Members of parliaments, who the voters think will be capable of generating a prosperous future for the nation, will be elected by ballot

National races have showed their massive support for the State Constitution of the Union of Myanmar to build a new nation. Now, according to the State's seven-step Road Map, a free and fair election will take place soon. That means national people will have the rights to elect representatives, and stand for election. So, members of parliaments, who the voters think will be capable of generating a prosperous future for the nation, will be elected by ballot.

PERSPECTIVES

Strive for boosting production of import-substitute items

For Myanmar to be able to catch up with the international community in terms of development, the government is striving earnestly for industrial development by laying down national economic plans.

As for the industrial sector, factories are being built to manufacture modern machinery of international standard by using modern production techniques. No (2) Tyre and Rubber Product Factory (Bilin) of the Ministry of Industry-2 was opened on 10 February. It is situated near Mile Post No.122 on Yangon-Mawlamyine Road in Bilin Township, Mon State.

The factory can produce 300,000 tyres weighing 2608 tons (altogether 11 kinds of tyre) per year as well as other rubber products including penstock rubber pipes and gloves for hospital use.

In the factory compound are rubber plantations in addition to buildings, warehouses and various production sections. Rubber, an industrial raw material crop, is much in demand in the global market. It is also an essential raw material for industrialized countries to mass-produce cars.

At a time when the State is fulfilling all requirements for producing import-substitute items in the drive for national economic growth, factory workers are to try to run their factory at full capacity, manufacture quality products and met the target.

Priority given to health care in Shan State (North)

NAY PYI TAW, 12 Feb — Deputy Minister for Health Dr Mya Oo inspected preventive measures against A/H1N1 being carried out at the border gate in Muse, Shan State (North) on 7 February.

Next, the deputy minister stressed the need for reduction of infant mortality and maternal death rate, improvement in prenatal and postnatal care, availability of safe water in each and every village, use of fly-proof latrine in every household, educating local people to build hand washing habit, combating malaria, tuberculosis and HIV/AIDS and safety measures for patients in meeting with members of health committee, specialists, nurses and health staff at the meeting hall of Muse People's Hospital.

The deputy minister also visited Namhkam, Kutkai and Hsenwi People's Hospitals. — MNA

People's Desire

- * Oppose those relying on external elements, acting as stooges, holding negative views
- * Oppose those trying to jeopardize stability of the State and progress of the nation
- * Oppose foreign nations interfering in internal affairs of the State
- * Crush all internal and external destructive elements as the common enemy

Industry-1 to cooperate with Indian company

NAY PYI TAW, 12 Feb—Minister for Industry-1 U Aung Thaung received Mr. Jayaeva Ranade and party of Ballarpur Industries Limited from India at the ministry here on 10 February.

They discussed collaboration between enterprises under the ministry and the Indian company.

American soldier dies in Iraq

BAGHDAD, 12 Feb — The US military says an American soldier has died in Iraq of injuries unrelated to combat.

A military statement says the soldier from United States Forces-Iraq died on Wednesday.

The name of the soldier is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Thursday's statement also says the incident is under investigation. It provided no further details.

The death raises to at least 4,376 the number of US military personnel who have died in Iraq since the war began in March 2003.

Heavy rains flood 20,000 houses in northern Peru

LIMA, 12 Feb — At least 20,000 houses were flooded and 150 others collapsed on Thursday as torrential rains lashed northern Peru, according to local media.

The heavy rains affected Peru's northern city of Trujillo, where three hospitals have been flooded, and some building bases cracked by the water.

In the face of floods, La Esperanza, El Porvenir and Salaverry are the most vulnerable towns in Trujillo in La Libertad Province.

According to the regional government, some 60,000 houses are in danger in the province since rocks began to slide down from hills.

The regional administration of health has issued an alert on the breakout of dengue and other diarrheal diseases resulting from the rain. —Xinhua

'Several' US troops injured in Afghan base blast

WASHINGTON, 12 Feb — An explosion rocked a joint Afghan-US combat post in eastern Afghanistan on Thursday, injuring "several" US troops, the Pentagon said, but it was not immediately clear if it was an attack.

