Expand the horizons of countrymen

Now, the number of rural libraries is rising in the nation, contributing to rural development.

Libraries play an indispensable role in the drive for development of human resources. A library is, indeed, like a repository of subjects on culture, knowledge, and philosophies and aphorisms of philosophers, historians, poets and learned persons.

A book is a true friend for man. We should keep in touch with what is going on inside and outside our society. In this regard, reading is the best way.

Everyone should broaden their horizons in order to improve their qualifications and skills. Only then can they shoulder national duties in an effective way.

Libraries in rural areas help improve knowledge of local people. Therefore, the entire people including rural folks have to cultivate the reading habit and work together for sustainable development of the libraries.

Librarianship contributes towards materialization of the State's political, economic and social objectives. People can catch up with latest changes through reading. So, the people are urged to read a lot and maintain the libraries for their durability.

Pakistani forces kill 30 militants

PESHAWAR, 4 March — Pakistan security forces have killed 30 militants in a tribal region, the state-run television reported on Thursday. One soldier was killed in the clash in Mohmand tribal region near Peshawar, the capital of North West Frontier Province, PTV reported. Four soldiers were also injured.

The clash took place after the militants attacked a security check post at Safi area of Mohmand agency. The security forces returned fire and killed 30 militants while one soldier also lost life. Private TV channels reported that four paramilitary soldiers were killed in the incident. Mohmand agency is situated between the Bajaur tribal region and Peshawar. Officials believed that militants have moved from Bajaur to Mohmand region.

Last year, the local tribal Lashkar or army had arrested central spokesman of Pakistani Taliban Maulvi Omar in Muhmand who had taken shelter in the area. The army announced this week that the forces have taken control of the whole Bajaur agency, once controlled by the Taleban militants.

Red Cross appeals for aid after Uganda landslide

KAMPALA, 4 March — Uganda's Red Cross has launched an appeal to help survivors of mudslides which swept away three villages near the eastern town of Bududa. More than 80 bodies have been recovered from the mud which engulfed villages on the slopes of Mount Elgon.

At least 250 people are still missing. The Red Cross says it needs shelters, blankets and psychological support. In one village, eyewitnesses said schoolchildren took shelter in a health centre later engulfed by the mud. Beatrice Nabuduwa's 12-year-old daughter was among those feared dead.

"I was shocked to learn that the whole village was under mud," she told the Associated Press. "I have failed to find her or her body." In the village of Nametsi, rescuers struggled to search through a wall of mud some 16ft (5m) high, which had buried most structures.—Internet

Chavez urges Spain to respect Venezuela's sovereignty

CARACAS, 4 March — Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez demanded on Wednesday Spanish Prime Minister Jose Luis Rodriguez Zapatero respect Venezuela's sovereignty. During a national TV and radio broadcast, Chavez rejected the accusations of Spanish National Audience's judge, Eloy Velasco, that "there are links between the Venezuelan government and Spanish separatist groups and Colombian guerrillas."

The Spanish National Audience is the country's top criminal court. Chavez said those accusations were irresponsible and he does not have anything to explain to Spain. He also suggested Rodriguez Zapatero to observe the Spanish justice. Chavez said that Velasco's accusations "do not have proofs" and they are part of an international campaign against Venezuela.

Chavez stressed that he had talked with Spanish Foreign Minister Miguel Angel Moratinos on telephone, who affirmed that the government of Spain does not have anything to do with Velasco's accusations.

Iran arms smuggling ring broken in Italian crackdown

Rome, 4 March — Italian police claim to have broken a European arms-smuggling ring that was providing weapons to Iran in violation of international sanctions. Seven people, including alleged Iranian secret service agents, were arrested yesterday on suspicion of supplying explosives and hitech military equipment to Teheran.

Investigators said the two Iranians and five Italians were involved in a plot to export tracer bullets, precision sights and explosives to Iran via third countries, including Britain, Romania and Dubai. The move came amid heightened tension between Iran and the West with growing calls for stronger sanctions over its nuclear weapons programme.

British police are believed to have arrested a man implicated in the trafficking in the past few months. Telescopic sights designed for rifles were seized at Heathrow airport and police arrested a man alleged to be the gang's contact in Britain.

