Byline & Photos: Thet Htet Ko (Bawgarmyay)

Today, the government is speeding up the drive to realize nation-building endeavours all over the country. Despite Kayah State sitting in far-flung area, it now possesses complete transport infrastructure.

In the past, Kayah State faced lack of transport facility. Before 1988, the state saw only 126 miles long tarred road and 270 miles long earth road but now it owns 277 miles and 5 furlongs long tarred road, 303 miles and 7.5 furlongs long earth road including 423 small and large bridges, reflecting the sign of development.

Superintending Engineer U Khin Maung Phyu explained, "Of the two over 180-foot bridges in the state, Hteesekha Bridge was opened on 29 June 2009. It is 277th of its kind in the country. Htoochaung Bridge, which will link Phasaung Township and Mesae Township, is scheduled to open at the end of this

We headed for southern Loikaw from the office of Public Works. It reaches up to Toungoo of Bago Region passing through Yado-Leiktho Road. The new road from Loikaw to Toungoo is only 131 miles long. We paused a while on bridge No. 1/135 and witnessed the bridge is advanced concrete type one.

Raise crops cultivation and production

As climate change occurs across the world, all the agro-based countries are facing big challenges concerning agricultural sector. Thus, the international community and regional countries are joining hands in solving problems resulting from above-mentioned challenges.

The 30th Food and Agriculture Organization Regional Conference for Asia and the Pacific took place in Gyeongju of the Republic of Korea on 30 September. The conference focused on food sufficiency and programmes to protect crop cultivation and production from harmful climate changes.

Agricultural tasks in Myanmar are facing impacts of climate change more or less. Arrangements are being made in order not to harm crops cultivation and production.

Earnest efforts are being made for adequate supply of water for agricultural purpose as the agricultural sector plays a pivotal role in carrying out national economic development. The government is seeking and exploring water resources. Dams, river water pumping projects and underground water tapping works are being undertaken across the nation.

So far, a total of 233 dams, 327 river water pumping projects and more than 8,000 underground water tapping works have been undertaken in two decades. As a result, the irrigated sown acreage have increased, and the water supply facilities benefit the extended cultivation of beans and pulses, edible oil crops, long staple cotton and others through double cropping pattern in addition to monsoon and summer paddy.

Nowadays, over 1500 million baskets of paddy can be produced. Thus, surplus paddy and other crops are to be exported. Myanmar, being a member of FAO, is focusing on cooperation with Asia and the Pacific region and making relentless efforts for increasing cultivation and production capability so as to develop the agricultural sector.

Four tornadoes tear across N Arizona, damage homes

BELLEMONT, 7 Oct—A rare swarm of tornadoes shoved semis off highways and destroyed homes in the pre-dawn darkness Wednesday, leaving startled residents wondering if they were in Arizona anymore or had woken up in the twister-prone Midwest.

After one tornado rumbled through Bellemont around 5:30 with wind speeds of up to 110 miles per hour, residents armed with flashlights emerged from their homes to check on the damage a house splintered, windows smashed, garage doors twisted, but no major injuries.

“Running through the house, all the Kansas movies go through your head telling you: ‘Move to the basement,’” Breanna Hunt said. “But we don’t have a basement.”

Another tornado struck minutes later east of the small town of a few hundred people nestled in the Ponderosa pines just west of Flagstaff. Weather forecasters confirmed a total of four twisters, including one reported around noon along Interstate 17 south of Flagstaff.—Xinhua

Taleban commander, seven others killed in NATO attack

KABUL, 7 Oct—An airstrike and a raid by ground troops killed eight insurgents, including a senior Taleban leader who spearheaded attacks against Afghan security forces, NATO said Thursday as the war in Afghanistan entered its 10th year.

Maulawi Jawadullah — accused of organizing deadly ambushes, roadside bomb attacks, and abductions of Afghan police and soldiers in northern Afghanistan — was killed in the airstrike Wednesday in Takhar Province, an alliance statement said.

Jawadullah was linked to the recent deaths of 10 Afghan National Police officers during an attack on a police station in neighbouring Kunduz Province, the statement said.

Seven other Taleban also died in the assault, including three who opened fire from a forest when coalition forces moved in following the airstrike, NATO said.

Thursday was the nine-year anniversary of the American invasion of Afghanistan, a frustrating benchmark for those who expected a quick exit after small targeted forces toppled the Taleban from power in 2001.

“NATO is here and they say they are fighting terrorism, and this is the 10th year and there is no result yet,” Karzai said in an emotional speech last week. “Our sons cannot go to school because of bombs and suicide attacks.”

Even as NATO touts success at routing the insurgency, there are signs that it is losing the trust of the Afghan people.—Internet

Pakistan doesn't reopen border despite US apology

ISLAMABAD, 7 Oct—Pakistan says it has not decided when to reopen a key border crossing used to ship NATO supplies to Afghanistan despite a US apology for a helicopter attack that killed two Pakistani soldiers.

