YANGON, 3 March—The 10th Sayawun Tin Shwe Literary Award ceremony took place at the Traders Hotel here this morning with an address by Union Minister for Information and for Culture U Kyaw Hsan.

It was also attended by Yangon Region Chief Minister U Myint Swe, Deputy Minister for Information U Soe

Win, Yangon Region Minister for Finance and Revenue Daw San San Nwe, departmental heads of the Information Ministry, the chairman and CEC members of Myanmar Writers and Journalists Association, members of Sayawun Tin Shwe Literary Award Selection Committee, literati, family members of Sayawun Tin Shwe and guests.

Speaking at the ceremony, Union Minister U Kyaw Hsan said literature plays an important part in both a nation and the international community. In this age of technology or knowledge, literature is the basis of knowledge and technology. For the knowledge and technological improvement in the nation, the Tatmadaw government took steps for all young people even from rural areas to be able to pursue basic education easily and then higher education with least difficulty. Now, the new government is also taking measures for national education promotion to ensure quality from quantity.

Moreover, village libraries are being set up for the whole country to become a constant learning society. Now, almost all the villages across the nation have seen libraries and encouragement is being given for the maintenance and durability of those libraries. For national literary development, the State is presenting 15 national literary awards and 13 Sarpay Beikman literary awards. Plans are being made to present a national press award for journals this year, said the Union Minister.

He added that in comparison with the yearly publishing of 4007 books on various subjects and over 7300 journals, the number of awards the State is presenting is only small. So, the State owes gratitude to Sayawun Tin Shwe Literary Award for narrowing the gap. In addition, Pakokku (See page 8)

Prevention is better than cure

Today's call for the people by the government to pursue knowledge on health and to observe good personnel hygiene tips should be taken seriously.

Medical teams comprising specialists, doctors, nurses, volunteers, etc have been providing free medical health care services for the people and disseminating knowledge on health, including importance of personal hygiene.

Personal hygiene provides healthy life for a person, leading to longevity which is one of the measurements for the development.

Health is the greatest assets a person possesses. Health is precious and it is an important gift by nature to us.

Diseases are the worst enemies of good health. There are various kinds of bacteria and viruses in the atmosphere which can attack man and make him ill.

It is wise to prevent a disease rather than trying to cure it once it has already affected a person.

How could diseases be kept away? The best way to do so is by preventing these diseases from affecting us.

Prevention means washing your hands, and also your body. It means being careful not to cough or sneeze on others, cleaning things that you touch if you are unwell, putting items such as tissues (that may have germs) into a bin, and using protection (like gloves or condoms) when you might be at risk of catching an infection.

It is important to raise public awareness of prevention against diseases as part of efforts for helping the people enjoy a healthy life.

Therefore, while voluntary medical teams are providing free health care services for the people, parents and teachers should also educate the young and social organizations should raise awareness of the importance of personal hygiene.

23 killed in suicide blast in NW Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, 3 March—At least 23 people were killed and some 20 others injured in a suicide bomb blast in Pakistan's northwestern tribal area of Khyber Agency on Friday.

Local Urdu TV channel ARY quoted local officials as saying that a suicide bomber blew himself up in front of a mosque while people were coming out from the mosque after on Friday prayers.

Tehreek-e-Taleban Pakistan (TTP) Tariq group, a faction of Pakistan Taliban, claimed responsibility for the attack. One local media report said that most of the victims were members of Lashkar-e-Islam, a rival militant group.

Friday's attack could be an retaliation for the killing of 11 members of TTP Tariq group by Lashkar-e-Islam several months ago. The mosque is located in the Tirah Valley, a remote mountainous area near the border with Afghanistan.—Xinhua

Six insurgents killed in Afghanistan

KABUL, 3 March—Six armed insurgents were killed and four others detained during joint operations in two Afghan Provinces, the country's Interior Ministry said on Saturday.

"The Afghan National Police, Afghan army and International Coalition Forces launched three joint operations in Nangarhar and Badghis Provinces killing six armed insurgents and detaining four others over the past 24 hours," the ministry said in a statement.

They also seized weapons besides defusing five Improvised Explosive Devices (IEDs) in the above operations, it added.

"Two more insurgents were killed by their own IED while they attempted to plant it in the Badpakh District of eastern Laghman Province on Friday night," according to the statement.

Afghan forces and

NATO-led coalition troops have intensified cleanup operations throughout the post-Taliban country recently.

Over 220 insurgents have been killed and more than 600 others detained in the country since the beginning of this year, according to the Interior Ministry.

Taliban militants have yet to make comments.

Japan, Britain eye joint arms development

TOKYO, 3 March—Japan is planning to jointly develop weapons with Britain as Tokyo looks to boost its defence industry after easing a decades-old ban on arms exports, a newspaper reported on Saturday.

Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihiko Noda is seeking to reach a deal on the defence partnership during a visit by his British counterpart David Cameron planned for April, the Sankei Shimbun said.

The British government has so far proposed plans to jointly develop four items, including the autoloading system for 155-millimetre (6.2-inch) howitzers, the daily said.

The move came after Tokyo relaxed its self-imposed ban on arms exports in December, paving the way for Japanese firms to participate in multinational weapons projects.

In a move intended to bolster the domestic arms industry and reduce defence spending, officially pacifist Japan is for the first time in decades routinely allowing its companies to partner with foreign firms to develop weapons.

Japan, whose industries took years to recover after World War II, declared in 1967 that it would tightly control its foreign weapons sales. The new rules allow Japan to develop and produce arms jointly with the United States and European countries and to export military equipment intended for operations such as UN peacekeeping.—Xinhua

Al-Qaeda claims responsibility for killing US intelligence officer in Yemen's Aden

ADEN, 3 March—The Yemen-based al-Qaeda wing said Friday that it had killed a US intelligence officer in the southern port city of Aden.

"Our brave fighters opened fire at a team of US intelligence officers in the southern city of Aden on Thursday, killing a CIA officer," the al-Qaeda said in a text message received by Xinhua.

"We killed the officer after we monitored him and made sure that he was cooperating with the Sanaa government in the war against terrorism," the message said.

The group did not give more details about the attack or elaborate how it conducted the operation against the US team.