The investigation was launched in June when more than 200 German-made telescopic sights were seized in Romania, allegedly on their way to Iran. A further 900 had reportedly been ordered by the Iranians. The suspects were also alleged to have been trying to smuggle "dual-use" equipment, which can be easily converted from civilian to military use.—Internet

Birth defects 'have risen since US Falluja operation'

BAGHDAD, 4 March — A BBC investigation in Iraq has confirmed a disturbingly high number of birth defects among children in the town of Falluja. Six years ago, in 2004, there were fierce battles as US forces subdued two uprisings in the town. Now, one hospital doctor told the BBC that they see two or three cases of birth defects each day.

The US military says it is not aware of any official reports showing an increase in birth defects in the area. It says it always takes public health concerns about any population now living in a combat theatre "very seriously". "No studies to date have indicated environmental issues resulting in specific health issues," said US Military Health System Communications Director Michael Kilpatrick.

"Unexploded ordnance, including improvised explosive devices, are a recognised hazard," he added. But local people blame the weapons used by the US troops during the fighting. It was hard to find doctors at the brand-new, US-funded hospital in Falluja who were prepared to talk about the problem.—Internet

32 killed in triple bomb attack in central Iraq

BAGHDAD, 4 March — Homicide bombers struck in quick succession on Wednesday in a former insurgent stronghold northeast of Baghdad, killing at least 32 people just days before a crucial election that will determine who will govern the country as American forces depart.

The blasts in Baqouba — including one by a bomber who rode in an ambulance to a hospital and blew himself up there — were the deadliest in more than a month and illustrated the challenges facing Iraqi forces trying to prove they can secure the country after the full withdrawal of US forces by the end of next year.

No group immediately claimed responsibility for the bombings but they bore the hallmark of Al Qaeda in Iraq, which has promised to violently disrupt Sunday's parliamentary vote and warned Sunnis not to participate in the balloting. Iraqi authorities vowed not to let the insurgents derail the democratic process.

Euro's future at stake in Greek's grave economic crisis

BEIJING, 4 March — "It's when the tide goes out that you find out who has been swimming naked," the legendary investor Warren Buffet aptly remarked when the global economic crisis hit. This is as true for countries as it is for companies. Following Ireland, Greece is now the second euro-zone member to have gotten into massive payment difficulties due to the crisis.

Ireland was able to resolve its problems by itself, through a restructuring policy that was painful yet unflinching. It could do so because its economy, apart from its excessive debt burden following the collapse of an asset bubble, was basically sound.

The situation in Greece is different. A restructuring of the economy will be much more difficult, because it will have to be more far-reaching. The fiscal deficit resulted not just from internal financial imbalances, but also from a system that for too long time has been in denial of reality, allowing the country to live beyond its means.

Nevertheless, the European Union can neither allow Greece to slide into national bankruptcy nor hand it over to the International Monetary Fund, since other euro-zone members — namely, Portugal, Spain, and Italy — would probably be next in line to be attacked by the markets.

Wall Street ends flat in cautious trading

NEW YORK, 4 March — Wall Street ended flat after a three-day winning streak on Wednesday as investors were cautious in making any bets ahead of Friday's key payroll report and Fed's subdued assessment on the economy weighed on the market.

Stocks have advanced over the past three sessions, pushing the S&P 500 and the Nasdaq into positive territory for 2010, as concerns over Greece debt problems eased. Volumes were light during recent session as investors were cautiously waiting the monthly payroll report.

The government non-farm payroll will release on Friday, which is expected to provide some directions for the market and also probably set the tone in the short run.

The Dow Jones industrial average dipped 9.22, or 0.09 percent, to 10,396.76.

The Standard & Poor's 500 index inched up 0.48, or 0.04 percent, to 1,118.79 and the Nasdaq edged down 0.11 to 2,280.68, basically unchanged.—Internet

Boeing to close Milperra site in Australian state

SYDNEY, 4 March — Aviation giant Boeing revealed on Thursday that its 350 workers are "deeply disappointed" at the decision to close the Milperra aerospace engineering site in Sydney. "Clearly people were disappointed. This facility has operated for a long time here and we've got employees who are committed to the business," Boeing Aerostructures Australia managing director Mark Ross said.

The Milperra site was working at only half capacity and its functions must be transferred to a similar Boeing facility, also operating at half capacity in Melbourne, Ross noted. The decision was vital to ensure Boeing's competitiveness in Australia, he said.

About 300 jobs will be on offer to Milperra site workers, at the Melbourne site.