Abdul Basit, Pakistan Foreign Ministry spokesman, said Thursday that a decision to reopen the Torkham crossing will be made “in due course.” Both the US and NATO apologized for the 30 Sept attack on Wednesday, saying the American helicopters mistook Pakistani soldiers for insurgents they were pursuing across the Afghan border.

Pakistan closed Torkham to NATO supply convoys on the same day as the attack, leaving hundreds of trucks stranded along the country's highways. Militants have taken advantage of the impasse to attack the convoys.—Internet

Three dead in bomb blast at apartment near Bangkok

BANGKOK, 7 Oct—A bomb ripped through an apartment complex on the outskirts of Bangkok on Tuesday, killing at least three people, police said, hours after authorities prolonged a controversial state of emergency.

The blast - believed to have occurred in a room on the second floor of the residential complex in Nonthaburi Province north of Bangkok shattered windows and damaged nearby buildings.

“It was definitely a bomb. We cannot say what type of bomb it is yet. But it was a massive bomb because it damaged a large area,” said national police spokesman Major General Prawut Tawornsiri.

“We have found three bodies at the scene, but (the death toll) could be more. We had to stop searching as we're afraid that the building may collapse,” he said.

It was unclear whether the blast was planned.

Gunmen kill crime lab chief in northern Iraq

BAGHDAD, 7 Oct—Gunmen in the northern Iraqi City of Mosul ambushed and killed the director of the city's crime lab Tuesday in the latest targeted killing of security officials and government workers around Iraq, police said.

A wave of bombings and shootings have hit Baghdad and elsewhere in the recent weeks blamed on Sunni insurgents. US and Iraqi officials speculate that the pinpoint strikes seek to discredit the Shiite-led government after a seven-month political standstill following parliament elections in March.

Gunmen blocked the car of Col Mohammed Aziz near his home in Mosul and opened fire with weapons fitted with silencers, police officials said.

Near the southern city of Najaf, meanwhile, a parked motorcycle packed with explosives exploded as a US military patrol passed, security officials said.

There were no casualties reported. The US military did not immediately provide details of the reported attack.

Scientists find new species in Papua New Guinea

SYDNEY, 7 Oct—A thumbnail-sized frog with a long snout, a brilliant green katydid with bright pink eyes and a mouse with a white-tipped tail are among 200 species scientists have discovered in the remote mountains of Papua New Guinea.

The findings were unveiled this week by Washington DC-based Conservation International, whose researchers discovered a kaleidoscopic array of critters during two expeditions to the South Pacific island nation in 2009. Among the finds: 24 frog species, scores of spiders and around 100 insects including ants and dragonflies that appear to have never been described in scientific literature before, the conservation group said.

“They tell us how little we still know about the world,” research team leader Stephen Richards said Thursday.

“There’s a lot of concern, quite rightly, about biodiversity loss and climate change and the impacts on biodiversity and what biodiversity means to us. Then we do projects like this and we discover, ‘Hey — we don’t even know what biodiversity is out there.’”

Hungary toxic sludge spill reaches Danube

BUDAPEST, 7 Oct—Hungary’s toxic sludge spill, which has killed four people, reached the Danube river Thursday, threatening to contaminate the waterway’s ecosystem, a water authority official told AFP.

Water alkalinity, a measure of river contamination, was already above normal in the major waterway, the official said.

Samples taken at the confluence of the Raab river and the Danube showed “alkalinity slightly above normal, around 8.96 percent to 9.07 percent,” against a normal tally of eight percent, the source said.

A wave of toxic mud was unleashed Monday from the reservoir of an aluminium plant at Ajka, 160 kilometres (100 miles) west of Budapest.

The red mud travelled down the Raab river and reached the Danube waters at around 0630 GMT at Gyor.

The industrial accident triggered by the collapse of walls at the factory reservoir on Monday has been described as an ecological disaster and is now threatening the entire ecosystem of the Danube, Europe’s second longest river.

One star birth scenario debunked by ‘living fossil’ galaxies

MELBORNE, 7 Oct—The discovery of what scientists call “living fossil” galaxies afflicted with cosmic turbulence is shedding light on how stars are born.

In the study, astronomers investigated a set of rare, relatively modern galaxies that have the same type of unusual turbulence found in more ancient galaxies. “They’re living fossils of space – galaxies we just didn’t expect to find in today’s world,” said study co-author Andrew Green, an astronomer with Swinburne University in Australia, in a statement. The findings could shed new light on the persisting mystery of star formation, astronomers said.—Internet

A better Apple TV doesn’t beat competition

NEW YORK, 7 Oct—Apple is a pioneer in many fields, but in the race to connect our TV sets to the Internet, it’s been lagging badly.

Three years ago, the company put out a small box called the Apple TV that brought iTunes movies to the TV set, but it was too cumbersome and expensive to be a success. Now, there’s a new, revamped and cheaper Apple TV, costing $99. It mainly represents Apple Inc. catching up to what competitors have been doing in the intervening years. However, with Apple being Apple, it also has some nifty features that set it apart. So what is the Apple TV? Every time I write about it, I feel compelled to point out that despite the name, it’s not a TV set. It’s a black box that comes with a small remote. You connect it to your TV set either directly or through a receiver. It shows a computer-like interface on the TV screen, which you navigate using the remote’s buttons.