"An explosion occurred at a joint ANSF/ISAF combat outpost in Pakhtiya province, eastern Afghanistan this evening," the US military said in a statement.

"Several ISAF service members from the United States were injured. There were no reported fatalities to ISAF or ANSF personnel," it said.

Americans and other international troops have been working closely with Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) as they try and stand up an effective military and police to protect civilians and defeat the Taliban and Al-Qaeda.

There are about 110,000 international troops as part of the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) battling the Taliban and Al-Qaeda-linked fighters.

ISAF wants to expand the Afghan army to 134,000 troops in October 2010 and 171,600 by October 2011, while the police numbers would expand from some 80,000 now, to 109,000 in October, and 134,000 the following October.

Shootout in Rio slum ahead of Carnival; eight dead

RIO DE JANEIRO, 12 Feb — Gunfire erupted Thursday in a Rio de Janeiro slum, killing at least seven suspected drug traffickers and a policeman a day before Carnival celebrations kick off.

A police spokesman said the gunbattle in the Jacarezinho slum started while police were on a routine patrol. He declined to be quoted by name, citing standard department policy.

Jacarezinho is located in northern Rio, far from the tourist areas and the Carnival parties that open Friday and draw about 500,000 visitors each year.

But the violence nevertheless adds to concerns about the city's image and how much it will be able to curtail violence as it prepares to host the 2016 Olympics.

Thursday was one of the bloodiest days in Rio since October, when a drug gang war saw police kill scores of suspects during two weeks of operations. That violence was ignited when a police helicopter was shot down by suspected traffickers, and 2,000 officers began raiding slums to look for those responsible. —Internet

6.6 magnitude quake strikes Bali, Indonesia

JAKARTA, 12 Feb — A shallow quake with magnitude of 6.6 struck waters off Bali Island, a center of Indonesia's tourist industry, on Friday morning, the Indonesian Meteorology and Geophysics Agency reported here. The US Geological Survey first recorded the quake was at 5.9 magnitude and then revised it down at 5.7 magnitude.

The quake jolted at 1:43 a.m. Jakarta time on Friday (1843 GMT Thursday) with epicenter at 210 km southwest Nusadua of Bali at the depth at 10 km under sea bed, an official of the agency Farid Nurahim told Xinhua over phone. —Xinhua

Spacewalking astronauts add space to station

CAPE CANAVERAL, 12 Feb — The International Space Station has a new room and observation deck.

Astronauts hitched the room, named Tranquility, to the space station early Friday. A pair of spacewalking astronauts watched as the 23-foot-long chamber was moved into place by a giant robotic arm.

Spacewalkers Robert Behnken and Nicholas Patrick are expected to hook up power and data cables later Friday and will tackle the plumbing during a second spacewalk Saturday night. The job of installing Tranquility is so big and complicated it will require three spacewalks.

Tranquility sports a big bay window. The domed lookout has seven windows, including the largest ever sent into space.

Space shuttle Endeavour delivered the new compartments this week.

Volkswagen launches recall in Brazil

SAO PAULO, 12 Feb—Volkswagen announced on Thursday it was recalling nearly 200,000 vehicles in Brazil because of a problem with the rear wheels that could cause them to seize or fall off.

The recall affects its Novo Gol and Voyage models made in Brazil before July 2009.

Volkswagen is the second biggest carmaker in Brazil after Italian group Fiat. It has sold more than 17 million vehicles in the country — Latin America's biggest car market — since launching operations there 50 years ago.

Its announcement follows a massive worldwide recall by Toyota over accelerator and brake problems, and another by rival Japanese maker Honda in North America, Japan, Taiwan and Australia of models with a dangerous airbag fault.