China strictly follows WTO rules in foreign trade

BEIJING, 4 March — China has been strictly following the rules of the World Trade Organization (WTO) in foreign trade since it became a member of the international organization, a spokesman for the nation's top legislature said here on Thursday.

Li Zhaoxing, spokesman of the 3rd session of the 11th National People's Congress, made the remarks at a Press conference when answering a question concerning China's trade dispute with the west.

"There is nothing to worry about as China has strictly followed the WTO rules in foreign trade, or both export and import, since it became the 143rd WTO member on 11 December, 2001," said Li "What we need to do is..., in line with the WTO rules, to stick to the principles of being fair, reasonable, equal and mutually beneficial in trade," Li said.

WTO sees no tsunami of trade protectionism after financial crisis

LONDON, 4 March — The financial crisis has not provoked a tsunami of trade protectionism as many economists feared, World Trade Organization (WTO) spokesman Keith Rockwell said on Wednesday.

Rockwell told journalists in a video Press conference that there has been some slippage with regard to trade policies, but all those measures together affect no more than 1 percent of global trade. "There has not been a tsunami of trade protectionism," he said.

The crisis has led to unemployment and political pressure, which is the reason why some countries are using tools such as anti-dumping duty against foreign goods.

However, there is a negligible difference in openness between now and the pre-crisis situation, said Rockwell. He also pointed out that Malaysia and Mexico have even brought down their trade barriers.

Somali pirates seize empty Saudi oil tanker and crew

MOGADISHU, 4 March — Somali pirates have captured a small Saudi tanker and its crew, the EU naval force in the Gulf of Aden says. The tanker, travelling from Japan to Jeddah, was empty when pirates hijacked the vessel and took its crew captive.

The MT Nisir Al Saudi was outside the shipping lanes patrolled by naval warships, it was reported. Somali pirate attacks usually increase in the months between March and May because calmer seas allow the pirates to operate more freely.

The captain of the ship is Greek but the nationalities of the rest of the crew are not known. In November 2008 Somali pirates hijacked the Sirius Star, a Saudi supertanker loaded with two million barrels of oil.—Internet

Dinosaur-eating snake discovered

NEW DELHI, 4 March — Scientists say they have identified the fossilised remains of a snake that dined on dinosaur eggs.

The 67-million-year-old skeleton was found in a dinosaur nest.

The study, published in the journal Plos Biology, is said to show the first direct evidence of feeding behaviour in a fossilised primitive snake.

This 3.5m fossil snake is believed to have fed on the hatchlings of sauropods, as it was found wrapped around a baby titanosaurs.

Fully grown, the plant-eating titanosaurs weighed up to 100 tonnes.

Many people have a fear of snakes and this research indicates that even giant dinosaurs may have been scared of them, too. "It was such a thrill to discover such a portentous moment frozen in time," said Dr Dhananjay Mohabey from the Geological Survey of India, who unearthed the fossil. Experts at the University of Michigan and University of Toronto Mississauga studied and identified the find.

According to researchers, the fossil would have lacked the mobile jaws of modern snakes and would have struggled to eat dinosaur eggs.

However, the hatchlings of these dinosaurs would have been just the right size.—Internet

Tribes show best camels at beauty pageant

Camels are seen as spectators place their bids on them during the "Camel Beauty Contest and Camel Race Festival" in Ajman on 24 February, 2010.

Ten golden-coloured camels adorned with sparkling ornaments line up for the finale of a beauty contest in one of the UAE's northern emirates, awaiting the selection of two proud winners.

Gulf Arabs from across the region gather in a large sandy plot in Ajman to sit in for a four-hour competition, which will see the selection of the best out of 150 camels every day.

The three-day spectacle should end with the top two finalists bagging luxury cars, while a remaining eight win cash.

In an effort to preserve the Gulf Arab country's cultural legacy, the government encourages camel rearing through funding and festivals where the desert animal is paraded for beauty, and sold in auctions.

The festival also serves as a meeting point for the country's tribes, residing in the rural parts of the United Arab Emirates. Tribesmen are paid by the government to rear camels and preserve a pure lineage of the country's breeds.

"The UAE's heritage is linked to camels and this festival emphasizes this. Traditions and customs lie in maintaining our history," said Saeed al-Ameri, who owns a large camel farm and is a participant in the pageant.

The camels are judged on different criteria, depending on the breed. The body is divided into five sections, with 20 points each, to mark beauty and elegance.