To connect the Apple TV to the Internet, you enter the password for your Wi-Fi hotspot, or connect the box to your router with an Ethernet cable. Once online, you can start renting TV shows and movies from Apple. You can also watch Internet movies from Netflix, if you have an account. In setup and operation, the new Apple TV is simpler than the old, which was more like a small computer, with a hard drive of its own. It was designed to download shows from iTunes or your computer, then play them back. By contrast, the new one has no hard drive, which makes it smaller and cheaper, and it is designed to play video as it “streams” from the Internet rather than storing them.

Verizon says fast 4G wireless coming to 38 cities

NEW YORK, 7 Oct—Verizon Wireless said Wednesday that its new wireless broadband network, which offers higher data speeds initially for laptop users, will be live before the end of the year in the cities on the Boston-to-Washington stretch as well as in California, Chicago, Miami, Atlanta, Dallas, Houston, Seattle and other areas.

In all, Verizon aims to cover 38 cities and a third of the country’s population with its so-called fourth generation, or 4G, network before the end of the year. In addition, it’s lighting up more than 60 airports. Verizon had previously said that it aimed to cover 25 to 30 cities by the end of the year, without identifying them. The target market for the 4G service is initially business users who need Internet connections on the go. Verizon says phones and tablet computers that can take advantage of the higher speeds will come next year.—Internet

Yahoo revs up search results in turnaround quest

SAN FRANCISCO, 7 Oct—Yahoo Inc is jazzing up its Internet search results in an effort to orchestrate a revenue revival.

The additional features will begin appearing Thursday on Yahoo’s US website.

The new tools are designed to get people to the information they seek more quickly, especially when searching about entertainment, sports and major events.

Some of these shortcuts have already been available on Yahoo, but now there will be even more options and snapshots featured in capsules appearing at the top of the results page.

More marketing messages, including the online billboards known as display ads, may also crop up on searches that appear to be spurred by a quest to buy merchandise.

Yahoo hopes to distinguish itself from its Internet search partner, Microsoft Corp.’s Bing, by making its own results more useful.

Although it’s relying on Microsoft for most of its search results to save money, Yahoo still has the ability to dip into its own bag of technological tricks.

Health Tip: Help keep feet healthy

Your feet have a weighty responsibility, so treat them right to help keep them healthy.

The American Podiatric Medical Association offers these suggestions for taking care of your tootsies:

- Make sure your shoes fit correctly and comfortably; those that have a soft upper area and a sturdy sole are best.
- Go shoe shopping later in the day, when feet are more swollen than in the morning.
- Walking is a great form of exercise for your feet.
- Make sure stockings and pantyhose fit correctly, and choose those without seams.
- Don't try to cut off corns or calluses on your own; see a podiatrist for treatment.
- Keep toenails trimmed in a straight line.
- Scrub your feet each day in warm water and gentle soap, and give them a careful once-over to look for foot problems.

Lead poisoning spikes in Nigeria, aid group says

DAKAR, 7 Oct—An international aid agency says 400 children have died from lead poisoning in northwestern Nigeria and contamination has spread to two more villages.

The UK-based office of Doctors Without Borders says residents in Zamfara state are receiving treatment after small-scale gold mining operations poisoned the area beginning in March.

The mining operations involve crushing and drying ore to extract bits of precious metal. The most recent batches of ore also contained lead. The mining process spread lead particles throughout the villages, contaminating living quarters, communal areas and water supplies.

NY seeks to ban sugary drinks from food stamp buys

NEW YORK, 7 Oct—New Yorkers on food stamps would not be allowed to spend them on sugar-sweetened drinks under an obesity-fighting proposal being floated by Mayor Michael Bloomberg and Gov David Paterson.

Bloomberg and Paterson planned to announce Thursday that they are seeking permission from the US Department of Agriculture, which administers the nation's food stamp programme, to add sugary drinks to the list of prohibited goods for city residents receiving assistance.

If approved, it would be the first time an item would be banned from the federal programme based solely on nutritional value. The idea has been suggested previously, including in 2008 in Maine, where it drew criticism from advocates for the poor who argued it unfairly singled out low-income people and risked scaring off potential needy recipients.

And in 2004 the USDA rejected Minnesota's plan to ban junk food, including soda and candy, from food stamp purchases, saying it would violate the Food Stamp Act's definition of what is food and could create "confusion and embarrassment" at the register.—Internet

Samsung 3Q earnings likely to fall from record

SEOUL, 7 Oct—Samsung Electronics, the world's biggest seller of computer memory chips, forecast Thursday that third-quarter operating profit likely eased from the previous quarter's record high amid signs that growth in global demand is waning.

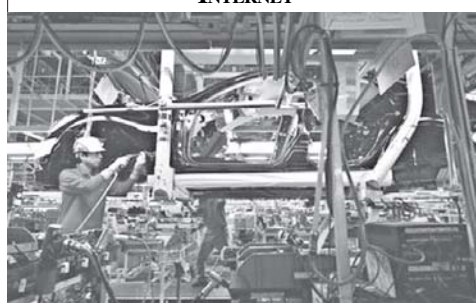

The Suwon, South Korea-based company expects consolidated operating profit of between 4.6 trillion won and 5 trillion won ($4.1 billion to $4.5 billion) for the three months ended Sept. 30, it said in a statement.