A close source to the al-Qaeda militants told Xinhua that "we saw a team of US senior officers patrolling in the al-Mulla district in downtown Aden in a small military car."

"The officers' car came under attacks, which also injured a number of them," the source said.

On Thursday, a Yemeni security official told Xinhua that a brigade of Yemen's special forces were dispatched from Sanaa to Aden for an anti-terror training course conducted by a US security team.

He said on condition of anonymity that the Yemeni special forces were preparing to engage next month in battles against al-Qaeda militants in the neighboring restive Province of Abyan.

The Yemeni government has given the militants ultimatum to quit captured cities in Abyan.

Taking advantage of one-year anti-government protests, the resurgent al-Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula (AQAP), known locally as Ansar al-Sharia (Partisans of Islamic Law), has taken control of several cities across the restive southern provinces.

The Yemeni government forces have been battling the AQAP militants in the south, leaving hundreds of people killed and thousands displaced.

The AQAP, entrenching itself mainly in Yemen's southern provinces of Abyan and Shabwa, is on the terrorist list of the United States.

Newly-elected President Abd-Rabbu Mansour Hadi vowed to strengthen security and intelligence cooperation with the United States in combating the AQAP that threatened the daily oil shipping routes in the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden.

Common sleeping pills linked with higher death risk

SAN FRANCISCO, 3 March—Commonly-prescribed sleeping pills are linked to a more-than fourfold risk of premature death, according to an American study published in the journal BMJ Open on Monday. These medications were also associated at higher doses with a 35-percent increased risk of cancer as compared with non-users, but the reason for this is unclear. Doctors led by Daniel Kripke of the Scripps Clinic Viterbi Family Sleep Center in La Jolla, California, looked at the medical records of more than 10,500 adults living in Pennsylvania who were taking prescribed sleeping aids.

These were compared against more than 23,600 counterparts, matched for age, health and background, who did not take these drugs. The study ranged over two and a half years, and looked at widely-prescribed sleep-ing pills, including benzodiazepines, non-benzodiazepines, barbiturates and sedatives. The overall number of deaths that occurred during this period was small in both groups, being less than a thousand in total. But there was a striking difference in mortality, the researchers found.

New flu virus is found in bats

NEW YORK, 3 March—A new strain of influenza A has been found in fruit bats, indicating for the first time that bats, like birds, can be carriers of the virus, though it is not believed risky to humans, according to US health authorities. “This is the first time an influenza virus has been identified in bats, but in its current form the virus is not a human health issue,” said Suxiang Tong, head of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s pathogen discovery programme.

“The study is important because the research has identified a new animal species that may act as a source of flu viruses.” The influenza A virus was detected in a sample of three of 316 live little yellow-shouldered bats captured at two different sites in Guatemala. That type of bat is not known to bite humans but feeds on fruit, and is native to Central and South America.

Previous flu pandemics, such as the 2009 H1N1 pandemic, which came to the public’s attention as “swine flu,” have been known to originate in animals and eventually transform so that they gain the ability to infect people. “Fortunately, initial laboratory testing suggests the new virus would need to undergo significant changes to become capable of infecting and spreading easily among humans,” said Ruben Donis, chief of the Molecular Virology and Vaccines Branch in CDC’s Influenza Division.

“A different animal — such as a pig, horse or dog — would need to be capable of being infected with both this new bat influenza virus and human influenza viruses for reassortment to occur.”—Internet

US recalls India-made birth control pills

NEW YORK, 3 March—A batch of birth control pills manufactured in India for US distribution has been recalled due to a packaging error that could make the pills ineffective, US health authorities said on Monday. Seven lots of generic norgestimate and ethinyl estradiol tablets were recalled by Glenmark Generics Inc. USA, the US Food and Drug Administration said.

The company said the tablets were manufactured and packaged by Glenmark Generics Ltd India, and distributed to wholesalers and retail pharmacies across the United States between 21 September, 2011 and 30 December, 2011.

“As a result of this packaging error, the daily regimen for these oral contraceptives may be incorrect and could leave women without adequate contraception, and at risk for unintended pregnancy,” Glenmark said in a statement.

It was not immediately clear how many packets were affected by the error, which rotated some of the pills by 180 degrees out of the usual sequential order and left the lot number and expiry date visible only on the outer pouch.

“Any blister for which the lot number and expiry date is not visible is subject to recall,” Glenmark added in a statement.

Japan retail sales boosted by surge in demand for cars

TOKYO, 3 March—Japan’s retail sales rose more-than-expected in January driven up by a surge in car sales as government subsidies on energy efficient cars boosted demand. Retail sales rose 1.9% from a year earlier, with car sales up by 24%. The jump comes after Japan reintroduced subsidies of up to 100,000 yen ($1245; £786) per car to encourage sales. The country’s carmakers were among the worst hit businesses by last year’s earthquake and tsunami. In December, the Japanese government announced that it would set aside 300bn yen as part of its subsidy programme for energy efficient cars.

Analysts said the subsidies were likely to boost sales further in the coming months.

“The Japanese automotive association predicts that domestic car sales in 2012 will reach 5 million, up 19% year-on-year due to subsidy and normalization of the supply chain disruption,” said Takuji Okubo of Societe Generale in Tokyo. “Car sales account for 10% of Japanese

Nokia pins hopes on cheaper Windows smartphone

BARCELONA, 3 March—Struggling cell phone maker Nokia kicked off the world’s largest mobile phone trade show Monday by unveiling a new low-cost Windows smartphone that operators could give away free to customers, and another aimed at snap-happy consumers demanding better photo quality. Chief executive Stephen Elop told reporters at the Mobile World Congress in Barcelona that the new phones — a low-price euro189 ($254) smartphone that runs on Windows software and a handset with a high-resolution 41 megapixel camera — demonstrate “the actions necessary to improve the fortunes of Nokia.” “With great products for consumers, I think the rest will fall into place,” Elop said. In many countries, cell phone companies subsidize the sale of smartphones to customers who sign contracts.