After the prettiest camels are selected, based on the length of neck, curve of the humps, structure of the body, height and general appearance, the camels' owners are sworn in to vouch for purity of lineage and proprietorship.

Rescuers capture hairless raccoon

Oklahoma animal rescuers said they have received multiple calls from the public concerned that a recently captured hairless raccoon is "a chupacabra."

Annette King Tucker, president at the Wild Heart Ranch animal rescue in Claremore, said the raccoon captured near the western-themed Christian camp Dry Gulch USA was the first she had seen to suffer from the hair loss disease mange. The Oklahoman reported on Tuesday. Tucker said the raccoon, which is not in pain, is receiving treatment for the condition and is expected to regrow its hair during the next four months.

She said the raccoon has become a local curiosity, and the topic of much debate, since the first sighting earlier in the winter.

"I have a lot of people calling me, arguing that it's a chupacabra," Tucker said, referring to a mythical creature rumoured to live in portions of the Americas, drinking the blood of goats. "We've been doing this for 14 years and have 15,000 wild animals here, and I've never had anything that's been considered a mythical animal."

Speaking at a testing event in Kompong Chhnang Province, about 100 kilometres north of Phnom Penh, Tea Banh, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of National Defence said the testing was "successful" and this success has proved Cambodia's full competence in defending the "country's territorial integrity and sovereignty."

He said all the 215 shells tested had hit the target and goal from 20 km to 40 km as planned.

The testing was conducted while border dispute with Thailand remains unsolved. But Tea Banh said the testing of the rocket was not aimed at preparing a war with any country, but to get ready for any circumstance that Cambodia is met with foreign invasion.

Air traffic controllers at JFK Airport reprimanded for allowing kids to direct planes

NEW YORK, 4 March — Two air traffic controllers and a supervisor at John F. Kennedy Airport of New York City have been "placed on administrative leave" after two children were allowed to give radio instructions to several pilots last month.

New York local TV NY1 reported on Wednesday that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), an agency of the US Department of Transportation with authority to regulate and oversee all aspects of civil aviation in the country, has suspended all unofficial visits to the FAA air traffic facilities as it reviews policies.

The first set of exchanges between a child and pilots waiting to take off from JFK reportedly took place on 16 Feb. They were recorded and posted on the website. On the recordings, the child appears to be repeating simple instructions given by his father, says NY1. Then, on 17 Feb, another child was allowed to speak to two departing pilots, FAA officials said.—Xinhua where he explained to me, "The major occupations of the township are agriculture and fisheries. Township PDC is constantly striving for regional development, prevalence of law and order and tranquility of the region in accord with policies of the State." The northwestern township in Rakhine State of south-western Myanmar is beautifully situated east of Paletwa and Kyauktaw Townships, west of Maungdaw Township, north of Bangladesh and south of Yathedaung Township. It is 23 miles wide from east to west and 54 miles long from south to north and its area is 780 square miles (49,919 acres).

Ministry for Progress of Border Areas and National Races and Development Affairs has engineered eight villages for ethnic groups in Buthidaung Township which has the population of over 287,000. The agriculture business is booming in the region as the State has disbursed loans to farmers.

The weather pattern of the township is hot and wet climate. The township has 73,442 net sown acreage and 206,984-acre forest reserves. It is renowned for its self-sufficiency in rice production and crowned the title of top food provider in Rakhine State.

A total of 968 teachers are teaching 65,950 students in 187 schools of the township. The emergence of brilliant human resources annually from the schools is also the pride of Buthidaung Township.

A number of hospitals and rural health care centres are providing reliable medical services to dwellers. I also paid a visit to age-old Ywama village where I found a library, namely Panhaewun (the forest of flowers). The building of the library, donated by Ministry of Information, was constructed under the supervision of Township Information and Public Relations Department.

Since its opening on 25 May 2009, it is always packed with regular readers. Rakhine State PDC also contributed equipment and publications to the library.

EU unveils new 10-year blueprint, receiving mixed responses

BRUSSELS, 4 March — The European Union (EU) on Wednesday unveiled a 10-year blueprint for reviving the economic growth in the 27-nation bloc, only to receive mixed responses. Critics doubt whether the new plan, named the EU 2020 Strategy, can work.

"The Europe 2020 is about what we need to do today and tomorrow to get Europe back on track," European Commission President Jose Barroso told a Press conference.