Volkswagen Brazil said on its website that 193,620 Novo Gol and Voyage cars were at risk of not having sufficient lubrication on its rear wheels, which "can cause noise and continuous use could lead to a blockage of the wheels."—Internet

France power company EDF posts 3.9 billion euros in 2009 net

PARIS, 12 Feb.—French state-owned power company Electricite de France (EDF) posted on Thursday a positive net profit of 3.9 billion euros (5.35 billion US dollars), 12 percent higher year-on-year.

The net income from EDF's ordinary operations dropped 10.7 percent to 3.92 billion euros in 2009 from 4.39 billion euros a year earlier.

"After an overall solid year for the group despite an exceptionally difficult year in France, EDF will aim at improving its operating performance in 2010," Chief Executive Officer Henri Proglio said.—Xinhua

Suzuki reaffirms plans for US market

CHICAGO, 12 Feb—Japanese carmaker Suzuki said on Thursday it remains committed to the US market despite steep declines in sales, and expressed confidence that a new vehicle launch will help it regain traction.

"We are here to stay," Gene Brown, vice president for automotive marketing and public relations for American Suzuki Corp., said at the Chicago Auto Show, when asked about speculation the company may halt US car sales. Brown said Suzuki will soon launch a new advertising campaign to show off the new mid-sized Kizashi, which will help elevate the brand's profile in the US.

Suzuki has been battling speculation in the US and Japan about its demise in the US market amid a sharp slump in sales. In January, it sold just 2,040 cars and light trucks in the US, for a market share of 0.3 percent, according to research firm Autodata.

In 2009, its sales amounted to 38,695, or 0.4 percent of the market and a drop of 54 percent from a year earlier, Autodata figures showed.

Jeff Holland, director of communication for America Suzuki, said of the rumors: "I know there is a lot speculation but it's not based on facts."

Speculation intensified after a senior Suzuki executive was quoted by the trade publication Automotive News as saying it was "difficult" to retail cars in the United States.

Suggestions that Suzuki was thinking of pulling out of the US also escalated after General Motors bought out Suzuki's stake in the CAMMI joint venture in Ingersoll, Canada.—Internet

Mongolian trade increases, exports drop in January

ULAN BATOR, 12 Feb—Mongolia's trade increased 1.9 percent to 295.5 million US dollars in the first month of this year, yet exports dropped 4 percent compared to the same month last year, the National Statistical Committee said on Thursday.

According to a committee report, the country traded with 70 countries in January, with trade turnover reaching 295.5 million dollars, including 163.5 million dollars of exports and 132 million in imports.

Trade volume increased 5.6 million dollars, or 1.9 percent compared to last January, with imports increasing 10.4 percent and exports shrinking 4 percent compared to the same period last year.

South Korea's Kia Motors introduces eco-friendly, plug-in hybrid concept car

SEOUL, 12 Feb—South Korean automaker Kia Motors Corp unveiled its first ever plug-in hybrid concept car on Thursday that is rechargeable and capable of running on both a gasoline engine and an electric motor, the company said in a statement.

The hybrid vehicle named "Ray" is still in its rudimentary stages but is being designed to reach a driving distance of more than 50 miles (80.46 km) per single battery charge using its electric motor, Kia said.

"Being green doesn't have to be an obvious statement anymore and Kia Ray exemplifies a viable blend of modern, eco-minded features for today's environmentally conscious consumers," said Peter Schreyer, chief design officer of Kia, through a Press release.

The Ray's interior is surrounded by eco-friendly recycled materials that are built to reflect the heat and sun, keeping the temperature relatively low and diminishing the need for air conditioning, the release added.—Internet

More patients with A/H1N1 found Collaborative efforts for control of virus in progress

NAY PYI TAW, 12 Feb — According to the information that there were some flu cases in Kyaukme in Shan State (North) on 9 February, a field study team led by the head of Shan State Health Department found out that 11 people were with flu-like symptoms. Five people out of them were found with the virus of New Influenza A (H1N1) after approving their laboratory results yesterday. The patients are undergoing treatment at Kyaukme People's Hospital and those who came into contact with the patients are kept in quarantine at their homes.