The low price of the new phone means their out-of-pocket costs would be low, even if they give the handset away. But shares of Nokia Corp. closed down more than 6 percent at euro4.06 ($5.44) on the Helsinki Stock Exchange after the announcements, wiping out gains made Friday when investors had hoped the Finnish company would map out bolder plans to claw back market share.—Internet

GM may buy small stake in Peugeot

Peugeot Citroen sales fell almost 9% in Europe last year.—INTERNET

LONDON, 3 March—General Motors is close to buying a small stake in Peugeot Citroen, reports say. The two companies are discussing a strategic alliance in Europe where GM’s Opel brand lost $747m (£472m) last year. As part of that deal GM is ready to buy a stake of about 7% in Peugeot, according to Bloomberg news. Last year, Peugeot’s car-making business reported a loss due to tough conditions in the European car market. It is thought that the two companies are discussing a plan to develop vehicles together.

They would then sell those cars under their own brands. The deal could be announced in the next few days, Reuters reports, adding that GM is likely to buy a stake of less than 5%. A deal would require the approval of the Peugeot family, which still holds 30% of the company’s shares, and because of the way those shares are structured, the family has 48% of voting rights among shareholders.—Internet

Melting Arctic link to cold, snowy UK winters

This winter brought snow as far south as Greece.—INTERNET

LONDON, 3 March—The progressive shrinking of Arctic sea ice is bringing colder, snowier winters to the UK and other areas of Europe, North America and China, a study shows.

As global temperatures have risen, the area of Arctic Ocean covered by ice in summer and autumn has been falling. Writing in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (PNAS), a US/China-based team show this affects the jet stream and brings cold, snowy weather. Whether conditions will get colder still as ice melts further is unclear.

There was a marked deterioration in ice cover between the summers of 2006 and 2007, which still holds the record for the lowest extent on record; and it has not recovered since. The current winter is roughly tracking the graph of 2007, according to the US National Snow and Ice Data Centre (NSIDC). The new study is not the first to propose a causal relationship between low Arctic ice in autumn and Europe's winter weather. But it has gone further than others in assessing the strength of the link.

Through observations and computer modelling, the team headed by Jiping Liu from Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, US, and the Institute of Atmospheric Physics in Beijing has also elucidated the mechanisms involved. "For the past four winters, for much of the northern US, east Asia and Europe, we had this persistent above-normal snow cover," Dr Liu told BBC News. "We don't see a predictive relationship with any of the other factors that have been proposed, such as El Niño; but for sea ice, we do see a predictive relationship."

Oldest new world cave art discovered

NEW YORK, 3 March—Cave painting connects us with our prehistoric artist ancestors. But there's a dearth of such illustration in the Americas. Now a cave in Brazil has been found to house the oldest New World image known. The shelter was excavated from 2002 to 2009. In the last days there, scientists exposed a foot-high figure in the bedrock. It has a c-shaped head, two outstretched arms, two legs, and a very visible penis.

Using radiocarbon dating, the researchers dated an ash layer to between 9300 and 10,500 years ago. A hearth found about an inch above the drawing gives similar results. And the researchers used a technique called optically stimulated luminescence on sediment, which also dated to around 10-12,000 years ago.

The scientists say this makes the petroglyph the oldest reliably dated cave art in the Americas. The research was published in journal Public Library of Science One. Echoes of this style exist in other early art in the region, amidst diverse styles throughout North and South America. The researchers the range of images reveals a spectrum of symbolic thought dating back to early in the history of human colonization of the hemisphere.—Internet

Cornwall deer population increasing

LONDON, 3 March—The deer population in Cornwall has risen 10-fold in the past decade, experts have said. The British Deer Society's South West branch said herds up to 20-strong were now regularly spotted. The initial rise has been credited to deer having more roaming space since the 2001 Foot and Mouth outbreak led to livestock being killed or kept inside.

A population survey is being carried out and will be published in the summer. Paul Messenger, the society's regional spokesperson, said: "I'm seeing a greater number and more people come to the society and say they saw one or two deer a few years ago but now they're seeing herds of 10 or 20 at a time."

However, a rise in deer numbers could have a detrimental effect. Just last year the British Trust for Ornithology carried out research into the impact deer had on falling bird populations such as nightingales as it was claimed the animals could reduce the quality of the birds' habitat. The

Ship's anchor slows down East African web connection

NAIROBI, 3 March—East Africa's high-speed Internet access has been severely disrupted after a ship dropped its anchor onto fibre-optic cables off Kenya's coast. The ship was waiting to enter Mombasa — one of Africa's busiest ports — when it anchored in a restricted area. It could take up to 14 days to repair, cable owners The East African Marine Systems (Teams) told the BBC. This is one of three undersea cables to have arrived in the region since 2009, delivering faster internet access.

Cables run by Teams, which is partly owned by the Kenyan government, and Eassy—a consortium of telecoms companies — were damaged at the weekend. Internet service providers and mobile phone operators have re-routed to the Seacom link — which was not damaged by the dropped anchor. But the companies have only bought a small amount of bandwidth because of cost. The BBC's Noel Mwakugu in Nairobi says as a result Internet connections are expected to slow down by 20% in Kenya, Rwanda, Burundi, Tanzania, Ethiopia and South Sudan's capital, Juba.

Seacom — the first to be up and running — links East Africa to Europe, India and South Africa. Teams links the region to the United Arab Emirates — and Eassy, which went live in July 2010, links countries along the East African coast. MWC 2012: Nokia reveals 41MP cameraphone BARCELONA, 3 March — A 41-megapixel Nokia smartphone was among the new technology on show during the opening day of Mobile World Congress in Barcelona. The 808 Pureview offers enhanced low-light performance as well as sophisticated image compression designed to help users share pictures. Nokia hopes to regain ground lost to Google and Apple in the mobile market. However, some have criticised Nokia's decision to use its own operating system, Symbian, on the device. Nokia's other smartphones typically run on Microsoft's Windows Phone software.

Symbian, which first appeared on Nokia phones in the 90s, is widely regarded as inferior to the app and social media-driven Windows Phone system. "The Pureview 808's Symbian Belle operating system might detract from its appeal to a broader market, where it deserves recognition," said Tony Cripps, a principal analyst with Ovum. "It's a pity that Nokia was unable to combine the photographic prowess of the PureView 808 with the style of the Lumia 900. "Such a device may well have been the first smartphone to truly deserve the title of 'superphone'."