The new plan is supposed to replace the Lisbon Strategy, a 10-year blueprint adopted in 2000, which was seen to have failed to meet its target to transform the EU into the "the most competitive knowledge-based economy" by 2010.

Badly hit by a global economic crisis starting in 2008, the EU's economy contracted by 4 percent last year and the jobless rate reached a record high of 9.5 percent.

Barroso said that the EU was already falling behind before the crisis and that the crisis exposed "fundamental weaknesses and unsustainable trends" that could not be ignored any longer.

"There is a real sense of urgency in this economic strategy that we are presenting today," he said. The president said that increased economic interdependence demanded a more determined and coherent response at the political level. "That clearly makes the case for a stronger economic governance in the EU," he said.

Israel, US hail Arab talks support

CAIRO, 4 March — Israeli and American officials welcomed an Arab League decision reached in Cairo on Wednesday approving indirect Israeli-Palestinian talks for four months as a means of getting the peace process on track.

Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said that it appeared "conditions were now ripe" for renewing negotiations.

In a speech to the Knesset, he said that as a result of Israel both expressing a willingness to return to talks and taking concrete measures on the ground to make them happen, fewer countries were willing to agree to Palestinian preconditions to the talks.

Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas has said for months that he will not talk with Israel unless there is first a complete halt to Jewish construction in the West Bank and east Jerusalem. The green light given Abbas by the Arab League's follow-up committee to the Arab peace initiative to enter into indirect talks for four months is widely seen in Jerusalem as the "ladder" he needed to come down from his demands and accede to repeated requests by the US, EU, Egypt and Jordan to return to talks.

Indonesian police arrest 13 suspected militants in Aceh

JAKARTA, 4 March — Police in Indonesia say they have arrested 13 men suspected of taking part in training for militants in a remote part of Aceh Province.

The men have been detained in several raids since 22 February, when the first four were arrested in Aceh's mountains.

Rifles and thousands of bullets were seized in the raid, along with DVDs on the Bali bombings of 2002 that killed more than 200 people, police said.

But it is unclear to which group the suspects might belong. Police are still searching for a number of people who fled the raids, but say they are investigating possible links with Jemaah Islamiyah (JI), which was blamed by the authorities for the Bali attacks. However, analysts say JI has not previously been active in Aceh. Sidney Jones, the head of the International Crisis Group in Indonesia, says the Islamist militant group has never had a base in the province, even though the executed Bali bomber Imam Samudra originally came from there.

Rescuers pull out 79 survivors from collapsed building in Chile

CONCEPCION, 4 March — Rescuers on Tuesday pulled out 79 survivors and seven bodies from the debris of a collapsed building in Concepcion.

Concepcion, located on the Pacific coast in northwestern Chile, is the worst-hit city in on Saturday's massive earthquake, which has left nearly 800 people dead.

To crack down on looting in the city, the Chilean government on Tuesday extended a curfew from 15 hours to 18 hours until on Tuesday noon.

The authorities also added three towns, Talca, Cauquenes and Constitucion, onto the curfew list to suppress looting.

Raping and violent activities have increased following the quake, which has disrupted power and water supply in the hardest-hit towns of Concepcion and Talca.

During the last few days, the lack of power, drinking water and food caused panic among residents in Concepcion, triggering looting in supermarkets and food stores.

The situation in the city quickly deteriorated to the point that stores were looted even in the presence of the owners.

More aftershocks, new tsunami warning spur panic in Chile

SANTIAGO, 4 March — Three strong aftershocks jolted Chile on Wednesday four days after the 8.8-magnitude earthquake, sparking panic in the south American country. An aftershock measuring 6.1 on the Richter scale struck late Wednesday following two aftershocks measuring 6.0 and 5.9 respectively earlier in the day.

In the southern-central town of Concepcion, one of the hardest-hit cities in Saturday's quake, sirens were heard and hundreds of people rushed out their shelters to higher ground. Chilean authorities issued a tsunami warning after the two earlier aftershocks, but later lifted the alert. However, most of the people in the affected areas said they would still choose to stay outside during the following days, out of fear of more aftershocks.

Saturday's 8.8-magnitude earthquake has killed 802 people, Chilean Vice Interior Minister Patricio Rosende said Wednesday, adding the death toll could rise as rescue work is ongoing. According to the National Office of Emergency, the number of affected people was probably 2 million.