That would be higher than the 4.22 trillion won recorded in the third quarter last year but less than the 5.01 trillion won racked up in the second quarter of 2010. Samsung shares fell 2.5 percent to 773,000 won, fueling declines in other Asian technology stocks. The International Monetary Fund on Wednesday cut its forecast for US growth this year and next amid stubbornly high unemployment that is expected to restrain consumer spending. Major economies in Europe are also growing at an anemic pace. Aside from dominance in chips, Samsung is the world's biggest seller of liquid crystal displays and flatscreen televisions and ranks No 2 in mobile phone handsets after Finland's Nokia Corp. Samsung estimated consolidated sales of between 39 trillion won and 41 trillion won for the third quarter. That compares with sales of 35.9 trillion won a year earlier. The company gave no reason for the expected quarterly results and plans to release details when it formally announces third-quarter earnings at the end of this month, according to spokesman Nam Ki-yung.

World Bank and IMF at odds over hot money flows

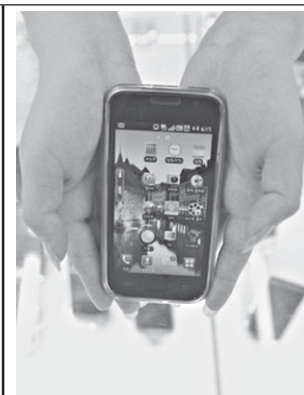

TOKYO, 7 Oct—Emerging economies should consider steps to contain fund flows that could cause currency rallies and asset bubbles, the World Bank chief was quoted as saying, but the International Monetary Fund called such actions "undesirable."

The contrasting views over capital controls come amid rising tension between emerging and developed economies over exchange rates, which is expected to be a hot topic at Group of Seven and International Monetary Fund meeting starting on Friday.

Western leaders are worried efforts by emerging economies to weaken their currencies could derail the fragile economic recovery. Officials from developing markets say ultra-low interest rates in rich countries are fuelling massive fund flows into their markets, pushing up their currencies and inflating prices of stocks, property and other assets.

SABMiller eyes $9.5 billion Africa Castel beer buy

LONDON, 7 Oct—Global brewer SABMiller (SAB.L) is in talks to buy the African beer operations of the privately-held French drinks group Castel in a deal worth 6 billion pounds ($9.5 billion), the Times of London said on Thursday.

The newspaper said founder Paul Castel's reduced involvement in the company signals that the next generation may be open to offers, but added that until recently there had been no indication that the family might sell.

SABMiller is the world's second largest brewer after AB InBev (ABI.BR) and brews Peroni, Miller Lite and Grolsch. SABMiller and Castel were not immediately reachable for comment. # WA Democratic Party presents its policy, stance and work programmes

NAY PYI TAW, 7 Oct—General Secretary U Hsai Paung Nap of WA Democratic Party presented the party's policy, stance and work programmes on radio and TV on 7 October.

The translation of his presentation is as follows:-

Esteemed national brethren voters,

I would like to extend greetings, wishing you all health and happiness.

With holding multiparty democracy general elections in accord with changes and developments in Myanmar historical course in the not too distant future, we will have to build a peaceful, modern and developed nation. So all national brethren voters will have to cast votes to choose their own representatives in different Hluttaws in the interest of the future State. As a public member's vote can decide the future of his own country, voters have to take thorough consideration before casting votes freely. By doing so, a modern and developed nation inspired by all national brethren will be built with the success of discipline-flourishing multiparty democracy system elections.

Our "Wa" Self-Administered Division was given birth together with emergence of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008). It can be said that the WA Democratic Party was given birth in accord with the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008). No one can deny that the Constitution (2008) is the one that can fulfill the basic political, economic and social needs of all national brethren and that can guarantee liberty, community peace and stability and development of the entire people and equality in the Union. So I believe that the Constitution (2008) is the one reflecting the present condition of all national brethren.

Provisions of the Constitution are come from basic principles and detailed basic principles laid down by the National Convention held from 1993 to 2007. Altogether 14 "Wa" national delegates—five delegates of "Wa" peace group from Special Region (2) as invited persons, five delegations from "Wa" National Development Party and four from Delegates of National Races—attended the Convention.

I would like to present why our "Wa" nationals actively participated in the Convention. "Wa" region had been neglected during successive eras and was lagged behind other regions in development. Before 20 years ago, the region was under threat of BCP insurgents for 30 years. At that time, local people encountered various forms of miseries bitterly. We want to enjoy the essence of Constitution 2008 in reality in order not to lose rights prescribed in the Constitution and not to see again above-mentioned miseries, and in order to implement tasks of ensuring community peace and stability, law and order and regional development. So fifteen representatives comprising Shan, Kachin and Kokang nationals including "Wa" southerners and northerners in "Wa" Self-Administered Division held coordination meeting and decided to form the WA Democratic Party.