A release on 9 February mentioned that the virus of New Influenza A (H1N1) was found in four people in Mingaladon Township of Yangon. On 11 February, one more patient was found with the virus. Surveillance measures are being taken to family members of neighbouring houses, and they are kept in quarantine separately.

A total of 47 comprising patients with the virus and suspected persons from Dagon Myothit (North) Township in Yangon Division who are given health care at the hospital are all in good condition, and no one died in this incident. The specialists of Health Department, Central Infectious Disease Control Department and Yangon Division Health Department are taking preventive measures against the epidemic in cooperation with local authorities. Collaborative efforts are being made with added momentum to control the spread of the virus. The Ministry of Health urged the people to strictly follow the warnings on preventive measures against the virus in order to avoid the spread of virus among the public and to take part in the campaign on prevention against the pandemic disease.—MNA

Honouring the 63rd Anniversary Union Day

Inseparable national races and the future of the UnionSi Thu Aung*

In my opinion, one of the requirements for unity of a nation or a human society is to ensure mutual interest. Even in a family, the smallest human society, for instance, the husband and wife have to be reliant upon each other, sharing common goals to set up a world. They both have to do business. They occasionally perform meritorious deeds together to attain Nirvana.

Also in a nation, senses of common interests inspire its national races to rely on one another with consolidated unity.

The Union of Myanmar is a multicultural country, which is home to more than 100 national races. According to the geo position, all national races have to remain united for common interests.

As to the geo-strategic position, except Laos with which Myanmar shares border for a number of miles in the east, the population of each of all the neighbours is larger than Myanmar's. Two of them stand first and second in terms of population in the world, and Myanmar shares border with them for thousands of miles. One of them is small, but with population explosion.

One of the neighbouring countries has its natural resources exhausted due to excessive business, and is casting covetous eyes on the natural resources of its neighbours.

Myanmar is rich in natural resources, with vast areas of fallow lands for housing, thus attracting attention from many countries whose eyes are far bigger than their stomachs.

Therefore, any of the parts of the Union of Myanmar cannot stand separately. If they break away from the Union, they will come under alien threats shortly thereafter.

All national races should be well convinced of the fact that the country will perpetuate only if they remain completely harmonious, helping and relying on one another.

In the course of the history of Myanmar, national brethren always managed to repulse alien intrusions from the four directions, and safeguard the country because of the consolidated unity of all national races from all highlands and plains.

As regards the geo-strategic position, the nation has several semi-circular shape Yoma mountain ranges, which form natural barriers to alien troops. Supposing, the national races on the mountain ranges did not get involved in encountering alien attacks, it would not be possible to guard the motherland against such outside threats.

The highlanders have to rely on their brothers in plains for personal goods and other materials including rice, edible oil and salt for their everyday consumption. The rivers and creeks, the sources of fertilizer and irrigation water for dwellers of the plains rise in hilly regions.

So, the national brethren of Myanmar all benefit from the whole rivers and creeks from the very sources to the mouths. Along the Ayeyawady River, for instance, such national races as Htayan, Rawan, Lisu, Maru and Jaingphaw live along the Maykha and the Malikha rivers, whose confluence is the source of the river. Downstream the river are Bhamo and Katha townships along with the regions, home to many national races including Shanni, Kadu, and Kanan. Then, the river meets with the Shweli River, which flows from northern Shan State. The Chindwin River, which rises near the source of the Uru Creek that passes through the regions of Hkamti, Shan, Naga and Chin national races, joins the Ayeyawady River near Pakokku.