Nokia claims the 808 sets a "new industry standard" in mobile imaging devices. "People will inevitably focus on the 41 megapixel sensor," said Jo Harlow, executive vice-president of Nokia smart devices.—Internet

SHANGHAI, 3 March—Proview Electronics says it is now seeking to regain worldwide rights to the iPad name and is suing Apple Inc for alleged fraud and unfair competition, hoping to have a 2009 sale of the trademark ruled void.

The Taiwan-based maker of LED lights said in a release late Monday that it had amended its lawsuit filed earlier this month in Santa Clara, California's Superior Court.

Apart from having the trademark sale voided, it also is seeking unspecified compensation, a share of Apple's profits from alleged "unfair competition" and an order for Apple to stop using the trademarks. Apple had no immediate comment. Proview insists it owns the rights to the iPad trademark in mainland China. A Shanghai court last week rejected its demand for an injunction preventing Apple from selling the iPad.

It also postponed hearing the case pending a decision by a court in southern China's Guangdong Province, where Proview's mainland Chinese factory is based. The Guangdong High Court is due to convene Wednesday for an appeal by Apple of a lower court judgment against the US company's claim to the trademark.

It is unclear if Proview's latest legal maneuver is driven by the expectation of a favorable ruling by the Guangdong High Court or by its desire to push Apple for an out-of-court settlement — an option Proview's lawyers have said would be possible. Apple has given no sign it would be willing to settle. It contends Proview failed to transfer ownership of the mainland Chinese iPad trademark as agreed in the 2009 deal.—Internet

London 2012 venues face toilet trouble

LONDON, 3 March—The organizers of the 2012 London Olympics are faced with toilet trouble ahead of the mega sporting event in July.

According to documents obtained from the Olympic Delivery Authority under the Freedom of Information Act, test events at the new handball and basketball arenas were riddled with blocked toilet problems, the Daily Express reported.

Plumbers were called out 32 times to the two test events last summer, including to one lavatory malfunction in the basketball stadium's VIP loo. Much thought was put into the design of the Olympic Park's thousands of toilets in an attempt to make the Games green.

There are concerns that the green targets might be the reason behind the blocked toilet problem. The loos have water-saving dual flushes, which, when used in large commercial environments where the drainage pipes are far longer and shallower than in domestic homes, are more prone to blockages.—Internet

Anti-drug official accused of drug ties

BOGOTA, 3 March—The former head of the anti-narcotics initiative "Plan Colombia" faced questioning regarding suspected drug trafficking ties, officials said.

Sandra Suarez, former executive director of the US-funded initiative, was appointed by former Colombian President Alvaro Uribe in 2002 to help combat drug trafficking.

The former Information and Communications Technology director of the now-defunct intelligence agency has accused Suarez of involvement with a regional paramilitary group.

The office of the prosecutor general has said the investigation into Suarez's involvement is preliminary, and her questioning on Monday was voluntary. She was to make a statement Wednesday. So far she has denied involvement and accused the intelligence official of slander.

The paramilitary group, before it was demobilized in 2006, was designated by many countries, including the United States, as a terrorist organization, and was responsible for most drug trafficking in the country.

Suarez is accused of collaborating with three governors and one of the paramilitary group's main leaders, known as Jorge 40, to expand its power into the north of the country in 2006. All three governors have since been sentenced for their ties to Jorge 40, Colombia Today reported.

Most factories in Thailand recovered from flood

BANGKOK, 3 March—Most flood-hit factories have already resumed operations as they recovered from the crisis, Thailand's National Economic and Social Development Board (NESDB) said on Tuesday.

Based on the meeting of Strategic Committee for Reconstruction and Future Development (SCRF) which is formed by the government to fight flood, 44 percent of the factories situated within industrial estates have begun manufacturing, whereas 78 percent of those outside industrial estates have also undergone full recovery, said NESDB's Secretary-General Arkom Termpitayapaisit.

However, it takes longer to recover for the electronics and automotive groups as new machinery has yet to be installed.

Regarding the 4 billion-baht (132 million US dollars) construction of floodwalls around industrial estates, the Ministry of Finance is set to propose that the cabinet provide funding for two-thirds of the total budget.

During heaviest flood situation from July to mid-December last year, almost a thousand of factories were inundated, about 70 percent of which were Japanese companies. As a result, over 600,000 employees were at the risk of losing their jobs.

Huge rare pink diamond found in Australia

PERTH, 3 March—Mining giant Rio Tinto said it has unearthed a "remarkable" 12.76 carat pink diamond in Australia, the largest of the rare and precious stones ever found in the resources-rich nation.

Named the Argyle Pink Jubilee, the huge rough stone was found at Rio Tinto's pink diamond operations in the Kimberley region of western Australia and would take 10 days to cut and polish, the miner said on Wednesday.

"This rare diamond is generating incredible excitement. A diamond of this calibre is unprecedented — it has taken 26 years of Argyle production to unearth this stone and we may never see one like this again," said Josephine Johnson from Rio's Argyle Pink Diamonds division.

"The individual who gets to wear this remarkable pink diamond will be incredibly lucky indeed."

The light pink Argyle Jubilee is a similar colour to the 24-carat Williamson Pink given to Britain's Queen Elizabeth II as a wedding gift which was later set into a Cartier brooch for her coronation.

The Williamson was discovered in Tanzania in 1947 and is ranked among the finest pink diamonds in existence.

Rio produces more than 90 percent of the world's pink diamonds from the Argyle mine, and said large stones like the Jubilee typically went to museums, were gifted to royalty or end up at prestigious auction houses like Christie's.—Internet

Mails containing suspicious powder reached Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, 3 March—US lawmakers' congressional offices on Capitol Hill were targeted by mails containing suspicious powder, media reported on Monday.

"In addition to the suspicious letters sent to Senate state offices last week, similar letters addressed to Senate offices in (Washington) DC have been received," the Hill newspaper, which specializes in reporting to the Congress, quoted Senate Sergeant at Arms Terry Gainer as saying.

The letters were intercepted at the Senate's off-site mailing screening facility and all tests thus far have indicated the letters contained no hazardous materials, he noted in an email to Senate offices.

"Arrival of the letters in DC today is further evidence of the bothersome commitment of the individual or group behind these mailings," Gainer said. "All staff, here in DC and in the state offices, should remain vigilant and follow our established mail-handling protocols."