As Chile saw a flurry of aftershocks, President Michelle Bachelet called on the people to remain calm and urged them "to work together on the recovery of Chile." She said Chile is ready to recover from the disaster. "We are in conditions to stand up again. This is a moment when we cannot be defeated by the adversity," she said. —Xinhua

50 fake bombs found in dead Australian's house

SYDNEY, 4 March — Sydney police used explosives to blow up suspected bombs found throughout a dead man's house but then discovered they were fake, officials said on Wednesday. More than 50 bomb-like devices were found in the house and in the man's car, New South Wales state Detective Superintendent Gavin Dengate said.

The recently deceased man, a 69-year-old former electrician known as a recluse, apparently wanted to scare people away, Dengate said.

Friends of the man, whose identity was not released, called police after visiting his home on Tuesday and spotting what looked like bombs. Neighbours were then evacuated as bomb squad officers sent in robots and detonated six of the devices, Dengate said.

"All of the devices were inert ... they weren't capable of actually detonating," he said.

Some of the fake bombs were wired to appliances, and one included a pressure switch linked to two gas cylinders in a car.

The man, who died in a hospital more than a week ago, had also covered the windows in the house with aluminum foil. —Internet

Innocent plea in death of missing teen

SAN DIEGO, 4 March — The man accused of murdering a San Diego teenage girl pleaded innocent Wednesday and prosecutors said they had not decided whether to seek the death penalty.

John Albert Gardner III, 30 — a registered sex offender who has been charged with one count of murder in the death of Chelsea King — also pleaded innocent to a charge of assaulting a jogger, The San Diego Union-Tribune reported. The murder charge was accompanied by a special allegation that King was killed during a rape or attempted rape, a condition that would permit prosecutors to seek capital punishment.

San Diego County District Attorney Bonnie

Dumanis said her office will take into consideration the wishes of the victim's family in deciding whether to seek the death penalty. "We include everyone in that process and we understand the somber nature of the death penalty and that it should be used and exercised in those cases that are the most serious," Dumanis said.

Lebanese plan to sue Boeing for Ethiopian crash

BEIRUT, 4 March — Relatives of those killed aboard an Ethiopian Airlines plane that crashed into the Mediterranean off Lebanon in January are planning to file a multi-million dollar lawsuit against American plane manufacturer Boeing in a US court, their lawyer said on Tuesday.

The Boeing 737 crashed on 25 Jan, just minutes after takeoff from Beirut during a fierce thunderstorm. All 90 people on board died.

"We have filed, in Chicago, a petition for discovery which in this case was filed against the Boeing Corporation because it is the manufacturer of the plane," Monica Kelly of the Chicago-based firm Ribbeck Law told The Associated Press. "We have not filed any lawsuit yet."

"We have started this discovery process in Illinois," where Boeing is based, she said. "We will file a lawsuit as soon as we have enough permission from the documents that we are going to receive."

Her comments came a month after Lebanon's Transportation Minister Ghazi Aridi said the information from the data flight recorder indicates that the cause of the crash appeared to be neither a technical problem nor an explosion. —Internet

India to conduct fourth anti-missile interception test

MUMBAI, 4 March — India will conduct its fourth test of the mocked interception of ballistic missile in less than two weeks, the Indian newspaper The Hindu reported on its website on Tuesday evening.

The launch window would be chosen between March 10 and 15, the paper quoted Defence Research and Development Organization (DRDO) spokesman VK Saraswat as saying. During the test day, an intercepting missile, named the Advanced Defence missile, will blast off from the Wheeler Island off the coast of Orissa, after a simulated ballistic missile lifts off from the Integrated Test Range at Balasore in Orissa, said Saraswat.

Italy held to goalless draw by Cameroon in friendly

PARIS, 4 March — World Cup qualifiers Italy and Cameroon came to a goalless draw in Monaco on Wednesday. Both teams were trying out experimental teams for the soccer gala in South Africa in June. Italy coach Marcello Lippi gave debuts to Leonardo Bonucci and Andrea Cossu in his defending champions' squad.

Cameroon will now meet Slovakia and Portugal in friendlies before flying to South Africa, while Italy meets Mexico and Switzerland before it begins its World Cup defence. Italy defender Giorgio Chiellini thought he had opened the scoring following a corner but his effort was ruled out for offside in the first half. Antonio Di Natale had a number of chances but failed to find the target with any of his efforts. Cameroon did not produce many opportunities either.—Xinhua

Spain puts Domenech in doldrums as French lose friendly match

INTERNET

PARIS, 4 March — Spain confirmed their position among the World Cup favourites with a dominant 2-0 victory over France in their friendly match at the Stade de France here on Wednesday.

