came from. They had those big liquefaction terminals start up in Qatar in the second half of the year." Exxon is also investing in natural gas closer to home. The company has said it plans to buy XTO Energy Inc (XTO.N) for about $30 billion in stock in a big bet on North America's fast-growing natural gas industry.

McDonald's to expand operations in Russia

Moscow, 2 Feb—US fastfood magnate McDonald's has planned to beef up its operations in Russia, the corporation's president and CEO announced here on Monday.

As the company marked the 20th anniversary since its first restaurant was opened in Moscow in the Soviet era, Jim Skinner said McDonald's has planned to invest around 135 million US dollars expanding and upgrading operations in Russia this year.

This year, some 45 new outlets will be launched in the country, while through 2012 some 40-45 new outlets will be launched annually, he added.

According to the RIA Novosti news agency, with 245 outlets in business, McDonald's currently holds an estimated 70 percent share of Russia's fastfood store service market. It serves around 600,000 people in Russia daily.—Xinhua

Kenyan police find new cache of 30,000 bullets

NAROK, 2 Feb—Kenya's police chief says officers have seized another cache of bullets at the premises of a man already facing charges for a separate arms seizure last year.

Matthew Itere says police found the Kenyan and Czech-made bullets in a container at Munir Ahmed's garage. He says police seized two other containers but are yet to confirm their contents.

Most of the 30,000 bullets are Kenyan, Itere says. Such bullets are made at a government plant and only issued to Kenya's armed forces.

Lawyer Cliff Ombeta says his client could not have been involved with the latest cache because he had been in police custody since 8 Dec.

Ahmed was arrested after police found up to 100,000 bullets and an assortment of guns at his home and business premises.

Obama calls for end to US moon programme

WASHINGTON, 2 Feb—US President Barack Obama sent Congress a budget on Monday with a record 1.56-trillion-dollar deficit, which calls for an end to the US mission to return to the moon.

“We are proposing cancelling the programme, not delaying it,” Peter Orszag, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said during a conference call. The White House redlined NASA’s flagship Constellation programme, because it was too costly. The over-budget programme includes building a replacement for the space shuttle to allow astronauts to reach low-earth orbit, a new-generation rocket and modules for a moon base. Obama instead proposed boosting the development of commercial rockets and other vehicles that can ferry US astronauts to the International Space Station. Funds previously earmarked for the Constellation programme would be used for research projects that include robotics and other technologies needed to prepare for an eventual human mission to Mars.

Analysts say getting the cancellation through Congress will be a tough mission for the administration, as lawmakers from Florida and other states with close ties to the space programme are likely to oppose moves that could threaten local jobs.

French court seeks answers on deadly Concorde crash

PARIS, 2 Feb—US airline Continental and French aviation officials go on trial on Tuesday for the manslaughter of 113 people who died in Paris when a supersonic Concorde plummeted to the ground in a ball of fire.

The New York-bound jet crashed shortly after take-off from Charles de Gaulle Airport on 25 July, 2000, killing all 109 people on board — most of them Germans — and four hotel workers on the ground.

Two Continental employees, a former French civil aviation official and two Concorde engineers will from Tuesday be tried on the same charge in a court near Paris, with proceedings expected to last four months.

A French accident inquiry concluded in 2004 that the disaster was partly caused by a strip of metal that fell onto the runway from a Continental Airlines DC-10 plane that took off just before the supersonic jet.

It said the Concorde ran over the super-hard titanium strip, which shredded one of its tyres. That caused a blow-out and sent debris flying into an engine and a fuel tank and set it on fire, according to the inquiry. But Continental has rejected that claim, arguing that the fire began before the plane reached the spot where the metal strip lay and that Concorde suffered from dangerous design defects which were known about but not corrected.—Internet

Pathogens in some restaurant milk in Spain

percent of the samples exceeded the maximum contamination levels established by EU law for pathogens and 31 percent exceeded the limits set for mesophilic aerobic microorganisms,” one of the study’s authors, Isabel Sospedra, says in a statement.—Internet

Mexican mayor fears massacre of 16 was random

CIUDAD JUAREZ, 2 Feb—The mayor of a violent Mexican border city said on Monday he fears a shooting that killed 16 people in a working class neighbourhood may have been random because many of the victims were “good kids” with no apparent ties to drug gangs.