Last week, district offices for lawmakers including Senators Joe Lieberman, Patty Murray and Pat Roberts received such letters, according to the report.

Gainer also confirmed that all the threatening mails received thus far have been postmarked from Portland, Oregon.

The US capital area — some landmarks such as the White House, the Capitol Hill and the Pentagon in particular — has long been the target of terrorist plots.—Xinhua

Three generations go skydiving

Israel to test missile defence system

JERUSALEM, 3 March—Israel will test its next-generation Arrow 3 missile defence system, the authorities said on Thursday.

“The initial trial of the advanced Arrow 3 will be performed in the near future to confirm the interceptor’s effectiveness,” Itzhak Kaya, head of the Arrow Missile Programme at Israel

Aerospace Industries (IAI), said. “A series of different tests will be run to establish the system’s high level of reliability within a short time,” he said at a military exhibition near Tel Aviv, Xinhua reported.

Kaya said that Arrow 3, which utilizes a radar system named “Green Pine”, is “more capable than ever” to deal with future threats. In limited tests conducted a few weeks ago, he said, the system demonstrated improved identification and tracking of incoming missiles “with high levels of certainty”.

Asked whether planned cuts to Israel’s defence budget would delay completion of the system’s development and its acquisition by the Israeli military, Kaya said the programme was “on track”.

The Israel Air Force currently deploys two Arrow 2 batteries, with a third on the way. Arrow 3, which is slated to comprise the upper tier of Israel’s missile defences, is scheduled to enter service in 2015.

“There is no such thing as 100 percent defence, but the Arrow is capable of providing adequate defence against Iran’s Shahab and Sajil ballistic missiles,” Arieh Herzog, who recently stepped down as director of the defence ministry’s Homa Missile Defence Agency (HMDA), told The Jerusalem Post.

“The Iranians have the ability to launch barrages and that is an important part of their capabilities, but we are prepared and have the ability to intercept those barrages,” Herzog said.—Internet

Tornadoes kill 14 in central US

CHICAGO, 3 March—At least 14 people were killed and an entire town was wiped out after tornadoes blew through the US heartland and inflicted extensive property damage on Friday afternoon, local press reported.

In Indiana, eight people died and a small town called Marysville was destroyed. Five others were killed in Kentucky while a man is found dead in an Ohio mobile home.

Storm warnings were being issued across the Midwest and the Southeast, with Schools, government offices and businesses shutting down ahead of the storms, which arrived on the heels of a series of tornadoes that killed 13 people in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Tennessee two days ago.

There was “extensive damage” to the Henryville Junior-Senior High School in the Clark County, Indiana, according to Maj. Chuck Adams of the county sheriff’s department.

The school building’s roof were torn off, with parts of the walls knocked down and windows blown out.

Students who remained at the school when the disaster struck suffered only minor injuries such as cuts and bruises.

National Weather Service meteorologist John Gordon said they have about “half a dozen reports of tornadoes on the ground” as well as reports about “significant damage.” He warned that the worst may still be to come.

The threat of tornadoes was expected to remain in place till late on Friday for parts of Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and Ohio.

Minister says obesity threatens Canadian children

OTTAWA, 3 March—Canada is facing an epidemic of childhood obesity, with more children being diagnosed today with dangerous conditions like high blood pressure and Type 2 Diabetes, Canada’s Health Minister Leona Aglukkaq warned on Monday.

“Today, more than one in four young Canadians is overweight or obese, with rates even higher among aboriginal people,” Leona Aglukkaq said at the opening of a federal-provincial summit on healthy weights in Ottawa, capital of Canada. “We owe it to our children — and to future generations — to reverse the obesity trend, so that they can live long, healthy lives.”

Information released by the government shows the number of obese children is rising at a startling rate. Overweight adults are a serious problem in Canada, but the rate of increase in childhood obesity is even higher. According to Statistics Canada, the federal department that collects data on national trends, 17 percent of children in Canada are overweight; nine percent are obese.

The proportion of teenage boys classified as overweight or obese has more than doubled since 1981, climbing to 31 percent in 2009. Among teenage girls, it has increased to 25 percent from 14 percent. Aglukkaq said Monday’s summit “represents a ‘first’ in bringing together such a broad cross section of partners to address this issue.”

The one-day meeting heard from Canada’s chief public health officer, Canada’s federal minister of sport, Olympic gold medalist Adam Kreek, health officials from across the country, along with fitness and education associations.

Traffic police in Russia promote prayer

MOSCOW, 3 March—The key to a safe car trip is wearing a cross and asking for God’s blessing before setting off, traffic police in southern Russia advised drivers.

“Ten Commandments for drivers,” which appeared on the police’s website, were compiled with the help of a local Orthodox priest identified only as Father Andrei in the Krasnodar Region. Despite their religious slant, they are recommended for all motorists. About half of all “Commandments” on the list are strictly practical, advising against speeding or blocking other vehicles on the road, as well as urging drivers to thank fellow motorists for polite behaviour.

However, the list published on Friday also urges prayers for the souls of aggressive or rude drivers instead of curses, thanks to God after safely concluding a trip and spending traffic jams in prayer and not idle chitchat.

Monkeys suffer shocking tests in Britain

LONDON, 3 March—More than 2,600 monkeys in Britain have become targets of “horrifying experiments” that included sawing open their skulls while still alive, putting electrodes in them and forcing them to watch TV, a report said. According to the British Union for the Abolition of Vivisection (BUAV), scientists at a university in Edinburgh last year force-fed pregnant marmosets with toxic chemicals used in plastics to monitor the effect on the sexual organs of their unborn babies.

At another university, two anaesthetised monkeys had their skulls sawn open and electrodes were inserted into their brains.

Their eyes were then kept open and focused on a TV screen for five days to test whether the “after image” is in the eye or the brain, the Daily Express reported on Sunday.

Most experiments were done in the name of medical science, but animal rights activists claim many of the reasons were “completely frivolous”.—Internet

Thai Parliament buildings catch fire

BANGKOK, 3 March—Fire broke out on Friday in a Thai Parliament building in Bangkok, causing panic as people scurried to safety, officials said.

No injuries were reported.

The 12:30 pm blaze started in power lines located behind Parliament Building 3, the Bangkok Post reported.