The European champions prevailed through first-half goals from David Villa and Sergio Ramos, inflicting upon their hosts a first defeat in 13 home games.

Worse for France was their powerlessness in the face of Spain's masterful control of possession and the home fans made their feelings known at regular intervals by imploring under-fire coach Raymond Domenech to resign.

The enigmatic 58-year-old has seen his popularity plummet since leading France to the 2006 World Cup final and the defeat will increase calls for him to step down before this summer's finals in South Africa.

Key Spanish danger-men Xavi and Fernando Torres did not even make an appearance until half-time, but although the scoreline remained the same until the end, the damage had already been done.

Netherlands beats US 2-1 in World Cup warm-up

AMSTERDAM, 4 March — The Netherlands beat the United States 2-1 in a World Cup warm-up on Wednesday. Dirk Kuyt converted a 39th-minute penalty after Jonathan Bornstein had fouled Wesley Sneijder. Klaas Huntelaar got the second in the 72nd, firing in a close-range shot that took a deflection off Bornstein.

Captain Carlos Bocanegra scored a consolation goal for the United States, heading home substitute DaMarcus Beasley's cross in the 88th minute. It was the Americans' first ever goal against the Netherlands. The match was the final warm-up before U.S. coach Bob Bradley names his squad for the World Cup, where his team has been drawn into Group C with England, Slovenia and Algeria.—Xinhua

LONDON, 4 March — Two substitutes scored in the second half to help England beat African champion Egypt 3-1 on Wednesday in a friendly ahead of the World Cup.

Mohamed Zidan put the visitors ahead in the 23rd minute following a mistake by defender Matthew Upson and England was jeered off at halftime.

Second-half substitute Peter Crouch made it 1-1 with a shot at the near post from Gareth Barry's right-wing cross.

Shaun Wright-Phillips scored from a rebound in the 74th and Crouch got his second goal from Wright-Phillips' cross five minutes later.—Xinhua

Tomic youngest Australia Davis Cup player since 1933

MELBOURNE, 4 March — Bernard Tomic became Australia's youngest Davis Cup player in 77 years when he was named on Thursday to lead off the Asia Oceania Group One tie against Taiwan. The 17-year-old was preferred ahead of the higher-ranked Carsten Ball to win a singles spot, alongside Peter Luczak for the zonal tie, starting at Melbourne Park on Friday.

At 17 years and 135 days, Tomic will be Australia's youngest player since Vivian McGrath played at the age of 17 years 84 days against Norway in 1933, Tennis Australia said. Tomic, ranked Bernard Tomic.

298, will face Taiwanese number two Yang Tsung-hua, ranked 322, while the 75th-ranked Luczak will take on Yi Chu-huan, listed at 514. Ball and Paul Hanley will team up for the doubles rubber on Saturday against Yang and Yi.

Nicklaus thinks Woods will play Masters

Jack Nicklaus.

PALM BEACH GARDENS, 4 March — Jack Nicklaus is going to appear at next month's Masters. He thinks Tiger Woods will as well.

Nicklaus said on Wednesday that "it would surprise me" if Woods did not return to competitive golf in time for the Masters, a tournament the embattled world No 1 has won four times in his career.

"I suspect he'll play something before Augusta," Nicklaus said behind the 18th green at PGA National, where the Honda Classic opens on Thursday.

"Your guess is as good as mine. I'd be very surprised if he doesn't play something before Augusta."

Nicklaus has been reluctant to comment much about Woods since the saga involving revelations of infidelity began late last year, saying more than once that someone else's private life isn't any of his business.

He reiterated that belief again Wednesday after finishing his Pro-Am round at the South Florida course he redesigned.

Maradona says Argentina can go all the way

Argentina's coach Diego Maradona.

MUNICH, 4 March — Argentina's larger-than-life coach Diego Maradona thinks that his players can win the World Cup if they show the form that saw them beat fellow favourites Germany 1-0.

"I am very happy because my players were so committed. They fulfilled my expectations. After 24 years Argentina needs the title, and playing at this standard we can do it," Maradona said after Wednesday's match.