Flowing to the delta in central Myanmar, the majority of whose population are Bamars, the river empties itself into the Bay of Bengal, after

Does a region belong to a single national race? In fact, the whole Myanmar is the land belonging to all national races. Every citizen can travel freely to any other region throughout the Union, with the freedom of , business and trade and the right to settle and reside in any place within the nation. Those rights have been enumerated in the constitutions of successive periods since the independence. They are aimed at get rid of cold relations and mutual doubts among national races due to the Divide-and-Rule Policy exercised in the colonial days, and cementing the amicable relations among them. Therefore, the government has been

63rd Anniversary Union Day Objectives

- For all national races to uphold the national policy—non-disintegration of the Union, non-disintegration of national solidarity, and perpetuation of sovereignty
- To boost the sense of Union Spirit of the national people
- To defend and safeguard the Union with consolidated unity of all national races against dangers posed to disrupt State stability and development by internal and external subversives
- For all national races to work harder to build a modern, developed, discipline-flourishing democratic nation in line with the State Constitution approved with the great majority of the ballot constructing roads and bridges the length and breadth of the nation including far-flung regions, home to national races, where the colonialists did not construct any transport facilities because they would not get any economic gains.

A thorough view reveals that all national races in the Union of Myanmar cannot distance from and they have been reliant on one another. They have pursued common interests. They have shared joys and sorrows. They altogether fell under alien subjugation in the past. They regained national races at the same time in the single country. They all suffered the untold miseries of the World War II. None of the national races escaped from the evil consequences of the internal armed insurgency. Therefore, they are all under a duty to do their bit in pursuing the drive for a prosperous future for the nation, and building a modern, developed nation.

So, there should not be any conflicts among national races. National brethren have to join hands firmly with renewed vigour in shaping the nation into a new modern, developed nation.

Q : Transportation improves in Shan State to some extent. I think the state has better transportation than the past, isn't it?

A : Yes. It is true. Transportation has improved in Shan

State. Shan State had 3950 miles long motor road in 1988. Now, it has 7877 miles long road. Railroad stretched 169.4 miles in 1988. At present, the region has 496.59 miles long railroad. On completion of 236 miles long Namsang-Kengtung railroad, Shan State will have more improvement in the transport sector.

Q : Tell me facts about construction of above 180 feet long bridges in Shan State (South).

A : Well, although there was 10 bridges of over 180 feet long, Shan State now possesses 14 bridges. They are: 900 feet long Tarhsan

Bridge on Namsang-Mongnai-Mongtung-Monghsat Road, Matlan Bridge on Laikha-Mongnawng-Monghsu-Mongkawng Road, Langkho Bridge on Namsang-Mongnai-Mongtung-Monghsat Road and Hsadau Bridge on Loilem-Panketu-Hsipaw Road. The 1760 feet long Leinli Bridge under construction on Pynmana-Pinlaung Road will be completed this year. It is good news that the local national races of Shan State (South) will have easy access to Nay Pyi Taw. They can travel to the whole Union via Nay Pyi Taw.

Q : By the way, I have learned that special development regions were designated in Shan State (South). Is there improvement?

A : Yes, of course. Taunggyi and Loilem were designated as special development regions in Shan State (South). Before 1988, Shan State (South) had no technological university. On 20 January 2007, Technological University (Taunggyi) was opened in Ayethaya Myothit. Likewise, Technological University (Panglong) has also been opened. So, local national race youths were turned out as technocrats annually. Those technocrats are working in the regional development tasks. Actually, 24 special development regions have been facilitated with one Science and Arts University, one University of Computer Studies, one Technological Explain to me facts about development there.

A : Kengtung was designated as special development region in Shan State (East). Kengtung has been equipped with one university, one Technological University and one University of Computer Studies (Kengtung). From 2001 to date, Technological Uni-

While we were talking about Shan State (South), the bus entered Taunggyi. I saw thriving plantations of crops around Taunggyi. Due to reclamation of fallow and virgin lands, Shan State (South) could extend 1,399,668 acres of arable lands from 641,459 acres in 1988. The number of hospitals rose up to 58 from 36 in 1988 to provide health care services to the local people. I have learned that although there were 1930 basic education schools in Shan State (South) in 1988, the number of such schools has reached 2783 so far.

Likewise, the region had 16 dams in 1988, and now, the state has 23 dams and reservoirs. On completion of the project, Myogyi Dam will benefit 3000 acres of farmlands.

During the trip to

Township to benefit 700 acres of farmlands they will contribute to the agriculture sector.