Esteemed national brethren voters,

As our WA Democratic Party made a resolution to serve the interest of "Wa" Self-Administered Division, one of the parts of the State, we firmly believe that a work programme of ensuring community peace and stability, law and order and regional development should be given top priority. With the concept that only with united efforts of all national brethren, true vision and pragmatic way, will success be achieved, the WA Democratic Party is systematically implementing party's aim, faith, resolution, policies and work programmes including party's stances on national races affairs, peasant affairs, worker affairs, national entrepreneur affairs, Tatmadaw and religious associations as well as education, health, women affairs, youth sector, other social organizations and party's foreign policy.

I would like to present the party's aim.

We will strive to ensure eternal peace and stability in "Wa" Self-Administered Division and all-round development of all national brethren living in the Division.

We firmly believe that only with united efforts of all national brethren, true vision and pragmatic way, will success be achieved in accord with the aim of the party. Accordingly,

- (1) We will strive for perpetual existence of Self-Administered Division flourishing peace and stability and development.
- (2) We will strongly uphold non-disintegration of the Union, non-disintegration of National solidarity and perpetuation of sovereignty as inborn duty.
- (3) We are making a resolution to be able to realize the party's aim, policy and work programmes.

Esteemed national brethren voters,

We have adopted strong policies to be implemented systematically in accord with our WA Democratic Party's aim and belief. Let me explain our party's policies.

1. To ensure perpetual existence of "Wa" Self-Administered Division in the Union of Myanmar
2. To ensure national solidarity
3. To flourish true patriotism
4. To ensure community peace and prevalence of law and order
5. To ensure all-round development in the region
6. We will make alliances with other parties, organizations and persons that share policy and work programme with us, building mutual respects, and work together with them in all possible economic fields.
7. We will provide all necessary assistances for development of economic and social sectors.
8. We will constantly uphold Our Three Main National Causes namely non-disintegration of the Union, non-disintegration of National solidarity and perpetuation of sovereignty.
9. We will strive for all national brethren to enjoy peace and prosperity, thereby flourishing worldly values such as justice, liberty and equality in the country.
10. National brethren live together in the country through thick and thin, so we will try to ensure racial equality and equal rights and privileges and to fortify amicable relations and mutual trust between national races.
11. Regarding the foreign policy, we will try to maintain principles of peaceful coexistence focusing on global peace and peaceful coexistence of nations in accord with the independent foreign policy.

12. Being a member of the United Nations, we will adhere to the basic principles of the UN—mutual respect for each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty, non-aggression and friendly relations on the basis of equality.

I would like to continue to present the party's work programme.

1. To ensure that all national brethren live together unitedly in "Wa" Self-Administered Division
2. To ensure perpetual existence of community peace
3. To improve living standard of national races in "Wa" Self-Administered Division
4. To ensure community peace and prevalence of law and order
5. National races to be endowed with Union spirit

Esteemed national brethren voters,

I would like to continue to present the party's stance on class affairs.

1. To encourage the national races to develop their language, literature, culture and customs
2. To ensure that peasants and workers will fully enjoy basic rights in accord with the law and to encourage them to develop their businesses
3. To implement market-oriented policies, enabling national entrepreneurs to be able to develop social and economic sectors, and to ensure equal distribution of profits
4. To combat corruption and malpractices
5. To take care of the aged, orphans, vagrant youths, the disabled and helpless women

Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party presents its policy, stance and work programmes

NAY PYI TAW, 7 Oct—Chairman U Saw Khin Maung Myint of Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party presented party's policy, stance and work programmes on radio and TV on 7 October.

The translation of his presentation is as follows:-

The Union of Myanmar is a country where the national brethren have been living unity and amity. It is a sovereign and independent nation. I wish all the people including members of the Sangha physical and mental well-beings and free from dangers.

Myanmar lost sovereignty in the past for many times due to weak points of feudalism, colonialism and Fascism. In waging against colonialists and in activities of national liberation through the strength of national unity, our national brethren sacrificed many lives. On 4th January 1948, Myanmar could stand tall as a sovereign and independent nation among the global countries.

Upholding national unity and its perpetuation, our Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party will participate in the elections for the Hluttaws with a view to flourishing the worldly value such as justice, liberty and equality in the nation.

Our party is formed in line with the aims such as the international peace policy, the amicable relations policy and the peaceful coexistence policy. Adopting the basic policy on practising anti-terrorism and anti-anarchism, the Chapter (3) of the constitution of our party is mentioned as follows:-

Basic policies

1. We will preserve literature, language, customs and traditions of Kayin nationals.
2. We will strive for realizing the basic rights of freedom, self-determination, liabilities and rights of democracy not only in the Kayin national society but also in the Myanmar society.
3. We will try hard to flourish national unity, equality, truth and justice and peace in building the genuine Union.
4. We will make earnest efforts to be able to introduce freedom and peaceful and developed lives for the entire Kayin nationals.
5. We will legally strive for ensuring development, peace and prosperity of the massive Kayin nationals without harming interest of anyone.
6. We will legally try hard to protect ourselves against the policies harming the Kayin nationals and the activities undermining the interest of Kayin nationals.
7. We will make strenuous efforts for progress of political, economic and social affairs of the Kayin nationals.