The dead included at least eight teenagers, the youngest a 13-year-old girl.

Mayor Jose Reyes Ferriz said police were pursuing all lines of investigation. But he said none of the victims of the attack on Saturday night had criminal records, and the teenagers were “good kids, students, athletes.”

He said he feared violence was reaching levels of brutality shocking even for Ciudad Juarez, which faces El Paso, Texas, and has become one of the world’s deadliest cities amid rampant battles between drug gangs fighting for turf and smuggling routes north.

“There is no logical explanation, a concrete reason for this event. This is something that worries us, gratuitous or random criminal acts,” Reyes told MVS Radio. “It goes way beyond what had been happening and puts Ciudad Juarez in even greater danger.”—Internet

South Africa's McCarthy moves to West Ham

LONDON, 2 Feb—South Africa's Benni McCarthy completed his long anticipated move to West Ham United from Premier League rivals Blackburn Rovers on Monday's transfer deadline day.

South Africa's Benni McCarthy

The 32-year-old joined for an undisclosed fee on an 18 month contract that will keep him at Upton Park until 2012.

McCarthy, who could make his debut for the relegation threatened London side in Saturday's league match against fellow strugglers Burnley, said he had wanted West Ham to be his first club in English football when he left Portuguese side Porto.

"I am very pleased and extremely happy," McCarthy, South Africa's record goalscorer, with 32 goals in 77 internationals, told West Ham's website.

"This is a great club. The reason why I am happy that it has finally happened is because about five years ago I had a disappointing experience when I thought I was going to be a West Ham player until Porto pulled out and I had to go back," added McCarthy, who scored 37 goals in 109 league matches for Rovers after arriving at Ewood Park from Porto in July 2006.

McDonald departs as Celtic sign Kamara and Keane

GLASGOW, 2 Feb—Australia striker Scott McDonald's successful Celtic career came to an end on Monday as he joined English Championship side Middlesbrough for an undisclosed fee in a transfer deadline day move. His departure from the Glasgow giants came as Ireland captain Robbie Keane and Senegal striker Diomansy Kamara both moved to Parkhead in loan deals from, respectively, Tottenham and Fulham.

McDonald, currently sidelined by a hernia injury, scored 50 goals in 88 league appearances for Celtic after joining the club before the start of the 2007-08 season.

He became the fifth player Boro's former Celtic boss Gordon Strachan has signed from his old club, following Barry Robson, Willo Flood, Chris Killen and Stephen McManus. Strachan further expanded his Scottish colony on Monday by signing Aberdeen forward Lee Miller.—Internet

Sunderland freefall goes on

SUNDERLAND, 2 Feb—Sunderland failed to halt their slide towards the relegation quagmire after Stoke claimed a deserved point in an uninspiring goalless stalemate here on Monday.

The draw means Steve Bruce's side, who started the season in such promising fashion they were being tipped as contenders for Europe, have now won only once in their last 14 league matches and they are just four points above the bottom three.

Stoke had the better of the chances, with former Sunderland player Dean Whitehead enjoying a couple of good chances, although the hosts could justifiably claim they had been denied a second-half penalty following an apparent handball by Robert Huth.

Sunderland manager Steve Bruce was admirably blunt on his assessment of the match - entertainment wise that is.

"It was an abysmal game to be honest," said the 49-year-old.

"You want three points to end the run we have been enjoying but while we were nervous and edgy at least the commitment and resilience, which has been lacking, was there.

"This might be the springboard we need."

Whitehead had the best chance of a lacklustre opening period with less than three minutes on the clock.

Cagliari coach beats 'special one' Mourinho to award

Cagliari's coach Massimiliano Allegri

ROME, 2 Feb—Cagliari's Massimiliano Allegri won the coach of the year award for the 2008/09 season on Monday easily beating quadruple defending Serie A champions Inter Milan's Jose Mourinho.