Leinli Bridge, over 180 feet long, is under construction in Pinlaung Township, while 226 miles long Mongnai-Kengtung railroad is being constructed. Moreover, Tarhsan hydropower project that can generate 7110 megawatts and Upper Kengtawng hydropower project that can generate 51 megawatts are being implemented in Mongpan Township.

While at Heho Airport to fly to Kengtung, I saw groups of tourists. As a result of prevailing peace and stability, many tourists arrive there.

At Kengtung Airport lounge, I conversed with U Kham Taung of Monghsat.

versity (Kengtung) has produced 617 national race graduates. University of Computer Studies (Kengtung) has turned out 533 graduates from 2001 to date. The number of basic education schools in the state increased up to 572 in 2010 from 355 in 1988. The region has been facilitated with 26 hospitals including new Kengtung General Hospital to provide education and health care services to the local people thanks to the government.

Q : It is good. Does your region have progress in transportation sector?

A : Yes, It has. Kengtung-Tachilek Union Highway is over 200 miles long for all-weather use.

Afterwards, I visited downtown Kengtung and surrounding area. While in Kengtung Township, I saw modern housings and progress of Kengtung, the 200-bed Kengtung Hospital built on 40.77 acres of land near Hwekha Village of Mongzin Village-tract in Kengtung Township, construction of Pintauk Dam to irrigate over 200 acres of arable lands

In the region, there was no microwave station in 1988. At present, Shan State (East) has been facilitated with 12 microwave stations. On my visit to Tachilek Microwave Station and GSM radio station, I noticed that the local people have access to the whole nation through extended 4938 miles long motor road. So, the region has 3259 miles long motor road more than 1988. Now, you can witness the local people can travel to their destinations onboard the express bus installed with TV along the tarred road at any time.

Kengtung Road and six bridges of over 180 feet long for development of Shan State (East). In the communication sector, arrangements are being made to install 200 more telephone lines in Kengtung and 500 lines in Tachilek, construct a 350-line exchange in Kattawng Village of Kengtung Township.

Q : May I know progress of agriculture sector and irrigation facilities in Shan State (North).

A : Although Shan State (North) is teeming with hills and mountain ranges, the local farmers strove for extending the arable lands. You can see thriving paddy, tea and jute plantations. The state has now 1,504,239 acres of farmlands by extending 429,924 acres of farmlands, up from 1,074,315 acres of farmlands in 1988. In the agriculture sector, although there were 349 dams in 1988, the state has now 460 dams. As a result of building Humon and Kaukwe dams in Lashio Township to irrigate hundreds of sown acreage, the local farmers are engaged in the agricultural task on a commercial scale. You can witness unprecedented progress in the state.

In Lashio, I viewed the magnificent buildings such as Technological University (Lashio) and University of Computer Studies (Lashio), where local national race youth are pursuing higher education peacefully, the hydropower plants and the water supply of Humon Dam.

To develop Shan State (North), the plans are underway to implement Namhmyin Diversion Weir to irrigate 2500 acres of farmlands in Hsenwi Township, and Kyatilin Dyke to benefit 500 acres of lands and Pawei Diversion Weir to supply water to 120 acres of lands in Laukkai Township. On completion, the sown acreage would be extended to boost agricultural production. That is why the local people can enjoy fruits of economic development. Moreover, arrangements are being made to install 750 CDMA telephones each in Kutkai, Khaungkha

Myothit, Hsenwi Township, Namtu Township and Mantong townships. As a result, the local national brethren will have easy access to other regions of the Union at any time. Furthermore, a plan was adopted to build a power plant to generate 800 megawatts in Momeik Township. Therefore, progress and prosperity can be seen in Shan State (North) in the future.

I left Lashio after observing all-round development of the whole Shan State. The government is striving for development of Shan State in all aspects similar to that of other States and Divisions. Ongoing development undertakings can be seen up to now. Thanks to genuine goodwill of the State, Shan State is enjoying fruits of development with songs of peace reverberating in the air.

Beer may help prevent osteoporosis

DAVIS, 12 Feb— Researchers at the University of California, Davis, said beer may help prevent osteoporosis — the loss of bone density that can result in fractures.