Our party aimed at realizing non-disintegration of the Union, perpetuation of sovereignty and national unity based on equality, justice, freedom, prosperity and development of Kayin nationals similar to that of other national races.

Furthermore, we adore five points of human ethic such as anti-torture, saying truth, anti-theft, noble practice and selflessness.

We will steadfastly discharge duties for the sake of the interests of the nation and the people. We will sacrifice to enjoy rights. In the successive eras, we the people have been inheriting good legacy of sacrifice, bravery and generosity from the forefathers. As a result, Myanmar became a great country. It is known to the entire people that it benefited all the citizens and others.

At this juncture, I would like to present the correct attitude of our party. Page 1 of the preamble of the constitution of Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party is mentioned as follows:-

1. Our party will pay respects to rights of human beings (living things).
2. Our party will pay respects to anti-violence, truth and justice.
3. Our party will abide by friendly cooperation policy and world peace policy.
4. Our party will peacefully cooperate with the people to oppose the injustices.
5. Our party will preserve the fine traditions, culture and customs of Myanmar national.
6. Our party will cooperate with the people in flourishing truth, anti-violence (Ahinsa) and justice in the nation.
7. Our party will join hands with the people to successfully combat oppression, exploitation, manipulation, power abuse and suppression over our nation.
8. Our party will avoid anti-humanitarian acts.
9. Our party will uphold mutual respect and justice.
10. Our party will overcome social misery with great care by cultivating contentment.
11. Our party will march on toward the goal by overcoming oppression.
12. Our party will join hands with the national races of the Union of Myanmar to realize perpetuity, prosperity, unity, equality and development while preserving the culture, customs and traditions of Kayin nationals.
13. Our party will guard against ideology and isms that can undermine the national interest and envelop the national.
14. Our party will strive for development of political, economic and social affairs of the entire people.
15. Our party will participate in building a genuine Union upholding the policy without self-interest, and bias.

At present, all-out efforts are being made for national development. Helping each other, we are now in the process of uplifting our morale and keeping our environs stable to see prosperity. As such, we all should avoid violence. It is a time to overcome greed, anger and ignorance through love.

National unity should be based on same vision and same practice. If so, the unity will be compact, strong and united. Only then, will the world be peaceful and prosperous. Nowadays, Myanmar nationals have to preserve their own traditions, customs and culture to be able to uplift the prestige. If prestige is high, destructive acts will decline. If destructive acts decline, the nation will have prosperity. If so, the nation will develop. The country will be modern and developed nation.

Manpower, financial strength, material power, military might and influence that predominates the globe causes various problems of bias, attachment, hatred and violence (conflicts) without leading to peace and prosperity. If these activities go on, the human beings will not be free from fear.

Our party mentions work programmes in brief on page 5 of Chapter 3 in the party's constitution so as to ensure (1) equal vision and practice, (2) strengthening in all aspects, (3) existence of principle of the State constitution, (4) emergence of outstanding persons who can lead the nation and (5) construction of the world for human beings without grudge.

Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party has adopted the plans. They are:

1. The Kayin State Government will bring about the rights of Kayin nationals in accord with the constitution.
2. Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party will legally serve the interest of all Kayin nationalities not only from Kayin State but also from all the regions of the nation.
3. The party will compete in the free and fair elections so as to carry out the issue of Kayin national.
4. Formation of Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party will be based on Kayin State and it will be extended on Mon State, Taninthayi Region, Bago Region, Yangon Region and Ayeyawady Region for serving the interest of Kayin nationals.
5. The party will seek ways and means for collaboration of all Kayin nationals from Kayin State and other regions for serving their interests.
6. The party will provide assistance for the people to realize economic and social affairs of their own accord in line with the law.
7. The party will accept the policy of anti-violence without hatred and build the unity.

Our party has systematically adopted objectives and policies. They are:

- (a) National races affairs
- (b) Association affairs
- (c) Youth affairs
- (d) Women's affairs
- (e) Education
- (f) Health
- (g) Intellectuals, intelligentsia and entrepreneurs affairs
- (h) Attitude for political parties.

We all are to realize friendly living together, establishment of communication and cooperation and avoid the activities of hatred and quarrel, discrimination, harming interest and causing evil acts in the world.

Phalon-Sawaw Democratic Party pledges to take responsibility for maintaining (1) human rights, (2) anti-violence, truth and equality and (3) amicable cooperation for peace of the world with the aim of working in concert for development of the peaceful and stable world in unity, ensuring peaceful coexistence of the world applying modern technology, leading to the justice, avoiding conflicts, removing hatred, realizing equality and staying away from quarrel and misunderstanding and establishing the discipline-flourishing human society. We wish all members of the Sangha and Myanmar nationalities physical and mental well-beings.

The Yangon City Development Committee is taking responsibility for all-round development tasks to become Yangon as the garden city.