Allegri, 42, won the award with 40percent of the vote of his fellow coaches after guiding Sardinia-based Cagliari, who are regarded as one of the lesser lights in the league, into a respectable ninth place in last year's championship.

Mourinho, who refers to himself as the 'special one', received just 20percent of the vote.

Allegri arrived at Cagliari in 2008 after coaching lower division outfits Grosseto (2005-2007) and Sassuolo (2007-2008).—Internet

FA say Terry's England captaincy in Capello's hands

LONDON, 2 Feb—England manager Fabio Capello alone will make a decision on John Terry's future as England captain, the Football Association (FA) said on Monday.

The 29-year-old Chelsea defender's position has been called into question following reports the married father of twins had an affair with the ex-girlfriend of former teammate Wayne Bridge.

There are now concerns the issue could have a damaging effect on England's bid to win the World Cup in South Africa later this year but the FA were adamant they would leave the matter to Capello.

"Fabio Capello alone

will make the decision about John Terry's position," said an FA spokesman. "Fabio is fully up to speed with developments regarding John Terry.

"He spoke with our chairman Lord (David) Triesman and chief executive Ian Watmore today (Monday), who both backed him to make the best decision for England on footballing grounds.

Inter loan out Brazilian striker to bitter rivals

ROME, 2 Feb—Serie A's runaway leaders Inter Milan permitted experienced Brazilian striker Mancini to move on loan to bitter city rivals AC Milan on Monday with an option to buy him outright. The 29-year-old has failed to break into the Inter first team since arriving from AS Roma in the summer of 2008 and has appeared only seven times for the Italian champions this season all as a substitute at the end of the matches.

Mancini, who was also strongly courted by French giants Marseille, came to Inter on the back of several impressive seasons at Roma where they had twice finished runners-up behind Inter in the title race and reached the last eight of the Champions League on two occasions.—Internet

Goalkeeper Cech sees key week ahead for Chelsea

HULL, 2 Feb—Goalkeeper Petr Cech is convinced Chelsea have the perfect opportunity to establish a lead at the top of the Premier League this week that could prove highly significant come the end of the season.

Carlo Ancelotti's side, which won 2-1 at Burnley on Saturday, will use the game in hand they possess over Manchester United and Arsenal at Hull City on Tuesday night.

Begovic joins Stoke from Pompey

Goalkeeper Asmir Begovic

LONDON, 2 Feb—Stoke signed goalkeeper Asmir Begovic from Premier League rivals Portsmouth on Monday's transfer deadline day for a fee of 3.25 million pounds, the buying club announced.

The 22-year-old Bosnia international signed a four-and-a-half-year contract shortly before the window closed and his move is set to see some much needed funds find their way to Fratton Park where cash-strapped Portsmouth, bottom of the top flight table, face a winding up order from British tax authorities.

"Asmir is someone we have been tracking for some time and we believe that potentially he is the best young keeper in the country," said Stoke manager Tony Pulis.

Last month Pulis tried to sign another Pompey goalkeeper in David James but the loan deal collapsed over the issue of the England international's wages.

Begovic will compete with Danish international Thomas Sorensen for the starting XI spot.

55 nations set 2020 carbon goals since Copenhagen

OSLO, 2 Feb —Fifty-five nations accounting for almost 80 percent of world greenhouse gas emissions have set national goals for fighting climate change by a deadline in the “Copenhagen Accord,” the United Nations said on Monday.

“This represents an important invigoration of the UN climate change talks,” Yvo de Boer, head of the UN Climate Change Secretariat, said of the varying national promises for curbs on emissions until 2020 submitted by a 31 January deadline.

The countries, including top emitters led by China and the United States, mostly reiterated commitments unveiled before December’s UN summit in Denmark, which disappointed many countries by failing to agree a new binding UN treaty.

It said the pledges covered 55 nations and amounted to 78 percent of global emissions from energy use.

“Greater ambition is required to meet the scale of the challenge,” de Boer said. “But I see these pledges as clear signals of willingness to move negotiations towards a successful conclusion.”