The newspaper said inadequate fire extinguishers hampered efforts by staff members to knock down the flames, causing the fire to spread. Witnesses reported explosions and fireballs.

The fire was brought under control but not before it had spread to Building 2, officials said.

Investigators said an electrical short circuit probably was to blame for the fire.

18th century Chinese merchant vessel discovered in C Philippines

ROXAS CITY, (Philippines), 3 March —The Philippine National Museum had validated the recovery of an 18th century Chinese Merchant Vessel in the Roxas City sea in Central Philippines, the Philippine Coast Guard (PCG) said on Saturday.

Junior Grade Jimmy Oliver Gingno, station commander of PCG- Roxas told local media on Saturday that he received the report of the National Museum.

"Personnel from the National Museum conducted an exploration in the sea in February. They validated the findings on the broken porcelains found inside the vessel as antique," said Gingno. The PCG however expressed disappointment since there were no artifacts found in the said vessel when it was discovered. PCG officials believed the artifacts may have already been taken away by divers who discovered the existence of the vessel earlier.

"We only document the said vessel and we hope to preserve it," Vingno said.

Five dead, 50 injured in Cuba road accident

HAVANA, 3 March—A bus overturned and fell down a cliff at dawn on Friday in central Cuba, killing 5 people and injuring 50 others, official Press reported.

A 7-year-old boy was among the dead of the accident which occurred on the Central Highway at about 3:00 am local time (900 GMT) in the Santa Clara municipality of the Villa Clara Province.

The driver apparently lost control as the bus got out of the lane and overturned, the official National Information Agency (AIN) reported.

Children between 2 and 12 years' old were among the injured and all of them were in serious conditions and were being treated at the Santa Clara Children Hospital.—Xinhua

Fighter jet delays raise British concern

LONDON, 3 March—The British government, amid concerns about delays and rising costs, is reviewing a plan to purchase up to 50 new fighter jets, officials said.

The F-35C Joint Strike Fighters, being built in the United States, were chosen to replace the Royal Navy's Harrier jet because they would be easy to operate from aircraft carriers but there are problems with the design of the landing gear, The Daily Telegraph reported.

A redesign, expected to be costly, could seriously delay the project, leaving Britain's new aircraft carriers without any fighter jets to land on them, The Guardian said on Friday.

Philip Hammond, Britain's defence secretary, may be forced to choose an alternative model of the Joint Strike Fighter, which would affect an agreement between Britain and France to share weapons and equipment, putting it in doubt, the newspaper said.

Jim Murphy, the Labour Party's shadow defence secretary, expressed his concerns on Thursday in a letter to Hammond.

"There are increasing fears in the United States and in other countries that the proposed programme for aircraft for our new aircraft carriers will not be completed to time and on budget," he said. "There are real worries that time and money may have been wasted."

Four dead, 12 injured in cargo ship explosion in east China

NANJING, 3 March—Four workers were killed and 12 injured in a boiler explosion on a cargo ship in the eastern Chinese City of Nanjing on Friday night, a shipyard said on Saturday.

The explosion occurred at about 11 pm Friday on a bulk carrier as the Zijinshan shipyard of Nanjing Tanker Corp would be about to deliver the ship to its parent China Changjiang National Shipping (Group) Corp after repair, the shipyard said in a statement.

Of the 12 shipyard workers who were admitted to a hospital, two slightly injured have been discharged and the rest are still under emergency medical treatment, it said.

An investigation into the cause of the explosion is underway.

Four killed in German small plane crash

BERLIN, 3 March—German police confirmed that a small plane crash near Frankfurt has killed four persons on board, as one more body were found in the wreckage on Friday.

So far, rescue workers are still making efforts to find the last one among the five persons on board the Cessna plane, which crashed and caught fire late Thursday near Egelsbach tarmac south of Frankfurt.

Three bodies were found in the wreckage on site shortly afterward, further informations about the victims and the cause of the crash remain to be identified.

Police affirmed the crashed plane is a small business jet which took off from Linz, Austria, with one pilot, his assistant, and three passengers on board.

A panel of experts from Germany's flight safety authority were dispatched to the scene for investigation into the cause of the accident.

Police officer charged with fridge thefts

Police in Texas said an officer is facing charges after security cameras recorded him taking other people's food from a station refrigerator.

Deer Park Police Chief Greg Griggs said the cameras were installed after food including lunches, drinks and 60 pounds of deer sausage was taken from the department's refrigerator, KTKR-TV, Houston, reported on Friday. Griggs said officer Kevin Yang was caught on camera taking food and Monster energy drinks from the fridge on 19, 22, 26 and 27 November.

"The same officer was taking the items each time," Griggs said. "Nobody else was taking it during that three week period." Griggs said Yang was placed on a 30-day unpaid suspension on Tuesday and is facing misdemeanor theft charges.

Yang said he was just trying to keep the refrigerator clean.

"A lot of times we clean up the community refrigerator like once a week, everything take by Friday or certain date or everything gets thrown out, which we don't do here," he said.

Teen lifts car to save grandpa

A 15-year-old Michigan boy says he has no idea how he was able to lift a 2,000-pound Buick enough for his grandfather to escape from underneath.

Austin Smith said he was working on the 1991 Buick with his grandfather, Ernest "Papa Ernie" Monhollen, at his grandparents' Ida Township home on Saturday when the car fell from the cinder blocks holding it up and trapped Monhollen underneath, WDIV-TV, Detroit, reported on Tuesday. "I was just so scared,"

Smith said. "I didn't know what to do."

Smith said he instinctively grabbed the front end of the 2,000-pound car and was able to lift it enough for his grandfather to get out.

"Probably all the adrenaline," Smith said of how he was able to lift the car. "I mean, I couldn't do it right now." Monhollen was treated for a serious cut to his face, fractured ribs and a fractured eye socket. "Thank God he was here because if it was just me and his grandmother it would have been over."

Minneapolis take a presidential walk

Thirty of the country's 44 presidents are immortalized in Minneapolis' Northeast neighbourhood, where Presidents Day is marked with a trivia contest and a walk.

Sheila Biernat, who helped coordinate the activities, said walkers during the weekend event occasionally stopped their meandering to discuss presidential biographies and the evolution of the area, the Star Tribune reported on Monday.