With a view to upgrading and beautifying Yangon, the Yangon City Development Committee supervises the Engineering Department (Road and Bridge), which is one of 20 de-

Among these undertakings, the YCDC have upgraded the main roads and streets in downtown

Yangon and lanes in wards to the concrete roads and streets. Moreover, some roads are being upgraded to the asphalt roads and asphalt concrete roads.

Furthermore, the YCDC is upgrading the roads in some townships of Yangon Region apart from the townships of its municipal area.

The YCDC used over 700,000 bags of cement in 2009-2010 financial year and 476,135 bags of cement from 1-4-2010 to 12-9-2010. The YCDC is this using the increased volume of cement year after year in construction and maintenance of the roads for their durability in townships of its municipal area.

Yangon is being built as a commercial hub. It has characteristics of economic city with the beautifying tasks, the seaport, industrial zones, dense population, a large number of buildings and transport facilities. As such, the YCDC has calculated the increased of cement.

Therefore, a 500-ton City Cement Plant was built near Pyinyaung Village in Thazi Township, Mandalay Region and opened on 30 April 2010. Nowadays, the cement plant of YCDC is producing quality cement daily to be able to satisfy the higher demand of the nation.

Germany plays down terror threat, France issues UK alert

BERLIN, 7 Oct—Germany's interior minister sought on Wednesday to calm public concerns amid a spate of warnings about the risk of a terrorist attack in Europe.

France became the latest country to issue a security alert, telling citizens heading to Britain to exercise caution due to a very high risk of terrorist action there that could target public transport and tourist sites.

That followed a US alert on Sunday warning American citizens to exercise caution if traveling in Europe. The same day, Britain raised the threat level to "high" from "general" for its citizens traveling to Germany and France.

Security sources say the trigger for the series of warnings was intelligence about a possible al-Qaeda-related plot to launch commando-style assaults on European cities, modeled on the 2008 Mumbai attacks by Pakistan-based militants that killed about 170 people. German Interior Minister Thomas de Maiziere said he saw no indications of any imminent attack on Germany, even though the country remained in general a target. Talking about possible attacks played into the hands of terrorists by fuelling public fears, he said.

Flash floods in eastern Indonesia kill at least 75

TELUK WONDAMA, 7 Oct—A navy warship arrived in a remote corner of eastern Indonesia carrying tents and medical supplies Wednesday after flash floods and mudslides tore through mountain-side villages, killing at least 75 people and leaving thousands homeless.

The disaster in West Papua province — triggered by days of torrential downpours submerged hundreds of houses in thigh-high water and destroyed roads and bridges, hampering already difficult rescue efforts.

Worst hit was the village of Wasior, where a landslide early Monday was followed minutes later by a river that burst its banks, sweeping away residents in a fast-moving deluge of water, heavy logs and debris.

"Many people didn't have time to save themselves," stammered Ira Wanoni, adding that at least 30 homes were completely flattened.

RI firefighters save 18-foot snake in burning home

EAST GREENWICH, 7 Oct—Firefighters often have to rescue people from burning homes, sometimes even a dog or cat.

The home's sole occupant managed to escape on his own and brought out his two dogs and a cat.

Henrikson says he hates snakes and wouldn't go near it.

He says it appears the fire started where the pipe of a wood stove met the wall. The East Greenwich house was condemned.—Internet

DUBLIN, 7 Oct—The signs of the major celestial event, a colossal detonation, flashed across the universe for millions of years before reaching the first person on earth to become aware of it: a man in a shed in Dublin.

The achievement of an amateur star-watcher in spotting a supernova, one of the most dramatic events of the heavens, has been hailed as "the biggest thing ever discovered in Irish astronomy". A supernova is a cataclysmic explosion during which a star self-destructs with such force it destroys nearby suns and planets. Who wants to be a coconut millionaire?

NEW DELHI, 7 Oct — When he was a child, C Satheesh got used to his father slipping from the family home every morning at dawn to go and pick coconuts. It was tough, arduous work. With a lungi wrapped around his waist, a loop of fibre rope twisted around his ankles and a sharp knife tucked out of sight, his father would clamber high into the trees and start chopping at the coconuts. Some days he would climb 50 trees for less than 150 rupees (£2). And it was unforgiving on the body; his joints ached, his back constantly hurt. A fall could have been fatal.

So last year, when the state government of Kerala announced a special competition, Mr Satheesh, 28, a computer engineering graduate who runs his own software company, immediately took notice. The contest was to devise a machine that could ascend a coconut tree and harvest the nuts, thereby doing away with the need for human climbers.—Internet

'World's biggest book' launched at fair

Deer's house romp ended by homeowner's gunshots

A deer that crashed through a window and romped around a house in East Tennessee left a family with thousands of dollars in damages and a mess that included blood stains from the homeowner shooting the animal.

David and Cheri Ellis told the Cleveland Daily Banner that their daughters had gone upstairs to their bedroom when a six-point buck jumped through a window Wednesday night at the house they are remodeling in north Bradley County.