"It was a tough game, but we showed that we are a great team, one of the best in the world," he added. "God willing, we are going to give our people a good World Cup." Ninety-nine days before the World Cup in South Africa, the clash found "El Diez" under pressure after the 1978 and 1986 winners — the latter victory over the then West Germany — virtually singlehandedly delivered by Maradona — came within a whisker of not qualifying and for his use of over 100 different players.—Internet

Capello puts Crouch in frame as England move on

LONDON, 4 March — Fabio Capello has never given the impression that he regards Peter Crouch as anything more than an impact substitute but the Italian appears to be warming to Tottenham's beanpole striker.

Crouch's second-half double was instrumental in England coming from behind to beat African champions Egypt 3-1 at Wembley on Wednesday evening and the 6' 7" (2.0m) forward may just have put himself in pole position to be Wayne Rooney's partner in attack when Capello's men start their World Cup campaign against the United States, in Rustenburg on 12 June. Capello has, in the past, often appeared dismissive of Crouch's prolific scoring record for his country - Wednesday's sharply-taken brace made it 20 goals in 37 appearances. But there was nothing equivocal about his praise this time.—Internet

Levein pleased to see return of feelgood factor

Craig Levein's reign as Scotland manager got off to a winning start on Wednesday with Scott Brown, firing them to a 1-0 win over the Czech Republic at Hampden.

INTERNET

GLASGOW, 4 March — Craig Levein said his first match in charge of Scotland had been a positive experience after his side defeated the Czech Republic 1-0 at Hampden on Wednesday.

The manager watched as his side were dominated by a slick passing Czech side but still managed to claim their first friendly win at the national stadium in 14 years.

Despite countless chances for the Czechs it was Scotland who took the lead just after the hour mark when Scott Brown converted Barry Robson's headed pass in the box.

And Levein said the result would leave them in good standing for their European Championship qualification campaign, where they will face the Czechs again.—Internet

Olympus eyes 20 percent share in high-end digicam

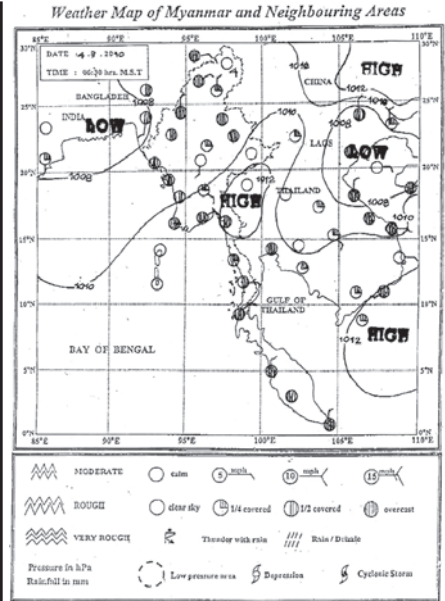

TOKYO, 4 March—Japanese group Olympus Corp is aiming for its small, lightweight models to have 20 percent of the high-end digital camera market in three years, up from 5 percent now, its president said.

The camera and endoscope maker is also targeting 500-600 billion yen ($5.7-$6.8 billion) sales of medical gear in five years, Tsuyoshi Kikukawa told Reuters on Thursday, in a glimpse of a mid-term business plan due out in May.

In 2008, Olympus bought British keyhole surgery specialist Gyrus Group for 935 million pounds ($1.41 billion) to bolster its position in the medical tools market.

NAY PYI TAW, 4 March —On his inspection tour of Shwebo, Lt-Gen Tha Aye of the Ministry of Defence together with Chairman of

Sagaing Division Peace and Development Council Commander of North-West Command Maj-Gen Myint Soe and officials looked into progress of repair work and inflow of water into Maha Nanda Lake, cleaning and beautifying and setting up nurseries around the lake, sluice gate, installation of water supply pipeline, downtown roads and irrigating farmlands for summer paddy cultivation on 1 March.

After hearing reports on progress in works at the briefing hall on Shwebo-Ohndaw road, Lt-Gen Tha Aye oversaw condition of road sections.

In meeting with officials in Ayadaw, Lt-Gen Tha Aye coordinated requirements on education, health and transportation sectors of the region.

Next, he encouraged patients who are undergoing treatment and given eye surgeries at Ayadaw Township People's Hospital and provided them with eyeglasses.

Lt-Gen Tha Aye and the commander accepted cash donations of wellwishers.

While in Ayadaw, Lt-Gen Tha Aye inspected artisan wells and water tanks.