Lead author Charles Bamforth says the study suggests that beer is a significant source of dietary silicon, a key ingredient for increasing bone mineral density. Bamforth and colleagues studied commercial beer production to determine the relationship between beer production methods and the resulting silicon content.

Silicon is present in beer in the soluble form of orthosilicic acid, which yields 50 percent bioavailability, making beer a major contributor to silicon intake in the Western diet.

Third-hand smoke also bad for you

WASHINGTON, 12 Feb — You know smoking is bad for you. You know inhaling someone else's smoke is bad for you. Now a US study says third-hand smoke — tobacco residue clinging to surfaces — is also bad for you.

When a cigarette burns, nicotine is released in the form of a vapor that collects and condenses on indoor surfaces such as walls, carpeting, drapes and furniture, where it can linger for months, said the study, which was published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (PNAS).

"Our study shows that when this residual nicotine reacts with ambient nitrous acid it forms carcinogenic tobacco-specific nitrosamines, or TSNAs," said Hugo Destaillats, a corresponding author of the study.

"TSNAs are among the most broadly acting and potent carcinogens present in unburned tobacco and tobacco smoke," he said.

The most likely human exposure to TSNAs is through either inhalation of dust or the contact of skin with carpet or clothes — making third-hand smoke particularly dangerous to infants and toddlers.

Opening a window or turning on a fan to air out a room while a cigarette burns does not eliminate the hazard of third-hand smoke. Smoking outdoors doesn't help much either.

Israeli fire kills Gaza militant

GAZA CITY, 12 Feb—A Palestinian militant was killed and two young girls wounded by Israeli fire in the Gaza Strip in two separate incidents on Thursday, medics said.

The fighter was killed and another wounded when a tank fired on a group of militants near the border east of Gaza City, according to Muawiya Hassanein, the head of Gaza emergency services.

Hours earlier, two Palestinian girls aged five and nine were wounded when an Israeli tank shell exploded near their home further south, close to the Bureij refugee camp, Hassanein said. An Israeli army spokesman said an air strike had been launched in the area where the fighter was killed, and that there had been a separate exchange of fire along the border near the refugee camp.

Message in bottle yields response

A group of California fishermen who sent a message in a bottle two years ago said they were delighted when someone found the bottle and even sent a reply.

The fishermen, from the San Francisco and Monterey Bay areas, said they tossed the bottle into the water just south of San Diego in August 2007 with a message about Bob Dubcich, a friend of theirs who died from a rare form of cancer, KSBW-TV, Salinas, Calif, reported.

The men said they enclosed $20 with the note to increase the chances of someone coming forward after finding it, which they said felt like sending their friend out to sea for a last voyage.

"(We said) if anyone found the bottle, send it back and we'd send you $100 so we made sure we'd get it back," John Saunders said.

Saunders said he and his friends were shocked by how far the bottle had travelled — to the Philippines.

"To send him on a trip for 10,000 miles was bigger and better than anything we'd ever expected," Saunders said. The fishermen said the man who found the bottle in the Philippines and sent it back to them has more than $100 coming. "If he ever comes to America, he's going fishing with us. We're taking him, period," Saunders said.

Hammer blow for United as Giggs ruled out for month

MANCHESTER 12 Feb—Ryan Giggs has broken his right arm and will be out of action for at least four weeks in a serious blow to Manchester United's prospects of claiming silverware this season.

The Welsh winger was injured in a collision with Steve Sidwell during the second half of United's 1-1 draw at Aston Villa on Wednesday and an x-ray has confirmed a fracture that will mean he misses the League Cup final against Villa on February 28.

Giggs, 36, will also be absent for both legs of Champions League last-16 clash with AC Milan and Premier League games against Everton, West Ham and Wolves.

Pressley steps into Falkirk hot seat

LONDON, 12 Feb—Former Scotland defender Steven Pressley was Thursday appointed as the new manager of struggling Scottish Premier League (SPL) club Falkirk following the departure of Eddie May.