About 30 streets in Northeast are named for US presidents.

The event on Saturday ended at a middle school, where about 150 residents participated in a trivia contest.

For the record, President Harry S Truman was the only president to visit the section of Minneapolis, and Delano — to honor Franklin Delano Roosevelt — is the neighborhood's shortest street.

Lindsay Lohan confirms she'll play Liz Taylor

NEW YORK, 3 March—US actress Lindsay Lohan confirmed she will play screen icon Elizabeth Taylor in a TV movie.

Lohan, 25, is a former child star with a string of hits behind her such as "The Parent Trap," "Freaky Friday" and "Mean Girls." But her once-bright career has been eclipsed in recent years by legal problems stemming from her addictions to drugs and alcohol. She went through rehab and is on the comeback trail, having booked a gig as guest host of "Saturday Night Live" in March.

"We're in the middle of casting," Lohan told "Today" show Matt Lauer about her Taylor project in an interview to air Thursday on NBC. "We start production soon. I've been doing tons of research. But I've always kind of researched her. She's always been a fascinating woman to me. So I'm really honoured. And I will not let anyone down, especially myself."

Asked why she felt the need to add that last part to her reply, Lohan said: "I could see where it could be scary for people to invest in me. And I don't want people to have that reason to be scared anymore. So being able to have this opportunity with 'SNL' and the film, I'm gonna do what I'm supposed to do, and enjoy doing it, and do it as best as I can."

Taylor died last year at age 79.

Ferguson savours Tottenham clash

Man Utd manager relishing trip to White Hart Lane for Sunday's crunch clash

LONDON, 3 March — Manchester United manager Sir Alex Ferguson says taking on Tottenham Hotspur is one of the highlights of the season for his club. United travel to White Hart Lane on Sunday for the eagerly-anticipated match that could have significant bearing on both clubs as they look to hunt down Barclays Premier League leaders Manchester City.

United are currently in second place, only two points behind City, while Spurs are in third — eight points further adrift — after a superb season to date.

“Tottenham away is always a tremendous highlight for us, it’s always an interesting game with the history of both clubs,” said Ferguson, whose side defeated Norwich last time out. “It’s a real football ground at Tottenham. I enjoy going there and I think the players do too. “It’s an old-fashioned football ground and Villa Park is much the same. It’s a good pitch, it’s always been a good pitch and the atmosphere is guaranteed to be good.”

With the high-profile matches at the top of the table coming thick and fast, Ferguson was under no illusion as to how crucial the Tottenham contest could be. “I think everyone at the club realises how important it is on Sunday to maintain our challenge,” said Ferguson. “We know Sunday is an important game for us. The most important game so far. “Hopefully we can navigate it. I’m not interested in anyone else’s [title challenge]. We need to win on Sunday.”

Wenger and Odemwingie win Barclays awards

February achievements of Arsenal boss and West Brom striker recognized by Barclays

LONDON, 3 March — Arsenal boss Arsene Wenger and West Bromwich Albion striker Peter Odemwingie have been named as the Barclays Manager and Player of the Month for February. Wenger was rewarded for an excellent month in the Barclays Premier League during which the free-scoring Gunners were unbeaten. After securing a point away to Bolton Wanderers at the start of the month, Wenger’s men romped to a 7-1 win over Blackburn Rovers at the Emirates Stadium — with Robin van Persie scoring a hat-trick, Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain netting two and Thierry Henry and Mikel Arteta finding the net.

A trip to in-form Sunderland saw Wenger’s side take another three points, as Gunners legend Henry secured the vital victory with a 90th-minute goal in the final domestic match of his loan spell. Arsenal finished the month with a thrilling 5-2 victory over their North London rivals Tottenham Hotspur. Having trailed 2-0 the first half, goals from Bacary Sagna, van Persie, Tomas Rosicky and a brace from Theo Walcott secured the win. Wenger receives the Barclays Manager of the Month award for the 12th time in his career.

West Brom striker Odemwingie was recognized for his fantastic recent form — the third time the Nigerian has won the award. Odemwingie hit a hat-trick in his team’s impressive 5-1 win away to local rivals Wolverhampton Wanderers — Albion’s fifth win at Molineux in their last seven visits. He also scored two goals in West Brom’s 4-0 home win against Martin O’Neill’s in-form Sunderland.

Odemwingie established himself as a huge fans’ favourite in his debut season with West Brom and has been a key figure in Roy Hodgson’s side ever since. The decisions were made by the Barclays Awards Panel, which includes representatives from football’s governing bodies, the media and fans.

His crew chief was suspended six races and fined $100,000, and his car chief will have to watch for six races, too.

Johnson also was docked 25 points and heads into this weekend’s race at Phoenix International Raceway last in the Sprint Cup standings.

He’s hoping to have a good race just so he can get out of the red in points. Coming off his worst year in NASCAR, this isn’t how the five-time champion wanted to get his season started.”

It’s certainly not a position we want to be in,” Johnson said on Friday. “But there’s a lot of racing between now and September.” Johnson wasn’t much of a factor last season in his bid to win six straight Sprint Cup championships. He made the Chase after winning just one race and finished sixth in the final standings, 99 points behind champion Tony Stewart. MANCHESTER, 3 March — Manchester City opened up a five-point lead at the top of the Premier League table with a 2-0 victory over Bolton Wanderers at the Etihad Stadium this afternoon.

Hosting City could have been three goals up within the opening five minutes. First Samir Nasri saw a shot blocked by David Wheeler, then Mario Balotelli struck the post after collecting possession from Yaya Toure.

Balotelli had another chance moments later, but he sent Adam Johnson’s low cross wide of goal.

NEW YORK, 3 March — Nastia Liukin treasures her 2008 Olympic gymnastics all-around gold, but the trio of silver medals she also took away from Beijing has fuelled a comeback bid to reach the London Games, the American has said.

Liukin has not competed in two years but has set her mind on winning a spot on the US Olympic gymnastics team. “I had these visions about a year ago,” Liukin, 22, told reporters on Friday ahead of the American Cup gymnastics meeting at Madison Square Garden.