David Ellis said he saw the deer slid into a drum set and continue a destructive rampage that included ramming its antlers through walls and scattering furnishings. While Cheri Ellis called 911 her husband grabbed his gun and started firing. No one was hurt but deputies arrived to find the deer dying.

Pa federal inmate sues over discarded sandwiches

An inmate of a federal prison in central Pennsylvania is suing, saying he was wrongly punished for "theft" when all he did was take about 30 sandwiches that a vendor threw in the garbage while restocking a dining hall machine. Thirty-five-year-old George Crute III, is suing officials at the Federal Correctional Institution-Loretto over the 5 Feb incident. Crute says he wrongly lost his "good conduct" time that would have shortened his sentence and his job as a clerk.

Prison officials contend Crute took the sandwiches out of the machine. The Tribune-Democrat of Johnstown says a guard claims Crute ran away with a garbage bag when an officer tried to question him. Crute's lawsuit says the sandwiches were fair game after the vendor tossed.

NASHVILLE, 7 Oct—Taylor Swift has won a court fight against 16 individuals she claimed violated trademark by selling counterfeit merchandise bearing her name and picture.

Court documents said a federal judge in Nashville granted a default judgment last week permanently barring 16 individuals from making or selling Taylor Swift merchandise.

Swift claimed in the suit that her merchandise enforcement team found numerous individuals selling fake goods across the country during her 2009 tour, including T-shirts with her image on them.

A message left for Swift's attorney on Wednesday was not immediately returned. Court records indicated that the accused individuals had no attorneys listed and they had not responded to the lawsuit.—Internet

Weary Pavin back on course after Ryder Cup thrills

POTOMAC, 7 Oct—It was a long flight back to the United States for Corey Pavin, giving the Ryder Cup captain plenty of time to wonder “What if?” after his team’s narrow loss to Europe. A slow start, nasty weather, wardrobe malfunctions and questionable pairings gave way to a rousing finish that nearly saw the US team pull off an unprecedented comeback Monday. But Pavin didn’t stew about missed opportunities on the way home from Wales.

“I’m not one of those guys. I did the best I could with everything, all my decisions,” Pavin said Wednesday. “The Ryder Cup is over. It was great, but it’s time to move on.” He now has the difficult task of trying to regroup from one emotionally draining experience by stepping into another — a major championship.

Germany captain expected to miss rest of 2010

LEVERKUSEN, 7 Oct—Germany captain Michael Ballack is not expected to play football again in 2010 after it was revealed on Wednesday his knee injury is worse than first thought. The 34-year-old fractured the tibia just below his left knee in a Bundesliga match against Hanover last month, but a further examination has revealed more bad news. The defensive midfielder now needs to wear a protective cast for the next four to six weeks to allow the injury to heal.

“The injury is more serious than thought and as a result Michael will be unavailable until the end of the year,” said his club Bayer Leverkusen in a statement. Ballack picked up the injury on only his third game back after damaging ligaments in his right ankle last May which kept him out of the World Cup finals. Having spent four years at Chelsea, Ballack returned to the German league this season with Leverkusen, but the latest set-back is a blow to both his club coach Jupp Heynckes and national trainer Joachim Loew.— Internet “Goals always give you confidence. You score, you play well and the confidence soars,” said Ronaldo. Portugal are second last in their Group H after a draw at home to Cyprus and losing to Norway. “We’re not where we should be,” conceded Ronaldo, who missed both ties because of injury. “Now there isn’t much room for error — we have to win.” Ronaldo said he was satisfied with his performance for Real Madrid.— Internet

De Jong went too far, says van Marwijk

THE HAGUE, 7 Oct—Dutch coach Bert van Marwijk on Wednesday justified his decision to drop Nigel de Jong over his leg-breaking challenge on Hatem Ben Arfa by saying the defensive midfielder had over-stepped the line. “Nigel really went too far,” van Marwijk told the ANP agency. “It’s a shame. There are only losers in this affair: Ben Arfa has a double fracture. Nigel has also lost out. And I can no longer call on a player who was in great form for two very important matches.

“That said, I didn’t hesitate for long before making my decision (to drop de Jong from the squad).” Van Marwijk has criticised Manchester City’s de Jong for his aggressive play on a number of occasions, notably after friendly matches this year against Japan and Paraguay. The defensive midfielder was also widely considered fortunate to have escaped punishment for a chest-high foul on Xabi Alonso during the Netherlands’ 1-0 defeat by Spain in the World Cup final in July.

Yangon enjoying improved facilities

Article & Photos: Reporter Than Swe (Pabedan)

In practising the market-oriented economic system in the nation, most of the commodities of the countries sharing border with Myanmar are flowing into states and regions of Myanmar through the land routes. Likewise, the commodities of Myanmar are being exported to neighbouring countries through the land routes.

Similarly, townships and villages of States and Regions mostly use the land route linking with Yangon Region in the social and economic sectors. As such, the land route is important in the nation.

At present, satellite towns have emerged one after another in the entire nation. Therefore, many construction projects are being implemented with regard to maintenance of old roads, extension of old ones, construction of new roads, building of bridges across rivers and construction of Union Highways.