Pressley, 36, steps up from his role as May's assistant for his first job in management and will be aided by veteran former Aberdeen and St Mirren boss Alex Smith, who had been director of football under May.

May left by mutual agreement after less than eight months in charge. He had been promoted to manager following five years on the coaching staff at the club.

His reign concluded with Wednesday's 1-0 defeat by Kilmarnock which left Falkirk, known as the Bairns, three points adrift at the bottom of the 12-team SPL.

ROTTERDAM, 12 Feb—Novak Djokovic earned a free trip into the semi-finals of the Rotterdam Open on Thursday, benefiting as his second opponent in three matches this week proved unable to take to the court.

Only 48 hours after Sergiy Stakhovsky was unable to complete his first-round contest with Djokovic, German Florian Meyer withdrew with a hamstring tear a day before his Friday quarter-final match with the Serb top seed.

"Of course you never want to get a win this way, but I'll take it the way it is," said the world number two after moving into the quarter-finals with a 6-4, 6-2 win against Swiss Marco Chiudinelli.

"Today's win was a convenient match for me from the start. I felt confident on my service games and took enough of my opportunities on his. I did what I needed to win and that's what matters."

The top seed paved the way for a sweep of the leading players into the last eight, with third seed Gael Monfils joining in with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Holland's Thiemo de Bakker.—Internet

Roddick books San Jose quarter-final berth

SAN JOSE, 12 Feb—Top-seeded American Andy Roddick reached the quarter-finals of the SAP Open with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Argentina's Leonardo Mayer.

Roddick lined up a quarter-final clash with fifth-seeded Czech Tomas Berdych.

Roddick, who was bothered by a pinched nerved in his shoulder in his five-set loss to Marin Cilic in the quarter-finals of the Australian Open last month, has also had his practice time limited by a sore knee.

But he said his second round match here, in his first event since the Australian Open, showed progress.

"Tonight it was just

coming off a bit firmer and I was able to move the ball around a bit more - that comes from getting a match in," Roddick said.

Roddick broke Mayer for a 5-3 lead in the first set, and as the American took control Mayer was clearly frustrated.

"This was a good match for me," Roddick

Leonardo says Inter draw gives Milan hope

ROME, 12 Feb—AC Milan coach Leonardo said on Thursday that his side still has a chance of winning the Serie A title following Inter Milan's 1-1 draw at Parma on Wednesday.

Milan host Udinese on Friday night in a groundbreaking move in the Italian football calendar, with the match having been brought forward to give Milan an extra day's rest ahead of their Champions League clash against Manchester United next week. In the league they sit 11 points behind leaders Inter but with a game in hand and the Brazilian coach believes those dropped points in Parma have given his team a boost.

"We can't deny that Inter's draw at Parma last night has given us the chance to close the gap a bit," he said.

"Right now we're coming into an important period in the season. We're coming into it off the back of a defeat and two draws (in the league) and we have to gain points for the road ahead." Milan picked up just two points out of a possible nine in their last three matches and saw Inter's lead go from six to 11 points.—Internet

Chelsea rocked
by Cole fracture

LONDON, 12 Feb—Chelsea and England were rocked Thursday by news that Ashley Cole has suffered a fracture of his left ankle and will be out of action for approximately three months.

The news is a serious blow to the west London club, for whom Cole had been in superb form, and for England, who will now be left sweating over the fitness of their first-choice left-back for the World Cup in South Africa in June and July.

Although Cole should theoretically be back in action in mid-May, that will leave him with only a month and a handful of games, at best, to regain full match fitness in time for the start of the World Cup in mid-June. Cole limped off in the second half of Chelsea's 2-1 defeat at Everton on Wednesday following a challenge with Landon Donovan, the United States international who ironically could line up against the defender again when England face the Americans in their World Cup opener on 12 June.

Garden of the Union

Born in the Union the national brethren
Of the same race they are Sincerity and amity they have
With same vision and goal
Ever united and never divided
Joining hands in this land Always united they are