“I figured I’ll be in London either way, and I didn’t want these thoughts of sitting in the stands, watching Team USA walk out on the floor and wondering, ‘what if?’ Those two words are the scariest words for me. “I didn’t want to have any regrets. I felt like I owed it to myself to try.” A taller, more solid Liukin than the Beijing version poured herself back into training after last October’s world championships following a lengthy period promoting gymnastics and fashion interests, appearing on television, doing gymnastics shows and enjoying life. — Internet

Blatter hopeful '14 WCup will have goal technology

BAGSHOT, 3 March — FIFA President Sepp Blatter is hopeful that he can convince soccer rule-makers to approve goal-line technology for the 2014 World Cup in Brazil. Blatter ended his long-standing opposition to the high-tech aids after England midfielder Frank Lampard's "ghost goal" against Germany at the 2010 World Cup. His shot bounced down off the cross bar beyond the goal line but was not counted.

The International Football Association Board will assess the latest test results on Saturday before sending approved firms into another phase of checks ahead of a final decision in July. "We don't want a repeat of last World Cup (and the) experiences in last week in Italy," Blatter said, referring to some disallowed goals in Serie A. "I think I can convince the IFAB board that we must go forward with technology."

Milan, Juve jostle for glory, Ranieri for survival

MILAN, 3 March — After last weekend's nailbiting affair between the two left AC Milan a point clear, Juventus will hope to take command in Serie A on Saturday with a seemingly easier fixture than their rivals. The 'Old Lady' were lucky to escape from the San Siro with a point after Sulley Muntari had a header ruled out despite crossing the line and now the Turin outfit will look to beat midtable Chievo.

Milan, having played a game more, head for Palermo a point clear of Chievo and clearly a tougher proposition in front of their partisan fans, whom they have treated to 10 home league successes for only two losses. A win for Juve and a draw for the rossoneri would put Antonio Conte's men top of the heap as they chase down their first Scudetto since 2003 — since when seven coaches have come and gone before the arrival of Conte, a veteran of more than 400 league games in the black and white.— Internet

Rose and Gillis take joint control at Honda

PALMBEACH GARDENS, 3 March — Britain's Justin Rose and American journeyman Tom Gillis moved into a share of the lead in Friday's third round at the Honda Classic where ideal scoring conditions saw the course record smashed by three strokes.

American Gillis, 43, fired six birdies during mostly wind-free morning hours for a six-under-par 64 that was good enough for a tie of the course record until compatriot Brian Harman's outstanding round.

"I've never lead out here after two days but I kind of wanted to do that this week -

I don't know why," said Gillis, who described himself as the prototypical journeyman. "I don't want to get too far ahead of myself but I feel like we are going to start knocking on the door. That's how I feel."

Rose, who started on the 10th hole, would have had the outright lead if not for bogeys on the sixth and seventh holes that left him with a four-under 66.

"For the most part I am really happy with my game. I hit a lot of quality iron shots and the difference is I just made a few of those mid-range putts to get me up towards the lead," said Rose.

"I've been playing nicely all year and feeling very comfortable with things and just been waiting for something to happen."

The low round of the day went to rookie Harman, who got off to a birdie-birdie-eagle and set the PGA National course record with a nine-under 61 that left him two shots back.

Rory McIlroy, who can claim the world number one slot from Luke Donald with a win here, is one stroke off the pace after closing out his round with three birdies on his final five holes for a three-under-par 67.

I will never quit Chelsea, says Villas-Boas

LONDON, 3 March — Managing Chelsea is one of the toughest tasks in soccer but the under-fire Andre Villas-Boas has no intention of quitting, he said ahead of Saturday's Premier League game at West Bromwich Albion. Villas-Boas has been the subject of intense scrutiny in recent weeks with the London club in a form slump and media reporting a rift with several players. "It is one of the most difficult jobs in the world," the Portuguese told British newspapers. "(But) I would never resign. 'I would never give up. It's not part of my education.'"

Villas-Boas, the seventh manager to be appointed at Chelsea since Russian billionaire Roman

Andre Villas-Boas

Abramovich took over as owner in 2003, went on the attack when he was asked whether he had cleared the air with some of his squad. "Why do you think I haven't?", he replied. "Who says I haven't?". Vice-captain Frank Lampard has been in and out of the team all season and last week the midfielder said his relationship with Villas-Boas has "not been ideal".

"Frank explained his personal view," the manager added. "He feels something is missing but for me there is nothing missing. "It is an unhappy dressing room because we are fifth in the league. If we are first and 17 points ahead it would be an extremely happy dressing room. "Any problems would be put to one side," added Villas-Boas. "I don't see any problems in my relationships with players. "Lampard? Ask any player who doesn't play all the time if he has a good relationship with the manager."

Liverpool 1-2 Arsenal

Robin van Persie double wins it for Gunners

LONDON, 3 March—Arsenal captain Robin van Persie scored twice, including a stoppage time winner, to secure all three points for his side away at Liverpool this afternoon.

The first chance of the match fell to the visiting Gunners in the seventh minute. Mikel Arteta picked out Theo Walcott with a 60-yard pass, but the England international's shot from a narrow angle was held by Liverpool goalkeeper Pepe Reina at the second attempt.

Despite Arsenal's early domination, it was the home side who broke the deadlock in the 18th minute. Luis Suarez exchanged passes with Dirk Kuyt, before being brought down by Arsenal goalkeeper Wojciech Szczesny inside the area. Kuyt took responsibility from 12 yards, but the Polish keeper made amends by saving Dutch international's effort, before getting up to parry away the rebound.

However, Liverpool did get themselves in front with 23 minutes played. Jordan Henderson's cross from the right failed to find a teammate but Arsenal defender Laurent Koscielny sliced the ball into his own net.

Henderson almost doubled his team's tally moments later, but Szczesny palmed away his effort, while Suarez struck the post from the rebound.

Liverpool's failure to score a second was punished in the 32nd minute when Van Persie headed his first of the afternoon following a cross from Bacary Sagna.

The home side hit the woodwork again in stoppage time as Kuyt turned Charlie Adam's cross against the post in the 70th minute.

Martin Kelly had Liverpool's best chance after the break, but he failed to make contact with Kuyt's cross from six yards out.

Just as the match looked to be heading for a 1-1 draw, Van Persie latched onto a lofted through ball from Alex Song to volley past Reina at the near post.
